On Wednesday the finals of the bonspiel of the Junior Curling Club were played at the local club. The bonspiel proper was held on Friday, Feb. 12, and resulted as follows: In the first round Rye and Fraser drew a bye, leaving Killaly to play Widdess, and MacDonald to play Amys. Killaly and MacDonald won. Then Killally played and defeated Fraser, and MacDonald won from Rye. This left MacDonald and Killaly in the final for the Metheral cup. The finals were delayed until yesterday on account of the committee endeavouring to finish up the scheduled games.

A very interesting game was played, which provided plenty of thrills. Some good curling was displayed by these young curlers, a shot of MacDonald's in the fourth end being especially good. Killaly was lying shot being two guards about a foot and a half apart. Marshall, MacDonald's vice, called for a runner between the two guards to the shot. MacDonald made good and lay three, thereby giving his rink a lead of seven. He was never headed throughout the game and deserved the win.

Killaly played well throughout the game, but several breaks seemed to damper his team somewhat, but all the boys played well.

Police Find Children Starved, Beaten and Frozen

One May Die; Another In Hospital; Dummer Childhood Tragedy Told By Constable Who Arrests Father

George, Aged Nine Years, Weighs Only Thirty Pounds and Has Feet and Hands Frozen—John, Twelve May Not Survive Exposure.

PARENT CHARGED WITH NEGLECT MAY FACE MORE SERIOUS COUNT

Peterborough County Case Recalls Stories of Hardships in War Ridden Europe—Two Boys and Girl Forced To Work and Not Fed.

One child may die and two others will require months of careful treatment in order to repair the ravages of cold and starvation as a result of the hardships endured in slavish toil and bodily abuse. Three frail little wisps of humanity worn out by tasks of drudgery and with spirits broken by the lack of love or consideration—that, one would say is a picture which might scream forth the woes of Europe's war-time refugees or the infant victims of a national catastrophe.

But it happened in Peterborough county, within a few miles of this city and the children have been enduring pain and misery which would revolt the average man and bring tears to the eyes of any warm hearted woman.

The children lived on the twelfth concession of Dummer. Within a few miles were hospitals and societies for the purpose of lessening physical suffering and despite all this and the fact that the parents are presumably Christians living in a Christian land the children were left in their misery for months until rescued by Provincial Constable N. F. Maker and John Edgar, representative of the Children's Aid Society yesterday. They were brought to Peterborough.

The father, George Dwyer, faces a charge of neglect; he appeared in Police Court this morning before Magistrate O. A. Langley and was remanded until Friday, March 5, when more serious charges may be presented.

Boy, 9; Weighs 30 Pounds.

The oldest child is 13 years old. Her name is Nellie. Her face is pinched and her eyes are sunken in their sockets. Her body is terribly emaciated and her hands bear mute testimony to the arduous household tasks which, it is said, she was forced to perform. Nellie is now in charge of the Children's Aid Society.

The two boys are in a more serious condition. Both are in the hospital. John, aged 12, is very ill, and may not survive, while George, 9 years old, was brought to the city on a stretcher and conveyed to the hospital by an ambulance. One great toe is frozen off at the second joint, two fingers and one heel are also suffering from frostbite. He weighed only thirty pounds.

Twice Married.

George Dwyer, the father of the children, is a returned man, and declares that he was unaware of the serious state of affairs in his home. He has been married twice, and has three other children by his second wife. It is said that those children bear all the evidences of proper nutrition and care.

According to reliable information, the house in which they lived was of two stories, with one room on each flat. Both boys, it is said, were forced to go to the woods every day to help their father in his work. It is said that when the children felt unable to go they were brutally beaten until they preferred to endure the rigors of the weather rather than the terrible unkindness of the parents.

The father alleges that he worked in the woods all day alone, and knew nothing of proceedings at the house. He says that he usually came home about seven or eight o'clock at night; the children were in bed, and he could not know for certain that they had been fed.

Doctor's Opinion.

Dr. D. W. Clark, who is attending the children, told The Examiner that a boy of nine years should weight about sixty pounds. These children, he said, are sadly neglected, starved and frozen, and in a serious condition. "I will have more to say later," the doctor remarked.

Art Blade, newly elected president of the Peterborough Branch of the Ontario Motor League, is naturally looking for Spring's appearasce.

And last night he had an omen. A Phyllostoma hastatum of the order Chrioptera flapped its huge wings in his vicinity and has gone to the happy hunting grounds of such mammals. In other words, Mr. Blade killed a huge bat, measuring eleven inches from tip to tip of its wings.

And since the bat is a lover of mild or warm temperatures, its appearance is taken as a sign that no more coal need be ordered for this winter.

Ex-Soldier Kills Himself To Relieve Pain Of Daughter—Born With a Hole In Back Where He Had Been Wounded

LOUGHBORO, England, Feb 27 (United Press).—Henry Jayes, a laborer, killed himself to relieve his young daughter from the pain caused by a wound on the father's own body. Jayes was wounded in the back during the war. Subsequently a child was born to his wife and had a hole in the back in the same spot which the father had been wounded. When Jayes wound troubled him, the child suffered, too, according to evidence at the inquest. Distracted by the child's cries of pain, Jayes lost his reason.

Abdicates Today in Favor of His Son, 18 Years Old.

TRAGEDY RECALLED.

Three Officials Sentenced To Death and Four Deported For Attack.

BOMBAY, Feb. 27 (Canadian Press).—The wealthy Maharaja of Indore, the storm centre in a scandal involving the murder of a merchant friend of his favorite dancer, abdicated today in favor of his son.

The Maharaja's heir is Prince Yeshwant Rao Holkar, who was born in 1908, and who now becomes ruler over a state with an area of 9,500 square miles and a population of 1,150,000.

The dancing girl who figured in the scandal which has now cost the Maharaja his throne is Mumtaz Begum one of his former favorites, who escaped from the Maharaja's household and sought the protection of Abdul Kadir Bawla, a wealthy Bombay merchant.

Last year, she and her new protector were attacked by a group of armed men, allegedly in the employ of the Maharaja.

British officers rushed to the assistance of the pair and beat off their assailants, but not before Bawla had been killed and the girl's beauty marred by a knife cut across her face.

Seven officials connected with the Indore Government were arrested and tried. Three were sentenced to death for the killing of Bawla and the other four were deported.

FISHERMEN SAVED.

Storm Tossed For Two Days in Fishing Schooners.

ATLANTIC CITY, Feb. 27. — (Canadian Press.)— Storm tossed for two days 20 miles at sea a score of local fishermen aboard seven fishing schooners which became disabled because of the violent seas, battled with death between this city and Beach Haven, three of the craft being rescued yesterday in the nick of time by the U. S. coast guards.

Tombstone Inscription Libel Woman May Sue Relatives

LITCHFIELD, Ills., Feb. 27 (United Press).—"Can a tombstone inscription be libelous?" Blanche Bellaver may put the question up to a jury in a suit which she threatens against the relatives of a six-year-old boy who was killed when he ran in front of her automobile.

A coroner's jury exonerated the woman of all blame for the boy's death.

PORT ARTHUR, Feb. 27 (Canadian Press).—A new gold strike has been reported from a hitherto little known section of the north country, it was announced here Friday by K. C. Hill of Toronto. The find is a twenty-foot quartz vein, assaying twenty-four dollars a ton, in the vicinity of Sapawie Lake, 125 miles west of this city, on the Canadian National Railway.

Mr. Hill has come into the city to record twelve claims on the property for himself and associates, all Toronto men. Mr. Hill is well-known in mining circles.

WARSAW, Feb. 27.—Warsaw might send some items to the south east corner of the globe.

A lady in the village brought down a few old magazines and while looking through them, a cabbage moth flew out and landed in the window. She caught it, put it in a wide-mouthed bottle and fed it sugar.

Another lady was at her piano, when a big brown moth tumbled from some unknown place, into her hands, and flew around as he might have in the early fall.

A certain hen-house boasts three hens that like constitutionals. They leave their own house and travel about forty feet, to a dog's summer kennel, to lay. Part of the distance there is no path but their own through the snow.

The Chairman of the Peterborough Utilities Commission wrote four articles on the wonderful things that have been accomplished by the Local Commission. The story of his Commission, as told by him, read like a tale from Fairyland, but inasmuch as the scenes were laid in this very City, it excited greater wonder and astonishment on that account, and especially among the idolaters of the hydro-god.

But the Chairman did not tell all the wonders that have been accomplished by this marvellous Commission. He could have shown that this Commission in 1921 paid $22.50 per horse-power for power to the Hydro Commission, and sold it to the power users at only $15.97 per horse-power and made a profit. That it not all. The Local Commission not only paid $22.50 per horse-power, but they paid about $17.00 per horse-power extra for the cost of distribution, and still they sold this power to the manufacturers using power at only $15.97 per horse-power and still the Local Commission showed a profit.

That is not all. During 1921 this Commission only bought 4,613 horse-power and they sold to the power users of Peterborough 139 horse-power more than they bought, and in addition to that they supplied all the necessary power to do all the domestic and commercial lighting of the city and the street lighting as well. In other words, the Commission only received 4,613 horse-power from the Hydro Commission and sold in the neighborhood of 7,000 horse-power. These figures and deductions are taken from the Hydro Commission Report for 1921... A similar record is shown for each succeeding year. If there is any doubting Thomas in Peterborough, who says it cannot be done, he can find it in the Hydro Commission reports.

As a matter of fact, the private owner always makes a loss on the transmission of power, and the loss on transmission is greater in distributing power amongst small power users and domestic and commercial light users. This loss has to be borne by private owners because it cannot be avoided. The private owner of electric power plants cannot purchase the "secret" from the Local Commission. Even if the private owner of electric power plants were to discover the secret how 7,000 horse-power can be sold when only 4,613 horse-power was actually bought, he would be afraid to use the "secret." He would be charged with being a magician and not an electrician. He would be accused of sorcery and shot down as a fakir.

The Hydro-Electric Power Commission enjoys the unique distinction of being able to fool the public. The reason is plainly to be seen. They have spent during this last twenty-five years on an average over ten millions dollars a year. In the spending of over $250,000,000.00 in various ways it is quite apparent that the head of the Commission would be surrounded by all sorts and conditions of worshippers and among them could certainly be found Toronto newspapers and Hydro-city-town-village newspapers, puffing, praising, adoring admiring the wonderful works of Hydro, and if the great magician waved his wand at any one of them, the subject would be immediately transformed into a Hydro-toad eater.

The public would be well advised to read the fable referred to in Lord Macaulay's Essay on Robert Montgomery on the wonderful works of a puffer, and from it a valuable lesson may be learned on how the public can be fooled. Then I would suggest that your readers turn to page 447 of the Hydro Commission Report for 1924 and therein they will find that in 1924 the power users of Peterboro paid $16.65 per horse-power and the other parts of the report will show that power cost this city $22.50 per horse-power plus the cost of distribution which is about $20.00 more and still the Commission made money.

A miserable cur was palmed off by a fakir in the above fable referred to by Lord Macaulay for a lamb of the choicest flesh, fit for the gods, and yet a still more contemptible fake is placed opposite the name of Peterborough in the Hydro Commission Report for 1924 at page 447.

If the taxpayers of this city were only in earnest and really wanted to find the truth and not humbug I am convinced that they could save $50,000.00 per year in the cost of power or use that sum to reduce our annual tax bill to a greater extent than is being done by Campbellford and Orillia.

The dupe in the fable was stricken sore in all his joints when he offered the cur to his god but the live question is this: Do our taxpayers deserve any better treatment, if they will not enquire into the valuable waterpowers that nature has placed at our very door?

The Campbell Milling deal is now being investigated. Is it not time?

February 26, 1926. R. R. HALL.

ITALY PLANNING TO EXTEND HER INFLUENCES IN BALKAN STATES

Foreign Policy Aimed at Nationalist Ambitions of Germany.

LATIN LEADERSHIP.

ROME, Feb 27 — (Canadian Press).—The visit of Foreign Minister Ninchitch of Jugo-Slavia to Rome has served to indicate, through conversations in regard to it in authoritative circles, that Italy is embarking on a foreign programme in keeping with Premier Mussolini's belief that the Latin and Slav peoples must stand together against the rising tide of German Nationalist ambitions.

Although secrecy surrounded the conversation between M. Ninchitch and Mussolini, the Jugo-Slav Foreign Minister Friday confirmed what was already an open secret by saying in an interview:

"The closest collaboration between Italy and Jugo-Slavia is already operative. The past friendship between the two nations can be broadened on the basis of recent experiences. It is only natural that the Foreign Ministers of two nations which have so many interests in common should exchange ideas on the situation recently created in Europe and on certain questions which concern them more intimately."

Support Poland.

It was leadned on excellent authority yesterday that following out Premier Mussolini's belief, Italy is embarking on a twofold plan of action, which includes vigorous support of Poland's desire for a permanent seat in the Council of the League of Nations and the strengthening of co-operation with Jugo-Slavia and other Balkan nations to prevent unification of Austria and Germany and to protect the frontiers laid down by the treaties of Versailles and St. Germain.

While ostensibly merely defensive, this plan, it is pointed out, constitutes a first step toward the realization of Italy's cherished ambition to assume leadership among the Latin nations and to obtain a major share of influence in the Balkans.

We triumph without glory when we conquer without danger.—Corneille.

Canada's Trade With United States Jumps $127,000,000

OTTAWA, Feb. 27.—(Canadian Press.)—Canadian trade with the United States is growing. In the 12 months to the end of January, according to the Bureau of Statistics, imports from the United States were $588,000,000, an increase of $71,000,000 over the previous year; exports were $472,000,00, an increase of $56,000,000. Total trade increased $127,000,000.

HOUDINI FINDS REPRESENTATIVE IS A MAGICIAN

HILARIOUS SCENE.

Bill Introduced To Penalize Fakers and Mediums in Capital.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (United Press)—Houdini, the magician and a crowd of astrologers and fortune tellers furnished the most hilarious of congressional meetings here this session, at two hearings of a bill by Representative Sol Bloom, (Democrat, New York), to penalize fakers and mediums operating in the district of Columbia.

The capital is "infested" more than any other American city with fake spiritualists and astrologers and others who prey upon the credulity of the public, Houdini said, repeating his challenge to any authentic demonstration of thought transference.

He threw down a crumpled telegram at one hearing and demanded that some one tell him what it contained.

None of the nearly 100 clairvoyants answered, but Representative Reid, (Republican Illinois) quickly answered: "That's the telegram ordering you to appear before the committee."

Houdini admitted that Reid was right but asserted that the congressman had arrived at the answer by deduction; not by thought transference.

The committee members became facetious at times, adding to the disorder caused by the vociferous testimony of Houdini and the clairvoyants.

ROSSI ESCAPES.

Former Press Agent Escapes To France Under Cover of Darkness.

PARIS, Feb. 27. Canadian Press. — Cesare Rossi, former press agent for Premier Mussolini, but now his bitter agent, escaped from Italy to France yesterday. Since amenisty was granted to him against his will, he remained at Rome until a few days ago, when he motored at night to Spezza and took the train there to San Reno, where, according to previous arrangements, he strolled to the beach and got a fisherman to row him out to sea, as if on pleasure. A motor boat from the French side was awaiting Rossi, filled with other enemies of the dictator, and he boarded this and was carried to Nice.

Rossi brought with him documents signed by Mussolini which added to the documents already outside of Italy, will, according to Rossi, prove that the Premier of Italy is an arch-Machiavelli.

Continue Debate For Several Days After King Takes Seat.

WHIP'S STATEMENT.

How Can There Be Obstruction When Nothing To Obstruct.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 27 (Canadian Press)—There will be no adjournment of the House of Commons until after Premier Mackenzie King takes his seat in parliament. This is expected to be on Wednesday or Thursday of next week. In a brief speech during the debate on the address Friday afternoon, W. A. Boys, chief Conservative whip, declared that the opposition proposed to continue the debate until a couple of days after Premier King made his appearance. Then, if the Prime Minister had not brought forward some business for the members to deal with "we are prepared to give him an adjournment," Mr. Boys said.

The chief Conservative whip was dealing with charges of obstruction which, he said, were made against the Conservative party in certain quarters. "Surely there cannot be obstruction unless there is something to obstruct," he said. "What is to be obstructed at present?"

Opposition's Reasons

The Opposition considered that parliament should continue in session at present for two reasons. First, in order to make effective the work being done by the very important committee investigating the administration of the Customs department; second, to enable a discussion to proceed which must take place at some time and might as well be held now. Just as soon as the government was prepared to proceed to other business, the opposition was willing to do so. Let the government abandon this idea of an adjournment and we will proceed to business. The government has the solution in its own hands."

Mr. Boys expressed the opinion that the Prime Minister might have obtained a seat and been in the House before this. Until the Prime Minister took his seat and gave the House some business to do, the Conservatives proposed to discuss the address. They would give the Prime Miniter two or three days in which to bring down the business. "Then, if he demonstrates that he has no business ready to go on with, we are prepared to give him an adjournment," continued Mr. Boys.

MARITIME RIGHTS TRANSCEND POLITICS, SAY NOVA SCOTIAN

DEBATE CONTINUES.

OTTAWA, Feb. 27.—(Canadian Press.)—Resuming the debate on the address in the House Friday, G. T. MacNutt (Conservative, Colchester), launched a further attack on the Australian treaty. This trade agreement, he declared, was not a matter of politics, but a "question of bread and butter to the farmers of Nova Scotia."

Mr. MacNutt then referred to the reported payment of a bonus of six cents a pound on butter exported from Australia by the stabilistaion committee in that country. This scheme would enable in his opinion, Australian producers to "undersell their Canadian cousins in the Canadian markets."

The question of Maritime rights transcended all others in the province of Nova Scotia, said Mr. MacNutt. He quoted a manifesto which he had issued to the electors of Colchester county, in which he pledged himself to hold the rights of his constituency and province before party interests. There were, he said, 23 members from Nova Scotia who had signed a similar manifesto, as long as the leader of the Opposition held to the pledges made to the electors of Nova Scotia, he would have the support of these members.

Mr. MacNutt quoted at length from the promises held to the Maritime Provinces at the time of Confederation, particularly from the speeches of Sir George Etienne Cartier.

Gave Three Premiers.

The Maritime Provinces had given three Prime Ministers to Canada. Yet trade conditions in the Maritimes were such that the only thing they could export to-day was "grain."

"Canada should not own and operate a railway in a foreign country," he said in discussing the Canadian National Railways. Our terminals in the United States should also be disposed of. Every effort should be made to build up Canadian ports.

J. H. Harris, Toronto.

J. H. Harris (Cons., Toronto-Scarborough) referred to the independent members as men whose outlook was "perhaps a little cramped." The Progressives were perhaps unable to be honest with themselves when thinking of the "hand outs" promised in the speech from the Throne.

How was the Government going to solve the major problems of this country with a majority of fifteen made up of Progressives? "You've just fifteen times worse off than you were last session," he said.

Mr. Harris spoke of the imports of machinery into Canada which had increased rapidly. "That kind of thing is taking work from my people," he declared.

The Government should resign. By a change in our tariff policy, we would bring back those who had gone to the United States and promote prosperity here.

Harks Back To 1912.

Mr. Harris made particular reference to the attitude of the Liberal party in 1912 when a tariff board proposed by the Conservatives was before the House. The present Minister of Finance, the Minister of Justice and the Minister of Defense had all voted against it at that time. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had said that if the Tariff Board was defeated it would be an unmixed blessing. Yet the man on whose shoulders the mantle of Sir Wilfrid had fallen was going in the opposite direction. Mr. Harris wondered if any of the "young sprouts" from Saskatchewan were disciples of Red Michael Clarke, who had so bitterly opposed the tariff board idea.

FATALITIES IN U. S.

Level Crossings, Fires and Smallpox Take Their Toll.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.— (Canadian Press.)—A dozen lives were taken in the United States yesterday by level crossing accidents, fire and a smallpox epidemic. The smallpox deaths weer at Los Angeles. Four were killed in a crossing accident at Rochester, and four children were burned to death at Indian Head, Pa., in the absence of their parents. Twenty persons were injured at Philadelphia when a locomotive side-swiped a passenger train.

PLAN NOW FOR THAT PACIFIC COAST AND ALASKA TRIP YOU INTENDED TO TAKE NEXT SUMMER.

Next summer forget the cares of business or profession and take a trip to Western Canada, the Pacific Coast or Alaska. There's satisfaction in this kind of a vacation—a swift journey through never-before-seen country, restful stops at splendid resort hotels, and, when you reach the Canadian Rockies, gorgeous vistas of lake, forest, and towering mountain peaks.

There is never an idle moment if you travel the Canadian National Route on radio equipped trains. Crossing the vast prairie country, the Granary of the Empire is always interesting. Then there is Jasper Park Lodge of Continent-wide fame. There are mountains on all sides, sky piercing giants, snow-capped massive, many of which have never been scaled.

From Jasper National Park is a never-ending succession of mountains—and more mountains—lovely valleys, turbulent rivers and dashing waterfalls until you reach the Coast at Vancouver or Prince Rupert.

To make the most of your trip the voyage through the Sheltered Scenic Seas of the North Pacific should be taken from Vancouver to Prince Rupert or Alaska. On the voyage you will see from splendid sea-going steamers, alluring inlets, towering headlands and tumbling icy streams and glaciers. On the return journey, see Kitwanga and its totem poles, Mount Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies, and again to Jasper National Park.

These trips, as mapped out by Canadian National Railways are not surpassed anywhere and furnish a liberal education on Canada to our Canadian people.

Summer Tourist fares are effective between May 15th and Sept. 30th, with return limit of Oct. 31st, at a minimum of cost.

Make sure of your Western trip this summer by planning ahead. Any Canadian National Agent will give you full information and illustrated booklets. 2d-17-27

MEET DEATH IN FIRE.

Three Children Perish When Home Burned During Parents' Absence.

QUEBEC, Feb. 27.— (Canadian Press.) — Three children of M. Beaulieu, of Escourt, in Temiskouata county, were burned to death there when a fire destroyed the Beaulieu home, it became known to-day. Mr. Beaulieu had left the house, taking the fourth child to school, his wife and three children remaining at home.

Some time afterwards Mme. Beaulieu went to visit a neighbor and left the three children alone. Twenty minutes later the fire was noticed. The entire residence was in flames before the apparatus arrived, the three children perishing.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

TO SECURE RESPECT FOR LAW

THE INTERNATIONAL UNIFORM SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR FEB. 28.

TEXT: Matt. 22: 15-22.

Then went the Pharisees, and took counsel how they might entangle him in his talk.

And they sent out unto him their disciples from the Herodians, saying, Master, we know that thou art true, and teachest the way of God in truth, neither carest thou for any man: for thou regardest not the person of men.

Tell us therefore, What thinkest thou? Is it lawful to give tribute unto Caesar, or not?

But Jesus perceived their wickedness, and said, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites?

Show me the tribute money. And they brought unto him a penny.

And he saith unto them. Whose is this image and superscription?

They say unto him, Caesar's. Then saith he unto them, Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's.

When they had heard these words, they marvelled, and left him, and went their way.

By WM. E. GILROY, D.D.
Editor of the Congregationalist.

No subject is of more importance in America at the present hour than that of the relation between law and good conduct. In this country we have established in a general way separation between church and state.

It does not mean, however, the entire separation between state and religion. Not only are politics and religion inseparable in the life of the individual, but in the very foundation of our national life some link between religion and the state has always been recognized. The coins of the realm bear the inscription "In God We Trust," and it is the custom to open both houses of Congress by prayer. The President of the United States at his inauguration takes an oath of office with his finger resting upon a passage of Scripture. There can be little sound political, or social life where there is not the deepest thing that religion implies.

Misquoting Passage.

Few passages have been more used in relation to the problems of religion and politics, and few have been more seriously abused, than this passage in which Jesus enjoins the rendering unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's.

A fundamentally wrong interpretation of the whole passage is frequently evident in its use. It is constantly quoted to suggest that the spheres of religion and politics, of church and state, are entirely separate, and have no connection. Consideration of the whole conception that Jesus had of life and of the circumstances under which these words were used would show how utterly unjustified is any such interpretation.

Jesus was speaking to Pharisees who were not anxious for the truth but who were seeking, as the lesson says, "to ensnare him in his talk." It is more than probable that they were themselves disloyal to Caesar, for the Pharisees, for the most part, represented the ultra-patriotic party, resentful of foreign domination and anxious to shake off the Roman yoke. Jesus evidently had this in mind when he said, "Why make ye trial of me, ye hypocrites?"

He asked for a piece of money and inquired whose image and superscription were upon it. When his enemies replied Caesar's, Jesus very naturally used these words, "Render, therefore, unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's."

What Was Meant.

This surely does not mean that certain things were Caesar's and that certain things were God's. Such a notion would be at variance with New Testament, the very essence of which was the insistence upon the fact that everything belongs to God.

Does Jesus imply then that the citizen has no obligation to the State, that there are certain things that do not belong to Caesar? By no means. He suggests that there are obligations that are binding so far as they go. But when Caesar and God are in conflict there can be no other attitude for the Christian than the attitude of the early disciples when they were forbidden to preach the Gospel, "We ought to obey God rather than men."

We should not hesitate to apply this to the vexed question of law enforcement, and specifically of the prohibition movement in America today. The man who is willing and disposed to break any law of the land should consider very carefully what would happen if others chose to disregard laws in which he believes.

FELL FROM SLEIGH: WAS SEVERELY HURT

NORHAM, Feb. 27.— While on his way to a sale of farm stock and implements, held at the residence of William Moore, of Meyersburg, James Wilson, of the Wilson settlement, was thrown from a sleigh and had a narrow escape from severe injury.

Mr. Wilson and his two sons, Wesley and Alfred, were being conveyed to the sale by George Cooke, who was driving a team on a light pair of sleighs. Just as they turned around after reaching Mr. Moore's dwelling, the seat upon which Mr. Wilson was sitting, at the extreme rear of the sleigh box, which had not been fastened down, tipped backwards. Alfred Wilson landed on his head, but was not seriously injured, but Mr. Wilson, the father, fell on his left thigh and sustained injuries from which he has been confined to his bed for more than a week.

CUSTOMS INSPECTOR

"I don't know."

"Did you ever write to your sub- to his notice as having lain for a long time in custody nd not having been sold. Considerable repairs were needed to it. He probably ordered these repairs but he could not be sure. He did not know then that it was against instructions to repair cars except on special authority.

Denies Garceau's Story

The man he knew was Delage had come to him in September to ask that the car be sold because he could not pay the double duty assessed. He told the man to come to his office, where he introduced him to H. I. Levitt, of Montreal, as Delage, and the car was released according to practise, on payment of double duty. So far as the department was concerned the proceedings was regular if the duty was paid. Bisaillon had nothing more to do with drawing up the papers. That was a matter for the clerk, Ralph Garceau, to attend to. He denied that he had directed Garceau to sign the name Delage on the document, as claimed by Garceau.

Mr. Calder threw question after question at Bisaillon as to why he did not find out whether the man he met as Delage was really Delage; why he had not investigated the registration certificate, etc. Bisaillon could not see why he should have done these things. All the regulations of the department, as he understood them; had been complied with, and the double duty paid and transmitted to Ottawa.

Calder Amazed

Mr. Calder expressed amazement that a man who ran away when his car was seized by the authorities could return to the same authorities a few months later, explain his running away by saying that he had feared arrest for smuggling, although he now laid himself open to arrest on the same charge, and get his car back by merely paying double duty. Did it not occur to Mr. Bisaillon to investigate the right of this stranger to claim the car and had nothing been done to discover if the car had been stolen?

Mr. Bisaillon retorted that it had never been proved yet if the Delage car had been stolen.

Mr. Calder commented on the fact that the fair market value of the car was more than a thousand dollars but its supposed owner had been willing to let it go for $612.

Not His Jurisdiction

Counsel asked why the authorities at Holyoke had not been telegraphed about the car. Bisaillon replied, that he had no authority to conduct investigations outside his own district and had never done so. Some letters which were in his personal files when his office was taken over a few months ago by Inspector Walter Duncan, were then read to show that he had sometimes written to people in the United States. Bisaillon said that these were "friendly" letters to acquaintances which might refer to business indirectly. He had never officially taken matters up with outsiders but left that to his senior officers. His counsel, Oscar Gagnon, objected strongly to the reading of these personal letters before he had even been permitted to see them.

The letters were from Edwards and Reardon, Broadway, New York. The first one stated that the writer would be coming to Montreal with one trunk of samples and requested that Mr. Bisaillon get the trunk through. The writer said he would like Mr. Bisaillon to let him know what route he should travel by.

Apparently there was no reply to this leter because the next letter was largely a repetition. In reply Mr. Bisaillon had stated that he had received the two letters and that he was honing to see the writer who signed W. H. Edwards in Montreal in a few days.

Mr. Bisaillon declared that these were merely private letters, that Mr. Edwards was a great friend of his, and that, when he entered Canada with dutible goods he paid the duty.

Car Numbers Changed

Captain Emile Bilodeau of the Montreal police force gave evidence in regard to a Dodge sedan which was placed in the Municipal garage at Montreal in the summer of 1924. The numbers on this car had been changed. The car was taken away by the Customs on an order by Bisaillon before the "fake numbers" had been subjected to "heat treatment" to bring out the correct numbers.

How Gifted Men Can Fail.

By GLENN FRANK.

Copyright, 1925, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

They are neither dissipated nor extravagant. They have been careful of both their money and their morals. But they have failed. And for a reason that has been pointed out so many times that one hesitates to speak of it again.

They are brainy and brilliant, but they have not learned the peril that lurks in bright ideas. They have allowed the brightness of their bright ideas to blind them to the simple fact that even the brightest idea is worthless until it has been worked out in terms of the job in hand or the job ahead.

They have wrongly assumed that it is enough to make sure that one's ideas are right and bright. But that is not enough. Ideas do not work themselves out automatically even when they are right.

They have been seduced by a fals notion of inspiration.

If they had observed themselves closely enough they would have learned from experience that inspiration deserts us shortly after a good idea has been born. If an idea is to be of any value thereafter, it comes down to a cold case of hard work. And even genius is not a substitute for hard work.

Inspiration is a good midwife for ideas, but inspiration is not a good parent, teacher, or executive for ideas.

An idea is a green accomplishment.

An accomplishment is a ripe idea.

Hard work alone can bring an idea to maturity.

If there is any field in which a man should be able to lean on inspiration and let up a little on hard work, one would imagine it would be in the field of literature and the arts. But the gifted loafer finds little encouragement even in this field.

Anthony Trollope died in 1882, having written more than any author of his day and having made by his pen what was then an enormous income for a literary man. In his singularly honest autobiography he says this interesting thing about the relative merits of high inspiration and hard work:

"To me it would not be more absurd if the shoemaker were to wait for inspiration, or the tallow-chandler for the divine moment of melting. If the man whose business it is to write has eaten too many good things, or has drunk too much, or has smoked too many cigars—as men who write will sometimes do—then his condition may be unfavorable for work, but so will be the condition of a shoemaker who has been similarly imprudent. Mens sana in corpore sano (A sound mind in a sound body). The author wants that, as does every workman—that and a habit of industry. I was once told that the surest aid to the writing of a book was a piece of cobbler's wax on my chair. I certainly believe much more in the cobbler's wax than in the inspiration."

I do not suggest that Trollope should be taken too literally.

All truly great work has a touch of inspiration in it, but the fact remains that most of the good work of the world is like a swim in cold October waters. You plunge in with high spirits; it is not exactly pleasant while you are at it; but you come out with blood tingling and cheeks aglow.

COUNCIL SENDS REPORT BACK TO ITS COMMITTEE

Cobourg Police Committee Recommends Hiring Another Night Officer.

ROOM PACKED.

Council Chamber Not Big Enough For Interested Citizens.

COBOURG, Feb. 27 — The last session of the Cobourg Town Council was a momentous and interesting one. A morality report submitted by the Police committee was referred back to that committee for reconsideration as it did not meet with tthe approval of the council as a whole. It was as follows:

"Your Police Committee met pursuant to resolution of Council and after dealing with all matters thereto are of the unanimous opinion that the night police force is inadequate, and it should be supplemented by an extra man with a motorcycle equipment in order that he might quickly and frequently cover the whole area of the town to promote law and order."

After a long discussion the report was considered inadequate and was referred back to the committee.

The Council received applications from three men Geo. Alfred, James Service and Fred Buckler for the position of caretaker of Victoria Park during the summer months.

A communication was received from the Employers Assurance Co. enclosing check for $200 in settlement of the claim of A. W. Middleton who had his eye seriously injured by broken glass while on duty with the Cobourg Fire Brigade in fighting a fire at a Cobourg residence a few weeks ago.

A communication was received from the Cobourg Board of Health asking that all meat sold on the Cobourg market be government approved and stamped.

Upon motion this matter was referred to a committee of the whole council and the Medical Health Officer and Board of Health were requested to be present at this meeting.

At a former session of the council a request was made by merchants on the north side of King street that the town place light at the rear of their stores as a protection from shop-breaking and burglary.

It was decided by the Council that no action be taken in the matter on the ground that placing lights on private property would establish a precedent. It was felt that the matter of protection could be otherwise dealt with.

Council decided to renew the lease of Chas. B. Elliott for the warehouse on the east pier.

The council room was packed with people who were anxious to hear and see all that took place. They were wedged in outside the rail as tightly as they could be packed, and filled the hall and passages.

LONDON, Feb. 27 (United Press).—King George is reducing his household expenditures partly to provide money for an elaborate programme of entertainment this summer at Buckingham Palace.

The Royal Courts probably will be on a scale as grand as those which distinguished the gay days of King Edward and Queen Alexandra, and hundreds of American and other women are seeking invitations to these affairs.

By reducing his lords-in-waiting from twelve to three, and ordering that each lord shall serve at the palace four months each year instead of only one as heretofore, King George will effect a saving of $45,000 in this year's palace expenses. The lords receive $5,000 a year.

THE ORPHAN SEVEN.

The unfairness of leaving seven Ontario constituencies unrepresented in the Legislature is effectively illustrated by the case of the city of London, which has been without a member for some time, with the result that the city's private bill had to be introduced by a Middlesex member.

These seven ridings are entitled to a voice in the affairs of the Province, and the callous way in which their rights in this respect have been neglected must have created a feeling of resentment among the citizens of the orphan constituencies, regardless of their political beliefs.

The explanation is being offered that because most of these riding are "dry" the Government in bringing down a new liquor policy prefers to have them unrepresented in the House.

If that be the reason the Government stands more than ever condemned for its failure to give the neglected seven a chance before the session began to name their representatives in the Legislature.

A CHANCE TO MAKE GOOD.

The question brought to the attention of the House of Commons on Thursday by one of the British Columbia members is a matter that should receive sympathetic and careful consideration.

The condition in which a large number of returned soldiers who secured land under the Soldiers' Settlement Scheme find themselves today is serious; many of them have had to give up their farms and others will be forced to do so unless some relief in the form of a proper revaluation of their land is afforded.

The trouble is that these ex-service men purchased land at a time when boom prices were in vogue, and as a result they are now in serious difficulties.

The Examiner believes that this whole question should be reviewed in an endeavour to pull the veterans out of the tight corner into which they have got through no fault of their own.

If there is any way of keeping these men on the land and giving them a fair chance to prosper, public sentiment will strongly favour such a course being adopted.

It is obviously a better thing to smooth the road for the men who proved their citizenship by fighting for Canada than it is to spend money bringing in immigrants and settling them on the land.

The soldier settlers should be given every chance to make good.

THE PAROLE SYSTEM.

The case mentioned by Chief of Police Newhall is an illustration of the reason why there is criticism among law enforcement officers as to the administration of the parole system.

Police officers are not opposed to the system itself; they believe that there should be a second chance for men when the circumstances warrant it, but they feel, and the Examiner believes justly so, that very great care should be taken in considering cases in which parole has been asked for.

"Police officers are human," says the Bulletin. "They believe in the second chance. But sound common sense and experience in dealing with all classes of criminals teaches them that the second chance should only be given to those who are manifestly worthy of it and capable of appreciating that it is not a second chance to make crime a life pursuit."

That is a reasonable request.

There has undoubtedly been a number of cases where leniency was shown to prisoners who should never have been given their liberty.

Several of these are cited by the Bulletin, and many more could doubtless be mentioned.

The police chiefs are right in insisting that the lives and property of the citizens generally shall be safeguarded in the administration of the parole system.

A FINE SHOWING.

The splendid showing made by the Canadian National Railways, as indicated by the complete statement of operating results just made public, should be received with gratification by the owners of the system—ourselves.

Sir Henry Thornton, his staff and the employees of the Canadian National from top to bottom are to be congratulated upon the feat accomplished last year in increasing the net operating earnings of the public railways by over $15,000,000.

The figures show that the net earnings of the system in 1925 were $32,264,414.79, as compared with $17,244,251.48 in 1924.

Statistics for December, 1925, and January, 1926, reveal the gratifying fact that the improvement in results is still continuing, a condition that will be heard of with much satisfaction throughout the country.

Sir Henry Thornton is getting results; he is developing a splendid esprit de corps throughout the entire staff of the system.

They are hustling for business, attentive to their duties, engine and shop crews are doing their work efficiently and smartly, train crews are courteous and attentive so far as the public is concerned.

The improvement in service is very noticeable; the old jokes about late Canadian National trains have long since lost their point.

In a word, the Canadian National system is "up and coming," and the financial showing last year shows that the fruits of this policy are already being garnered.

RURAL LABOUR.

Farmers in Perth County are making an appeal for assistants and have emphasized the fact that they prefer Canadians. They also show a tendency to offer yearly contracts rather than seasonal, says the London Advertiser.

From other counties come reports that rural help is needed, but the call does not come so insistently as from Perth.

It would appear to be a healthy sign when farmers are making a call for labour so early in the year. Industry has been absorbing some of those who were unemployed during the winter months and more are being placed at work almost daily. Building trades are making plans for a year of increased activity, and with the call from the rural sections there is every indication that all men who are willing to work can find employment.

One of the difficulties which has been faced in rural employment is the fact that many farmers do not feel that they can keep hired help during the entire year. With the disappearance of the bush lot there is not the wood-cutting that used to keep men busy during the winter months. On many farms the chores are just about enough work for the farmer and members of his family, and this precludes the employment of the extra labour necessary during the crop season. Some farmers are increasing the number of head of stock which they are wintering and in this way finding employment for the men who have been with them during the summer. This would appear to be one method of partial solution of the farm labour problem.

On the other hand the farmer is facing a hard problem because many men, out of employment during the winter, do not appear ready to go to work in the rural sections.

There must be a give and take on both sides of the problem. The worker must expect to accept a lower rate of pay during winter months and the farmer must expect to pay something like a reasonable rate during the months when the helpers are not called upon to exert themselves to the limit. If the farmer expects to employ labour only when he plans to get the maximum amount of energy and the longest hours of service, then he will have to pay peak prices for that labour. If the worker expects to get only peak prices for his labour, then he must expect to work only during the weeks that the employer can get peak results. There is a marked opportunity for farmer-employers and farm workers to get together.

A NEW PROFESSION.

During the war it was found that many injured soldiers needed something more than medical treatment, or rather something supplementary to medical treatment, and that necessary addition was interesting occupation for the mind. Basketry, weaving, leather or metal work, making almost anything, was not only a relief to the nerves, not only a pleasant and profitable means of passing hours of enforced idleness, but was also a mental occupation which really accelerated recovery. In order to provide tutors in this sort of work, a good many young women were given a course at the Provincial University in what is known as occupational therapy and were sent out as duly qualified aides to assist in the cure of soldiers who needed this sort of treatment.

In recent years doctors have found that occupational therapy is a necessity for civilian patients in hospitals, asylums, and similar institutions. A man or woman who is ill or convalescing may be able to read and may enjoy reading, but even this palls after a certain time and work for the hands is necessary to maintain interest in life. A workman who, for instance, has had a hand injured and is under the care of the Workmen's Compensation Board, needs not only some sort of interesting work to do in order to exercise that hand and gradually to restore its functions, but he also requires occupation for his mind because without this he becomes morose and so is unfitted, by reason of a wrecked mental disposition, to resume his former tasks.

So greatly have the doctors of today come to prize this supplement to their work that schools for the training of occupational therapy aides have sprung up in the United States, and now there are three large ones all doing an important work.

In Canada the need is relatively just as great, but the aides who were trained during the war have decreased in number through natural causes, chiefly marriage no doubt, and now there is a dearth of them.

Because of this dearth, the University of Toronto, acting at the request of the Occupational Therapy Society of Ontario, has recently announced the establishment of a two years' course for the training of aides. According to the announcement, junior matriculation is to be the entrance requirement and the young women are to be trained in English, French, psychology, anatomy, physiology and other academic subjects, as well as in the various so-called practical subjects in which they will be required to instruct their patients. The course, which is expected to develop in time to include physic-therapy and other modern requirements, is to be carried on under the Department of University Extension.

This new departure will provide an interesting profession for young women who have a talent for that sort of useful work. It is not quite the same as nursing, and yet it offers the same sort of opportunity for service to humanity without some of the disadvantages that accompany the practice of nursing. It is a new career for women and one that will provide a good many positions within the next decade.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE CROWN OF LIFE.

The crown and glory of life is character. It is the noblest possession of a man, constitution a rank in itself, an estate in the general goodwill; dignifying every station and exalting every position in society. It exercises a greater power than wealth, and secures all the honor without the jealousies of fame. It carries with it an influence which always tells; for it is the result of proud honor, rectitude and consistency—qualities which, perhaps, more than any other, command the general confidence and respect of mankind.—Smiles.

Fellowship of Prayer

Daily Lenten Bible reading and meditation prepared for Commission on Evangelism of Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

SATURDAY

Readiness of Men for Christ

Read Jn. 4:35-42. Text: 4:35.

Look on the fields . . . that they are white already unto harvest.

Meditation—Look! Never had men such a field for doing great deeds of goodness as to-day. It is easy to magnify the significance of the adventuring faith of yesterday—and to minimize the opportunity of to-day. Look again—the great chance is not four months ahead, it is now. Now is the great day of the Lord's opportunity. We have an open door to great works of service, greater by far than confronted Jesus and the twelve. We can help others to fuller life by sharing ours. Not the amount of money we have but the proportion of ourselves we give. To this new and greater day—"Jesus calls us o'er the tumult."

Prayer—O Thou who didst redeem the time, didst discover the greatness of the common place, help us to see the harvest of fruitful opportunity hidden in the field of ordinary life. Teach us its larger meaning. Show us the real values, lest we sell our days for a mess of pottage when we might have won life by giving life. Amen.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Feb. 26. — The top on loads of steers for the week was $8.25 a cwt. and prices on others were all the way down to $7 a cwt. and a few feeders were bought at $6.25 to $6.50 a cwt. Export heifers held fairly steady but bulls were down 25c a cwt. Only an odd choice handyweight butcher made $7.50 this week and bunches were bought from $6.70 to $7.15 a cwt. Good butchers were not better than $6.50 and medium quality butchers sold on the bulk below $6 a cwt.

All the choice butchers cows sold at $6 a cwt. and over, and good butchers' cows averaged $5.25 a cwt. There were not many mediums or common cows on sale and these brought around the quoted prices. Any feeders sold this week were somewhat easier in price and the best price paid was for a load averaging 1,100 lbs. each at $6.75 a cwt. Rogers and Maybee will want 1,000 cattle for export next week but the beef trade is bad and butchers cattle except those well finished will not meet any better market than they did this week. A fair number of cattle remained unsold on Thursday.

A lower Buffalo market kept dowh the shipment of calves this week, and only three decks were sent out. Despite this fact, however, the supply was sufficiently light to enable sellers to put the market up 50 cents a cwt. and choice calves sold at 14 to 14 1-2 cents., and choice calves sold at 13 cents and the best mediums 12 cents a pound. Light and heavy calves sold from 7 to 10 cents.

Lambs firmed up 25 cents a cwt. late in the week, and choice ewes and wethers are held from 13 3-4 to 14 cents a pound. Sheep remain just about steady.

Packers almost made good their promise of a week ago to reduce hog prices a dollar a cwt. Sales were made as low as $12.75 a cwt. f.o.b., but the week's closing figure was $12.90 to $13. Nobody seems to expect any improvement next week.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

ABOUT SCRIPTURE

Dear Mr. Editor, — Allow me a little space in your valuable paper as Christian has referred to Bible students. If the blind lead the blind they shall both fall into the ditch. Truth v. error, scripture should be rightly divided quotes Psalm 9, verse 17-16. putting the last first, i.e. sentence first, judgment after. Although there will be 100 years judgment before sentence is passed. Verse 17, the Lord is known by the judgment which he executeth and shall not the judge of all the earth do right. Pro. 2:22: The wicked shall be cut off; Psa. 104:35: Let the wicked be no more, now the dead know not anything, there is no knowledge or device in the grave, sheol, hades, the time will come when all that are in their graves shall hear his voice and come forth, then the eyes of the blind shall be opened and the ears of the deaf unstopped and all shall be given a knowledge of the Lord. Yea, all shall know Him from the least to the greatest. Then if they refuse to hear that prophet they shall be cut off; i.e., returned into hell, the grave, sheol, hades or oblivion with all nations that forget God. The wicked have not any promise of eternal life, they shall be as though they had not been. We all know of the parable of the rich man and Lazarus. A parable is always representative of something else. Was he a good man or a bad man; he had good clothes and good food in plenty and outside his gate a poor man desiring his hospitality. Clothed in purple and fine linen. Purple represents royalty; fine linen represents purity, righteousness, faring sumptuously, receiving abundance of divine favours and blessings. Does not this represent a people favoured of God, a royal people, a holy people, living in a land flowing with milk and honey. We believe it does—God's people, Israel—but cast off later to receive double for all their sins as Lazarus represents the Gentiles, who have come into favour. Abraham's bosom. The devil still believes in the truthfulness of the lie that he told mother Eve thou shalt not surely die. But Jesus said he is a liar and the father of lies; but man still believes He shall live; i.e., has an immortal soul, spiritual that can never die, and as the devil is a spiritual being still believes the same. But the word says the soul that sinneth it shall die and there shall be a resurrection of the dead for all that are in their graves shall hear His voice and shall come forth to judgment, trial for life or death; if not loyal to truth and rigtheousness will be returned to the graves, death, hades, oblivion or hell. Read Isa. 11 and 12; Psalm 72; also Rev. 21.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, in anticipation,

BIBLE STUDENT.

HIP FLASKS.

The Editor of The Examiner:
Dear sir:

Every city and town in Ontario appears to have its moral problems these days, caused chiefly by the young men who insist on carrying flasks filled with what may by a broad interpretation of the term be called liquor. In different municipalities different methods are resorted to in order to suppress this apparently growing evil. In Cobourg the Town Council took the matter up and indulged in a lot of talk that seemed to lead nowhere in particular. It is true an investigation was held but the result of this was that everybody who had been brought under suspicion by the uplifters in the Council was given a clean bill of moral health.

In Peterborough the protesting citizens sent letters to the press and called upon the police to take some action, forgetting that the guardians of the law cannot do so unless something in the way of complaints are laid before them. It never seemed to occur to these letter writing citizens that they, themselves, might do something. In the stand which they took they were like the excitable individual who, when his house takes fire, runs wildly through the streets calling for the fire brigade, instead of doing something himself to check the spreading flames or to salvage the furniture. What would be thought of a man who, although perfectly able to swim, when he fell into the water refused to exert himself but took things easy waiting for some one to throw him a rope?

There was some more or less authentic rumors in Campbellford to the effect that there were flasks carried to even the best class of public entertainments by young men who were by no means victims of the liquor habit but whose main object in fortifying themselves with a supply of fire water was to make themselves appear hard boiled and blase, tough characters whom it was a matter of safety to leave alone. When the pastor of a church that was planning a gathering that was open to the general public heard that there was danger that some of these young men would bring discredit upon themselves and annoyance to decorous guests (he did not ask for police aid but acted for himself. From his pulpit he warned all and sundry what was expected of them. If, he said, any man came to that entertainment with liquor either in him or on him he would be ejected and that this course would be adopted without regard to the denomination of the offender.

The ultimatum had its effect. The function was all that the most ardent prohibitionist could ask for. Even Ben Spence or former Attorney General Raney could have mingled in that throng looking for evidence without being able to find anything except fresh propaganda and stronger arguments for their contention that the Ontario Temperance Act is day by day and night by night in every way achieving its purpose.

Moral—If you want something done do not issue a call for the police or write a letter to the newspaper and, considering your duty performed, let it go at that. Do something yourself. If it is a dilemma that confronts you, seize the major horn but if it is a bovine day hold of both antlers.

After a continuous treatment for about six months, I am now in first-class condition. This, I attribute to my persistent use of "Fruit-a-tives."

The above is the letter which Mr. James Dobson of Bronte, Ont., wrote after trying the wonderful Fruit Treatment — "Fruit-a-tives" — which consists of intensified fruit juices combined with tonics. CUSTOMS INSPECTOR DENIES THAT HE DIRECTED CLERK IN OFFICE TO FORGE THE NAME OF AUTO OWNER

J. E. A. Bisaillon, of Montreal, Appears Before Customs Inquiry Committee.

PAPERS FORGED.

Inspector Did Not Try To Learn Who "Morris Delage" Was.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 27 (Canadian Press)—Seizure of the now famous "Morris Delage" auto on the streets of Montreal, was described at the customs probe late Friday by J. L. A. Bisaillon.

The former chief inspector of the port of Montreal was called to the stand after a day and a half had been devoted by committee counsel, R. L. Calder, to examination of witness after witness to the alleged sale on forged releases of a seized car and to investigations which followed it.

Bisaillon described his search for a United States car which was said to have been offered in Montreal without being reported to the Canadian customs. He found the car on a street corner, two men occupying it. One of them was "frightened aawy." The man who remained was not known to him, and he did not hold him when he seized the car because his jurisdiction did not extend to personal arrest.

Withheld Informer's Name

His informer had told him the car belonged to "Morris Delage of Holyoke, Mass." Mr. Calder asked the name of the informer. Mr. Bisaillon refused to give it. It was known to the chief preventive officers of the Department of Customs he said. Hon. G. H. Boivin, Minister of Customs, asked if the name could not be given privately to the committee. Mr. Calder protested that the name was relevant to the case. Sometimes the informer in such a case was not unrelated to the man who stole the car.

Hon. H. H. Stevens was inclined to respect the secrecy surrounding informers in this branch of preventive work and the committee was inclined to agree with him.

Bisaillon, under further questioning by Mr. Calder, said he did not believe the car had been smuggled. He had seized it because it was an American car being offered for sale.

Mr. Calder: "You seized it because it was an American car?"

"—Offering same for sale."

To Refresh Memory

Here Mr. Calder produced Bisaillon's report on the seizure, dated July 8, 1924. Bisaillon said it was 18 to 20 months since he had made his report and he would like to refresh his memory from it.

To this Mr. Calder strongly objected, declaring that if Bisaillon had the report "my case will be defeated." He then showed the report to Bisaillon for recognition of his signature, and read from it the statement that the car was seized as having been smuggled.

"That was after investigation," commented Mr. Bisaillon.

Mr. Calder turned his questioning to the man who had remained with the car when it was seized. The witness declared he could not remember if the man had given his name.

"Did he give you the name of Fisher?"

"I am not in a position to say yes or no. Show me the file and I will tell you."

Bisaillon went on that he was ready to stand by his report. He did not remember whether the man had given his own name as Fisher, but the man had said that the owner of the car was Maurice Delage.

Mr. Calder here quoted from another report in which Bisaillon had said that the man with the car had given the name of Fisher.

"If I said so it is correct," said the witness.

Bisaillon continued that he had not actually written his reports himself. He added that American cars seized were not always seized on the ground of smuggling.

Mr. Calder: "But as being in contravention of some provision in the customs act?"

"Yes."

Smuggling Not Criminal

Until a year ago, said the witness, preventive officers did not consider a man caught smuggling as guilty of a criminal offence. It was not then the custom to arrest such a man.

"You took his name and let him go," questioned Mr. Calder.

"I had no jurisdiction to make his arrest."

"It never occurred to you to ask Fisher to step into the car and see if he really was registered at the Queen's?"

"No, we had the main object, we had the car."

"Do you know Fisher?"

"No."

"Do you know a man who at times has given the name of Fisher?" periors that you know a man who had three aliases among which was Fisher?"

"There was a man with several aliases. I might have written it. I could not tell you."

Seized Packard Sedan

Mr. Calder produced a copy of a letter written by Bisaillon to Hon. Jacques Bureau then Minister of Customs, in regard to the seizure of a Packard sedan. The letter was dated 27th May, 1925. It referred to a seized car in the name of Fisher, alias Carpenter, alias Martin.

Bisaillon said that he was present at the seizure.

Mr. Calder asked him if on this occasion Fisher had been held.

"No, sir."

"You said in this report that Fisher, Martin, and Carpenter are the same individuals?"

"I presumed they are according to the information I had."

Mr. Calder questioned if Bisaillon knew him. "Which one do you know?" he asked.

"He is in jail," replied the witness.

"Is he a friend of yours?"

"Is he a friend of yours?" retorted Bisaillon.

"I am not under cross examination," warmly returned Mr. Calder.

"Then I object to your question?" heatedly remarked the witness.

An Insulting Question

Mr. Gagnon intervened that Mr. Calder had no right to ask insulting questions. "If that was not an insulting question, I don't know what it was," added Mr. Gagnon.

Mr. Calder agreed to withdraw the question. He was about to read a letter from a "Frank Carpenter (Martin)" in Concord, N.H., who asked Bisaillon to give him a letter stating that he was engaged in preventing smuggling into Canada and was urgently needed in the Department at Montreal. This was because of a charge laid aaginst him in connection with a stolen car, and he wanted to use it in his defense. Mr. Calder asked if Mr. Bisaillon knew who the letter was from.

Mr. Calder asked why a crook was in correspondence with him on such a matter. Bisaillon retorted that he could not prevent people writing letters to him. Were there any answers on the file? Mr. Calder said there ought to be one repudiating, on behalf of the Customs Department, any connection with Carpenter. Mr. Bisaillon said it was not his duty to write such letters. He had never had connection with the man "except to seize two cars on him."

A Dramatic Incident

Mr. Calder continued his cross examination at some length. He wondered why Bisaillon had not taken steps to find out if the Delage whose car had been seized really lived in Holyoke. Bisaillon replied that his jurisdiction did not extend outside his own district. Delage had brought him a certificate of registration in the state of Massachusetts.

A dramatic moment came when Mr. Calder produced this certificate, signed "Mark Delage" and the one on which the car was eventually sold, signed "Maurice Delage." Bisaillon said he had only glanced at the name in the first place and had not noticed the difference in the first Christian name when the certificate finally came into his hands.

He had been asked by Mr. Clerk (collector of the port of Montreal) to find a car for a particular friend in Ottawa, who wanted to pay about $700 or $800 for a sedan. At first it seemed there was but slim chance of getting a good car at the price but, finally the Delage car had come

COOLIDGE SIGNS TAX REDUCTION

President Fears Deficit of $100,000,000 in Year as Result.

ECONOMY NEEDED.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (Canadian Press). — President Coolidge signed the tax reduction bill yesterday, making it law, although he fears it may result in a treasury deficit of $100,000,000 a year hence.

This possibility was advanced to the executive by Director Lord of the budget, who based it on present indications of Government receipts and expenditures during the coming fiscal year. The President hopes, however, that increased prosperity will result from the tax cut, swelling Government income above present estimates, and that Congress will do its utmost to curtail expenditures.

Likelihood that there will be little, if any, surplus for the next year or two, in the President's opinion, precludes the possibility of further tax reduction next year and perhaps for some time to come. Ultimately, however, he believes that gradual retirement of the debt with continued Government economy will result in further Federal tax relief.

POLAND'S CLAIM MUCH CRITICIZED

Germany May Withdraw Application If It Is Granted. . . .

MUST BE SETTLED.

BERLIN, Feb. 26. — (Canadian Press).—Poland's claim to a permanent seat on the League of Nations Council is sharply criticized to-day by the Berlin newspapers and in political circles, where the opinion is expressed that the matter must be settled at Geneva next month.

The attitude of Germany will depend on the stand taken by the Allied Governments towards Poland's claim, but it is still asserted that undoubtedly Germany's application will be withdrawn if Poland's claim is admitted next month. It is claimed the admission of Poland would be regarded as an act of disloyalty to Germany.

SOLID FOR MEIGHEN ARE CONSERVATIVES

W. A. Boys Says Toronto Star Article is Slanderous.

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 (Canadian Press).—That an article appearing in the Toronto Star could only be characterized as "absolutely malicious, scurrilous and slanderous," was declared in the House of Commons Friday by W. A. Boys, Chief Conservative Whip. The article, according to Mr. Boys, was headed "Prominent Tories fan flames of revolt against leader." It stated that a member of the Conservative party had informed the Star that 25 members of the Conservative party were prepared to "drop Meighen." It also stated, according to Mr. Boys, that two members of the Conservative party had gone to Toronto to fan the flames of revolt against Meighen. Both of these statements the Conservative Whip denied positively.

Mr. Boys declared that there was absolute unity and solidarity behind Mr. Meighen, and that his courage and energy were esteemed by every member of his party.

ELOQUENT PLEA BY BRIAND FOR SECURITY PACT

Majority of Chamber Expected to Vote For Ratification.

BASIS FOR PEACE.

France Has Made All the Concessions, Says Conservative.

PARIS, Feb. 27. — (Canadian Press).—The Chamber of Deputies adjourned last night without voting ratification of the Treaty of Locarno but the ovation accorded Premier Briand at the close of a lofty and eloquent appeal for peace and the security pact indicated that at least three-quarters of the deputies will support his plea.

The treaty has met with much criticism among the deputies, although with little declared opposition, but when the Premier finished his oration all his hearers except the Conservatives were on their feet for several minutes cheering, while enthusiastic members from the Centre and Left rushed to the Government bench to shake his hand and try to embrace him.

"The best thing in the Locarno pact," declared M. Briand at one of the high points of his speech, "is the fact that it has penetrated the hostile German reserve and made it possible for the former enemies to talk together for the good of Europe and the world."

He gave little consideration to details of the pact, but stressed the necessity of making a beginning in the organization of Europe for peace. The treaty, he declared, was susceptible of diverse and contradictory interpretations. Sir Austen Chamberlain had been accused of allowing Great Britain to fall into the wake of France, while he (M. Briand) had been accused of making France subordinate to Britain and abandoning the guarantees France already held. On the other hand, the German Nationalists had attacked the Berlin Government for its concessions.

Sincere Move to Peace.

The fact remains," M. Briand cried, "that it is an earnest and sincere effort toward pacification of the minds of peoples, as well as a material plan to prevent aggression."

He asserted that the pact had changed the position of France in the diplomatic world. "The French representatives were met with cold reserve in 1924 when they met with other statesmen to consider international questions," he went on. "I said to myself then that if a new war broke out the French flag would not rally around it the same help as in 1914. But since France has signed the security protocol I have seen the representatives of all countries turn toward France, of which they then perceived the true visage, bereft of calumnies: the visage of France, liberator of peoples."

The Conservative deputy, Barthelemy, expressed the sentiment of the Opposition when he declared: "The future of the Locarno pact will be decided by the attitude of the German people. There are reasons for anxiety as to the manner in which the Berlin Government is trying to trade upon it."

"It is France," Deputy Barthelemy said, "that has made all the concessions, France and her orphans and her widows and her mutilated, still suffering from Germany's aggression."

He declared, however, that with all its shortcomings it was necessary to ratify the pact because it was a beginning toward peace. But in doing so, he said, France cannot afford to neglect the means of self protection.

FRIENDS GATHERED TO SAY FAREWELL

Two Families Leaving Meyersburg Received Presentations.

NORHAM, Feb. 27.—On Tuesday evening, February 23, a jolly crowd of friends and neighbors, to the number of about one hundred, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Moore, of Meyersburg, to spend a social evening with them before their departure from the community, and to honor Mr. and Mrs. James Jones, of Campbellford, who recently left the old homestead, which has been sold and has passed out of the family connection. The visitors received a genuine welcome and spent the evening in games and singing, in the midst of which, an address was read by Walter Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Moore were presented with an eight-day ivory mantel clock, and Mr. and Mrs. James Jones with a pierced silver convertible cake and sandwich tray and a well-filled purse. The presentations were made by Robert Bateson and Robert Nelson, after which all joined in singing, "For they are jolly good fellows." Mr. Moore and Mr. Jones each made very appropriate replies, thanking the friends of the church and community for their great kindness.

A dainty lunch was served and a pleasant evening brought to a close by singing God Save the King.

Following is the address:

"To Mr. and Mrs. William Moore and Mr. and Mrs. James Jones.

"We your friends and neighbors of Meyersburg and vicinity, have gathered this evening to spend a social hour with you before you leave the old homestead. Having spent your lives among us and knowing you as we do, we have learned to esteem and respect you most highly, for we have ever found you true friends. You have always given yourselves fully and cheerfully for all that was asked from you, as neighbors or friends and workers in our church.

"We are sorry indeed to lose you from our midst, but wish you to know that you carry with you the good wishes of the people of this community, and that you will always receive a welcome from your old home friends.

"As a mark of our esteem and good-will, we ask you, Mr. and Mrs. Moore, to accept this clock, and you, Mr. and Mrs. Jones, this tray and purse, and may they serve to remind you of your Meyersburg neighbors and friends.

"Signed on behalf of the community.

Robert Bateson, Robert Nelson, Walter Scott, Alfred Merrill."

"The Wife Who Wasn't Wanted"

BY S. GERTRUDE DE WENTWORTH-JAMES

SYNOPSIS.

Young Bob Mannering has been arrested for driving a car which crashed into another and killed a woman. Bob's mother, Eileen, pleads with her husband, John Mannering, who is District Attorney, to release the boy, but he insists Bob must stay in jail. His own duty, John declares, is to the public. "Then," shouts Eileen, "you are not my husband! But I can and will fight, even if you do turn your back on our boy—for I am his mother!"

CHAPTER VII.

Regardless of certain journalistic assertions to the contrary, there was at least some interest displayed in the campaign Jerome Wallace waged for the office of District Attorney.

Naturally Wallace was interested himself, so interested, indeed, that this morning he had even forsaken his bed and the comforts of his luxuriously appointed apartment up town at an unusually early hour to come down and visit his campaign headquarters.

Slick Jennings, too, had likewise displayed sufficient interest to bestir himself betimes and be on hand to welcome cordially him whose political destinies he was supposed to forward with deft touch and masterful skill. This self same ability to make a masterful touch deftly was doubtless responsible for the vigor with which Slick chewed away at his after breakfast cigar and regarded with satisfied complacency the presence of the opulent Mr. E. I. Bledsoe—apparently another interested party—at the very moment his principal discovered tidings which seemingly caused him pain.

"Look here—can you beat it?" grumbled Wallace, holding a newspaper aloft that his followers might read its staring headlines, "District Attorney Mannering stands firm in decision to prosecute his own son."

"It's somethin' fierce—somethin' fierce," affirmed Mr. Jennings with heat, and then, as Wallace had cooly pre-empted his desk and chair, Slick strode about, a wanderer in his own office, to finally halt at Wallace's elbow and stare over his shoulder as he read aloud.

"With the election only three days away it is almost certain that Mannering will be re-elected. Here is the type of public servant the people want, a man who has the courage and fearlessness to see that the law is enforced regardless of whom may be the victim."

"It's somethin' fierce," repeated Slick with feeling. "Some people get all the breaks." Then he stared over at Bledsoe, who, with his hands in his pockets, was gazing out of the window with a frown upon his face. Slick's look was not without satisfaction, as if at least one "break" had not escaped him Furthermore, it was calculating, seemingly estimating what this particular "break" would stand. Yet his tones lost nothing of their lugubriousness as he went on. "Instead of hurting this guy, Mannering, all this stuff about him and his kid is helping him—making a little tin god of him. H—ll, if I had an ole man an' he threw me down like that I'd slip him a slow pill—that is, if this isn't just bla-bla. If Mannering is on the level——"

"He is on the level all right. Don't make any mistake about that. He's just d—mned fool enough to carry it through," Bledsoe broke in. Turning impatiently from the window, he moved over to the desk and picked up the paper only to toss it aside in disgust. "He's got his re-election all sewed up, I tell you. Nothing but a miracle will stop him." With which political forecast Bledsoe turned as if to depart.

But Slick was before him. Confidence and assurance lighted his eye as he intercepted the millionaire. In the very face of the other's gloomy prediction he was cheerful.

"Nobody never won no election till the vote was counted," he declared firmly. There was a superabundance of negatives in the assertion, but it was meaty—very meaty. It conveyed meaning, and great minds are prone to neglect non-essentials.

"Things can happen—d—mn dunny things can happen sometimes," continued Slick with feeling. Evidently this man was a student of life, for here was sound philosophy if somewhat crudely expressed. A modernist was Slick, yet one who conceded that miracles were possible. Yes, in his manner there was a vague something which seemed to express a willingness to see that miracles took place—more, even to the extent of performing them himself. And his confident smile, the cocky angle of his hat and the jaunty tilt of his cigar seemed to breathe marked capabilities in that line did he but set his mind to it.

But suddenly the hope and promise in Slick's mein seemed to fade. It was as if the brightness of a cheery day were veiled by mist, and all powerful as he was Mr. Jennings could not escape an immutable law. He hooked a finger into the rotund waistcoat of E. I. Bledsoe and regarded it as though he contemplated further explorations.

"It takes gas—a lot-a gas—to make the old flivver climb a hill," he exclaimed cryptically, "and the tank is low—runnin' blame low."

Mystic words these to the uninitiated, but apparently not to Mr. Bledsoe. He hesitated, looked very glum and then with a sigh produced a check book from his pocket.

The effect of this action upon Slick was electrical. In an instant he was his cheerful self again—indeed, more so, for now joviality and cordiality appeared to exude from every pore of his plump body. As one who has completed a difficult task, he mopped the perspiration from his brow and waxed very busy. In his haste to see that Mr. Bledsoe was given every convenience and comfort in the preparationof his check Slick was rather unceremonious in the manner in which he ousted Wallace from the desk and chair.

But Wallace did not appear to mind. Such was his confidence in Slick's abilities, seemingly, that the mere sight of Bledsoe's check seemed to erase the memory of the morning's bad news. Flicking a speck of cigarette ashes from his carefully pressed trousers, he adjusted his tie and departed with that inscrutable smile of his upon his face. He went forth a well dressed man of leisure apparently in the best of spirits to take a drive, a long drive, which led in the direction of the jail, a place where at that very moment in the visitors' room Eileen and two lawyers were in conference with Bob.

Yet it was a curious conference, a rather one sided one, for Bob sat apart and gave little heed to what was taking place.

"As to the postponement," one of the lawyers was explaining to Eileen, "we have procured a continuance of thirty days, which in the congested state of the calendar means that the case will not come to trial for at least six weeks."

Eileen bowed and turned to give Bob a smile of encouragement, which faded as another thought claimed her.

"Did my—did the District Attorney object?"

"Oh, no," said the lawyer quickly. "There could hardly be objection to that. We have been retained so recently in the case that as a matter of course we are entitled to ample time to prepare an appropriate defense for our client."

"But did the District Attorney say anything? I should have thought he would have said something," persisted Eileen, and there was a wistful look in her eyes.

"No; he merely nodded. Perhaps he din't even do that. I am not certain," said the lawyer, beginning to gather up the papers before him and place them in his brief case. "There is nothing more to be done at present, Mrs. Mannering, I think. Anyway here is the jailer. Our time is up."

Eileen arose and, moving over to Bob, took hold of his hand as the officer approached. Mechanically the youth got to his feet, and as he faced her his lips began to quiver. Instantly she gathered him in her arms, and the brave smile with which she had regarded him became a pathetic grimace over his shoulder as she fought back the tears which brimmed her lids.

"Mother, you are crying; you must not," Bob protested as, withdrawing from her embrace, he gazed into her face a moment later.

"Oh, no, darling," she protested with an effort which would have deceived nobody. "That's the penalty of vanity—there is some mascaro in my eye."

"Well, anyway, I'm all right. I'm getting along fine, getting a great rest," he declared with a sorry attempt at gayety, which quickly faded. "There's dad, mother; it's pretty hard on the pater, this sort of thing, with him in office."

"Y-e-s," she agreed, but with a final embrace she followed the jailer without, another word to turn almost fiercely upon the lawyers as the door of the visitors' room closed upon them.

"We must win," she said. "Do you understand? We must win!"

And so, with her thoughts dwelling upon the plight of her son, Eileen emerged from the jail just as the big car of her husband drew up at the curb. Filled with surprise, even with suspicion, she watched it. What was it doing there? Did its presence bode ill to Bob? As she waited John Mannering descended. What was he doing there?

Suddenly Eileen was aware with a wave of feeling that he looked wan and tired—yes, dreadfully tired. Promptly she steeled her heart. Why should she care? Ah, but under the strain which burdened him John might become ill, said a wee small voice within her. Let him, cried the iron in her soul; he could not prosecute Bob. But somebody else would, persisted that same voice. So, a prey to her conflicting emotions, Eileen hesitated there on the jail steps, then waited for her husband.

He drew near, his arms filled with packages and a certain apology in his manner as he indicated them.

"Just a few things for Bob," he explained.

There was a vague aloofness about Eileen as she regarded him. It was thoughtful of him to remember Bob, to think of his comfort. He loves him, too, said that wee small voice within her. Yet swiftly her heart grew cold as steel. If he loved Bob, how could he prosecute him, hold him imprisoned in that horrid place of cheerless cells, of clanging metal doors and bars, steel bars. She shivered at the thought of them.

"I can stay but a moment," he went on. "If you care to remain I can run you out home on my way back to the office."

Eileen decided to wait, and, seating herself in the car, fell to thinking, first of Bob, then of her husband. How swift had been the change in her feelings towards him. Yesterday he had been all in all to her; today—she did not know. Oblivious to everything about her, she sat there wondering.

Thus it was that she did not perceive the approach of Jerome Wallace's car. Nor for that matter did Wallace himself become aware of her presence until, having parked his own machine, he descended and started to cross the sidewalk. Then he paused, clearly surprised to see her there. But not for long. Too resourceful was Wallace to be at loss over a course of conduct for any extended length of time. As cooly as if he had but that minute caught sight of a friend with whom he was on terms of the closest intimacy, Wallace made for the Mannering car.

Deep in somber thought, her face pale and weary from loss of sleep and anxiety, Eileen was leaning back in the seat with her eyes closed as Wallace drew near.

For a second he paused, peering in at her, drinking in her beauty. Then bold as brass he stepped up to the door.

"Why, Eileen, how do you do?"

She opened her eyes and stared at him, startled at his presence and amazed at the familiarity of his address. Then swiftly came the remembrance of his lilacs.

Without a word she turned to gaze into the distance with unseeing eyes.

He did not flinch under this cold reception; instead, with an impulsiveness unusual in a man of his poise and reserve, he threw open the door of the car.

"Eileen," he burst forth as if driven by overwhelming sympathy. "I know of your trouble and I would gladly be of service to you if I could. Isn't there something, some little thing, that I could do for you?"

Amidst her suspicions, it seemed to Eileen that not only was there warmth in his tones, but that sincerity rested in his face. Could she have been mistaken about Wallace? Was the friendship he proffered the disinterested regard of an honorable man? Very lonely and forlorn had Eileen felt since her break with her husband. She needed sympathy, encouragement, help—yes, help from any source which would benefit Bob.

He seemed to sense something of the drift of her feelings and it gave a new direction to his words.

"Because fate has seen fit to array me against your husband in the race for District Attorney has meant no feeling of unfriendliness on my part. The nomination came to me undesired and unsolicited. To one who realized as fully as I the esteem in which your husband is held in this community it has partaken somewhat of the nature of a forlorn hope."

Into his words was creeping a greater warmth.

"I tell you frankly, Eileen, the thought of being District Attorney has meant little to me—that is, until this moment. Now, for the first time, I realize the power of the office and recognize what it would enable me to do for you and your son."

Eileen's heart leaped and her coldness departed. Were not these the words of a friend? Of a true friend who, seeing eye to eye with her, recognized what would benefit Bob?

But even as she changed, he changed. Wallace, appearing to regret his impulsiveness, grew contrite.

"After all, it is very stupid of me to go on talking in any such strain," he declared. "Doubtless your husband will be re-elected, and who could do more for you than he? Who could do more for a son than his own father?"

Eileen turned, and this time not to betray her feelings. Into her mind leaped the remembrance of John with his resolute: "I am District Attorney. I will do my duty." It was an unpleasant memory fading before a later and fresher one. John, with his arms full of packages for Bob. He must have bought a sample of every brand of cigarettes in the world to be certain that he had not overlooked his son's favorite.

A queer picture that last compared to the first, thought Eileen, and it enabled her to get a grip on herself. Yet very much kinder was she now to Wallace. When he held out his hand to say good-bye she took it.

And not slow to take advantage of the privilege, he held it as he went on to say:

"So far as you are concerned, you are in a most advantageous position. No matter which way the election goes your son's freedom is assured. You know he is safe if Mannering remains in office, and should I be elected I pledge you my support."

And when her face lighted before his words with a joy she could not conceal Wallace still clung to her hand and even gave it ever so light a reassuring squeeze that through no possible mistake could she be unaware of his loyal friendship.

Thus they were when John Mannering came forth from the jail and moved towards them. Careless at first, he displayed real surprise when he recognized Eileen's companion.

Yet Wallace awaited him with the utmost composure, greeting him with a friendliness which bordered upon effusiveness.

John, it must be said, was rather cold. Having cast a fleeting glance at his wife, he regarded Wallace rather curiously before climbing into the car with a curt nod.

Unabashed, Wallace waited upon the sidewalk as if to watch the departute of two very dear friends. And as the car rolled away he cooly waved a parting salutation to Eileen and cried in meaning tones, "Remember."

Having thus expressed himself, he watched the car disappear around a corner before he went his way. And it may be said as a curious matter of interest that in discussing the election with Slick Jennings later in the day Wallace expressed high hopes of his election. But this undoubtedly was due rather to an overwhelming confidence in the astuteness and transcendent abilities of his manager than to any other cause.

CHAPTER VIII.

Outside of the incident of the lilacs, it had been years since Eileen had given a thought to Wallace. She had never taken their youthful friendship seriously. A certain mystery, a hint of dark and unfathomed depths about him had claimed her girlish fancy for the moment. But it had been no more than a passing affair, disregarded with the development of her all pervading love for John Mannering and forgotten with marriage and the swift rush of busy, contented years which had followed. True, rumors not at all complimentary to the man had circulated freely in the circles in which she moved, but in the fullness of her own happy life Eileen had not listened to gossip.

Now, however, intent with all the resolution of her nature upon helping Bob, her meeting with Wallace, regardless of first impressions, had re-established him in her mind in a most favorable guise. Apparently through all these years she had neglected a very real friendship. A spontaneous, unselfish and generous friendship which, careless of indifference, could bring Wallace to her side with the tender of his kind offices in the very hour of her need. Thus it was that, as she drove away from the jail at her husband's side, Wallace occupied her thoughts with a completeness which spoke volumes for that gentleman's suave skill with the opposite sex.

As she reviewed their meeting she recalled, with uplifted hope, that his had been no offer of assistance, so general in its nature as to be obviously nothing more than a polite subterfuge. It had been an outspoken promise, a definite pledge without limitation or condition, seemingly leaping from a heart overflowing with sympathy to help her, or rather to procure the freedom of her son, which to her mind was the same thing. But hold. There had been a condition. True, not one subject to his control, but a condition nevertheless, and one of such vital importance that unfulfilled all else would be of little value. Wallace must be elected District Attorney. His election was the very gist of the matter. Wallace elected and Bob would go free. It was all very simple, but—

John must be defeated. There was no middle course.

From the recesses of her heart that wee small voice raised its protest. John was her husband. At the altar of God she had plighted him her troth. The very words of the marriage service seemed to echo in her ears as her eyes dropped to the ring upon her finger, "For better—for worse."

The loyalty of years, the common hopes and ambitions of their married years registered prompt objection, while her own pride in his accomplishments joined the objecting chorus. To her John's success had been a marvelous thing. She had watched him climb through the years with but a vague appreciation of the mighty part her own gentle devotion and encouragement had played, but still sensing with satisfaction a complete partnership in it all, she had striven to worthily fulfill, as the mistress of his household, the added social duties accruing to herself. Proud, indeed, had she been to be the wife of the District Attorney and with him had come to regard his re-election not so much from any desire to retain the office, but rather as a test. A justification of the policies he had inaugurated, an approval by the people of high ideals for which he had long struggled.

Even as Eileen watched her husband she realized with a tremor of fear that should John Mannering fail of re-election it would mean more than defeat. Rather would it be a crushing blow delivered at the very pedestal of his lifelong endeavors. One which would shake, if not shatter, hopes closest to his heart and render futile years of his tireless labors.

In that instant a great tenderness for John asserted itself in Eileen'ss heart only to die before thoughts of Bob and the gloomy jail; of the jingling keys, clicking locks and clanging doors, all sounding a note in that symphony of woe and loss of freedom which must beat continually upon the consciousness of her son. Motherhood claimed Eileen to the exclusion of all else. Her boy must be gotten out of that prison at any price, at any cost.

The Earth's Surface.

Photographers have given up as a bad job the attempt to pose the earth. She pirouettes around in a circle continuously, and even press photographers have been unable to get good pictures.

It may be shyness, but just the same—

What would you think if you saw an old lady waltzing around with all her might and refusing to say from whence she came or whither she was going?

And if you found that the old lady had been going around for years under aliases such as earth, world, terra firma, globe, terrestrial footstool, what would your suspicions be?

And then what would you say on looking up the record in the police files and in press clippings if you found the following reputation:

"The earth's a thief"—Timon of Athens.

"This tough world"—King Lear.

"This distracted globe"—Hamlet.

"Naughty world"—Merchant of Venice.

"This world is given to lying."—Henry IV.

"The wicked world"—W. S. Gilbert.

Would you not think it time to call a policeman or make a complaint to the morality department?

It may be, we suggest, that the earth has realized from these clippings that she is suspected, and is spinning around to avoid being photographed for the rogue's gallery. It is suspicious.

In this picture a bumble bee is seen crawling around the earth. The diagram shows that the horns of the bee become visible first, proving that the earth is round.

Sleep is Nature's Nerve Restorer

"THAT may be very true," you say, "but that is just the trouble I cannot sleep."

And that is just why we are going to tell you about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which is generally conceded to be the greatest of nerve restoratives.

It is not a sleep producer in the sense of being a narcotic. But it does naturally and gradually restore the wornout nervous system and in a few days you find yourself enjoying sound, restful sleep.

Sleeplessness is, perhaps, the most outstanding symptom of nervous exhaustion. Without sleep there is no chance of replacing at night the nerve force used up during the day in the activities of life. Without such aid as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food affords you are doomed to physical bankruptcy.

By using this treatment and taking as much rest as possible you will very soon find yourself on the highway to health. But a little patience is necessary. A condition which has been years in developing cannot be overcome in a day. Of one thing you can be certain and that is that with each dose of the nerve food you are supplying to the blood and nerves the elements of nature which are essential for the restoration of the human system. C[illegible]AY
FURNISHING THE SMALL HOUSE.

The house which it is proposed to furnish is to belong to the $6,000.00 to $7,000.00 class, and taking the present day prices as a basis for size, would contain eight rooms, namely, living room, dining room, breakfast room and a kitchen on the ground floor, and three bedrooms and a sunroom on the second.

In every case, where the occupant has no existing decoration to interfere with any schemes that he may have proposed, attention should at once be directed to the walls. The walls of a house, with few exceptions, form the largest space to decorate and, of course, must be considered essentially as a background for any further decoration in the way of drapes, carpets, furniture, etc.

Bearing this in mind, it naturally follows that the colour of the walls should be low in tone or, if pattern is used, it must not be too overbearing in colour or design. In the case of halls, however, where there is little or no furniture and very little drapery the walls can be of a cheerful nature, but not effusively so.

In a house of this size by the careful use of the plainer papers the illusion of larger space is easily gained, for, when a paper of striking design is used in a small room, a crowded effect will be the result, and consequently will be a source of irritation to the occupant.

Taking the living room and, as in many houses of this type where the dining room is separated only by an arch with perhaps French doors dividing, it would not be out of place to paper both rooms with the same paper, the paper in this case being a neutral "stipple" or a two-tone effect in an all-over design. Colours may run anywhere from a warm tan to a cool taupe, and a balance effected by the use of hangings and carpets.

By the use of neutral schemes for walls no limitations are imposed when the time arrives for hangings and the many incidentals that make the human element in a room.

The breakfast room can be quite a contrast to this, thus assuring a bright and cheerful aspect gained, of course, by the use of yellows or light colours of this nature.

The best treatment for the kitchen is paint, which will not absorb the odours and greasy spots that are certain to be the trial of the occupant when a paper is used. It can be easily washed, and is very much more sanitary than a paper. The colour is best kept as light as possible, as this will give added light to the person working therein.

The bedrooms afford interesting treatments for either plain or figured papers of small pattern. These had better be left to the individual taste, some preferring pattern, others plain, but it should be borne in mind that over elaboration in the matter of colouring and pattern is not conducive to a restful state of mind, and a bedroom is primarily a place in which to sleep.

The sunroom walls had better be left as plain as possible, as in most cases the wall areas are too cut up to permit the use of pattern.

Coming now to hangings, carpets and any upholstery materials we find that, if plainer papers have been used, we have a perfectly clear field in which to indulge our taste for colour. The size of pattern should be in proportion to the size of the room, and choosing from the many excellent patterns of chintzes or damasks, that are at present on the market should not be difficult.

Let us suppose that we have chosen a chintz for the living room and a damask for the dining room, both patterns and on a plain paper; it is quite easy to repeat some of this pattern in the small pieces of upholstered furniture. The large piece, namely, the chesterfield, had better be upholstered plain, and in a colour that will harmonize with the chintz. For curtains next to the glass a net, sufficiently sheer not to obstruct the view from the inside, yet preventing outside intrusion, or a raw silk curtain, is highly successful. Many pleasing effects can be gained by frilling and draping these curtains and it will be found to give a freer treatment to the windows.

Carpets can either consist of one large or a number of small ones, preferably plain where a patterned fabric is used in the draperies and upholstering. It should also be of a darker hue than the walls to sustain the balance of tone that is very desirable in the successful decoration of all houses. If this is not considered a very disturbing effect of "top-heaviness" is the result.

Carpets of highly natural istic pattern had best be avoided, as an uncomfortable sensation of walking upon a flower garden cannot be overcome.

For the bedrooms, where a figured paper has been used, a plain hanging of a colour that has been taken from the papers is advisable. It forms a pleasing contrast to the surrounding pattern and the effect is restful. The opposite treatment would be used in the case of a plain paper.

For the sunroom raw silk curtains, or curtains made of a guaranteed sunfast fabric, are best. Many patterns are available with a small all-over figure of a different thread in self-colour that make highly successful sunroom draperies.

The bathroom where not tiled had better be painted, and finished with as hard a surface as possible, so that any moisture can easily be wiped off.

Lighting is best effected by sidelights and the use of portable lamps. The centre fitting is being less used, and the other more successful form is taking its place. The effect of a quietly lit room is much more soothing, and is easier to the eyes.

Pictures should be used sparingly, and then careful consideration given to the space they are intended to occupy. It will be seen that the maximum effect is gained by the placing of a picture on a plain wall.

Incidentals such as cushions, pottery and lamps are easily overcome. From such a source of colour as we now have the choosing of a note of accent can be settled by taking a colour that we already possess and repeating it in its brightest and purest form in two or three places in the room, one large piece dominating and that placed in the most interesting spot.

It will then be seen that harmony of colour is the result, and the completed room is a source of satisfaction to the occupant and an object of admiration to those who visit him.

EXAMINER HAS COLLECTED VAST TREASURE TROVE OF LOST KEYS AND OTHER BITS OF BRIC-A-BRAC

Mental Pictures Coniured Up by Cogitating on "Whence and Whither."

MEDAL THERE, TOO

Person Named Pool Was Given Award of Merit And Lost It.

There are 136 keys at The Examiner office that have not unlocked anything for months—possibly they may never unlock anything again for they are vagrant keys—keys which have been gathered from the highways by those perspicacious people who are endowed with the useful faculty for finding things. Who can tell what heart-burnings have been caused by those self-same keys which repose so innocently in the drawer? One pictures, while gazing upon them, figures hastening homeward, searching leisurely, then anxiously and, finally, in desperation, for the key which is gone, vanished into the vasty depths of the unknown. Such keys are those long, slim ones—latch-keys, and those of standard make which resemble each other so closely.

There are others of a more slender stature, many of which, no doubt, gave access to the trysting places of spirits. What chagrin must have been caused to the unwitting host who failed to locate his cellar key after arousing a raging thirst in the neighbour he wants to cultivate?

While many of the keys repose in single bliss, there are several in bunches, some rings having as many as ten keys, while a number of others have five or six.

Keys do not form the entire hoard, however. Some of the articles named at random are bracelets, cuff-links, gloves, beads, "pearls," medals, Bibles, purses and many other articles whose functions could not be ascertained. There is an "award of merit" medal, issued by the Royal Life Saving Society. The name inscribed on the back indicates that the award was made to E. U. Pool. Under the inscription there occur the characters, "O.L.C.—22." That medal has been in the drawer for nearly two years. It has been advertised frequently, but has never been claimed. It would seem strange that a medal of that character should lack an owner and one is forced to reflect on the whereabouts of Mr. Pool and the nature of the deed which won such a tribute.

There was a gold watch in the collection a short while ago. It had been picked up at a local hotel and held there some time awaiting a claimant. It was finally identified by a commercial man and went on its way rejoicing.

Gloves are scarcely ever lost in pairs, that fact is established by a glance at the mitten department. When gloves get themselves lost singly they are of no use to the finder or the owner. Those at the office are retained on the slight chance that the possessors of the other ones may call and get them. But, then, when one loses a glove it is considered an act of fate and the loser buys a new pair—not quite as expensive as those so tragically separated.

There is one bracelet which has no fastening device but which was fashion for some slender wrist. There are two ways in which it may have become lost. A disillusioned lady may have torn the lover's offensive gift from her arm and hurled it afar, or the lover may have been cherishing it in his upper vest pocket as a token of her affection. He likely lost it and spent the next six months telling her he was having it fixed by a jeweller.

There are some purses among the treasures, many of them have money in them—not much money, but enough to enable a loser to advertise; "Lost—A black lady's purse containing considerable currency."

The handle of an umbrella forms a part of the collection. It is not an especially rare handle nor could it be called antique but someone must have thought it sufficiently valuable to bring in the office that it might await a claimant.

After gazing at the numerous articles contained in that drawer, one is led to conclude that many things thought to be lost may be found if one knows where to look—a sage and undeniably true remark.

Biographical Sketches

"We read our future history in the history of the past. Let us live, therefore, so that those who come after us will say that we did our best—and no man can do more.

"Those lives are noblest which are a record of plain and simple duties simply done. The most valiant of swimmers may fail to reach the ship, but his success lies in trying, and we rejoice at his example and in the fine quality of his courage. They only 'succeed' who play the game of life fairly, win or lose, and only on the wings of well-doing reach their place in the sun. Money cannot buy what poverty can win.

"Those whom fortune favors exceedingly owe that debt to fortune. Only the humble are truly great." —Grotius.

—No. 2—

MR. JOHN CORKERY, J.P.

The subject of this sketch hesitated at the idea of being dragged into prominence on any pretence. "I am only an ordinary man," he said, "and do not court notoriety."

"It is ordinary men and women that we want for this column—people from whom other people, including the young now coming on, may learn a lesson or two," the writer of this column assured him. Mr. Corkery's modesty was not yet appeased. "Well, then, so far from quoting you as a model man I will say that you are very far from being a model man." Evidently that description would hardly do either, so without more, objections were laid aside and the desired information given.

"It is not so much what you have done to or for other people as what they have done to you. It is the history of you in relation to your times that the Examiner wants," suggested the writer.

Mr. Corkery, the son of Jeremiah Corkery and Margaret Kelliher, his wife, of County Cork, Ireland, was born in Peterboro, Aug. 18, 1848, making him now in his 78th year. Before going to work he was sent to school in the old Catholic School in the basement of the priests' house of a date in the fifties, situated on the north-east corner of the lot where the Cathedral now stands. The school was afterwards removed to a two-roomed rough-cast structure where the convent was later erected, and then was removed in 1863 to Murray street, near the old drill-shed. When his time to go to work arrived he entered the employ of John Haffey, clothier, then the shop of F. Lemay and afterwards that of T. Dolan & Co. From the clothing business he entered the civil service and became a clerk in the Post Office, ultimately becoming Assistant Postmaster and then Postmaster. He was recently superannuated. He was Town Councillor for 5 years and member of the Board of Education. He was also a member of the Separate School Board, of which he was Secretary-Treasurer for 40 years; also a member and Director of the Peterboro Workmen's Building and Loan Society, organized Jan. 17, 1889.

Mr. Corkery has seen the tax rate of Peterboro rise from 11 1_2 mills on the dollar to 36 mills, the present rate. Taxes soon change the appearance of a municipality, and Peterboro, which used to boast ample well-kept grounds for the larger residences and large gardens for the workingmen, has now only small grounds and smaller gardens. No man has been more many-sided than Mr. Corkery, and with all his constant devotion to business he found time to be for many years a member of the old Mechanics' Institute Board and later of the Public Library Board. As a member of the Redstocking Lacrosse Club he did good work in the days when people took intense interest in lacrosse, and as a pedestrian perhaps his best performance at a public meet was 30 miles in 6 hours, heel and toe. Mr. Corkery has also been a member of the K. of C., the Young Irishmen (1871), the C.M.B.A. and the Holy Name Society. The photograph accompanying this sketch is that of Mr. Corkery in 1882. He was honored by being made a Justice of the Peace several years ago. Mr. Corkery represents a most interesting and instructive type of citizen.

HEALTH ASSOCIATION HELPS TO COMBAT HUMAN SUFFERING THROUGH PRACTICAL PROGRAM

Peterboro Organization Has Done Splendid Work Since Birth in 1911.

STILL EXPANDING

Dr. Cameron Responsible for Planting of Seed—Many Have Helped.

The Peterborough Health Association has been a great factor in the lessening of human suffering since it was first formed in 1911. Perhaps no other society of like nature has accomplished more or carried out the work with less ostentation than has the Health Association. There is no parade here of sacrifice or good works accomplished in serving individuals. The public is not informed of the names of benefactors and the only method by which an estimate of value may be obtained is by examining the statements submitted each year. Thus people in poor circumstances do not risk harrowed feelings because their needs have been ministered to by the Health Association.

Those affiliated give their services cheerfully and without any renumeration other than the joy of service. The only paid officials are the nurse and those connected with the supervision of the summer camp at Jackson Park. The nurse, who is employed permanenty is kept very busy and is at the disposal of any physician in the city and subject to call day or night, at any time. The augumented staff for the children's camp consists of a cook, a camp nurse, a dietitian, and a caretaker.

Work Is Continuous.

Throughout the entire year the work of the Association pursues its course. Many of the city doctors are affiliated and have discretionary powers concerning the ability of patients to pay for services which they render. If the nurse's attendance is needed the name of the patient is added to her call list and the new patient immediately begins to reap the benefits which could result only from the existence of such an institution as the Peterborough Health Association.

The local Health Association was founded in the winter of 1911. Dr. Stewart Cameron, who had returned from Saranac Lake, was largely instrumental in securing action which resulted in the final formation of the society. He had observed the provisions made at Saranac Lake for the treatment of tubercular cases and came back to Peterborough imbued with the idea of establishing a similar service branch line.

W. G. Morrow acted as chairman for the first meeting at which it was decided to form a Health Association. The first officers were:

President—W. H. Moore, K.C.

Vice Presidents—Rev. Father McColl, Dr. R .P. Boucher, T. F. Matthews.

Secretary—Dr. G. Stewart Cameron.

Treasurer—E. C. McLeod.

Executive—Dr. McPherson, Dr. McNulty, Dr. Halliday, R. C.Braund, His Honor Judge Huycke, J. W. Bennett, E. A. Peck, Dr. A. Morrison and W. G. Morrow.

Primarily the work of the Association was in ameliorating suffering from tuberculosis but the directors soon saw that the field was too great to permit of such a restriction and hence a second aim was established which included attention to all citizens in need, the duties of the nurse embracing everything from obstetrical work through the whole catalogue of human infirmities.

In order to give an impetus to the newly-born organization it was deemed advisable to promote a series of lectures of which the first was presented by Sir Adam Beck in the Collegiate auditorium. In the summer of 1912 the first "Made-In-Peterborough" fair was held and a revenue amounting in excess of $4,000 was made available for use in health work. Miss Sparkhall was the first nurse engaged and carried on the work for some time in a highly efficient and successful manner. She later married Dr. McPherson.

Miss Mercier succeeded Miss Sparkhall and she was assisted by Miss Hamilton. The two nurses carried on the work together until the outbreak of the war when, with funds somewhat depleted, the Association was forced to dispense with the services of one nurse, although assistance was later obtained for the remaining nurse during busy seasons.

The nursing service is under the direction of the Nurses' Supervision Committee of which Mrs. R. R. Hall is the present convenor. The meetings were usually held at the home of Miss Archer, although many of them are held at the summer camp at Jackson Park. The committee deals with the distribution of milk and eggs and during last year dispense those valuable food essentials to 31 families. Milk amounting to 5,250½ quarts was distributed together with 161 dozens of eggs. During the summer season the committee members alternate in supervising the camp and acting in the capacity of commissariat, making the necessary purchases for the kitchen.

Nurse Made 2,000 Calls.

Miss Anne Long, the present nurse, made more than 2,000 professional calls last year and the total revenue accruing amounted to only $298.20 which sum was collected from patients who were in a position to pay. The cases to which she devoted her attention came under the classifications of obstetrical, tubercular, surgical and medical. Prospective mothers receive every attention and require much of the nurse's time. It is necessary that she be in attendance some days before the baby is born and for some time afterward to see that proper clothing and other necessaries are provided. During the entire year not one obstretrical patient died, although two new-born babies did not survive.

In tubercular cases the patients are called upon regularly and adequate instruction is given regarding proper hygienic care, ventilation and the use of sputum cups. The sputum cups and refills, together with any other medical requisite, are supplied free of cost and milk and eggs are given to needy patients. In surgical cases the nurse is ready to assist the doctor with bandages and splints. Medical cases are also properly attended.

The Summer Camp.

The Jackson Park camp was organized in 1914 under the chairmanship of Mrs. R. Travers. Owing to the war and consequent lack of funds it was thought expedient to close the camp after it had been in operation for one month. It was re-opened in 1918 and has since been carried on continuously each summer. The convener of the camp committee is Mrs. G. Stewart Cameron.

When the founding of a camp was decided upon for the benefit of under-privileged children the Kiwanis Club was found to be an ardent supporter of the scheme. The large bungalow used as a rest room was made possible by funds supplied by such organizations as the Teachers' Association, Chapters of the I.O. D.E. and the Thursday Club. Public school boys in the manual training class, under the direction of Mr. Hope erected the building. When the camp was first established it consisted merely of a tent and a few rented cots and now, in addition to the rest room there is a commodious dining hall provided by Kiwanis, a splendid kitchen thoroughly equipped with a stove, refrigerator, cooking utensils and a plentiful supply of dishes, a storage building for use in connection with the kitchen.

The Kiwanis Club members, seeing the need of more satisfactory bathing facilities, prepared a splendid pool by building a dam and erecting a wall to support it. All this has been done with the permission of the Park Commission which has been exceedingly helpful and kindly disposed in the development of child-welfare work.

The children are examined on their entry into the camp by a number of physicians who have volunteered for the work and any deficiencies are given immediate attention. If treatment or an operation is necessary it is carried out with no charge devolving on the parents. Tonsils and adenoids are given particular attention as they are recognized as the seats of many childish ils. The summer camp clinic is indispensable and the doctors are taking their pay in the pleasure which service affords.

Children who have been discovered under the normal standard are followed up even after the camp is closed. A proper diet is furnished and the benefits of the summer camp are therefore made permanent, appreciating the sensitive disposition of parents and those treated by the regular nurse, it has been the policy of the Association to give no undue publicity to individual cases but to make the showing by the report of the whole at the end of the year.

Has $4,000 Invested.

The Association has approximately $4,000 invested in government bonds bringing in a 5 per cent rate of interest. In this investment are trustee funds representing bequests which were stipulated should be invested in such a way that only the interest could be used and the principal would remain in perpetuity. This fact is not generally understood and when one sees, on glancing at the finaciancial statement, that the Association has a $4,000 investment, one is apt to discredit a further call for funds.

The physical assets consist mainly of camp equipment. To maintain the all year round nursing work, the interest on the bond investment is used in conjunction with the grant of $1,000 made annually by the City Council. In addition the Association raises from $2,500 to $3,000 a year by means of some attractions which are thrown open for public patronage at a nominal fee. For the past six years the Association has increased its income by various motor shows and last year by a Made-in-Peterborough busines show which was undoubtedly the biggest thing of its kind ever staged in this city. Much of this work has been made possible by the work of the former advisory board of the Red Cross Association. George A. MacDonald has always headed the work in this regard and to him and his helpers is due the appreciation of the community.

Protect the Citizens.

W. R. Breyfogle, who has been president of the Association for several years made a very striking comparison in his last annual report when he drew an analogy of the operation of the Health Association to that of the police and fire departments. All three protect the interests of the citizens and each organization has a distinctive and unique way in which this is effected. The police protect the citizens from the violence of wrong doers; the firemen do their part in allaying the dangers of great conflagrationss but the Health Association guards against the more insidious, but none the less certain, attacks of disease germs.

While the present development is a far cry from the association which obtained $330 from the first activity, the sale of health calendars and stamps, it is just an indication of what may be done when enterprise is coupled with a worthy object.

MUSIC HAS DEFINITE PLACE IN CANADA'S CURRICULUM

Instructors Enter Whole-Heartedly in Vocal Education of Children.

CHOIRS ORGANIZED

Canadian Cities' Ideas as to Development of Young Canucks.

By Pansy Atkins.

Even if you can't sing there is no reason why your youngster should be as musically dumb as you are. This article tells why the teaching of music is no longer one of the "fads and frills" of our public school system and shows how music makes keener pupils.

"Ding dong-be-ll, Pussy's in the we-ll. Who put her i-in . . ." sang a little, chubby-faced girl, as she swung to and fro, up and down, under an old, blossom-laden crab-apple tree, one fine May morning.

The tune was either appropriated or "made up" as she confessed, yet her crouched muscles and pointed toes synchronized perfectly with each beat of her song and she sang just as sweetly and with the same simple perfection as her little, feathered rival, pouring his rapturous melody into the air above her.

She sang with such pleasing perfection because she wanted to sing. Because she loved to sing. It was an eminently satisfactory outlet for her superabundant emotions. Also because she felt all the twinkling thrills known to a finished artist giving of his best to a listening world, and in so doing was utterly unconscious of self.

To bring these natural conditions into the artificial atmosphere of the school room is the task of a small but resolute company of supervisors and teachers of music, working with whole-souled enthusiasm, from the Maritime Provinces of the far east, to the city of Victoria at "the gates of the sun."

In comparison with the vast differences in Canada in political and social life, with the conflicting aims and aspirations of many races of people, and with the geographical barriers which tend to localize the various sections, the unity and harmony shown, in methods of teaching music in the schools, is noteworthy.

I might quote from a score of letters, which I have received from the supervisors, from St. John, N.B., to Victoria, B.C., but to do so would be mere repetition, so closely allied are their aims, methods and ideals. And music, as a rule, does not appear a subject in which "the calf and the young lion and the fatling" lie down together, but rather one about which many diverse opinions are entertained.

How Music Affects Them.

Variety of opinion may, perhaps, be due partly to the fact that, in music, the same cause frequently produces antithetical effects. A class of girls listened to an orchestral rendition of Tschaikowsky's Overture of 1812. At its close one girl said, most emphatically, "I don't like it. It makes a queer feeling run up and down my spine." Another said, "But I do. I just love it! It makes nice shivers run all over me."

Also it may be due to the fact that music is a difficult subject to pin down upon a dissecting beard. This element of uncertainty causes many a long breath on the part of the teacher before undertaking initial lessons in this subject. In the light of the vast possibilities which abound in the teaching of music, one's own abilities appear to shrink almost to a vanishing point.

The system used in Canada is tersely summed up by the Supervisor of Misic in St. John. He says:

". . . In this city, where we have some 200 grades (exclusive of high schools), music is taught by the grade teachers under my supervision. In rare cases where the teachers feel unable to take their own music, we endeavor to arrange for more competent teachers to exchange work with them. A carefully graded sight-singing course is commenced as early as Grade One, and continued throughout the school. Song singing is taught exclusively by rote in Grades One to Three, but in Grade Four the first music reader is used. When children use the fifth reader they sing three-part songs.

"The amount of time given to singing averages three or four periods, of fifteen minutes each, a week.

"The system of sight, singing taught is the Dual-Notational Method, that is, the application of the sol-fa syllables to the staff notation. Where regular drill is given, the facility displayed by the children in sight-singing is astonishing to those unfamiliar with our work.

"The majority of children take the keenest possible pleasure in their music studies, and I find that this pleasure is in direct ratio to the amount of encouragement given by the teacher and supervisor.

"Individual singing is encouraged from the earliest grades, so that self-consciousness and diffidence do not receive an opportunity to develop. Children manifesting a special aptitude for the work are placed in the rear seats of the class and are known as 'singing-monitors.' These monitors form a class-choir and are used to demonstrate to the other children. In the upper grades the class-choirs are virtually the 'School Choir,' these children being allowed to sing to the school at assemblies andson other public occasions.

"Since music reading demands acute and rapid reasoning, and intense concentration, establishing habits of accuracy and individual effort, combined with team work, I think there can be no doubt as to the value of music as an educational subject, or its ultimate value to the community and the individual.

"The aims of music teaching in public schools may, I think, be summarized in this way:

"(1) To equip the child with the power to take his place among the musical public, on leaving school.

"(2) To cultivaate good vocal habits and good vocal control.

"(3) To develop a taste for, and a love of, good music.

"(4) To help the child to appreciate intellectually as well as emotionally."

Varying Aims.

The aims of all the supervisors are not expressed exactly this way; each has his own particular hobby. For example: Victoria emphasizes the teaching of songs; Edmonton of the breezy west, the value of competition between cities; Regina, of the plains, inter-room competitions. Toronto specializes in "The Festival of the Lilies," and "The Empire Day Concert"; Hamilton, the first city in Canada to employ a music supervisor, holds a music Festival in May, as a culmination of the year's work; Stratford pays careful attention to the individual and gives each pupil a voice test; Peterboro emphasizes the love of the beautiful as conveyed to the children through music; Montreal is striving to strengthen the characters of her children by the influence of music; and Ottawa, the cultured, speaks of the enjoyment the public draws from the children's performances.

These aims, along with many others too similar to mention, give us a glimpse of the work which goes on, day by day, in our schools, in Canada.

When we consider this work in the light of the comparatively short period of time in which it has been evolved, can we not feel a little proud of our achievements? Not in centuries, but merely in years, we measure our training in this work. Forty-five years agovisor the first music supervisor was brought out from England, by Egerton Ryerson. Mr. Ryerson felt keenly the need of the alleviative influence of music, in the lives of those who had withdrawn themselves from the cultural influence of an old land to live among the raw ruggednesses of a new.

But the great difficulty was to make the people of that time see what they really did need. Being yet somewhat too near the period when so many axes for so many beaver skins governed the rise and fall of the nation's currency, many good and worthy people were unable to see value in teaching music to school children. The idea that they could do anything worth "the price of admission" was doubted by the general public.

In order to correct this opinion, A. T. Gringan, who was supervisor of music in Toronto, forty years ago, began to train children for concerts. At first he received no help or encouragement from the Board. He gave his initial concert at his own expense and ost money. But, undaunted by this failure, he gave another the next year and this time netted five dollars. This he donated to charity.

When the Duke and Duchess of York, our present King and Queen, visited Canada, a choir of six thousand children sang for them. Their expression of appreciation convinced people, as never before, of the possibilities in teaching children to sing.

What music has done in the development of our country, can not be overestimated. Not only is it one of our finest of cultural subjects, but it can be used to teach patriotism, literature, geography, and morality, as well'

THE BEST MEDICINE I HAVE EVER TAKEN

So Says Mr. Arthur Simmons of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

P.E.I. Man Used Them For Sore Back and Headaches.

Miscouche, P. E. I., Feb. 26.—(Special.)— That Backache and Headaches are caused by weak kidneys and that the right way to treat them is to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, is again shown by the experience of Mr. A. Simmons, a well-known and highly respected resident of this place.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills have been a great help to me. Before I started to take them I had severe pains in my back and suffered with terrible headaches. I felt well after I had taken the first box and now I am taking them all the time. They are the best pills I have ever taken."

The work of the kidneys is to strain the impurities out of the blood. It is a trying work, for the kidneys are constantly in contact with the seeds of disease.

Suppressed grief suffocates, it rages within the breast, and is forced to multiply its strength.—Ovid.

A Great Year ~ A Great Car ~ and Lower Prices

1925 was the greatest year in Dodge Brothers history.

More than a quarter of a million Dodge Brothers Motor Cars were built and sold, yet demand was far in excess of production—and continues to mount.

To meet this world-wide need for a smart and dependable motor car, Dodge Brothers, Inc., and their subsidiary companies have recently completed a $10,000,000 program of expansion, vastly increasing production and lowering the cost of manufacture.

Remarkable new machine equipment has also been installed —further reducing costs and perfecting quality.

As a result Dodge Brothers (Canada) Limited, were enabled recently to announce a schedule of prices that has revolutionized all previous standards of motor car value.

Prices all the more impressive because they apply to a dependable and trusted product made still better in many vital respects—

Instant engine response and elasticity.

Stylish bodies finished in rich and distinctive colors.

Exceptional driving vision.

And the most important advance in steel body construction since Dodge Brothers pioneered in building the first all-steel body.

...ns' Opinions Asked ...n Use Of Ontario's Share—$865,000.

ASKED TO VOTE.

...e Province of Ontario has been ...ted as its share of the Canteen ...und, the sum of $865,000. To administer this, the Ontario Government will appoint a committee of five members. Two of these will be chosen by the Government and the remaining three by the veterans throughout the Province.

How this fund is to be used in the best interests of the veterans, has also to be decided by the Government, and their decision is awaited with interest and anxiety.

Col. A. P. Miller, who is Ontario's representative for the unattached veterans on the Dominion Executive of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., has been requested to ascertain the opinion of the returned veterans as to the way this fund should be used.

The Examiner, always ready and willing to assist the best interests of the veterans, volunteers to print in its columns a ballot form by means of which every returned veteran may and should indicate the use to which he thinks this fund should be placed.

The result of the ballot will be published here, as well as communicated by Col. Miller (on behalf of the veterans) to the Premier, together with the request that it be given due consideration by the Government in coming to a decision as to how the fund is to be used.

In my opinion the Canteen Funds should be disposed of as noted:

COTTON SCORES.

Plucky Stick-work of Cotton Gives Pittsburgh Victory Over the Maroons.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 27 (Canadian Press). — Pittsburgh hockey team triumphed over the Maroons of Montreal in a bitterly fought game here last night by a score of 1-0. It was only the able and clever skating and stick work of Cotton which gave Pittsburgh the game. Early in the second period Cotton took the puck from deep in his own territory, moved down the ice at a furious clip, crossed to the right side, and, coming within 15 feet of the mesh, sent the puck whirling into the net. It was a clever piece of work, and a well-deserved tally.

CONTINUE EVIDENCE IN CUSTOMS PROBE

Hickling Admits He Did Not See Forging of Document.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 27. Canadian Press. — When the customs probe resumed on Friday, W. J. Hickling, chief clerk in the office of the chief inspector of customs in the Port of Montreal, took the stand, and was questioned concerning the release of the "Morris Delage" car, which it is alleged was sold on forged certificates while it was in custody of the customs authorities.

Mr. Nickling said that he had seen Ralph Garceau, clerk in the office, writing out a for for release of a car. About five minutes later Garceau approached him and said that J. E. A. Bisaillon, then chief inspector, had told him to sign the form "Morris DeLa.e" in a disguised hand writing. Garceau "seemed very much worried." Hickling said he told Garceau that he was very foolish and should not do a thing like that again.

Cross-examined by Oscar Gagnon, counsel for Bisaillon, Hickling admitted that he did not actually see Garceau forge any document nor had he heard Bisaillon instruct the clerk to do so.

Mr. Gagnon then read from the Duncan report quoting Mr. Hickling as having told Duncan that Garceau had spoken of signing a receipt form in another man's name.

Mr. Hickling also was reported in in the Duncan report as quoting "The man who paid the double duty," expressing the hope that there would be no trouble about it. This remark had been made in both cases, Mr. Hickling added.

"What was Mr. Bisaillon's interest in all that?" suddenly asked Mr. Gagnon.

"I don't know," replied Mr. Hickling.

"That is for the committee to decide,' interjected R. L. Calder, counsel for the committee.

"Mr. Bisaillon was remitting all the money he received in these transactions?" went on Mr. Gagnon.

"Yes," agreed the witness.

Inspector Duncan.

Inspector Walter Duncan took the stand for the first time during the probe. He said the transcription of the evidence at his probe was read in his presence, seemed a fair report of the proceedings. When Mr. Gagnon said that Mr. Hickling for one had found something confusing in the report of his evidence, Mr. Duncan replied that he "was not surprised at that. In the Port of Montreal I was often confused myself," he added.

"It was on this confusing evidence" said Mr. Gagnon, "that Inspector Duncan had charged Bisaillon with stealing a door from a car in the custody of the customs." Mr. Duncan admitted that if Parrot had asserted as he did to-day, that he could not remember if it was Bisaillon who had given instructions to move the door, he would not have charged Bisaillon with the theft of it. But Parrot in Montreal had specifically mentioned Bisaillon's name.

Mr. Gagnon commented that Bisaillon had been dismissed on charges made by Duncan on the strength of just such conflicting evidence as that.

Bisaillon himself was then called to the stand.

The YELLOW STUB

by Ernest Lynn

HC 31 ... MONDAY NOV. 25 ... ORCHESTRA

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Chicago, where the theater is. The stub is traced to THOMAS FOGARTY, a political boss, wao says he gave it to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

JIMMY meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga. She faints when she learns police want her for murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lifting Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the handkerchief and stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives several mysterious warnings to leave Chicago, but ignores them. Later he is attacked at night by two men, but escapes.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Mary tells Jimmy this when they meet and he, trying to hurt her, accuses her of marrying for money.

That evening Jimmy and Olga see the man they are looking for—the man who is thought to have got the ticket stub—in an automobile. It is one of the men who had attacked Jimmy. They follow in a taxi, but the man and his companion escape. They later recognize his picture at police headquarters as IKE JENSEN.

Jimmy, in need of a job, finally finds one driving a laundry truck. Finishing up his first day, he sees Church and Mary in Church's roadster. Mary doesn't recognize him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXVII.

The hot color rushed to Jimmy's face. Half angry, half ashamed, he shifted gears viciously and drove on.

Had Mary Lowell seen him and deliberately refused to recognize him? There was no doubt in his mind that Samuel Church had seen him. Jimmy could still see that contemptuous smile on Church's lips and the possessive air with which he had turned to Mary. It was as if he were trying to flout Rand with his ownership.

"He in an expensive foreign car and I in a laundry truck," Jimmy muttered. "I can't blame her for not wanting to recognize me, and yet I wonder if she really saw me?"

His thoughts—as thoughts have an odd habit of doing—jumped back unaccountably to the little curly-headed boy he had seen that morning—little "Harry Smiff." . . . It would be wonderful, he thought, a home and a little boy like that.

. . . And Mary was going to marry Samuel Church. . . . They would never have children as beautiful as the little boy he had seen that morning.

Bitter reflection hemmed in . . . Mechanically he drove on . . .

Mary had not seen Jimmy—until it was too late to let him know that she had.

Church had called for her at the office, had offered to drive her home. She had assented without enthusiasm and to Church's efforts to be amusing and conversational on the way home she had been unresponsive and abstracted.

"Why so uncommunicative, dear?" he asked her. "Anything on your mind?"

"No," she said dully.

"I've picked out your wedding present, Mary."

"You have?" She was staring straight ahead. She could not look at him.

"Don't you want to know what it is?"

"Of course. What is it?"

"An automobile—just for you to drive. A coupe. It's a beauty.

"You shouldn't have done it," she murmured.

"Why not? Don't you like to drive?"

"Of course. I've never driven, but I'm crazy to learn. But it isn't necessary, is it? You have two cars now. It seems so wasteful—so extravagant."

"My dear," he laughed, "I can afford it. I can afford to buy lots of wonderful things—and will. What's the use of having money if you can't spend it and be happy."

"You talk," she said, flushing, "as if money could buy happiness—as if it were the only thing necessary to happiness." The words of Jimmy—those hot words he had flung at her yesterday in the park—were searing her mind.

"I should hate to try to be happy without it," Church answered slowly, looking at her intently.

Traffic had stopped them at an intersection. He gazed about him idly, conscious of the impressive picture he made in his expensive car, and beside him this beautiful girl.

His eyes suddenly lighted with recognition; his lips framed a grin that was half sneer, and he turned to her.

"There's an old friend," he remarked contemptuously. "See him?" Something in his tone lifted her out of her lethargy—caught at her and antagonized her.

"Where?" she asked, meeting his look.

He jerked a thumb toward the truck in which Jimmy sat, and started the car. Mary had a swift fleeting glance of Jimmy, sitting red-cheeked, eyes staring straight ahead, driving away. She knew instantly that Jimmy had seen them, and intuitively she knew that Jimmy had been hurt because she hadn't spoken—she had been looking straight in his direction when Church had called her attention.

"Quite a car he was driving," sneered the man at her side. "A laundry truck. Do you and your mother happen to use that laundry, Mary? Perhaps he will be calling for your soiled clothing."

Swift color flooded her cheeks. "If he did," she said evenly, "I'm sure I wouldn't laugh at him because of his job. Why should anyone laugh at him? It's honest work he's doing, isn't it. It's nothing to be ashamed of."

Church frowned. "You misunderstand me, Mary. Of course, he should be ashamed. If he's as intelligent as he tries to make people believe, he could be doing something better. I can't forgive lack of ambition."

"He doesn't lack ambition. He's had to get a job and this is the only thing that offered.. You know he had a job at my office, and he was doing very well when he was discharged. I never could understand why."

He shot her a swift, searching look. 'Probably for a very good reason," he said. "They are insistent at the Q. and R. Railroad on good character."

"How do you know he hasn't good character?" she asked quickly.

"I know nothing about it, nothing at all. However, it wasn't anything to his credit to be seen with a drunken woman in his arms on the street."

"How do you know," she asked, watching him through narrowed eyes, "that she was drunk?"

He shrugged. "I think I know the symptoms. They're rather unmistakable."

"I know differently," she pursued. "She wasn't drunk, as you say."

He started. "Why, how—how do you know?" he stammered. "Have you seen her."

"No, I haven't, but I intend to." "Oh no, Mary, you mustn't do that. Promise me you won't do that. She's not the sort of a girl you should know."

"You said she was drunk," Mary continued, "when, as a matter of fact, she had fainted. It was unfair to both of them."

"How do you know she fainted? Have you been talking to him? Did he try to make you believe that?" He tried unsuccessfully to suppress his anger. His face turned a beefy red and his hands trembled on the wheel. He stepped on the accelerator and the car shot ahead, violently.

"It makes no difference where I got my information," she said coldly. "I know that's all."

"Oh well, Mary," he said with an effort at pleasantry. "Let's not quarrel about it. It's not worth it."

The car sped along, as swift and noiseless as the December wind. Mary fell silent and responded to his lame attempts at gaiety with monosyllables. His face clouded and he pressed grimly down on the accelerator . . . .The car fairly flew along.

Up the street a little fox terrier was frisking and leaping about with his young master, a boy of ten. The boy would throw a tennis ball and the dog would retrieve it and then, returning to his master, tantalize him before giving it up again.

As the car with Mary and Church in it approached, the terrier dashed out into the street and barked. Church saw him, and he had plenty of time to apply his brakes and swerve. But he merely laughed. . . .

It all happened in a fleeting instant. The boy's agonized cry: "Spot! Here, Spot!" Mary's frantic appeal to Church her hand on his arm, the other to her throat. The bark that ended in a despairing yelp as the wheels passed over the little animal and left in their wake a broken, bloody form. . . .

The little boy was standing at the curb, his hands covering his eyes, not daring to look at the lifeless thing that had been Spot. . . Mary turned and saw him and pity struck deep in her heart.

"Stop the car," she commanded. "You've killed that little boy's dog." He shrugged. "It was just a dog. He got in my way I couldn't help it."

"You didn't try. You could have slowed down. I saw it. I could almost say you did it deliberately. Let me out. I'm going back."

He stopped the car, helped her out. "Oh, well, I'll go back with you. I'll buy him another dog."

"Here, kid," said Church, producing some crisp new bills. "Now you can buy yourself another dog."

"I—I don't want another dog," the boy sobbed. "I want Spot."

"Tell me your name," said Mary soothingly. "I'll see that Santa Claus brings you another little dog just like Spot—maybe Spot's brother.'

"You see what you've done," she blazed at Church. "You've not only killed his dog—you've killed something inside that boy."

"Now, now, Mary," he placated, "you're getting worked up over nothing."

"Take me home," she cried. "If there were a policeman here I'd have you arrested. It was your fault. You just didn't care."

"I offered to buy him another dog, didn't I?" He turned again to the boy. "Here you are, sonny." But the boy again refused his money.

"I'm glad to learn just what kind of a man you are," Mary said to him. They were standing at her doorstep. She had been stonily silent the rest of the way home. "I'm through. Do you understand?"

"Now, Mary," he began, taking her arm, but she tore herself away from him.

"I mean it," she cried. "I never want to see you again."

"Mary, you're talking crazily." He grabbed her roughly and crushed her to him and, in spite of her desperate struggles, kissed her full on the mouth.

"You brute!" she gasped, striking at him with her hands and beating him away from her. "I hate—you you and your money. Here—try to buy somebody else." She tore the diamond ring he had given her off her finger and threw it at him and closed the door in his face. . . .

Once inside her room, she tore Church's picture off her table and threw it to the floor. Then she cried, and, oddly enough, it was the first time in weeks that she had been happy.

It was just about this time that Jimmy Rand was eating his supper in a "beanery," contemplating the evil aspect of the world which allowed the Churches to win the Marys . . . It was in this frame of mind that he went home, to find news from his sister, Janet, that only served to add to his worries.

TONIC TREATMENT FOR INDIGESTION

Indigestion Comes With a Run Down Condition—Relief Comes Through Enriching the Blood — Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Make New Blood.

There are many symptoms of indigestion such as acute pain after eating, belching of wind, nausea and vomiting, bloating and pains in the region of the heart, a dread of food for the misery it causes. Dieting and the use of pre-digested foods may give ease, but that is all and meanwhile the stomach grows steadily weaker. The work of digestion depends upon the blood and nerves and the only way to get rid of indigestion is to tone up the stomach through the blood, to do the work nature intended it should do. The one thorough way to do this is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which renew the blood, strengthen the nerves and enable the stomach to do its work with ease and comfort. Neglected indigestion means prolonged misery. If you have any of the symptoms of this trouble try the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at once and you will be gratified with the results.

Among the many who have found new health through the use of Dr Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. Ada Webb, R.R. No. 3, Prescott, Ont., who says:—"For a long time I went through the tortures of nervous indigestion; I call it torture because no other word can describe what I endured If my stomach was empty I retched. If I took food I vomited. I did not sleep, and I was steadily growing weaker. I doctored for months but with no benefit. One day my husband said, as the treatment you have had has not helped you, why not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I consented and he got me a supply. After I had been taking the pills for a while I knew they were helping me as the pains and retching grew less and I slept better. I gladly continued the use of the pills and in a few months I felt like a new woman, better than I had felt for years, and able to work for my husband and children again. After such a wonderful experience how can I do anything else but recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

If you need a blood-building tonic begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Feb. 26 (Canadian Press). — The domestic trade was again reported quiet in the local cash grain amount of business passed. The tone of the market for oats was steady and prices were unchanged.

The strength that developed for butter on Thursday was fully maintained today and prices scored a further advance of 1-4c per pound owing to the continued demand for supplies and the somewhat restricted offerings. The volume of business, however, was not large with a few sales of Township at 44c per pound. Receipts today were 45 packages.

The tone of the market for cheese was firm with buyers bidding 19c per lb and sellers asking 19 1-2 per lb. for current receipts. Receipts today were 45 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 26 (Canadian Press).—Selling out ascribed largely to leading holders of May contracts, led to a sharp break in wheat prices today toward the last. The fact that Chicago is the highest wheat market in the world and that the shadow of the new domestic crop is looming into view was cited as among the reasons for the selling wave. Chicago closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at 1-2 to 2 1-2c net lower, May (new) $1.63 1-2 to $1.63 5-8 and July $1.42 1-4 to $1.42 1-2. Corn finished unchanged to 1-4c off; oats unchanged to 1-8c lower, and provisions varying from 10c decline to an equal advance.

EGG MARKETS

OTTAWA, Feb. 26 (Canadian Press).—Eastern egg markets show a lower tendency again today. Reports from Halifax, N.S., and Calgary, Alta., state that receipts are increasing at those centres.

Toronto—Market lower, wholesale fresh extras 39 to 40, firsts 36 to 37, seconds 28 to 29.

Montreal—Storage market lower while fresh market remains active for actual consumptive wants. Today jobbing extras 30 to 31, firsts 26 to 27, seconds 22, fresh extras 43 firsts 37 to 38, seconds 31 to 32.

SPIRIT IS GONE FROM SOCIETIES

Temperance Workers Find Pledging of Votes Hard To Accept.

LESS ENTHUSIASM.

Campbellford, Feb. 27. — This town was for years noted for the vigor of its temperance organizations which flourished long before even local option figured in the political arena. But the spirit seems to have departed from these organizations and the change can be dated from the meeting of the Ontario Prohibition Union which was held in Warkworth last spring. The articles of faith of that organization of which Rev. Ben Spence was one of the leading spirits, appeared to be too far in advance of the times even for the most ardent Campbellford prohibitionist. Every member of the Union was asked to pledge himself to vote only for those parliamentary and legislative candidates who are known as total abstainers. It was not enough for such candidates to promise to support any measures that might be introduced to advance the cause of temperance. This close censorship of the private habits of candidates for public office was to be applied to those who aspired to places in the municipal councils.

To carry out such a plan would play havoc with the lifelong political associations of some of the most active workers in the cause and the result was that the enthusiasm of some of the local leaders in the temperance movement has appeared to have suffered from frost bite.

One of the most prominent temperance leaders, however, stood to his guns. He was a church worker and some of his co-workers in that field complained that he was accepting the teachings of the modernist. So far as ever heard to the contrary the extent of his modernistic faith was the theory that he advanced to the effect that the temperance cause was greater than any political party and that a man or woman associated with the cause was in honor bound to vote dry as long as the party supported had proved itself a true friend of prohibition. That gentleman, after a long career in this town, during which he was associated with every uplift movement, has gone elsewhere, perhaps in the hope that he may be able to secure converts to his particular brand of modernism.

Recent developments in the Ontario Legislature have not been without their effect on the local situation. The motion of J. A. Pinard of East Ottawa to legalize the manufacture and sale of ten per cent. beer has opened a way out for those who have been hesitating at the parting of the ways. It is nothing unusual to hear some one remark that one party is as little to be trusted as the other on the temperance issue, and that nothing is to be gained by shifting political allegiance. Mr. Pinard's motion has acted as a balm to many a political conscience that was beginning to trouble its owner. Two roads lie open before the voter but both apparently lead to the same goal.

Y.P.L. MEETING HELD.

Interesting Programme Was Given—Stirring Lenten Sermon.

MARMORA, Feb. 27.—An excellent programme was given at the Young People's League meeting on Wednesday evening by the Missionary Department, with Miss Bessie Sweet in charge Following devotional exercises, a reading was given by Mrs. F. Sweet on "The Lord's Prayer in relation to Missions." Miss Lorraine Bell sang "Angels Ever Bright and Fair" with pleasing voice. Another reading entitled "Scandal" was given by Miss Jennie Sweet. An interesting contest featured at the close. A liberal collection was taken for missions.

The Lenten service at St. Paul's last Wednesday evening was well attended. The congregation listened to a very forceful sermon from the Rev. A. Strothers of Madoc on "Prayer." "There is no question", he remarked, "as to the need and urgency of prayer. There is hardly any more appropriate subject for the season of Lent. The Lord's Prayer is given us as the model or pattern whereby to shape our own prayers. It teaches us what we ought to pray about and in what order and spirit we should pray. It is not only a pattern for our prayers. It is a programme for our lives.

"Our Saviour deprecated talkativeness in prayer. He does not forbid the praying of prayers over and over again as we are under strong pressure. Three times He prayed the same prayer in Gethsemane. He was not in favor of prayers which give an unworthy conception of God. So the object of prayer is not to make God willing to bless us but to make us fit to receive the blessing of God. The preacher dwelt for the remainder of the sermon on the various division of the Lord's Prayer in such a way as to picture the ideal life.

COLORED PICTURES GENERAL IN DECADE

Violets and Purples Still Baffle Movies.

MONTREAL, Feb. 27. — Canadian Press. — Within ten years the majority of pictures shown on the moving picture screen will be colored, was the prediction made by L. A. Jones, a leading physicist in the photographic industry, who is in Montreal attending the meetings of the American Physical Society and the Optical Society of America, now in session.

"We have the colored movies now, and the question is one of cost and future development of the process. The colored movie is somewhat more costly but the production is just as simple a matter as that of black and white. But we cannot at present produce all the colors in nature. The process in making colored movies is now a two color subtraction process, and we can reproduce all the colors in the spectrum from the red over to the blue green. But we cannot reproduce the violets and the purples, therefore we cannot reproduce all the colors of nature. But by taking advantage of simultaneous contrast in the composing of pictures we can provide what looks like purple to the untechnical eye."

HEDDA HOYT TALKS ABOUT THE THINGS THAT INTEREST THE BUSY WOMAN OF 1926.

COLOR

(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (United Press)—A Borneo bride recently wore a wedding gown made entirely of Dutch bank notes of large denominations. This crude native thought that to be in the height of fashion one must be expensively garbed. Doubtless her bridesmaids in their colorful wrappers looked far more attractive than she. To the mind of the civilised world color and silhouette play a far greater part in fashions than does expensive fabric.

I would say that color comes first in importance. No matter how beautifully a gown is made or how costly its material, if its color is unsuited to the wearer the entire effect is lost. The gown would look better on a wooden rack. Next to color in importance comes a style that is suitable to one's individual figure.

It's not hard to select our color schemes if we pay attention to the following rules. Hair, eyes, complexion and size must all be taken into consideration. Take an inventory of your charms and find out what is your best point. If its the eyes, then play up to the color of the eyes. Their color is brought out by wearing a deeper shade of the color of the eye. The blue-eyed person thus makes the eyes appear bluer by wearing a blue that is deeper than the eye. She will also find that certain purples will have a tendency to give the eyes a violet shade. Brown-eyed persons look best in brown, bronze and all of the golden shades since these draw attention to the brown eye.

If one's complexion is one's best point, then disregard the color of the eyes and play up to the complexion. Pastels on fair-skinned women add clearness to the complexion. Dark colors also make the complexion fairer but are inclined to add pallor. Bright, vivid colors often overpower one's own coloring. Dark persons are more fortunate than blonds when it comes to color selection. The drab-haired person has perhaps the hardest lot for where the brunette can wear all dark shades and most of the vivid ones and where the blond wears pastels and soft shades the drab-haired individual is limited largely to black, dull browns, greens, rose and navy. White, for instance, is sickening on a colorless person. Bright colors are overpowering. Some pas[illegible] colorless for as drab perso[illegible]cept.

When one's hair is one's chief charm it is best to select shades which harmonize with the hair. Thus reddish-browns bring a reddish glint to the slightly auburn person. Golden shades bring a golden glint to blond hair, etc. But whatever one does, one must be sure t[illegible] play up to one's best features.

SECRETS OF CHARM

By Lucrezia Bori

Hair that is really lovely to look at is always healthy hair. We simply can't get away from the necessary element of health.

For on this depends the luster and life of your hair, and there is all the difference in the world between the color of a head of hair which appears lifeless and flat, and the same hair after it has undergone a rigorous treatment.

Indeed, it is hardly specific to mention "hair treatment," for of course what we really treat back to health and vigor is the scalp.

Now circulation is the big element in scalp health. We must have brisk circulation which carries the nourishing blood to all parts of our scalps if the hairs are to be well-fed and healthy.

One very good way to stimulate the circulation in the veins which carry nourishment to our scalps is by brisk brushing of the hair. Brush your hair, taking care that you wield the brush on parted-off sections, one after another until you have covered the whole scalp in this way. This brushing not only gives a slight pull to the roots of the hair, thus stirring up your circulation, but it also polished the individual hairs, to give them a delightful sheen. Of course, you must brush with an onward motion. Begin as near the roots of your hair as you can reach with your brush, and brush out to the very ends of the hairs. If this is done properly and briskly, for a short length of time, your scalp should tingle pleasantly, all over.

The difference between a head of hair which is well brushed daily, or nightly, is the same as the difference between a horse's coat when neglected and when it is well groomed.

And both holds true for the horse and the woman who seeks beauty for her hair through brushing—the brush must be perfectly clean. Indeed, I advise washing your brush briskly in warm suds every night after you finish your brushing. This takes only a minute, literally, and the brush is fresh for its next time of using.

Try this method of brushing your hair with a clean brush for beauty, and if you are persistent you should be happy in the beauty resulting from this practice.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

Dear Annie Laurie,—I am a boy of nineteen and going with a girl one year my senior. She loves me very much and I love her. I have asked her to marry me, but she don't seem to know her mind or she won't give me any answer as to yes or no. As I am anxious to start for myself could you advise me what to do to get a definite answer and yet not lose her love.—Sheik.

Sheik.—As you are only nineteen of age, don't you think it would be much better to wait for a few years before you get married? Unless you are very fortunate, you can hardly be in a position at that age to support a household. Why not continue paying attention to this young lady and let the question of marriage rest for a year or two?

Dear Annie Laurie: I am a girl, nearly eighteen years old, and have a girl friend about the same age. She had been going with a young man about eight months, whom I liked very much. They had a quarrel. He then came after me. He made a date for the next Wednesday night but did not come. In the meantime, he got back in with her. They soon had another quarrel. He again came for me, and said he would not go back with her again. He wants to keep company with me. Please advise me what to do. — Blue eyes.

Blue Eyes: Perhaps it would be as well for you to mark time as one might say, in this matter for awhile, Blue Eyes. It looks as if the young man were simply playing you two girls off, one against the other, and his actions will certainly disrupt your friendship with your girl friend. As you are only 18 years of age surely there are other friendships you could form, and let this situation slide, at least for the time being. How would it do for you to seek other companionships and let these two get along as well as they can? These triangular complications are bound to lead to trouble in the long run. You may think you like this young man very much, but you are liable to like other young men in the same way before you are twenty, so why let him cause you any worry. Even if you did start keeping company with him, as he wishes, you would run the constant risk of his returning to the other girl, who would have become unfriendly to you in the meantime.

CLOUD THEME IS EXPLOITED IN SPRING GOWNS

French Designers Are Using the Heavens to Inspire New Fabrics.

By ANNETTE BRADSHAW.

A number of French designers have exploited an interesting theme in their new spring garments, representing clouds by clever fabric combinations.

Two attractive examples of this idea are shown here. The frock shows the cloud theme as it is interpreted by the designer when she has in mind clearly defined clouds that stand out distinctly from the other clouds about them. The coat at the right represents a softer sky, in which the clouds of different shadings gradually melt into each other, as on a sunless day when there are many grey clouds overhead.

On the figure at the right is shown the coat in degrade treatment of three shades of grey woollen material, with silver stitching to outline the joining places of the fabric. The crochetted straw hat, of the type worn even with heavy coats, is in a shade of grey to match one of the greys in the coat.

The cloud effect is also shown in evening gowns and is most adorably done, when various shades of chiffon are combined to give the heavenly effect.

One such gown was in black taffeta shading off into the very palest grey and touched with silver.

This cloud theme is also shown in evening wraps. One charming wrap was in a soft midnight blue chiffon velvet touched with silver and a collar of chinchilla. It took but little imagination to picture a tropical night in all its glory, especially as the wearer was of the brunette type with a complexion that rivalled the magnolia's.

THE STORY SO FAR

Julia Dean, tired of "just milling around," is in Toronto seeking individuality and independence. She left home with $250 after indignantly rejecting the demand of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Jason Dean, that she marry Charles Becker, man about town, whose eye she blacked when he insulted her. Her first night in Toronto, after eating a sumptuous hotel dinner, she discovered she had lost her purse.

THE ADVENTURE STARTS.

When I learned the price of rooms at the hotel to which the travelers' aid had sent me, I was filled with consternation. But, nothing daunted, I decided it would be best for me to stay where I was for the night at least.

After I had taken a bath and prepared myself for dinner, I felt better and decided that I'd go to some restaurant for my dinner, even if I were alone. I would not go back on all my brave resolutions. I would give this thing that I had started on a good chance. I would see for myself if a girl could get along alone in a big city as well as a man.

However, it was with great trepidation that I entered one of the largest restaurants in town and, as I learned afterwards, the most expensive.

As I looked over the menu, I realized for the first time that two hundred and fifty dollars meant very little to begin my workaday life upon and I began to be very apprehensive.

The price of my room at the hotel and for the most modest little meal on this card, would leave me the next morning with more than ten dollars gone out of my precious two hundred and fifty.

Telling myself that I would begin to economize the next day, I ordered steak and potatoes. I was very hungry and I determined to add to it an avocado-pear salad. I had never eaten an avocado. No one had ever seen them in our town. Then of course I wanted some ice-cream.

As I waited for my dinner to be served, I began to forget about myself and to be interested in the people around me. I looked about and wondered if all the young women who seemed so gay and so beautifully dressed and so apparently happy and carefree—so evidently being cared for by some man—either father or sweetheart or husband—had not perhaps chosen the easiest way at least. Wouldn't it be better if I were to go back home and marry Chuck?

I was the only young woman in the room who was unescorted and I noticed that the waiter had put me at a rather secluded table.

I asked myself if it wouldn't be better for me to go into the dressing room and get just the right amount of money out for my dinner and tip, instead of waiting until I had finished dining when I would have to take the money out of the roll of bills I had pinned so carefully in my bag.

Just at this moment, the waiter brought my steak. For some untold reason I became very nervous after finishing my avocado salad, which after all did not appeal to me. Before my ice-cream had been served I decided to go to the dressing room, and, looking down to pick up my bag, I found it was gone.

Today's Fashion

This Gray Crepe Satin Is Brightened by Touches of Gay Embroidery.

Gray is appearing in various Spring models, and it seems to find particular favor in the frock of soft material for afternoon.

The model above is of light gray crepe satin. The overskirt, divided down the front and adorned with buttons, gives a smart touch. Green, pink and blue are combined in the bands of embroidery on the jabot and cuffs.

The same frock would be equally smart in black or navy blue, both colors which will be worn a lot for Spring.

Calomel Acts Upon the Liver

To feel your best day in and out, to eat well, work well, sleep well, digest well, you must keep your liver active or the system will immediately become filled with poison causing a multitude of troubles as indigestion, headaches, gas on stomach, constipation, kidney pains, foul breath, biliousness, rheumatism, etc. One Tanol Calomel tablet taken before meals or two at bedtime, then the next morning jump from your bed, take a glass of water, and away goes all the previous days wastes and poisons. Be sure you get Tamol Calomel as it is much better than ordinary calomel; no salts or seidlitz are needed to remove from system. Get a few from F. C. The Woman's Day

Touching brightly on woman's every major interest in life from books and babies to politics and psycho analysis.

(By Allene Sumner)

News For Women.

The worthy mayor of Little Rock, Ark., sponsors a city censorship ordinance which would compel all chorus girls to reveal no more than five inches of bare epidermis above the knee, and to make no belittling wise cracks about the institution of matrimony. That's that!

Mesdames Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and Kermit Roosevelt return from darkest India with a tiger head apiece, trophies of the good shots made by each woman.

Not all the brave women shoot tigers in India. Just yesterday I heard a woman say, "I'd rather brave a lion in his den than ask my husband for money!"

Home Entertaining.

The buffet table grows in favor, not only for the informal suppe but fo afternoon teas and bridge luncheons. The table should be arranged as attractively as though the guests were to actually sit about it. A centerpiece of flowers in a low bowl and candlesticks are effective.

A luncheon set of center doily and plate doilies should be on the table, or a complete table cover of Italian, madeira, or any "best piece" of the hostess. Plates, napkins, silver, and all food to be served are upon the table arranged conveniently for the hostess who serves, always standing, not sitting down.

A Real Idea!

A little girl wheeling her dolly was stopped by a grown-up friend who, drawing back the dolly's blanket, gazed at the doll beauty and said to the little girl, "What a lovely doll you have!"

The little girl, much alarmed, held up a warning finger and whispered to her grown-up friend, "Please be careful! I have never let her know that she is only a doll!"

If more mothers used the little girl's imagination, fewer children would be the nervous results of having all their faults and virtues "rubbed in" too much!

Famous Women Tidbits.

The late Queen Alexandra always trimmed her own hats and taught her daughters and daughter-in-law, Queen Mary, to do the same. Queen Mary taught her daughter, Princess Mary, to trim her own, and the queen and her daughter were sweetly described as "the frumpiest dressed women of Europe." Moral, spend money for hats! They do have an effect!

Other Women Do It!

I mean, make money at home. How? By cashing in on the recipe or garment or embroidered table slip or pot of flower bulbs or anything that wins their neighbors' admiration. Stores of all sorts are only too glad to handle home-made products for a home town patron if the return is very small.

I have known women to make tidy incomes by tinting postcards; making lavender or rose sachets in bags of colored gauze; quaint little glasses of odd jelly such as rose geranium or guava; home-made sandwiches for the little shop near the factory or the school; funny little toys made from pine cones or prunes and almonds, all put together with toothpicks.

It's a pretty sure thing that what your children or your husband like, other children and other husbands will like!

The Home Kitchen

By Jeannette Norton

A Group of Delicious Sauces.

Sauce making is an art and those who master it will find it a most useful aid to good living. Sauces save many simple dishes from the plain cookery class and add a bit of culinary excellence to a bit made of left-overs. A small enameled saucepan is handy for sauce making and a very little double boiler is fine to keep them warm in if they must stand.

Sauce Piquante.

Put two large tablespoonfuls of butter into a frying pan and fry in it a slice of onion. When the onion is brown, lift it out and sift in slowly, stirring constantly, three tablespoonfuls of flour, stir as it cooks then add a cupful and a quarter of good stock, pepper, salt and a little sugar and bring to boiling point. Stir until very smooth. Browned flour should be used as it gives a better color. Then add a tablespoonful of washed capers, a teaspoonful each of minced celery leaves and red pepper, and four chopped mushrooms that have been sauted in butter. This sauce is very good served with croquettes.

Hollandaise Sauce.

Take a half cupful of unsalted butter and divide into three pieces. Put the yolks of two eggs and a tablespoonful of lemon juice into a small saucepan and set the pan into a larger one half full of hot water. Stir rapidly as it thickens, add one more piece of butter and when that is incorporated add the last piece. Add a saltspoonful of salt and a little cayenne pepper. Set off the fire and just as it is served, add a tablespoonful of hot double cream. This is excellent for artichokes, cold boiled salmon, or fried fish.

Pudding Sauce.

Warm a half cupful of butter, add to it a cupful of sugar and work to a smooth paste. Add a beaten egg, a teaspoonful of vanilla, half a grated nutmeg, and two tablespoonfuls of home-made wine, or any liquor flavoring. Stir the sauce and set over hot water until it is smooth and well-blended. Keep hot until it is served.

Sauce for Brown Betty.

This is a hard sauce. Mix to a paste a half cupful of butter and a level cupful of sugar, add a teaspoonful of vanilla, a grating of nutmeg, and a teaspoonful of boiling water. Beat with a silver fork until light and creamy. Heap in a little bowl and chill before serving.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

CHANGES IN SILVER FASHIONS

Fashions in the use of silver pieces on the table have changed very decidely in recent years. Gone is the once familiar sugar bowl and spoon holder, cruet sets that supplanted the castors, carving rests and so on.

In laying the home table, the flat silverware includes two forks, dinner and butter knives, soup spoon or oyster fork and teaspoon for sauce or dessert, as the case may be. A service plate is generally used, for two reasons. First, it saves the polished table from the effect of the hot soup or other foods. Second, it saves the mat sets from getting spotted or messed up at one meal. In most families, the napkins are changed at dinner each day so the old silver ring is not needed.

Silver trays of all sizes are in use. Silver bonbon dishes, or the glass ones with silver tops, are used and many of them are very attractive. Silver bread trays, are also very popular.

This brings us to the use of silver, or heavy plated platters and vegetable dishes. The latter with adjustable handles are the best to buy as they may serve as handled covers or flat vegetable "nappies" when desired.

Silver topped jam pots appear on the breakfast table or tray. Silver-topped mustard pots of cut-glass appear only when needed as an added condiment. Silver-topped flagons are often used for fruit punch, or cup. When not in use, these things are returned to their closets as they do not sit exposed on sideboard, or side tables, any more as part of the old-fashioned dining-room ornamentation.

For the formal dinner, the silver candelabra are used, where one is fortunate enough to possess them. However, fashion also advocates the use of four candlesticks, one in each corner of the table, holding a single candle. These candlesticks add a rather delightful touch to the dinner service.

GRASS STAINS.

Grass stains may be removed by rubbing with molasses. Then let lie over night and rinse with tepid water. Repeat if necessary. If a brown stain is left, wet with weak chloride of lime water and hang in hot sunshine or near a fire.

Too Tired to Go Out Nights? Beware of Chronic Fatigue

Thousands of men and women blame hard work for that "all-in" feeling every evening—when in most cases the real cause is chronic fatigue.

TOO TIRED to go out nights

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

In London, the other day, the women sanitary inspectors had a convention. They discussed many of the problems of childhood. Professor Mottramin, of Bedford College, told a lot about the eating habits of little folk. He said:

"People say 'school boys are all little pigs' but modern research gives strong evidence that the adolescent child should have more food than the adult. A boy of sixteen should be given as much food as a man doing daily, vigorous outdoor work, such as gardening. From eleven to thirteen a girl eats more than a boy, more than her mother and actually more than her father. Scientifically, there is a lot to be said for heavy eating by children."

This is very interesting and, as I see it, a statement of fact. Children need to eat a lot. Their parents should worry more over a small appetite than over Jimmie's inclination to stuff himself at every meal.

The amount of food required does not depend on the size and weight of the person. It depends on the skin surface. An infant weighing but ten pounds has a skin surface of about three square feet. A big man, weighing 180 pounds, has a skin area of something over twenty square feet.

The man weighs eighteen times as much as the baby, but has a skin surface only six or seven times greater. As a matter of fact, then, the baby needs one-seventh as much food as the man, although its weight is only one-eighteenth as much.

Children must have food, not only to supply the body in proportion to its skin surface, but also to increase in weight. They must supply the daily needs and also take in a lot of food to provide for the rapid growth of their bodies.

The amount of food one requires depends to a great extent upon his activity. You know that a child is never still. He is on the move every minute. In consequence the tissues are torn down rapidly and a lot of food is necessary tn order to replace the daily losses.

Thus, you see, there are at least three reasons why a child needs as much food as a grown person—the larger proportionate skin surface, the growth of the body and the losses from his great activity.

If you would have your child grow to a vigorous manhood or womanhood, there must be a never failing supply of wholesome food. There is no hope of strong bones, firm muscles and elastic skin unless the child is properly fed from the beginning of its life. When I see a skinny, hollow chested, lustreless haired youngster, I know it is a child deprived of needed food.

Don't worry over the child because it seems almost gluttonous. The little thing is following its instincts and, with sensible direction, there is safety in permitting it to fill its stomach at frequent intervals.

It does seem amazing that one small child can eat so much, but that is what Nature wishes it to do. All the mother has to do is to select the sorts of food which are vital to the child's highest good. Having done that, dear Mother, let the youngster eat!

THREE-MINUTE JOURNEYS

Temple Manning

WHERE THE PROPER SEATING OF GUESTS IS A FORMIDABLE TASK.

Each nation has its own very definite ideas on the subject of etiquette. A properly brought up young girl or man knows just exactly the correct thing to do on any given occasion. And that knowledge is just as definite as their knowledge of the day they were born.

It is difficult for us to realize that all the rules that we learned in childhood for correct behavior would be considered entirely wrong by other nations. We are taught that the crime of crimes in the way of table manners is to eat with your knife. Yet there are most aristocratic nations among whom the knife is the proper utensil for eating.

And most of the othre rules are just as local. We rise on being presented to a stranger, as a general rule. When a lady enters a room, the gentlemen rise and wait until she is seated before resuming their chairs.

In Persia, however, where etiquette is governed by the most rigid of conventions, one does not rise when a visitor enters the room. The guests wait until the new arrival has been seated, then rise and bow and smile, whereupon the recipient of their courtesy must immediately rise with them and return the greeting.

This becomes most interesting when a well-known personage enters, for then the bowing and smiling continues for some time. But if an inconspicuous person enters, everybody appears deep in conversation and pretends not to see him.

The entire procedure of a reception is as follows: The chairs are placed side by side around the room. In front of the tables, in a ratio of one to four, are tables, laden with fruit and sweets. When the first guests arrive, they greet the host, who sits near the door, and then make their way to a far corner. There they sit for several minutes examining carefully the room and its decorations. Then they begin to converse with their neighbors. As more guests arrive, the chairs are filled and the ceremony of greeting or ignoring newcomers provides their entertainment.

The Center is the Seat of Honor.

Seating one's guests at table is a formidable task in Persia. A guest who is not seated according to what he feels to be his proper station will refuse to accept the invitation rather than suffer the indignity.

The centre of the table is the position of greatest prestige in Persia. Those at the ends are of no importance whatsoever and have been greatly honored in receiving an invitation at all.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES.

By Blanche Silver

DICKY HAS A CHAT WITH A MOUNTAINEER.

"Sure, go on and laugh if you see anything funny," said the animal quietly. "I don't mind. I have been made fun of before."

"Excuse me, Mr. Whatever-your-name-is," said Dicky. "I didn't mean to be rude, but when you turned around your beard looked just like an old man's. What are you, anyway? I've never seen anything that looked just like you before. Where did you come from?"

"Oh, I'm what they call Billy Rocky Mountain Goat, and that's where I used to live before I was brought to this zoo," replied the animal.

"Well, I should think your white suit would be very fine up among the snow-clad peaks of the mountains," Dicky laughed. "You're so white folks at a distance couldn't tell you from the snow on the sides or the stones."

Dicky had seen many goats in his life, but he had never seen one like Billy Mountain Goat. His face was quite long and the white beard under his chin made it look that much longer. Out of his forehead were two black pointed horns. His hair was very long and straight. There was a hump on his shoulders that made him look as if he were always ducking his head.

"My!" cried Dicky, looking Mr. Mountain Goat over very carefully. "You certainly have small legs and hoofs."

"I'm Billy Rocky Mountain Goat."

"Couldn't get over the ice and snow very fast if my legs and hoofs were much heavier," chuckled Mr. Mountain Goat. "One thing that makes my hoofs look so small is the heaviness of my long fur. Would you believe me when I tell you I have still another coat of thick, yellowish fur under this white one?"

"I should think you'd roast wearing two fur coats," laughed Dicky.

"Well, on warm days here in the zoo I do feel the heat a little," replied Billy Mountain Goat. "But up in the mountains, where there is snow most of the season, I'm quite comfortable."

"Do you like it here in the zoo?" Dicky asked. "I'll bet you are glad to get away from your enemies."

"Well," answered Billy Mountain Goat, "that's funny. We haven't very many enemies. Our worst one is man. Oh, sometimes an eagle will steal one of the young Mountain Goats, but that has never happened in my family."

"I'm mighty glad I met you, Billy," said Dicky, sticking his hand in and stroking the mountain goat's fur. "I guess I'll have to run on home. It's dinner time. Here comes the keeper with your dinner, too."

Then, promising to come back again some day, Dicky ran on home to his own dinner.

The ORACLE

This day we fashion Destiny, our web of Fate we spin. —Whittier.

Fixed fate, free will, foreknowledge absolute. —Milton.

O. P. R. F.—You have a strong, active mentality and are gifted with musical and artistic ability. You have a tendency toward solitary meditation and a liking for the occult and mystical that is not the best thing for you. Try to overcome this habit of introspection and keep thinking and above all else, try to stop that critical faculty that imposes itself through all your days. You may not realize it, but you do a good deal of fault finding in a small way. You have a habit also of taking strong dislikes to others without any particular reason. You have a magnetic disposition, and people are drawn to you unconsciously. You have good judgment and should rely on your own opinions, when they have not been formulated in moments of anger. Your temper is hot enough at times. Think before you speak and strive for poise.

You were born on Saturday. Your colors are tan and buff.

A. B. C.—You have a strong nature, with a decided aptitude for business life, or any career involving mental fitness and attention. You should strive for a good business education, decide now just what particular talent you wish to develop, then go ahead and stick to your object. You are bound to succeed, although you may not attain much in early life. You have musical ability also, and your star points to a lifetime spent in service to others. You will make an excellent mother. Marry a man born in February, May, August or March.

For you, the Golden Rule should be your watchword. If you make it such, you will have less difficulty in surmounting the obstacles of life than those animated by more selfish desires.

Be careful in selection of friends. Your mind is susceptible to influence from others. Strive to control any impulse to hate, jealousy or envy and try to attain habits of order in small things. You are careless about your own belongings and those others around you. Follow out your own intuitions.

You were born on Wednesday. The day you ask about is past. Your colors are tans and opal shades.

A. E. D.—You were born under a lucky star and are one of those individuals who have only to try hard enough to accomplish things in order to put them over. Yours is the joyful nature, liking pleasure and good times and with an aptitude for singing, dancing and the fine arts. To you, however, will come many trials in the course of your life and you will have to take recourse in your sunny ways to cover many a heartache. The fickle element in your nature will bring you some sorrow and worry. Try to overcome it. You are temperamentally disposed to turn a mountain into a molehill at all times, and are apt to take sides in quarrels. Never touch alcohol. It is particularly dangerous for you. Be thrifty with money and time, and do not procrastinate. Depend upon your own ideas. Do not imitate the manners of those about you. You are not very patient. It is a great virtue. Remember too that forbearance is an excellent thing. Cultivate it. You are of the type that is not first to cast a slur, nor last to forget an injury. Avoid flirtations.

You were born on Friday. Your color is black.

A. F.—You are naturally adapted to a life which demands a certain amount of hard work, with a good deal of creative power. Your present life, like that of your husband, is spent too much in retirement. You should strive to overcome the reserve which envelops you at times. Get out more and mingle with people. You are of the type who will become rather sad in later life if you allow a habit of morbid introspection to gain a hold on your nature, which is at its best, one full of hope and enthusiasm. Environment and circumstance can always be conquered by the one who refuses to bow to an adverse fate. Do not be careless about money. You are inclined to little extravagances, and also be more careful of your personal belongings. Worry, anger and impatience will bring you a certain amount of nerve and stomach trouble, if you do not watch yourself. You are well equipped for any emergency, but lose much force in worrying about things that never happen. A good motto for you is to think often of your friends and seldom of your enemies.

The day you ask about is past. You were born on Monday. Your colors are blue and cream.

M. J. B.—You should have ability somewhat out of the ordinary, both of head and hands, which, if developed, would make you a leader in your own sphere. You are inclined to like the mystical aspects of existence and are much interested in religion. You do not care particularly for new ways or ideas. Although success will come to you, if you try hard to conquer material impulses and remember that the mind is the master of the body, it may not be of a material type, but rather the success of a well-rounded, interesting life.

You do not like household drudgery and will never like it. You should develop your talents along the line that appeals to you most, regardless of what anyone else may say to stop you. Control your temper and listen to the advice of others.

No, the 13th should not be unlucky for you. Friday is your good day and May and July your best months. Your colors are steel and purple.

Your were born on Friday.

R. S. H.—You are naturally inclined to like the merry side of existence. Pleasure and good cheer appeal to you and you like to be happy and see others happy around you. You are fond of music, singing and dancing. Your best success in life will come from associating yourself with others in any sort of endeavor. You must not try to stand alone.

I am sorry that I am not a fortune-teller and cannot tell you when you will be better. A cultivation of this cheerful element in your nature should help you immensely.

You are of the type which is said to be at once the strongest and the weakest in the world, success depending on a realization of your own powers and a determination to do your best. You are too sensitive and are inclined to be indolent. You must concentrate on one particular line, then resolve to let nothing stop you in following it. Law or medicine would appeal to you, but you must fight laziness and indifference at all times. You would make an excellent guardian for any type of institution, particularly an insane asylum, as you have a gift for controlling people with your eyes. Hard knocks and difficulties will develop your character. You were born on Wednesday. Your color is black.

M. R. H.—You have a generous, affectionate nature, and like to help other people who are in distress. You are orderly and methodical in your habits, fond of your family and a great believer in blue blood. You can keep your own secrets and those of your friends. You have a good deal of tenacious physical power and are capable of doing a good deal of hard work, which is necessary for carrying out your duties in life. You have a keen insight for financial matters and are fond of accumulating money, enjoying life, however, as you go along. You have so many good qualities that you are inclined at times to be somewhat critical, expecting perfection in others. You are happiest when your surroundings are neat and tidy. Travel appeals to you and is good for you.

Look for good qualities in others at all times, remember that aristocratic appearances are not of as much value as true friendship, and be very careful of what you eat, so that you may retain a youthful appearance to a late date in life.

You were born on Sunday. Your colors are blue and green.

PURTY SOON

It won't be very long, now, till the kids are on their toes. What happens in the summertime 'most everybody knows. There'll be aplenty doin' when the breeze of springtime blows, for that's the time when nature shines and pep and ginger flows.

Says Mister Top, "I'm wajtin' for my session to begin. I'm all prepared, with string and such, ta have my yearly spin. In quiet and seclusion through the winter I have been, an' now it's close to warmer days—and that's where I come in."

"You haven't anything on me," says Wee Jumpin' Rope, "It won't be long until I'm swinging' merrily, I hope. I scanned a little calendar. That's where I got my dope. And will I care, when winter's gone? The honest answer's nope!"

"Go on and do yer rayin'," pipes a pair of roller skates. "Why, say, this comin' summer I've a half a million dates. The kids er gonna need me when they're at their daily play, an' when I'm fastened on their shoes, we'll both be on our way."

If all the little playthings of the summertime could speak, you'd hear them talkin' louder as the time flies, week by week. You'd know that they were achin' to be swingin' into tune, 'cause that's what's gonna happen, sure as shootin' purty soon.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

SUNDAY AND MONDAY, FEBRUARY 28, MARCH 1.

Sunday's horoscope shows many lively conditions, with spiritual tendencies alert and an inclination to new ventures. Still, beware deception and sharp practice and be careful with all writings.

Those whose birthday it is should have an active year, with new opportunities, but they may be in danger of fraud, sharp practice and misrepresentation. A child born on this day may be active and energetic but need direction into lines of reliability and integrity.

Monday's astrological forecast shows some sudden change, which should be undertaken cautiously, as there are financial hazards as well as personal inharmonies attendant. Still, conservatism and hard work should bring fair fortune.

Those whose birthday it is may reap a year of good fortune by making changes with caution and applying themselves to affairs in hand rather than in taking any fresh chances or speculations. A child born on this day may be industrious and should like work, but may be unsettled and fond of change and taking financial chances.

This Lassie Has Her Colds "Rubbed Away"

The mother of this attractive little girl, Mrs. E. E. Emmans, of 215 Seventh Ave., N. E., Portage La Prairie, Man., is one of the many Canadian mothers who are enthusiastic about the vaporizing salve, Vicks VapoRub, for treating children's colds. Mrs. Emmans writes: "My little girl had croup at night pretty badly and Vicks did her a lot of good. I have also used it with very satisfactory results for head and chest colds."

Vicks is just "rubbed on" for sore throat, tonsilitis, bronchitis, croup or deep chest colds. When so applied, Vicks has a double direct action: internally medicated vapors are inhaled while, at the same time, externally, it is absorbed through and stimulates the skin.

COUNTY COUNCIL DISCUSSES ROADS

Report Presented of Good Roads Convention and Assessment Fixed.

The county council met yesterday afternoon at the call of the Warden, following attendance at the Good Roads convention in Toronto. The purpose of the meeting was to fix the rate of assessment for county road purposes and to discuss relative matters.

In the face of an appeal by the Douro Reeve, M. P. Coughlin, who desired a reduction of a ½ mill, the council agreed that the rate should remain the same as prevailed last year namely three mills.

It was moved that a committee of three work with the road superintendent and that the three chosen be members of the county council. The Warden and Councillors Middleton and Smithson were selected to form the committee.

Some debate was caused by this item of business and again the action centred around the Douro reeve. He maintained that the committee should be composed of five men and expressed a fear that if the number were limited to three the members would attempt to gain advantages for their respective municipalities to the detriment of others.

Morley Smithson took exception to the remark. "I for one," he declared, "will administer the affairs pertaining to county roads from a purely county standpoint, and I believe I can speak for my fellow committeemen in that regard."

Mr. Coughlin rejoined quickly: "Well, I guess I was mistaken; I was judging Mr. Smithson by myself."

I. C. Strickland submitted a motion to the effect that the usual expenses plus time be granted during attendance at conventions in the future. He pointed out that this measure had been adopted in many of the county councils and was proving effective in bringing out much larger representations at the annual gatherings. After a discussion this proposal was accepted.

After Warden Curtis had presented a brief account of what had transpired at the convention held this week, D. McFarlane, county road superintendent, outlined the salient points about the roads. He declared that the highway linking Norwood to the city of Peterboro was in a terrible condition. There was a heavy traffic on it under existing circumstances but he thought that it could be doubled by new construction work. In the few years previous maintenance had been the great consideration. During last year construction came to the fore, there being slightly more than 50 per cent. of that type of work. The men who work on the roads say that while both Lakefield and Chemong roads bear a heavy traffic, the Norwood road carries more than either of them. He said that, in conjunction with the roads committee it would be necessary for him to inspect the roads in the spring before any estimate could be made of the requirements.

It was decided that the Bridge Committee visit those bridges requiring attention and later report on the finding.

A lengthy and profitless discussion was introduced by Mr. Strickland, who was advocating a plan whereby the county might assist in a pavement construction programme, which he declared the villages, and more particularly Lakefield, were anxious to see under way. It was decided dto leave the matter at the discretion of the Roads Committee.

IS THE INVISIBLE SECRET EMPIRE FADING?

Peterborough Man Sold His Organ For $10 To Pay His Initiation Fee; Says It Should Pay For Robe Too

George Pattenden Believes in Objects of Ku Klux Klan, But Doesn't Approve Methods Pursued in This District, He Tells The Examiner.

WENT TO MILLBROOK AS AN ORGANIZER BUT DID NOT FIND MAN THEY WANTED

Nation-Wide Survey of United States, Birthplace of Flaming Cross, Indicates That Ridicule and Dissension Have Caused Membership to Drop.

After selling his organ for $10 to pay the initiation fee, George L. Pattenden of 60 1-2 Hunter street east is not very well satisfied with the Ku Klux Klan of the British Empire. He says that he should have got at least $25, or enough to pay the six dollars for dues and the six-fifty for a robe.

"I didn't want to join the Klan in the first place," he told the Examiner, "but Gilbert kept asking me to do it and told me of all the benefits I would get if I only joined up. I guess I'm through with the Klan now, though, and all other secret societies, too.

"You see, it was this way," he continued. "When Dr. Hawkins had his meeting here I was at it, and he explained the whole thing. Papers were distributed and he told us to crinkle the slip if we wanted further information, or just put it in the box plain if we didn't. I crinkled mine and later one day at the Exhibition I met Gilbert. He wanted me to join, but I told him I couldn't. I wasn't able to join because I had been out of work for some time. I told Gilbert if he'd get me a job I'd join later. He said he didn't want to do that, and said if I liked he would take the organ in payment of the $10 fee. He had told me that I would be given a job if I joined, but I didn't get one. I worked for George Stevens a couple of days, and I've been working now, but I don't know just how long the job will last."

His Best Friend.

Mr. Pattenden said that as far as he was concerned Gilbert was the best friend he had in the Klan and he was not aware of any "crooked work." One day while he was working for Mr. Stevens in the ash yard, Gilbert came and got him. He explained that he wanted him to go down to Millbrook to help in a little organizing work. Gilbert promised to pay railway expenses and $1.50 besides. They went down, but, according to Mr. Pattenden, no canvassing was done, for the man they wanted to see couldn't be found.

On one other occasion Gilbert wanted him to go to Lindsay as a representative for a certain paper. He lacked $5.00 of expense money and Gilbert refused to lend it. Gilbert said, "Give we your watch and I'll give you the $5.00."

Pattenden asked him if he meant to hold it as a surety, but the reply was made, "No, I'll keep the watch." Pattenden said, "No, the watch was just valued a few days ago at $25 and I'm not going to give it to you." Pattenden didn't go to Lindsay.

Mr. Pattenden said that while he believed in the Klan and thought that it was a good thing, still it had not been carried out right, and the best evidence of that was the mix-up in which Gilbert finds himself at the present time.

Out of Favor in U. S.

The Ku Klux Klan is definitely on the wane in the United States. Everywhere it shows signs of dissolution; nowhere are there indications of gain. How wide and profound the decline has been may be judged from a national survey of the Klan's activities, just completed for the New York Times in every part of the country.

The conclusions of the survey show that internal dissensions have contributed much to the defeat of this cause, undertaken with so great zeal by many thousands of people. Outside criticism and the wearing process of time have helped to bring about the decline, the novelty of the movement has lost its appeal and, most important, perhaps, of all, the Klan has not been able to achieve its advertised ends. It has failed of any outstanding accomplishment, even where its strength was greatest.

The Klan is six or seven years old. It was created out of memories of reconstruction days in the South, and gained its first strength from activities in Atlanta, Ga. In the first year or two of its existence it spread through the South and into the Southwest. Then the Klan zone moved northward.

In the North for about a year it gained members weekly. But its vigor was brief. Dissensions within, criticism without, and the disinclination of the average man to join a proscribed body soon had their effect. The present status of the Klan is described in the following articles from correspondents in the various States in which the Klan has been most active:

New York.

The Ku Klux Klan in New York is said to have fallen from 200,000 members to half that number, but is still looked upon as fairly vigorous. Much of its vigor is attributed to the growth of the Kamelia, the women's division.

Legislation at Albany attempted to make the Klan reveal its rolls, constitution and oaths. Legal action was taken to restrain the order from incorporating. In 1923 a certificate of incorporation was filed with the Secretary of State giving sanction to the "Alpha Pi Sigma, Inc.," apparently an ordinary Greek-letter society. Application was then made to change the Greek name to Knights and Women of the Ku Klux Klan, taking advantage of a clause exempting benevolent orders. As such the Klan is officially known today in this State, and there the matter rests. Whether the organization will be able to function as a benevolent order is yet to be determined.

Since 1923, when the membership was said to be 200,000, the decrease has been steady. Internal strife is reported as contributing to the decline of the Klan in greater measure than outside interference. As a consequence of dissension, the Knights of the Flaming Sword were inaugurated, then the Independent Klan. All of these changes and shiftings of policy put together have made the Klan in New York harmless politically and of little significance otherwise.

New Jersey.

Trenton.

In New Jersey the Ku Klux Klan has never enjoyed political power of any importance, but its spectacular qualities have been much in evidence. In the four years of its activity many charges of assault and terrorism by threat have been lodged against the Klan, but no definite case has come to light. Its power has centred in the southern counties, in the north-western corner of the State, and in Monmouth County, on the coast. Estimates place the peak membership at 100,000, and the present enrolment at 60,000.

The history of the New Jersey Klan has been one of dissentions, accompanied by public denunciations by reported leaders who abandon the cause. Other de facto leaders have had difficulty in enforcing whatever discipline the Klan demands. At no time has its full membership been in a position to exert influence.

Burning of crosses upon hillsides, parades in regalia and mysterious "konklaves" are fairly common. A Klan "temple" has been dedicated at Washington, N. Y. A Klan project that attracted attention for a while was the reported plan for a 400-acre colony on Shark River, near Asbury Park. The colony was to be distinguished by public buildings devoted to the Klan service, with schools and "temples" for the furtherance of its doctrines. Another scheme contemplated a radio station to broadcast Klan teachings.

A notable gathering of the Klan took place not long ago in Bargaintown, N. J., near Atlantic City, where 20,000 members gathered for the dedication of a "klavern." This was said to have been the greatest show of strength the State Klan has made, surpassing the gatherings of last summer in Ocean Grove, when 8,000 to 10,000 members met for several days.

The Klan has lost some of its earlier power in the State and its membership is reduced, but the remainder makes the most of every opportunity and is likely to give the impression of rallying far greater power than it actually possesses.

Connecticut.

New Haven.

From internal dissension the Ku Klux Klan is rapidly disintegrating in Connecticut. A year ago its membership reached 18,000 persons, grouped under 23 units. The New Haven chapter of 600 members, the largest in the State, has broken away from formal membership, and Arthur James Mann, head of the New Haven unit, has said that the national organization is doomed here because of the mistakes of its leadership. He charged that corruption had crept into the organization in Washington and spread through this State. Outbreaks against the Klan at the last two open-air meetings were among the causes for decision to abandon the program in this State.

"During a career of five years the Klan in Connecticut never attempted an act of violence," said its spokesman. "We were organized in 1921. In a year we had 300 members. We held out first outdoor meeting the next year, when 2,500 hooded figures gathered on Round Hill, in Woodbridge. In 1924, we had 600 members, and the State units numbered 18,000. An outbreak took place at the meeting held outdoors in Milldale, where 10,000 spectators and 3,000 Klansmen assembled.

"Up to that time we had received regular reports of the national order's activities, but from midsummer of 1924, the national accounts were a mystery to us. Before then the accounts had been audited and certified as to correctness, but no one knows now where the money has gone."

Massachusetts.

Boston.

The Klan is disintegrating rapidly in Massachusetts. Dissension in the ranks beginning in 1923 and the inability of the order to live up to its political promises have been largely responsible for the steady decline.

Leaders three years ago asserted that they had more than 100,000 paid members. Ex-officials of the order dispute these claims. They say that at no time did they have more than 7,000 members in Massachusetts.

The quarrel between Grand Wizard Simmons and Evans, his successor, as well as the conflict of the local Klaverns with the authorities, discouraged affiliation. The result at present is a drop of paid members in the Klan to about 1,500.

The pitched battle between Klan sympathizers and those opposed, which took place in Worcester and Middlesex counties last year, have not reoccurred. The Klan came off second best. There have been no open-air meetings of late.

Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg.

Politically the Klan has never been a power in Pennsylvania. Local victories have been claimed, but the cases are more numerous where candidates have lost because of their Klan affiliations.

During the regular legislative session of 1925 a law was passed making it illegal to appear in public parade or demonstration wearing a mask. After the outpouring of Klansmen in Washington last summer the Pennsylvania members held a meeting here in which 5,000 or more paraded, while many other thousands watched. The hoods were not worn.

While the Klan contends that its membership is ever increasing, there is nothing in the life of the State to indicate any great activity on the part of the organization.

Ohio.

Columbus.

Most neutral observers believe that the Klan is disintegrating rapidly in Ohio and soon to be little more than a memory. The claim, however, is challenged by officers of the Klan. They maintain elaborate offices in Columbus and have a headquarters staff of considerable size.

Clyde W. Osborne of Youngstown, Grand Dragon for Ohio, places the membership on Jan. 1 at 206,783, of whom 60,463 are women. Since Oct. 1, 1925, Osborne says, there has been an increase of more than 5,000. He insists that the Klan is in a flourishing condition and that it has been stripped of "undesirable elements."

It is estimated that late in 1923 the Ohio Klan numbered 300,000. There is little serious dissension within the membership. Osborne says that civic committees and committees on law enforcement and public morals are busy in many communities and have made for Klan prestige.

Recent telegrams from the Klan to United States Senators Willis and Fess demanded that they oppose the entrance of the United States into the World Court. Both Senators supported the Court. In State policies few leaders take the Klan pretensions seriously. In 1924 it cast 100,000 votes in the Republican primary and brought its favored candidate, Joseph R. Seiber of Akron, second in contest for Governor. This year in the primaries it will be lucky to do half as well.

Illinois.

Springfield.

Internal strife, which has marked the recent activities of the Ku Klux Klan of Illinois, and opposition from a rival organization have forced a readjustment of membership figures. The original Klan held sway for a time. A year or more ago the Independent Klan of America arrived, and many of the original Klan members are said to have joined the new body. Then came internal contests against the leadership of Grand Dragon Palmer of Chicago, who eventually retired and was succeeded by Gale Carter of Springfield, now in charge of readjustment work.

The Klan once reigned in "bloody Williamson" County where S. Glen Young Klan raider, was shot to death in the days when the Klan held sway in Herrin, scene of the massacre of 1921. Sheriff George Galigan, an anti-Klan man, once left the country so that peace might be restored. He has returned. With the election of Marshall D. McCormack as Mayor of Herrin, who broke with the Klan, law enforcement there has been resumed.

Indiana.

Indianapolis.

The Ku Klux Klan has about 50,000 paid members in Indiana, according to the testimony of its national cashier, J. E. MacQuinn of Atlanta. The testimony was offered in a suit brought by the Klan against the Independent Klan of America, with headquarters in Muncie. It also was testified that 200,000 men have joined the organization in this State. The crest of the Klan movement was reached in July, 1923.

The Klan in Indiana is a political organization. At no time has there been any violence of consequence because of its activities. Early in the movement there were economic boycotts, but these have ceased to be serious. It has been and still is a disturbing influence.

Indianapolis is required to have a large proportion of the Indiana Klansmen. Most of this membership is in the poorer parts of the city. In Indiana politics the Klan is not a positive factor, but is of weight in a negative sense. The organization has been able to turn its membership, or a large part of it, against candidates.

D. C. Stephenson, who was Grand Dragon here when the Klan had its growth, is now serving a life sentence in prison. He was convicted of murder in the first degree as a result of the death of a girl.

MICHIGAN.

Detroit.

The influence of the Ku Klux Klan as a political factor in Michigan is waning steadily, in the opinion of neutral observers. What is believed to have been the death blow to Klan hopes was dealt in the November election, when John Smith, a Catholic, was elected Mayor of Detroit by a majority of more than 30,000. Minor successes in the smaller cities had encouraged the Klan, and the entire strength of the national organization was concentrated in an attempt to elect Charles W. Bowles, its candidate.

Some of the able Klan leaders were brought to the city from other States to supervise the campaign against Smith. This attempt to gain political control of Detroit aroused Protestant clergymen and thousands of their followers, who cast their ballots for the Catholic candidate. Smith has since credited his success to the conservative Protestants. The anti-Smith demonstration was the third outstanding campaign instituted in Michigan by the Klan.

Missouri.

Kansas City.

In the Senatorial election in Missouri this year the Ku Klux Klan is expected to wield only a negligible influence. The decline of Klan strength in the States has been rapid since it reached the peak in the Senatorial election of 1922. At that time it opposed Senator James Reed, who won in spite of its opposition.

The Klan laid claim to a State membership of amout 150,000 in 1922. Kansas City and Jackson County alone had a membership of 20,000. Today the Klan in Missouri probably does not have a paid membership of 75,000. Little is heard of it except in smaller communities, where it once elected some of the local officials, and in a few places where it controlled the county committees.

In several counties organizers have been warned to leave. In Howard County the Klan organizer was escorted from the county seat. In Springfield, where the Klan was a dominating factor in 1922, the organizationwas disbanded. The same thing has happened to local organganization was disbanded. The same towns, and the Klan has been unable to extend into new territory sufficiently fast to make up for the decrease.

Kansas.

Topeka.

The membership of the Ku Klux Klan in Kansas was probably at its peak in November, 1924, when it was placed at 150,000. There are now fewer active members, but the organization asserts an actual increase of paid membership.

The claim is made that the Klan is stronger politically because of the present conservative and tolerant attitude of its leaders and the repeated declarations that the organization stands for strict law enforcement and against any lawless or violent methods.

Colonel J. S. Dean, a former United States District Attorney, is attorney for the Klan. He had others high in the management admit that in its phenomenal growth within a short period the radical element went too far in its demands, especially in political activity.

Some dissensions are reported in local Klans. A year and a half ago there were several clashes over masked parades, but there has been no such disturbance for more than a year, since an injunction against the parades by a District Judge, which has been appealed.

The Klan's policies and principles have been materially strengthened here by recent events in Italy. The attacks on Masonry and the plan to give the Pope temporal authority in prescribed territory have fired the Klan to renewed action and increased membership.

Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City.

There has been a gradual breaking down in the ranks of the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma since the hectic days of the "Walton revolution" in 1923, when the organization boasted a membership of 90,000.

Since the removal from office of Governor Walton and the enactment of the anti-mask law, the activities of the Klan have been limited, until today scarcely more than 20 per cent. of the membership is active.

Dissension within the ranks is admitted. Two weeks ago State headquarters were moved from a big building in Second Street, where meetings have been held for three years, to a single room.

Klansmen formerly held so-called secret meetings in some of the larger cities; in amusement parks or open fields, after announcing the event for several days through the newspapers. These meetings were attended with a great deal of mystery and the crowds were kept out of hearing distance.

Arkansas.

Little Rock.

Internal strife has wrecked the Ku Klux Klan in Arkansas and has undoubtedly been more effective than outside opposition. With the majority of the members of the Little Rock Klan, strongest in the State, in open rebellion, and thousands of members of local Klans throughout Arkansas no longer paying dues, the political power of the organization has been broken.

Although James A. Comer, Grand Dragon, clings to his office, he has only a remnant left of his once powerful following, and his influence in States politics is no longer regarded seriously. Politicians and office seekers who once relied upon Klan support now seek votes on the ground that they no longer belong to the organization.

The Klan has lost ground steadily. It is said that there are less than 10,000 paying members. At one time the local Klan had 5,000 members. It is now said to have only about 1,000. The new organization has 1,500 members, some of whom will be candidates for county offices in the Fall.

Louisiana.

New Orleans.

The Ku Klux Klan is a dead issue in Louisiana. Officially and actually the robed organization is no longer a factor even in communities where its activities brought on strife, of which the Mer Rouge murders were typical. Membership in the State never exceeded 50,000.

Last year, when the Louisiana law requiring secret societies to file rosters of membership became operative a few hundred names were listed, and it was admitted by Klan leaders that "if there are others" they were carried on the rolls of the general organization in Atlanta headquarters. Since publication of the names of two or three members in each community, even they have ceased to indicate Klan interest or activity.

Echoes are heard of Klan conferences, and only a few months ago there were reports of a few Klan floggings. Perhaps the best index of the situation was in the recent statement by an official at the district headquarters of the Federal Prohibition Administrator.

"It was no secret," this official said, "that when the Klan was active in many parts of Louisiana prohibition agents frequently received information relative to moonshine and bootlegging from Klan sources. Nowadays nothing indicates Klan inspiration of informants."

Georgia. Atlanta.

Atlanta, birthplace and once headquarters of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, is now almost deserted by officials of the order and is one of its least possessions. The Imperial Palace is still here; so is the Imperial Home, given by Klan members to the founder, Colonel W. J. Simmons. But the Klan Palace is almost another forgotten "Auburn", with only a watchman there at night to answer the phone when some one calls for information, and the Simmons home has passed into othe hands.

Colonel Simmons no longer makes his residence here. As head of the Knights of the Flaming Sword he has been seen here only infrequently. E. Y. Clarke, organizer of the order, is now promoting an anti-evolution society, the Supreme Kingdom. About the only prominent Klansman left of national importance is Paul Etheridge, counsel.

The end of Atlanta's reign over the Klan came with the deposal of Simmons and Clarke and the rise to power of Hiram Wesley Evans as Imperial Wizard. When a number of bitter suits had been settled against the Klan, the trek began.

Dr. Hawkins Tells Ideals

Dear Sir.—The statement made by Gilbert that the money collected by him or any part of it, from the Millbrook citizens, was forwarded to this office, is an absolute lie, nor was this office aware that money had been collected by Gilbert until the Klan at Millbrook had exposed his actions and brought affidavits to me on February 2nd, the day before Gilbert was banished from the Klan. Nor has Gilbert any acknowledgment from this office on plain paper or otherwise of any monies received other than that part of the membership fee that is remitted to headquarters. All communications from this office bear my official signature and a copy is retained of every communication leaving this office. It is hardly likely had we been receiving a part of these funds, that we would have written the parties involved, advising them to have warrants issued and that we would render every assistance possible in Gilbert's prosecution.

I do not know the strength of the Klan of Kanada at the present time but an official communication issued by their Imperial Wizard, admits that they have lost over seven hundred members in Toronto, many of these members since affiliating with our Order. I do not care to give the strength of our Order at the present time.

The Klan of the British Empire, organized at Niagara Falls in April, 1924, is a Protestant Christian organization whose main principles are to build a clean Dominion, to uphold Protestant Christianity, to teach respect and absolute obedience to the laws of the Dominion, to fight for the betterment and upbuilding of our Public Schools, to protect womanhood and the home life of Canada that we may hand down to the coming generation, a clean heritage in Canada, asking nothing from the hand of any man or woman in Canada that we are not willing to grant to them. Avoiding at all times any injustice or aggression against any race, color or creed, and to demonstrate the practical utility of the great doctrine of the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man as a vital force in the lives and affairs of men.

The Klan stands ready and willing to render any assistance to the proper authorities in the Gilbert Case.

Further, the statement by Gilbert that Attorney-General, Honorable W. F. Nickle was in any way connected with or behind any Klan movement, is an injustice to the Attorney-General, and was made without any authority by Gilbert.

Thanking you for the opportunity to make this statement and for the fairness in which your paper has treated us in the past, I am,

Very truly yours

J. H. HAWKINS,
Imperial Klaliff and Chief of Staff.

WHAT BROADCASTERS ARE DOING.

Paul W. Van Camp is story man at radio station WADC, Akron, O. He tells stories each evening from 7:15 to 7:30 o'clock for the children. The stories are the kind the children hear at school and not the "bedtime" type.

The United States Coast Guard Band, from the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., will broadcast a series of five concerts from station WTIC, Hartford, Conn. The first concert of the series will be heard March 5.

WRNY, New York, announces a regular feature to be known as "amateurs' debut hour." Anyone who can sing, play an instrument or entertain well is eligible to take part in the program.

The Synchrophase Hour is a regular feature at station WAHG, Richmond Hill, N. Y. The ensemble presents a different soloist each week and is heard Monday evenings from 8 to 9 o'clock.

Directors of station WRNY, New York, say that they have received some new and interesting radio plays as a result of a playwriting contest which they held recently.

Baltimore's super-power station, WBAL, has extended its program and is on the air every night during the week until 10 o'clock, except Wednesday and Saturday, when it is silent.

Songs of the south, interspersed with the latest popular dance tunes, are put on the air nightly by WSM, Nashville, Tenn. Francis Craig and his orchestra open the regular evening obradcasting period.

PETERBORO MAN

Formerly the annual convocations of the Klan were held in Atlanta, drawing thousands from every part of the country. Since Evans took control all that has ceased. There are no more meetings on the top of Stone Mountain, as the rules of the order require.

Georgia has never been so strong in numbers as certain other States. The Klan, however, has apparently held its own and has been active in the smaller towns.

Several years ago Macon was startled by various Klan kidnapping cases. Since that outbreak quited down, there have been few cases of violence.

Texas.

Dallas.

The disintegration of the Ku Klux Klan in Texas, particularly in Dallas, the home of Imperial Wizard Hiram W. Evans, is evident. With a supervisor form Texarkana in charge of Dallas Klan 6, acting in every respect with the authority of a receiver; with the affairs of the Fort Worth Klan in similar condition and the same reported at Houston and San Antonio, it is obvious that the power of the organization numerically and politically is gone.

Former Grand Dragon of Texas Z. E. Marvin, who quit the Klan last September, is authority for the statement that the 13,000 membership in Dallas Klan 66 in 1924 has dwindled to a bare 1,200. The attendance at political meetings then was 800 to 3,500. Now it would be hard to get out 150 at any meeting.

"This condition prevails over the State of Texas," said Mr. Marvin "At the opening of this year not a province in Texas could pay its help In Texas there are not 18,000 paying members, as compared with the 97,000 of a year and a half ago."

Mississippi.

Jackson.

The Ku Klux Klan in Mississippi now has between 17,000 and 18,000 members in active standing. This figure indicates a drop in membership of some 7,000 or 8,000 from two years ago.

The bulk of the membership is in the larger cities and towns, and about 100 local Klans are in existence. The organization has never been strong in the rural districts. Instances where the organization has manifested open interest in political affairs have been few. On the only notable occasion the Klan dominated the Democratic State Convention that named delegates to the national convention in New York.

Most of the activities of Klansmen in Mississippi have been devoted to aiding State and Federal officers in enforcing the prohibition law. On several occasions Klansmen on the Mississippi coast have informed the Federal authorities concerning large liquor shipments, resulting in important captures.

Various Forms of Entertainment Are To Be Heard From Stations.

By ED FRIEDMAN,
NEA Service Writer.

The broadcasting station, as an institution, is the twentieth-century contributio.. to intellectual progress.

The broadcasting station is as typically American as front porches and rocking chairs. As an institution it furnishes all the mental nourishment and refreshment that the mind requires.

Broadcasting represents the next big milestone of intellectual and social progress after Johann Gutenberg's invention of printing.

The radio fan who spends his time tuning in different stations to select the entertainment which pleases him best and whose major problem is whether classical or jazz music should predominate in broadcasting does not appreciate the full worth of the broadcasting station.

A close survey of the programs of leading broadcasting stations shows that the owner of a radio set does not have to go out of his own home to get complete mental satisfaction.

Musical.

The musical and entertaining features of broadcasting stations is popularly known. Entertainment ranging from amateur attempts to the finely polished work of the world's greatest artists are broadcast daily.

All forms of musical entertainment, ranging from barbarous tom-tom drumming through the grand opera and classical solos are on the air nightly.

Minstrels, entertainers, jokes and all other forms of humorous entertainment are broadcast.

Plays, short stories, condensed novels, book and theatrical reviews are also a daily feature. Card games, bedtime stories, "comic strips," style talks, shopping guides and advertisements are put on the air.

Clubs.

Clubs are organized in which interested listeners may obtain membership. Such features as dancing, swimming and drawing lessons, horoscopes, numerology and astrology talks provide a personal interest to listeners.

A vast and complete educational program has been sponsored by broadcasting stations. A multitude of home economic courses including cooking, sewing and home-keeping lessons, home topics and domestic advice are broadcast daily for women.

Great educational institutions as our modern schools, universities, trade and professional colleges and government departments broadcast educational courses

Here, the radio listener can receive all the practical and intellectual knowledge he desires. Popular talks on science, literature, art, and travel and such practical subjects as the care of the auto or business talks are sent out by the station.

Esthetic.

Courses in music, art, philosophy, poetry and literary appreciation and culture open a large field to the mental development of listeners.

The church, Sunday school lessons and sacred music have a distinct and important role in radio broadcasting.

A review of big news events and comments, stock market quotations, police reports, weather and time signals and talks by prominent individuals on important subjects keep the radio listener well informed.

The broadcasting station, being typically American, has condensed all the educational, artistic, informative and entertaining knowledge that the mind requires and offers it to listeners in their own home.

Short Cuts

Things to Know in Building and Operating a Radio Receiver

A reader of The Examiner writes he made a loud-speaker of a small megaphone, a piece of bamboo fishing rod and a pair of ear phones. After the small end of the megaphone had been closed, he says he cut a hole through it just large enough to admit the bamboo, the centre of which had been notched. With these parts together he said it was a simple matter to clamp the openings of the phones over the hollow bamboo tube.

The hard-of-hearing may find it comfortable to listen in on the phones while the loud-speaker is operating, but refrain from doing so because of the volume. A 6000-ohm potentiometer, used as a rheostat by inserting it in series with the loud-speaker and the phone leads, may be used as a volume control.

When a resistance-coupled amplifier fails on the lower musical notes try adding an external condenser of .02 or .1 and .5 mfd. capacity in parallel to the original coupling condenser, usually of the .006 mfd. size.

If your set won't tune to wavelengths over 400 meters, lengthen your antenna or put a .001 mfd. fixed condenser across the aerial and ground.

If you can't control regeneration and sharp tuning causes squealing, juggle the detector tube plate voltage. It may have to be reduced.

PROBLEMS OF NEEDY CITIZENS ARE SOLVED BY CHARITY BOARD THROUGH WORK OF FINCH MILLER

City's Relief Officer Has Had Many Years of Experience.

MANY CASES

Some Can't Get Work And Others Don't Want It, He Says.

The great Canadian winter that makes Canada the mecca of thousands of tourists and provides unlimited opportunities for enjoying outdoor activities to their fullest extent, like most other things, has two sides to its story.

To the young people it represents possibly the finest season of the year, as it enables them to get outsides the confines of the city and snowshoe or ski as their fancy dictates. Night after night in the city one can see sleigh loads of happy young people setting out for Lakefield or Bridgenorth, or if some one is fortunate enough to know a farmer who lives within a reasonable distance of the city, they make for the farm, and after sundry adventures reach their destination, only to trip the light fantastic until the early hours. After the dance comes the feast, which usually consists of beans, and a rollicking bunch starts citywards singing with might and main.

To the man who has a family to keep the winter presents a different problem. He has outgrown the desire to roam the countryside. Winter to him merely means cold weather, warmer clothes for the family, a pair of skates for Johnny or a pair of snowshoes for Maggie. And on top of these he has for ever in his mind an all too clear picture of diminishing coal pile which in most cases represents most of his summer's savings.

Then there is the old timer that one meets in the barber shop or some such place that they are wont to frequent. He talks of the hard winters they had years ago, and to hear him talk one would almost imagine that the world was going crazy.

So much for these people, most of whom would not change their lot if they could.

In this city, like every city, there are people whom life has not treated kindly. Some have almost reached the alloted span of life, and, through disabilities, are unable to work, while others, due to existing conditions, are unable to find employment. There are wives whose husbands have deserted them, and other people who simply won't work, and to them the Canadian winter presents a problem that requires considerable figuring in order that they may survive until the first balmy breezes of spring arrive.

Carefully Administered.

The man who will not work necessarily has to work out his own salvation, but for the needy in the city there is an organization known as the Central Charity Board, which operates for the sole purpose of providing relief for people who are unfortunate enough to require it. The board of directors includes a representative from every church in the city. Their method of procedure is to have Relief Officer Finch Miller investigate every needy case that comes to its attention. His report is then submitted to the board for endorsation, and immediately relief is forthcoming.

No cash is handed out, the relief taking the form of provisions and real necessities. For those who are able and willing to work, Mr. Miller has a woodyard, where, for every cord of wood that a man cuts, he receives in return for his labor a cheque entitling him to two dollars worth of provisions. Mr. Miller said that during his twenty-eight years' experience in the position he had come in contact with many cases. Just this winter he had two men approach him asking for relief, and when he referred them to his wood pile they refused to saw the wood, stating that they would rather steal. Quite a number, he said, do not refuse, but for some reason known only to themselves they never reach the wood pile. He stated that he had heard rumors that he had abandoned his woodyard, but such was not the case, as it was still functioning as strong as ever.

"Sometimes the fakers go to charitably-minded people in the city," he said, "and tell them their troubles. These people call me up, telling me of the case, but in most cases I have been to the scene and have already investigated it."

During the time that the reporter was in Mr. Miller's office six citizens called for their allowances. Mr. Miller said that they were typical of most of those who were on the books at present. The first was an aged lady whose husband had deserted her, and left her with a girl who is not able to work; another was a lady with a family of three, whose husband is at present in the hospital; another was an aged man who is ill and has to look after three children. Another case was that of a man who has worked hard in his time, but is now worn out and too old to work. This man has a family of four children, and only one of them is old enough to work. Still another case was that of a man who, Mr. Miller stated, had cut wood for him all winter. He is more than willing to work, but simply cannot find employment. Possibly the most interesting case of all is that of a widow of a Crimean Veteran. She is eighty-six years of age, and can neither read nor write, but to compensate for this she has the most remarkable memory that Mr. Miller has come in contact with during his experience. She can recollect dates and places where she lived while her late husband was in the service, and they include many remote places at that.

In conclusion, Mr. Miller said that there were at present seventy-seven citizens receiving help from the Board. In his opinion, conditions are much the same as last winter. Finally, stated Mr. Miller, "if they are able to work and are willing we will help them."

ABOUT YOUR CAR

By W. Z.

CAUSES OF CARBON DEPOSIT.

Accumulations of carbon is one of the greatest engine troubles known, for it deadens the spark with fouled spark plugs, weakens compression caused by pitted valve seats, and knocks from pre-ignition from heavy deposits on piston heads and combustion chambers.

There are numerous causes of these ill-effects on your power plant, such as the grade and amount of oil and carburetion mixture, that is, too much gasoline; exscessive heat is also a cause, vaporizing the oil, thinning it so that the excessive flow of liquid will find its way past the piston rings; oil in the crankcase that is allowed to deteriorate badly becomes so thin that it will pass the piston rings into the combustion chamber; scored piston rings and cylinders; poorly fitting piston rings; wrong grade of oil; too high an oil pressure; and sometimes carrying too high an oil level.

A poorly adjusted carburetor is a common source of carbon forming, an insufficient amount of air, known as a rich mixture, causing incomplete combustion on account of its slow-burning quality. A portion of oil that gets past the piston rings, together with the incomplete combustion particles, will deposit carbon in the chamber. Superfluous deposits (that which does not pass out with exhaust) bakes by heat explosions on pistons, cylinder heads and valves, and when lubricating oil is present, its gummy substance adds quickly to the building up of the deposit pile.

A decrease in power is noticeable by leaking valves, gummy carbon having found its way under the seats of the valve. Spark plugs are fouled, and carbon caked on the piston and chamber, when red hot, causes premature ignition, or pre-ignition, noticeable by a pounding noise. A carbonization of the engine is detected, when on a pull, by a knock, overheating and weak compression, and may be traced to a poorly adjusted carburetor or poor grade of lubricating oil as preventive measures for future trouble. Minimum reduction of carbon may be had by obtaining lubricating oil of high quality and correct body for the piston design and lubricating system of your make of engine.

If exhaust smoke is grey, take this as an indication that there is an excess of fuel and oil.

Excessive smoke from the exhaust may be caused by piston rings that leak.

Rubbing cloth upholstery with a sponge dampened in a mixture of ¾ oz. common salt and 2 oz. of either grain or wood alcohol and clear water will be found efficacious for cleaning purposes.

Snow may be prevented from sticking to glass by using a mixture of 2 oz. glycerine and 1 oz. water with 1 dram salt. Apply to glass with cheesecloth in a vertical or perpendicular manner.

Representatives Meet to Promote the Interests of Radio Owners.

By NEA Service.

TORONTO, Feb. 27.—Representatives of radio stations and concerns interested in radio have organized the Canadian Association of Broadcasters.

The announced purpose of the association is to improve the standard of broadcasting, to promote the interests of the owners of receiving sets and to spread by means of radio a wider knowledge of Canada.

While the association is to "protect the interests of the radio listener-in" it has been brought into being by the insistence of the copyright owners that radio stations should take out licenses from them and pay for the privilege.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL GLADIOLUS YEAR

1,000 IN A MONTH.

After a few days of rapid work in rounding up a list from the local florists, Mr. D. Grant, chairman of the premium committee of the Horticultural Society, has ready what is without doubt the finest list of options yet presented to prospective members. It comprises hardy flowers, a choice of 50 varieties, irls, peonies, garden asparagus, small fruits, flowering shrubs, climbing vines, cannas, dahlias, bedding plants, Canadian Horticulturist, and last and most important of all on this, the year of the holding of the Canadian Gladious Show and Convention in Peterboro, a fine selection of gladiolus bulbs. In view of the coming of the big show, August 24 and 25, and the visit here of all the big growers in the country, the local Horticultural Society whose guests the visiting society will be, have adopted the slogan for 1926—"The City Beautiful — Gladiolus Year." A mammoth drive for members, with the objective 1000 in a month, is to be launched as soon as the option lists are ready, and residents are advised that Mr. C. Wood of 286 Simcoe St., has been appointed official representative to call at the homes and take their membership fee of $1.00 and allow them to make a selection of the option they wish to receive. Only a large membership would warrant the giving of premiums of such value. Their purchase by the society was based on the expectation of at least 1000 flower loving citizens joining the Society on this its most important year. Most of the options if bought at retail would cost $1.00 or very close to it, so every member is going to get double value this year. It's time to think about the garden, so be prepared to pay your dollar and make your selection when the director or other campaign workers sees you.

Here is the list of options; keep this copy to look over, and there will be no delay when called on to name your choice. As many members of the family as wish may join, and each receive a separate option.

1—20 Gladiolus bulbs, all different but not labelled.

'WILL MEET DEFEAT SMILING,' SAYS SUZANNE, 'BUT WON'T BE THIS YEAR'

MAY PLAY YET.

MONTE CARLO, Feb. 27 (Canadian Press).—A return match between Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen and Miss Helen Wills, so far as the Riviera is concerned, is doomed, and Miss Wills must wait a few months for another chance to gain the world's tennis championship. Suzanne has definitely decided to lay aside her singles racquet until the French championships in June.

With tears streaming down her face, she announced, after a long consultation with her doctors, that she must refrain from playing in the singles in the tournament at her home town, Nice, where, it was hoped by tennis devotees that the champions would meet across the net.

Just across from the little villa where Suzanne makes her home, overlooking the courts of the Nice club one hundred workmen were busy putting up five thousand extra seats to accommodate the crowds expected for a Lenglen-Wills match. Leon Garibaldi, president of the Nice club, to whom Suzanne communicated her decision, lost no time in ordering the foreman to stop work and tear down the stands they had already put up, saying: "If Suzanne and Helen do not meet here in the singles, we have plenty of accommodations."

Miss Wills Wins Two

The announcement that Suzanne had definitely decided not to play in the Nice singles cast gloom over the thousand spectators watching Miss Wills play yesterday. Miss Will diposed of Miss Eileen Bennett, of England, 6-3, 6-2, in the semi-finals for the Duke of Connaught's gold cup, and later paired with Mlle. Contoslavos, defeated Miss Lily Cadle and Mrs. Wright, 6-3, 6-4.

As she walked off the courts Helen said: "I am sorry to hear of Mlle. Lenglen's poor health. I hope she recovers sufficiently to play in June. I have plenty of time. I feel better than I ever have."

When pressed for a further statement all she would say was: "It is not for me to comment on Mlle. Lenglen's decision."

Dr. Roger Castelli, who has attended Suzanne in recent years, declared: "I take entire responsibility for my patient's decision. It is not a question of tennis with me, or world championships, but merely one of safeguarding health. Should she change her mind and play at Nice, she does so against my advice. I refuse to assume responsibility for the consequences."

When seen by The Associated Press correspondent at her home in Nice last night, Suzanne, speaking as if she meant it, said: "My decision is irrevocable. I am not at the beck and call of promoters like professionals. I need rest, and I will take it. I will meet Miss Wills either at Paris or Wimbledon, preferably the latter, as I favor grass courts.

"I am sure Miss Wills is not responsible for the noisy publicity surrounding us. They can say I am afraid to meet her; let them. Those who know me intimately are convinced that I am not. I have proved it. When my time comes I will meet defeat smilingly and with a word of congratulation for the victor—but it will not be this year."

For Father's Sake

Despite the official announcements of both the Nice club and Mlle. Lenglen, there are many here who believe the match will take place. They feel that Suzanne if she is in any sort of physical form will play for her father's sake. As secretary of the Nice Tennis Club, he occupies a villa built out of funds appropriated by the club for general improvement of the courts and clubhouse. The club now is in debt for more than a million francs which, it has been reiterated, could be cleared by the receipts of a match between the American and French champions.

MADOC HIGH SCHOOL WON WHITBY CUP

Lost Final Game To Tweed, But Won Out on Goals.

MADOC, Feb. 27.—Madoc High School boys went to Tweed on Monday night to play the deciding game of the season and come home triumphant with the Whitly Memorial Cup, played for by the T.V.H.S. League.

Although Madoc was defeated in this game, 2-1, they won on the highest score for the season. Madoc held the cup in 1922 and 1923. Tweed held it in 1924 and 1925, and had they won it again this year it would have been their permanent possession. As it now stands, the cup will have to be played for at least two more years before a permanent winner can be declared.

The cup is now on exhibition in W. R. Rieirdon's window, and citizens are much pleased with the boys' success.

The players on the Madoc team this year are: Donald Whytock, centre; Campbell Wallbridge, goal; Jack Ross and Melbourne Caverly, wings; Kenneth Tufts and Jack Henderson defence; Ted Nickle, Charlie Phillips and Alex. Rupert, subs.

Inside Sporting Dope

By A Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Since I last set down to drop you a line plenty of things has happened in the hockey world. In the 1st place, the Petes has knocked the Kitchener Dutchmen into retirement, and in the 2nd, the Petes and Parkdales has hooked up for the group title, and at the end of the 1st round is even with 2 goals each. Some Parkdale supporters sez that if the Peterboro goal umpire had not been picked from the School for the Blind the Paddlers would be in front 3 to 2 going into the final game, but them canoeists must have their little joke. Anyhow, the official count is 2 for them and 2 for us, and Mon.'s set-too in Andy Taylor's Toronto ice barn will settle all the arguments.

They is a lot of Peterboro folks which say that the Petes didn't try to get no lead in last night's game, being satisfied to hold the Paddlers even. That is an old story, but not like a lotta old stories, it ain't even funny; it's the bunk. The boys expected to pile themselves up a nice lead Thurs. night, and they was out there trying to do that very same thing. They didn't do it, because it looks to me as if the Paddlers' board of strategy has doped out the proper way of holding the Petes. All any team has to do is to stake the blue and whiters to the 1st goal and they turn off the works right there. They ain't no front runners with the Petes, and the only time they seem to start to burn up the ice is when they is a goal or 2 down. Otherwise they is content to team along with the other fellows.

It was no great shakes of a hockey game, and the chances is that the London and Galt scouts which watched the teams in action went home and told their clubs that they could beat either the Paddlers or Petes with 1 hand tied behind their backs. The hardest worked man out there was Mister Mike Rodden, who needed 3 or 4 pairs of eyes to get all the stuff the boys was pulling. Mister Rodden was "booed" by the supporters of both sides, which looks like he was putting over an impartial job. Anyway, it was 1 night when the referee had to work to earn his jack.

SETTLE IT MON.

None less than Mister Harry Watson, which has consented to play with the Paddlers in the final clash for the group.

The Paddlers figger that if they could tie the Petes with him off they can just naturally bring home the bacon with him on.

Well, they ain't no law against figgering, but me and the Parkdalers clash on this line of dope, and the way I see it, if the Petes strut the stuff they're capable of, it will take 2 or 3 Harry Watsons to stop them Mon. night. The boys is back in the last ditch, and they always do their best fighting when they gotta. A bunch of townspeople is going up to Toronto for this clash, and I wouldn't be surprised if the attendance comes close to being a sell-out Mon. night. The customers should see a swell argument.

ABOUT MISTER MITCHELL.

This Mister Harold Mitchell what refereed the Kitchener game last Fri. come pretty near making me a subject for a heart specialist. If this bird is a good referee you'll never prove it by me, because the way I see it he didn't show as much judgment as the guy which tried to persuade Rev. Ben. Spence to run on a Government control ticket. I always used to think that them Eyetalians which held the bridge in the old days and that Greek which started Marathon races by running 26 miles with a message and the kid which stood on the burning deck had a tough time, but, believe me, Mister Sporting Editor, them gazaboes had a snap alongside of what Mister Collins and Mister McLeod and Mister Dwyer was up against for a while. They was outnumbered 3 to 0, and the Kitchener fans was howling at their players in 3 languages—English, Dutch and profane—to score a mess of goals. They tell me they was some great checking done by Mister Collins and Mister McLeod—and they must a been. I can't prove it, for I was afraid to look at the doings much until the sides was even again.

A MON. OUTING.

With a special train arranged for Mon., it looks like a lotta our citizens will spend the evening in Toronto. It should oughta be a pleasant occasion for 1 and all, particularly if the Petes put the skids under Watson, Lount and Co., which same they should. The support of a coupla hundred leather lungs will be appreciated by the Petes, which naturally is not getting as much support from the Toronto fans as last year when their showing as an intermediate team promoted to senior took the Queen City bugs by storm. Mister Lou Marsh is slated to do the bell-ringing in this battle, which'll give the Peterboro camp followers somebody beside Mister Rodden to boo at.

Hoping to see you there, Mister Sporting Editor.

Sportfully yrs.,

A. WISE CRACKER.

TRAIN HELD UP CANADIAN SLED

Earl Bridges Unhitched His Dogs and Crawled Over Coupling.

NEW ENGLAND RACE.

ASHLAND, N.H., Feb. 27 (Canadian Press).—Emil St. Goddard, 19-year-old champion of The Pas, Man., mushed into the lead at the end of the second leg of the New England dog sled race Friday. Pushing through the slush for 47 miles over the long hills from Wolfeboro, he piled up a lead of nearly eight minutes over Shorty Russick, also of The Pas, who finished a bare 15 seconds ahead of him in Thursday's race.

The leader at the end of the 87 miles, St. Goddard had all seven of his dogs in shape to start the last leg of the 140 mile test today. Most of the other contenders had reduced their dog teams by dropping the huskies that failed to stand the pace.

With two-thirds of the race over, it narrowed down to a tussle between the two drivers from The Pas, with Earl Brydges, also of The Pas, and the Dupuis brothers Francois and Jean, of Quebec, pushing them hard. Francois Dupuis was third, Brydges fourth, with only a minute and a half between them, and Jean Dupuis fifth.

All the dogs were in better shape last night than Thursday night, but the drivers were well worn out. In the deep slush they shoved their sleds up all the hills and got little riding.

Roads Not Broken.

Through the first third of Friday's course to Moultonboro, the roads were not broken out. Francois Dupuis, driving for the McKay Company of Quebec, had the task of breaking the track through. He was sent away first and maintained first place throughout. The others followed him out of Wolfeboro at five minute intervals. St. Goddard started sixth and finished third. Russick started fourth and finished second.

Brydges met an obstacle in a freight train at Bridgewater Crossing two miles from the finish. The train stopped across his path and stayed there. After chafing at the holdup for a few minutes, the Canadian lad unhitched his huskies and sent them under a box car. Then he called a brakeman to help him boost his sled over a coupling between two cars, re-hitched and came spanking into Ashland fifth, to make claim for a five minute delay that the judges allowed, placing him fourth.

CLOTH CO. LOST TO OUTLAWS AND MENIE WON ONE

Single Goal Scored With the Losers Shorthanded, Decided Issue.

YOUNG COLTS BEATEN.

Clerical Defence of Menie Team Turned Back Youngsters.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 27. — The Town League games at Covert's Arena on Wednesday night resulted in a win for the Outlaws over the Cloth Co. boys by a 1 to 0 score, while Menie registered their first win, at the expense of the Junior Colts the score being 3 to 2.

Both contests were hard fought, close checking affairs, and were in doubt to the final whistle. The Outlaws scored the only goal of the game in the first period, when the Cloth boys were two men short, and the Cloth boys came close to tying things up in the third period when the Outlaws were short handed. While the teams were at full strength, they battled on virtually even terms, the puck travelling from end to end in combination plays or individual rushes. Both goalies were right on and made many clever saves to turn back the opposition.

Line-up

Cloth Co.—Ted Owens, goal; W. Owens and Wilks, defence; Rousselle, centre; Ayrhart and Zvisky, wings; Reid, Reynolds and Nicholson, subs.

Referee—Jack Cowell.

Judge of play—P. Saunders.

Menie 3, Junior Colts 2.

Menie rearranged their team and had the Rev. Mr. Clarke, a star goal keeper in his college days, between the posts and he made a wonderful come-back, turning the Colt Snipers back till they almost lost heart. The reverend gentleman's fine exhibition gave the Menie boys confidence, and once they gained a lead they checked the Colts at every turn. Both sextets went the route, practically without relief, the subs hardly being used at all, and it was a tired bunch that skated off the ice at the end of hostilities. Another good crowd was in attendance and the interest in the games is increasing.

Line-up

Menie.—Rev. Clarke, goal; Rev. Daniel and Hay, defence; Hume, centre; Rannie and Lynn, wings; Anderson and Hobbs, subs.

Officials—Cowell and Saunders.

Cowell and Saunders were the officials in both fixtures and gave the best satisfaction of any pair yet.

Menie and the Hydro meet at Covert's Arena on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A field of 45 crack runners started in this big event, which was witnessed by 50,000 people, and Tranter was well up with the leaders all the way. The Millrose club, of which Tranter is a member, won the team race, a club mate of the Peterboro boy being first across the line. The race was run on slushy and ice streets and was a real test of stamina and endurance.

MANY VETERANS PASS FROM MAJORS

Marquard, Shanks, McNally, Gowdy and Other Familiar Names Will Be Missing This Year.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Many veterans of long standing will be conspicuous by their absence when the 1926 major leagues' race gets under way. Some dropped out while the 1925 chase was in progress; others drifted along since the world series last fall.

Included in the list are three of the most prominent utility players the American League has had in a long while. They are Ernie Johnson, Mike McNally and Howard Shanks. All were in the big show over a lengthy period. Each played with several clubs.

Johnson broke in with the White Sox in 1912. He also saw service with the St. Louis Browns and New York Yankees. He was twice shunted to the minors, only to be recalled. Johnson also played with St. Louis in the Federal League. That was in 1915.

McNally "came up" with the Boston Red Sox in 1915. He spent the latter part of the 1915 campaign with Providence in the International circuit. He was also with the Yankees, Red Sox and Senators, returning to the Yanks last season when Everett Scott went to Washington.

Shanks joined Washington in 1912. He played the outfield and took a crack at every infield position during his 11 seasons with the Nationals. In 1923 he was traded with Val Picinich to the Red Sox for Muddy Ruel and Allan Russell. The following year he went to the Yankees in exchange for McNally.

Neither Johnson, McNally nor Shanks ever reached stardom heights in the main tent. All were mighty handy fellows to have on a ball club, however. Johnson gained quite a reputation as a pinch-hitter on several occasions.

"Rube" Marquard, the once famous $11,000 b auty," is another of the old-timers to sever connections with the major league. Marquard was purchased by the Giants in 1908 for 11,000 smackers, a record price in those days. After getting away to a poor start, he turned in three great seasons in a row. That was in 1911-12-13. In 1912 he won 19 straight games, the modern mark for the majors.

Everett Scott, baseball's "iron man," has announced his retirement. Scott made his big league debut with the Red Sox in 1914. In 1921 he was traded with Joe Bush and Sam Jones to the Yankees for Peckinpaugh, Piercy, Quinn and John Collins. Now we have it he is to go with the White Sox.

Other veterans fans will miss during the coming season include Bobby Jones of the Detroit Tygers; Chick Fewster, Cleveland; Shano Collins, Red Sox; Steve O'Neill, Yankees; "Nemo" Leibold, Senators; "Hank" Gowdy, Giants, and George Burns, Phillies.

Jimmy Caveney of Cincinnati and Ike Boone, Red Sox, two comparative youngsters, have also been shunted back to less elite company.

MOVIEGRAPHS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 27.—There are times when anomalous Hollywood has its tragic side. And at such times filmdom's players are often called upon to portray more serious roles in real life than in the world of make-believe. Only the other night Bert Lytell was toastmaster at the Wampas Ball and Frolic, movieland's gayest festival. The next morning Bert served as one of the pallbearers who carried Barbara La Marr's mortal remnants to its farewell stage.

A movie company filming "Shipwrecked" was marooned afloat a large barge during the recent storms along the Pacific coast. As reckless waves swept over the barge, partially sinking it, the actors shot rockets into the midnight darkness to summon aid. A rescue boat speeded up alongside the sinking barge, the commander of which saw the movie cameras.

"Oh, it's just a lousy movie company making a thriller," he roared angrily and turned his boat around and left the "Shipwrecked" company. Oh, yes, they were eventually saved.

John Gilbert, the screen's hot and cold mixture, has moved into his recently completed 14-room villa on the heights of Beverly Hills. In this spacious mansion, which is as distinctive as the star himself, Gilbert lives alone—save for a few servants. One of the bedrooms is a duplicate of his chamber in "The Merry Widow," with great ebony mirrors, predieu and decorations entirely in black and white.

The possibility of a reconciliation and remarriage of Gilbert and Leatrice Joy, which became gossip when the two appeared together at the opening of "The Merry Widow" in New York, seems to be waning, though friends cling to the belief that love still exists.

In an interview, Carmel Myers, screen vamp, declares:

ELINOR GL... PICTURE IS A MASTERPIECE

...nor's "The Only Thing," with Eleanor Boardman and Conrad Nagel Evokes High Praise.

Elinor Glyn's latest screen production, "The Only Thing," made for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and featuring a cast headed by Eleanor Boardman and Conrad Nagel, and which is coming to the Capitol Theatre Monday, bids fair to be her greatest picture. . . . . Much interest is always manifested in an Elinor Glyn picture, for they all include two very interesting ingredients—love and beauty. Madame Glyn surrounds her pictures with both, then injects whatever else is needed in the way of drama and suspense and as a result her productions are sought after by an eager public who are crying for that type of entertainment.

"Three Weeks" and "His Hour" were both splendid offerings. She has topped them both in this newest, "The Only Thing," it is said.

A Royal Romance.

The action takes place during the four days spent together by a handsome young English Duke and a Northern Princess of great beauty and charm before the latter's marriage to an old nd decrepit King of the country—Chekia. The Duke has met the Princess upon arriving at the court of the King of Chekia where he is representing the King of England at the nuptial ceremonies.

The Duke finds himself involved in a great affair of the heart. He esires the Princess. She too loves him to such an extent that she almost abandons all for him, for he wants her to flee with him to England.

There are secret meetings in the boudoir of the Princess. There are scenes with the Duke pleading with the Princess and telling her of his love.

The cast is headed by Eleanor Boardman and Conrad Nagel.

A Brilliant Assemblage.

Other importantly cast are Carrie Clarke Ward, David Mir, Mario Carillo, Dale Fuller, Arthur Edmund Carew and Vera Lewis.

AT THE REGENT

LESS HOME LIFE IN AMERICA THAN EVER BEFORE. "BROKEN LAWS."

"There is less home life in America to-day than ever before," asserts Mrs. John D. Sherman, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at her headquarters in Washington.

Club women of the nation are uniting to remedy this situation and therefore are vitally interested in "Broken Laws," Mrs. Wallace Reid's new photoplay dealing with Mother Love and Law Observance, which is coming to the Regent Theatre on Monday.

While bearing a real message, of interest to everyone, "Broken Laws" is not a sermon. Rather, it is an interesting, vital, and dramatic story of two American families, and of the results of lack of respect for laws in their homes.

It will hold your interest and attention from start to finish, and will make you a better citizen at the same time.

"Broken Laws" deals with two mothers, one who indulges her son in every whim, and another who neglected her daughter for the delights of a jazz life. The problems that they encounter make a story that includes thrills, suspense, emotion and fast action from start to finish.

Tuesday night or "Smackers" will have their hearing of the Belgian coast. These fish weigh as much as 1,200 pounds each, while smaller fish...

GALT DEFEATED IN GROUP FINAL

London, Slow in Starting, Had One Goal Lead To Overcome.

SPURRED TO ACTION.

LONDON, Feb. 27. — (Canadian Press).—London romped off with the local O. H. A. Senior group championship, defeating Galt 3 to 1.

As in all their other games here, London were slow in getting started, and it was not until Gauthier notched the first and only goal of the second frame, that the necessity of squaring away prompted the new champions into action. Galt's advantage did not last long, as Lowery bored the puck past Murray for the tying goal. From then on London piled up a big lead.

OSHAWA GAINED 3 GOAL VANTAGE

New Hamburg Went Down To Defeat in First of Semi-Finals.

ON DEFENSIVE.

OSHAWA, Feb. 27. — Oshawa defeated New Hamburg here last night by five goals to three in the first of the home-and-home games in the Intermediate semi-finals of the O.H.A., and will take a three-goal lead to Stratford, where the return game will be played on Monday evening. The Hamburgers started out to show their onions by playing a purely defensive game, having three men back at the blue line every time Oshawa came down with the puck. The local forward line could not break through, and the first period ended 0-0.

Manager Lett in the second period began to shovel his subs. into the game, and after Rowden raised the goal umpire's hand for Oshawa on a pass from Houck, the latter was called in, and Stevens sent out. He grabbed the puck and worked past the Hamburg defence and shot, when with Rowden in close to take the rebound, number two was registered for Oshawa. With two minutes to go, Bowman got the visitors first on a solo effort, and the second stanza ended New Hamburg 1, Oshawa 2.

The last period was all Oshawa's after Bowman hit the twine for New Hamburg's second goal and the last. Oshawa came through with three, Rowden getting the first on a pass from Lowe, the second on a lone rush, and Houck grabbed off the third on a scramble in from back of the nets.

The teams were:

New Hamburg—Goal, Oliver; defence, Lederman and Bellemere; centre, Roth; wings, Bowman and Trushinski; subs., Kalbfleisch and Hamel.

Oshawa—Goal, Smith; defence, Lowe and Johnston; centre, Lott; wings, Rowden and Houck; subs., Bill Conlin and Stevens.

Referee—D. A. Lowry, Toronto.

Penalties: New Hamburg—Lederman, Hamel 2, Roth, Bellemere 2, Bowman. Oshawa — Houck and Lowe.

GREB DEFEATED ON A DECISION

Pittsburgh Battler Defeated By Tiger Flowers, First Negro Champion.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. Canadian Press. — Harry Greb, the three year-old king of the middleweights, was dethroned by the sensational Tiger Flowers of Atlanta, Georgia, the first negro to hold the championship of the division in history. Flowers' victory came through the judge's decision at the end of a 15-round bout in Madison square garden, witnessed by 18,000 persons.

Greb, to the newspapermen at the ringside, was not himself, appearing drawn and nervous at the start, but Flowers was in excellent condition, with confidence that was not to be denied. Very seldom did the famous "windmill" onslaught of the great Pittsburg battler appear to worry the challenger, one set back for the negro coming in the fourth, whe Greb battered him to all the corners of the ring, and another in the thirteenth.

The Tiger, veteran of many encounters, boxed a steady, workmanlike battle throughout, a right hand slap introduced at the beginning of each round seeming to worry the champion.

HELPFUL HINTS BY GOLFING STARS

By Special Arrangement With Colliers' Magazine.

CECIL LEITCH—ADVICE TO WOMEN PLAYERS.

When the ball is lying in the rough the player is inclined to over-estimate the difficulty of the shot. Instead of trying to get as far as possible, many players are quite content to find the fairway. This may be a wise precaution under certain circumstances, but playing for safety does not tend to improve one's form. It must be admitted, however, that it is almost impossible to get any length from the thick juicy grass which is a difficulty to be feared by every player on an inland course during the summer.

This type of grass has an unpleasant habit of winding itself round the shaft of the club and taking the sting out of the shot. To recover from a lie of this kind the niblick must be used and gripped very firmly, the player must stand well over the ball and the swing must be of an upright nature.

A point about an inch behind the ball should be aimed at and the action should be more of a chop than a sweep. It might be truthfully desribed as a stab with a full swing. From difficulties of this kind the player must use force.

For the past three weeks he has been a bed patient at the St. John county hospital, a sanatorium for ex-soldier T. B. patients and it is expected that he woll be confined to bed while undergoing treatmnt for some time. Writing to a friend he attributes his present condition to "neglect of a severe cold contracted last fall and carrying on at work and hockey instead of resting."

Writing of the game recently staged at Peterboro for his benefit the diminutive flash said:

"My friends are certainly standing behind me, and when one sees their actions he cannot help thinking that life is worth while."

WORTH IN SPORT KNOWING

In the 1920 national open golf championship but a single stroke separated the first five contestants. It was one of the most closely fought in the history of the classic.

Edward Ray, the Britisher, won with a card of 295. His compatriot, Harry Vardon, tied for runnerup with Leo Diegel, Jack Burke and Jock Hutchison. Ray and Vardon it will be recalled, were beaten by the youthful Francis Ouimet for the crown in the 1914 playoff.

The 1920 tourney was held at Inverness club, Toledo, O., and is still a much discussed affair in golfing circles.

SPEED WAGON

Twenty-five motor trucks most nearly comparable to the Speed Wagon are so designed that, on an average, for every mile they travel, their crankshafts make 3,554 revolutions.

But the Speed Wagon, leader in this field of commercial haulage, requires only 2,873 revolutions of its crankshaft in a mile of travel. Meaning, less wear on cylinder walls, pistons and other reciprocating parts.

Capacity 2500 pounds. Twelve standard bodies.

The race is going to provide interest all the way, because each driver is out to win. The crews had better all get behind their pilot, because so much of the race depends on their assistance. 2d-50

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE HOLDS ANNUAL DINNER AND MEETING

Dr. W. J. MacClement Describes Summer Course at Kingston.

VARIED PROGRAMME.

Without Schools For Half a Century People Would Become Savages.

The annual dinner of the Peterborough Teachers' Institute was held in the Empress Hotel last evening, with an attendance of the teachers and their wives and friends to the number of about one hundred and fifteen. The atmosphere of hearty good cheer and companionship which characterizes these annual events was noticeable last night, and the teachers and their guests had a most enjoyable evening, with a dinner served in the Empress' excellent style, followed by a number of toasts and brief addresses. The special speaker of the evening was Dr. W. J. MacClement, D.Sc. of Queen's University, Kingston.

Mr. K. S. Wightman, B.A., president of the Teachers' Institute, acted as chairman. The vice-president, Miss M. Ross, and the secretary-treasurer, Miss D. Walker, were also present, and Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner, principal of the Collegiate Institute, whose teachers are members of the organization. Among the guests were Messrs. D. Walker A. J. Madill and Adrian Macdonald, of the Normal School Staff; Inspector A. Mowat, Rev. R. C. Blagrave, D.D., representing the Ministerial Association; Mr. J. A. McKone, chairman of the Board of Education, and Mayor W. T. Holloway.

The toast to "King and Country" was voiced by Mr. Wightman, and was followed by a brief, humorous talk and a toast to "Our Profession," by Miss Thelma Paxman, and a toast to "Our Guests," by Mr. M. N. Clark, B.A. This was responded to by Mayor Holloway and Mr. J. A. McKone.

A solo rendered in Mr. M. H. Park's fine voice ,with accompaniment by Mrs. Park, was a Scotch song entitled "Draw the Sword, Scotland" with an encore in "Lassie o' Mine."

The address by Dr. MacClement was a brief description of the Summer School Course for teachers maintained at Queen's University, Kingston.

The professor opened his address with a reference to the importance of the teaching profession, and said that the future of civilization rested to a great extent, in his opinion, in the hands of the teachers.

"If children declined for half a century to go to school and there were no teachers to instruct them, we would revert to a state of savagery in that time. Teachers are among the conservators of civilization."

The speaker went on to describe the origin and advance of the Summer School Course at Kingston, speaking of the improved educational and recreative facilities afforded its students, and listing among its advantages the fact that Kingston, during the hot weather season, enjoys a temperature from ten to fifteen degrees lower than that of any city in the Dominion, with the exception of Halifax and Victoria.

Brief addresses eulogizing the speaker of the evening were then given by Mr. Mowat, whose short talk was punctuated by humorous anecdote, much enjoyed by his audience, also by Mr. Adrian McDonald and Rev. Dr. Blagrave.

Mr. Wightman expressed appreciation of the excellent work in preparing for the dinner, done by Mr. Ronald Devell of King George School, chairman of the committee charged with arrangements, and his assistants, Miss H. Eagleson of the Queen Alexandra School; Miss M. Stenton, of the Queen Mary School; Miss J. Buck of the Central; Mr. Trevor Miller, of the Prince of Wales; Miss McIntosh, of the Collegiate Institute; Miss D. Pilling of the King Edward, and Miss Doris Burgess of the South Central.

During the dinner, community singing was led by Mr. Carl Browne, with piano accompaniment by Miss Cora Smith.

MASTERLY ADDRESS BY JAMES J. DORRIS

"Canada and Its Future" at Lindsay K. C. Club.

LINDSAY, Feb. 27.—Mr. James J. Dorris, lecturer of Peterborough Council Knights of Columbus delivered an address to the members of Lindsay Council Thursday night, taking as his subject "Canada and Its Future." The address proved to be a most intensely interesting one. Mr. Dorris quoted statistics relative to our mineral and timber wealth, our agricultural resources, our position as compared with other nations in trade and commerce, etc. He also dealt in a masterly manner with the great problems confronting the country at present and pointed out that these could be effectively and satisfactorily settled if men would only rise above politics and take a patriotic as well as constructive attitude on all questions affecting the public welfare. He emphasized the necessity of cultivating a spirit of national self respect — of standing true to the highest ideals and of realizing the great heritage which was ours as Canadians and citizens of the great colony in the Empire.

PAVING BY-LAW FOR WEDNESDAY

Council Will Discuss Rubidge Street Improvement Planned in 1925.

BOARD OF WORKS.

At the meeting of the Board of Works, held last night, it was decided that the by-law authorizing the paving of Rubidge street, decided on by last year's Council, would be submitted to the Council at its next meeting.

There was considerable discussion about the Fire Department going outside the city boundary to the help of adjoining townships. Aldermen Cotton and Meyers moved that a committee be appointed to meet the Township Councils and discuss the matter of fire protection with them.

City Engineer Parsons was authorized to obtain prices on oil for use on the streets this summer.

A letter was read from the Municipality of Windsor to the Provincial Government protesting against the tax on gasoline used by municipally owned cars and trucks. Aldermen Ackerman and Cotton moved that the letter be endorsed by the Council.

A communication was read from H. J. McCannon asking that Walkerfield avenue be graded. The matter was referred to the chairman of the commttee.

J. H. Verner of the Western Clock Company appeared before the Board to ask for a drain to prevent the water gathering where the pavement comes to an end beside the factory. He said that his company had gone to considerable trouble and expense in maintaining a lawn in front of the factory and as a result of the water becoming dammed at this point the lawn is spoiled. The matter was left to the chairman of the committee and the City Engineer.

Remarkable Demonstration.

The Speed Limit Far Exceeded in the Application of Paint to Automobile Bodies.

Yesterday at his paint shop on Simcoe street, Mr. E. M. Grier gave a demonstration of the application of the new "Murcote" finish, by the "Double Quick" process. After the surface is all prepared by removing old paint, rust, etc. the rest is all rapid fire work that is absolutely astonishing in its results. With a compressed air apparatus, the paint, or laquer, is blown on in several successive coats that are applied one after the other, and being soft, all amalgamate into one, and the car has received all the coats it is to get. A rub down is all that follows and the auto is ready to go home, with a shine that laughs at any kind of weather, and is like new a year later, a finish that is as soft seemingly as velvet, yet with the toug', suppleness of sword steel. As Mr. Grier remarked, it is super service at super speed. If a car is wanted re-finished in double quick time, the "Murcote" is certainly the finish that allows it.—Advt.

ANCIENT URGE OF EXPLORATION DRAWS MANY ADVENTUROUS MEN INTO WASTES OF UNKNOWN NORTH

At Least Six Expeditions Seek Pole or New Lands.

MANY PLANES USED.

Four Parties Going North For Scientific Purposes—From Many Sections.

NEW YORK, March 1 (Canadian Press).—The ancient urge that sent Hendrik Hudson battling through the Polar Seas in 1607 in search of the North-West Passage to the Spice Islands of the east, to-day still stirs the blood of modern explorers, who seek to solve the mystery of the northern seas.

Lured by the desire for adventure, the hope of commercial discoveries, the insatiable curiosity of science, and even questions of military strategy, at least six Arctic expeditions hope this summer to reach the North Pole or to find new lands hidden away in fields of unknown ice. Four other purely scientific expeditions will penetrate far into the north. It has become almost an international race to find this no man's land. By land, sea, and air, expeditions representing interests in North America, France, Norway, Italy and Russia will penetrate the regions that lured countless explorers before them.

Of the three United States expeditions, the first that will take the air under present plans is that headed by Captain George H. Wilkins, Australian explorer, now on its way north. The party hopes to make its first flights in Fokker planes in late March or early April, from Point Barrow, Alaska.

The chief purpose of the expedition is to seek an unknown land believed to lie north of Alaska and Siberia.

Another United States expedition, headed by Lieut. Wade, the round-the-world flier, also seeks this mystery land, but, in addition, seeks to make the round trip flight to the Pole.

Lieut. Wade believes that Soviet Russia is planning a secret flight to the unexplored territory in the hope of claiming any land that may be found. Lieut. Wade hopes to establish the shortest London to Tokio route. The Byrd expedition, backed in part by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Edsel Ford, also seeks this unknown land.

A mysterious motor sled will play a prominent part in the expedition under the auspices of the French Navy Department. The sleds are the design of Captain Otto Sverdrup, Norwegian seaman, who piloted Nansen in the Fram on his famous drift past the North Pole locked in Polar ice. Hydroplanes will be used to start from Spitzbergen to the Pole.

Raold Amundsen and Lincoln Ellsworth, who made their Polar attempt in airplanes last summer, will try a dirigible this summer.

The craft "Norges" was built under the auspices of the Italian Government. Greater geographic knowledge is the aim of this expedition which is supported chiefly by the Aero Club of Norway. Another Norwegian, Lieut. Eliassen, hopes to reach the Pole in a flying boat, starting from Nova Zembla.

An expedition headed by Harrison Williams, backed by the American Museum of Natural History, and George Palmer Putnam, publisher, will cruise the seas about Greenland to obtain scientific data. A party from the University of Michigan, led by Professor William H. Hobbs, will explore Greenland itself. A Russian expedition to the west shore of Nova Zembla, led by Professor Matousevitch, has been announced. Another Russian expedition will explore the large island north of Siberia, formerly known as Nicholas II. Land, but now known as Lenine Land.

The possibility of Polar expeditions in Zeppelins also has been suggested by Dr. Hugo Eckener, well known German designer. Commander Donald B. MacMillan heads his next expedition into the frozen north in June, when he will search for Norse relics in Labrador, Greenland and Iceland.

NOW, HONESTLY—

Most people think that one of the main reasons for having trouble is so that you will have something to tell you friends about.

Sure, it's a relief to spill tough luck to someone — but consider the effect on the victim.

And, in the meantime, if you must spread some sort of chatter — talk about cheerful things.

ENLARGEMENT OF LEAGUE COUNCIL BAD FAITH TOWARD GERMANY IS PRESS CENSURE OF CHAMBERLAIN

British Foreign Minister Seriously Embarrassed By Recent Speech.

WILL NOT RESIGN

Admission of Poland as Counterpoise to Germany is Denounced.

LONDON, March 1 (Canadian Press).—Seldom has a British Foreign Minister found himself in such a difficult and embarrassing position on an important point of foreign policy as Sir Austen Chamberlain on the eve of the League of Nations meeting at Geneva for the admission of Germany to the League. The entire press, without distinction of party, joins in reproving his attitude on the question of the enlargement of the League Council.

While Sir Austen maintained silence he was given the benefit of the doubt on how far he might have committed himself to the French view on the admission of Poland, Spain and Brazil, but now the flood gates are loosened and friend and foe alike are loud in declaring that Great Britain cannot favor a policy which is not only a negation of the Locarno agreement but bad faith toward Germany. When the British Foreign Secretary, with Lord Cecil, starts for Geneva next Friday he can have no illusions regarding the opinion of his countrymen. Only one opinions prevails, and that is: If at Locarno, or since, any understanding was reached for the enlargement of the League Council concurrently with Germany's admission, Germany should have been apprised of it.

Grave Cabinet Position.

The London Sunday papers characterize the coming week as the most grave and anxious time for the Cabinet since the Government took office. The dissatisfaction with the Chamberlain attitude as reflected in his recent speech reached a point where for a time it was believed only his resignation was possible. Apparently Sir Austen himself now realizes the seriousness of his position and has allowed it to become known that he considers his speech has been misinterpreted.

It was understood that Premier Baldwin will try to relieve the tension by a statement to Parliament to-day, thus allaying the rumors of a Cabinet crisis or resignation. It is doubtful, however, if he will definitely indicate the British policy. It has become known that the Cabinet discussed the question for seven hours last Friday, and that still another Cabinet Council will be held, probably Wednesday, before final instructions are given to the British delegation.

Feminine Lingerie Turns Into One Piece With Hose

LONDON, March 1. United Press. — Feminine lingerie is making its last stand and seems doomed to give away to a one-piece garment combining stockings and underthings.

This garment along with a flimsy frock, pair of shoes and a hat, will form the complete costume of the fashionable woman this spring. The one-piece stock undersuit starts at the top with shoulder straps like those of its predecessor but at the bottom turns into legs that serve as stockings.

It is hoped that the new garment will end what it is declared to be an epidemic tendency to abandon under clothing altogether.

SHIP CANAL IS NOT APPROVED

Adverse Report Believed Coming From Board Named By Congress.

FAVOR ST. LAWRENCE.

NEW YORK, March 1 (Canadian Press).—An adverse report on the proposed all-American ship canal from the Board of River and Harbor Engineers is forecast in responsible quarters in Washington, states a special despatch to the Herald Tribune. This canal through the State of New York, intended to connect the Great Lakes with the deeper Hudson River, has been investigated by a board which was named under Congressional authority. "While the information is not official," the Herald Tribune correspondent says, "it is sufficiently well based to cause enthusiasm among advocates of the St. Lawrence project."

The cost of the entire St. Lawrence improvement has been placed at $252,000,000, which would include the construction of a great dam below Ogdensburg, which would generate 500,000 horse-power of Hydro-Electric energy. The joint engineering board was appointed by the United States and Canadian Governments in 1924, to study the St. Lawrence project, and is expected to report this spring.

FIRE IN WINDSOR.

Damage of $15,000 Done To Stores in Business District.

WINDSOR, March 1 (Canadian Press).—Damage estimated at more than $15,000 resulted from a fire that started in the basement of the Victoria block in the heart of the Windsor business district yesterday.

Water badly damaged the book and stationery store of G. E. Copeland and the Belvidere cigar store. The building is owned by the McGregor estate.

DIRECTORS FOR ROTARY CLUB NAMED TO-DAY

Rotarian Gillespie Pleads Cause of Better Business Methods.

INTER-CITY VISIT.

Toronto Club Coming By Special Train on Monday Night.

Rotarians C. H. Rogers, G. A. Gillespie, A. L. Killaly, A. Brown and Thos. Barrie were named as directors of the Peterboro Rotary Club for the present year to today's weekly luncheon by Rotarian Fred L. Roy, chairman of the committee of past presidents which had been authorized to nominate this year's directorate. The election takes place at the last meeing of the month when the above names will likely be ratified by the club.

It was announced that some 125 or 150 members of the Toronto Rotary Club will be here next Monday evening for an inter-city meeting with the Peterboro Club. The Toronto Rotarians will arrive at 7 o'clock via a special C.P.R. train and Rotarian A. Brown was delegated to look after the transportation of the visitors from the station to the Empress Hotel, and Rotarian Chris. Graham to serve as chairman of the Fellowship committee

There will be two night meetings next week, as Friday, March 12, will be Ladies' Night, and a special programme is being arranged.

Mr. Kenneth Shook, formerly of Peterboro, was a guest today and delighted the Rotarians with two splendid vocal solos.

Today's speaker was Rotarian Geo. A. Gillespie, whose address on Business Methods on behalf of the club's business methods committee, was thoroughly appreciated. Rotarian Gillespie explained that it had been first planned to have four meetings on this subject during the year, but circumstances prevented this and necessitated discussing the four subjects—Relations with Competitors, Relations Between Employer and Employees, Selling Policy and Buying Policy—at the one meeting. In this connection a list of questions dealing with these points was submitted to each Rotarian and from their written answers the concensus of the opinion of the club will be secured for the benefit of Rotary headquarters which is collecting similar information from clubs the world over.

Rotarian Gillespie emphasized in his address, the importance of the application of Rotary's ideal of the Golden Rule to all business relationships with competitors and employees and of buying so that the other fellow got fair treatment, and of selling so that the customer got 100 cents worth for his dollar. He pointed out that much of the stagnation in business following the war had been caused by lack of morale among business men in some of the countries of the world, causing them to treat their contracts as mere scraps of paper. The speaker stressed the influence Rotary could have in bringing about a better standard of business throughout the world by living up to their ideals as laid down by the business methods committee.

POLITICS ALLIED WITH CRIME, IS CHICAGO CHARGE

Petition To Congress Asks For Congressional Investigation.

CHARGES DENIED.

Officials Accused Question Integrity of Association Signing Petition.

CHICAGO, March 1 (Canadian Press).—The possibility of a Congressional investigation of an alleged alliance between organized crime and politics in Chicago looms as a political issue likely to shove the World Court question out of first place in Washington. Vice-President Dawes on Saturday presented to the Senate a petition from the Chicago Better Government Association for such an inquiry and making charges. While Robert E. Crowe, States Attorney and other officials aimed at in the petition, entered vigorous denials of the charges and questioned the integrity of the association. There is much speculation in all political camps as to just how broad such an investigation, if authorized, might become.

Among the subjects that admittedly might be considered were the immigration problem, elections, and bootlegging.

TRIAL FOR MURDER.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., March 1 (Canadian Press). — Robert W. Scott, released from San Quentin Prison on Saturday to the authorities of Chicago, where he is wanted on a murder charge, left here yesterday for that city in the custody of a detective. NEW ZEALAND BUTTER AND CHEESE SOLD SATURDAY IN WOODSTOCK AT LOW PRICE

Butter Three Cents Under Home Product in Ontario's Greatest Dairy County—Packed in Toronto.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., March 1.—(Canadian Press.) — The first appearance of New Zealand butter on the Woodstock weekly market created a great deal of comment Saturday. One dealer had a supply for sale and had a large sign over his stand announcing "Grade A, New Zealand butter." It sold at 45c. a pound as compared with an average of 48 cents a pound for home butter. The butter was made up in one-pound packages and bore the name of a Toronto packing company, but was stated by the dealer to be the genuine New Zealand article. There was not a great demand for it as less than a case of it was sold by noon. There was, however, a brisk demand for New Zealand cheese, the dealer being sold out of this commodity by 11 o'clock. The appearance of this article in the centre of Ontario's greatest dairy county was the subject of much comment on the market.

SLASHED WIFE; TRIES SUICIDE WHILE IN JAIL

Welland Man Attempts To Hang Himself in His Cell.

GIVES REASON.

Heard Rumor While Away That Wife Was Unfaithful.

WELLAND, Ont., March 1. — Canadian Press. — Steve Vargo, who slashed his wife across the the neck, severing several of the cords on Sunday, and later gave himself up to the police, attempted to end his own life last night in the police station by hanging, but was discovered in time and cut down. Later Vargo gave as his reason for the rash act that while in Pittsburg a friend sent him a letter saying that his wife, who was keeping boarders in Welland, had become unfaithful.

Mr. Vargo, though weak from loss of blood, will recover, according to medical attendants.

Sunny South Beckons Youth Wild West Is Most Popular

NEWHAVEN, Conn., March 1.—(United Press).—The "Wild West" no longer beckons eastern small boys, according to Chief of Police Smith. "It is the Langorous South."

EMPTY BOOTHS AT LEIPZIG FAIR

Exhibit of Chewing Gum From U.S.A. Aroused Wonderment.

MANY VISITORS.

LEIPZIG, March 1. — United Press. — Chewing gum was seen here for the first time publicly in Germany, when the Leipzig fair opened on Sunday. It caused wonderment on the part of the children who were permitted to try sticks of it. Chewing gum and automobiles were the chief exhibits from the United States. The opening of the fair reveals symptoms of the prevailing business stagnation in Germany. There were many empty booths.

One hundred and seventy thousand visitors are scheduled to attend on Tuesday and among these will be President Hindenburg.

HANOVER, Ont., March 1 (Canadian Press).—Marie, seven-year-old daughter of Mrs. Joseph Kelly, of Dornoch, was accidentally shot through the neck from the discharge of a .32 calibre rifle in the hands of a playmate, a ten-year-old neighbor boy by the name of Hudson, on Saturday afternoon. The little girl was playing with some playmates at her home when one of the group pointed the weapon at her, not knowing it to be loaded. Fortunately the bullet missed the spine. The girl has a good chance for recovery.

CHICAGO ASKS CONGRESS HELP AGAINST GANGS

ENQUIRY URGED.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Congressional investigation of outlawry in Chicago is urged in a petition presented to the Senate Saturday by Vice-President Dawes at the request of the Better Government Association of Chicago and Cook County.

Protection of Allen law violators by the State's Attorney's office is charged in the petition, which was delivered to the Vice-President by Dean Edward T. Lee of the John Marshall Law School and Dr. Elmer L. Williams, director of law enforcement for the Better Government Association.

The petition avers that for the last four years "there has been growing up in the this community a reign of lawlessness and terror, openly defying not only the Constitution and laws of the State of Illinois, but the Constitution and laws of the United States.

"There has been for a long time in this city of Chicago," the petition added, "a colony of unnaturalized persons, hostile to our institutions and laws, who have formed a Government of their own—feudists, blackhanders, members of the Mafia — who levy tribute upon citizens and enforce collection by terrorizing, kidnapping and assassinations.

"There are other gangs, such as the O'Donnells, the McIrlanes, Ragens, Colts, Torric and others, some of whom are citizens of the United States.

"Many of these aliens have become fabulously rich as rum-runners and bootleggers, working in collusion with police and other officials, building up a monopoly in this unlawful business and dividing the territory of the county among themselves under penalty of death to all intruding competitors.

"Five breweries are listed as maintained by a coalition of politicians, public officials and criminals.

"It can be proved," the petition adds, "that police officers working out of the principal law enforcement office of the city have been convoying liquor and that one such police officer who is under Federal indictment is still acting as a police officer."

The petition was referred to the Immigration Committee.

QUEEN VICTORIA FEARED LOSS OF CANADA TO U.S.A.

Had Thought of Making the Dominion an Independent Kingdom.

SERIES OF LETTERS.

Comments on Carlyle, Dickens, Browning and Wagner —First Telephone.

NEW YORK, March 1 (Canadian Press).—Queen Victoria's fear for a war between the United States and Great Britain, and that Britain could not hold Canada, are disclosed in the second series of her letters just published in this country.

The letters are published with permission of King George V. They show that Victoria, about the time of the close of the Civil War, had concluded that it might be well to make Canada an independent kingdom under an English prince. They also picture the Queen as a keen observer of the eccentricities of the notables of her time, and a faithful recorder of her contact with them. An extract from the Queen's journal, dated February 12, 1865, reads:

"Talked of America and the danger which seems approaching, of our having a war with her as soon as she makes peace; of the impossibility of our being able to hold Canada, but we must struggle for it; and far the best would be to let it go as an independent kingdom, under an English prince. But can we stave this off, and who could be chosen?"

"I told Sir C. Wood that dearest Albert had often thought of the colonies for our sons, but that I had disliked the idea. However, now I felt once, knowing the serious reasons put before me, that I could not but entertain the thought, though for Albert it would not do. For Arthur it might be different."

Death of Lincoln.

Concerning the death of President Lincoln, she wrote her uncle, the Belgian King:

"These American news are most dreadful and awful. One never heard of such a thing. I only hope it will not be catching elsewhere."

Carlyle, the historian, was "a strange looking, eccentric old Scotchman who holds forth in a drawling melancholy voice upon Scotland and upon the utter degeneration of everything." Browning, the poet, was a "very agreeable man," but it was "very shy work" speaking to him.

Charles Dickens had a "pleasant voice and manner."

Charmed With Patti.

The Queen was "charmed" with Adelina Patti, when she sang at Windsor Palace in 1872. Five years later the Queen met Wagner, the composer, "about whom the people in Germany are a little mad." She found him "old and stout, and has a clever but not pleasing countenance."

She first saw the telephone in 1878, at the invitation of Professor Bell. She talked over the instrument, and found it "most extraordinady. But it is rather faint, and one must hold the tube close to one's ear."

According to Hansard

(Being extracts from the official record of the Canadian House of Commons now in session.)

A WEEPY SUBJECT.

Mr. E. J. Gott, (South Essex): Now, Mr. Speaker, I propose just for a moment to take up a subject which is a very strong one—one, I believe which would easily bring tears to the eyes of the Solicitor-General (Mr. Cannon.) That might perhaps, be impossible, but it would bring tears to the eyes of the Hon. Minister of Agriculture (Mr. Motherwell)—I refer to the question of onions. Canada has reached a position where an exportable surplus of onions can be developed.

PETERKIN FINDS A SKULL.

Mr. A. V. G. Bury (East Edmonton.) (Quoting Southley's Battle of Blenheim:)

But after a famous victory like, you know, must be.

On the 29th day of October I can imagine the Prime Minister and his lieutenants looking down over the stricken field as it lay, after the ballots had been counted in that great election, and I can imagine him telling the tale of the skulls—one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, and then, more tenderly, nine, his finger falling most tenderly on his own. I can picture him, as his indomitable spirit rising within him, he turns to one of his henchmen and cries: "Graham, what do you call it? Defeat? Not defeat, Graham? Things like this you know must be after a famous victory." If that is the righ hon. gentleman's conception of a victory, God save us from a defeat.

WHAT SAY, SASK.?

Mr. Peter McGibbon (Muskoka, Ont.)

I say there should be some modification in this tax so as to make it bear more equitably on the people of the country.

Let me point out something to my hon. friends from the west. I have here a statement showing the per capita wealth of every province in the Dominion.

According to this statement the province of Saskatchewan comes first, Alberta second and Manitoba third. Bearing this in mind let us see what the per capita taxation in the various provinces is: The income tax in Prince Edward Island amounts to 44 cents per capita; Nova Scotia, $1.56; New Brunswick, $1.90; Quebec, $7.99; Ontario, $8.40; Manitoba, $5.37; Saskatchewan, $1.07; Alberta, $1.93.

So that the province in which there is the largest per capita wealth pays the smallest per capita taxation.

Let us take the next tax. I find that Ontario pays $4.21 per capita, Saskatchewan [illegible] $2.97, Manitoba, the highest of the lot, $5.60. I believe that taxation based on the per capita wealth of the country is the fairest, because in that way you more evenly distribute the burden.

BATTLE U. S. ANTHRACITE

Mr. A. V. G. Bury (East Edmonton:) (Discussing Alberta coal.)

Our dumping clause is a farce. There is nothing in it to prevent the United States operators from dumping their anthracite coal into Ontario at a price which makes it impossible for the Canadian National Railways to transport Alberta coal at any reasonable rate. I wish to make my plea on this particular subject because I foresee that if something is not done in the immediate future a danger faces an industry which is vital to the western province from which I come.

TRY FOUR LEAF CLOVER.

Mr. Peter McGibbon (Muskoka, Ont.)

In my opinion the ills of this country can be summed up in a few phrases.

1. We must have greater industrial prosperity.
2. We must have more men at profitable work.
3. There must be a diminution of taxation.
4. We must have greater markets for our agricultural people.

Those four things contain the remedy for the ills from which this country is suffering to-day.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS
by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

No. 23—THE END OF BLUE WHISKERS.

At last the Twins and Jupe, the kangaroo, and Hickydoo, the wooden man, reached the turn of the road that led to the palace of Blue Whiskers.

"I think I'll leave you here," said Hickydoo, stiffly, getting off his motorcycle. "I must get back to my garden and raise some more facts. If I don't keep up my diet, my index gets out of order, and then I can't help anybody out of his trouble."

"Oh, Hickydoo, we're ever and ever so much obliged for all you've done," said Nancy. "You've helped us such a lot! Won't you come and see us some time?"

"I can't," said Hickydoo sadly. "I'm a fairy, even if I am wooden, and I can't leave Fairyland, or any of its nine hundred and ninety-nine kingdoms. But if you ever come back to this country, please call me on the telephone and we'll have lunch together. Here's my number."

And Hickydoo reached in one of the drawers of his wooden waistcoat, which it had instead of pockets, and gave them a card with printing on it.

"I'll keep it," said Nick. "Good-bye, Hickydoo."

"Good-bye," said Hickydoo. And all at once he was gone. There was just a little puff of dust where he had stood.

"We'll leave the motorcycles here and you may ride the rest of the way on my tail," said Jupe to the Twins.

"Why can't we use our roller skates?" asked Nick.

"Because," said Jupe, "we must be as quiet as mice. No one must see us this time. We're going in the back way."

"That's right," squeaked Paddyfoot, the mouse, who was really a king. "Blue Whiskers is so fond of cherry jam that I'll bet you he has sent the Blue Cherry to the kitchen to be cooked by this time."

The Twins stood on Jupe's long tail and away he jumped. Pretty soon they came to the moat of cod-liver oil that surrounded the palace.

But this time there was no need to give the pass-word as before, for Jupe gave a bound and cleared the whole thing at a jump.

Then all of them crept away, very softly through the garden and back to the kitchen.

There on the table (they could see it very plainly as they peeped through the window) lay the Blue Cherry.

It wasn't like other cherries, for not only was it blue, but it was as large as a good-sized plum.

The cook stood beside the table with a big knife, and right beside him stood Blue Whiskers himself.

"Cut it! Cut it!" Blue Whiskers was saying anxiously. "I want the blue stone to set in the handle of my silver shaving-brush."

"But, your Highness!" said the cook, "surely you don't want to shave off your beard! If you do, you know yourself that your power will be broken, and Paddyfoot will be come king again. Besides that, Jupe, that old pesky kangaroo, will become a prince as he used to be."

"Don't I know it?" cried Blue Whiskers. "I'm not going to cut off my whiskers—don't worry! Hurry up, cook, and cut the cherry."

Cook raised his big knife high over his head in orer to give a good blow, a when suddenly Jupe jumped in through the window and gave Blue Whiskers a push.

Just as the knife came down, his long blue beard flew out, and lo—there it lay over the kitchen floor, every hair of it!

"That's the end of me!" cried the old wizard rushing out of the door. "I can't stay in Fairyland now. I'll have to work for my living."

That was the last of him.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES.
By Blanche Silver

BETTY TAKES MRS. OSTRICH BACK TO HER OLD HOME.

When Betty looked up and saw tears in Mrs. Ostrich's eyes she stopped to ask the cause.

"Has someone mistreated you, Mrs. Ostrich?" Betty loved every animal and bird in the zoo and she couldn't stand to see any of them unhappy. "What's the trouble?"

"I'm homesick," sobbed Mrs. Ostrich, wiping her eyes with her foot. "No, everyone is good to me here, but, some way, I wish I could go back to South America, where I used to live when I was young."

They Flew Through the Air.

"Well," answered Betty, "if that's all, I'm sure Gocomeback, my little elfin friend from Travel-land, will take you back. I'll call him and we'll both go with you."

"You don't have to call," cried a tinkling voice, and the little elfin himself stood beside Betty. "Sure, we'll all go to South America right now."

Before Mrs. Ostrich knew what was happening Gocomeback and Betty were perched on her back and away they flew through the air, over mountains and seas, to Mrs. Ostrich's old home.

When the three arrived the brothers and sisters all came running out to meet them. They were all glad to see her.

"My, how lovely your plumes are!" the oldest sister cried. "They are such a lovely gray. They haven't been plucked lately, have they?"

Mrs. Ostrich didn't know what her sister was talking about.

"You don't know that ever so often we are caught and our master pulls out our finest plumes," replied her sister.

"While you are alive?" exclaimed Betty.

"Sure," replied the South American ostrich. "You see, I haven't any nice plumes. When I was just nine months old our master brought out a little box on wheels. I was pushed into that and, through the openings, our master pulled out my finest feathers. They have to put us in boxes or we'd kick them with our feet. If we should kick or hit a man with our wings we'd break his arm or leg. So that's why they put us into boxes when they pluck our feathers."

"About two dozen from each of my wings," replied her sister. "From our oldest brother they took the loveliest pure white plumes I ever saw. You know, the males always have white plumes, while the females have gray ones. From the time I was nine months old my plumes have been plucked every six months. At first I objected, but now I see that it doesn't make any difference, so I just take things quietly. My! if I had a place like you have to live in, where I didn't have to lose my plumes, I'd never get homesick."

"I guess I'll go back to North America," declared Mrs. Ostrich. So she [illegible] and Betty back to the zoo. [illegible] saw her crying again because homesick.

"BRINGING UP FATHER" — Geo. McManus

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Is it not amazing how many persons suffer from repeated colds? Ask any friend how he feels: Almost always, it would seem, he replies, "All right, except for a little cold."

Why is this?

The nose and throat are lined with a very sensitive tissue, the mucous membrane. All the rest of the organs which have a direct way to the outer world, are lined with the same kind of membrane. But these are so far moved from dust, dirt and manygerms that they are not so liable to become irritated or inflamed.

The nasal and throat cavities are all the time being sand-papered, so to speak. The air we breathe much of the time is filled with material particles. The dust and irritating vapors are playing upon a delicate tissue which naturally resents the intrusion.

Continued disturbance of any part of the body causes the blood vessels to become filled with blood. The distended vesse' walls give way and the fluid part of the blood drains into the surrounding tissues. When this happens in the nose or throat, there appear certain symptoms which we call a "cold."

Not only does this dirt and smoke-laden air carry irritating material particles to the nasal and throat tissues, but also the germs of disease are wafted on the air to this region. At any time, a culture of the nasal or throat secretions will reveal the germs of several diseases and of pus formation.

When these germ covered tissues become inflamed and the resistance is sufficiently weakened, these germs enter the structures. Then a severe cold may be the result.

No matter whether the disturbance is purely mechanical or whether it is the result of germ infection, there will be sneezing, swelling of the tissues, cloture of one side of the nose or both, headache and perhaps fever and sense of illness. Later on the clear watery discharge first observed becomes thick and yellow. There may be soreness of the throat, interference in hearing and even earache.

Sometimes the early symptoms are the only ones developed. They may disappear in a day or two, but usually a week, or even two weeks, will pass before the symptoms leave.

How best to avoid "taking cold," is one of the problems of life. You must search your habits and study your state of health. Almost invariably there is some condition present which is lowering your general resistance to disease. Perhaps you have abitual constipation or intestinal fermentation.

Bad teeth, diseased tonsils, chronic disease of the nasal sinuses—all these are important causative factors. A chronic discharge from the ear is another. In all these troubles the pus-producing germs are afloat and ready to land in any weakened tissue.

It is important to keep the hands away from the face. The soiled fingers may carry infecting germs to the mouth or nose. The hands should be thoroughly washed with an abundance of soap and water before eating or retiring.

When the face is washed, the openings of the nostrils should be cleansed. This simple precaution may help to ward off colds.

The ORACLE

This day we fashion Destiny, our web of Fate we spin —Whittier.

Fixed fate, free will, foreknowledge absolute. —Milton.

Bobby Burns.—You have a mentality that is quite strong and active and should bring you success in commercial life. You are generous and ambitious, but should guard against a real carelessness in the handling of money, with which you are inclined to be very extravagant. You will find that you will get what you want from the world if you use always the velvet glove, rather than the mailed fist. Cleverness, rather than force, should be your watchword and diplomacy your aim. You are very neat and dislike hard and dirty work. You are enthusiastic about anything you undertake, as long as it does not involve too much routine work. Worry, anger and impatience will bring on nervous prostration and stomach trouble in later life, unless you guard against these tendencies. A quick temper also will not assist you overmuch. Your problem is to stop worrying about things that never happen. "Think often of your friends and seldom of your enemies" should be your motto. Follow out your own intuitions, which will usually be found to be correct. Do not think too much of the opinion of others, but strive to have a good opinion of yourself. Learn patience and self poise. You will not be happy unless you are loved. The recipe for securing love is to love. Marry a man born in February, May, August or March. You were born on Sunday. Your colors are tan and buff. The day you ask about, a Saturday, is one on which to be cheerful and generous, accept any responsibility offered you, and play no games of chance.

Lediable.—You are of the type which is apt to have a double nature, and must constantly watch that the higher and better nature is in power, in order to reach your highest success. You will always incline to be nervous and dissatisfied, constantly wishing that you had done the thing you have not done, and wishing to be away somewhere else. You are able to attract birds and animals, and will have success in the cultivation of flowers. By natural inclination, you are fond of good times, pleasure and good cheer, with an inclination to singing and dancing. You will always have to associate yourself with others to achieve success. The lone wolf style of existence is not for you. You are a born whiner and scolder, and will not be happy when married unless you overcome this fault. You are disposed to go to extremes, and should cultivate moderation in all things. Learn patience and silence, keep your hands and feet still, and try to stop finding fault. Always finish one task before beginning another. Take great care of your throat and lungs and accept responsibility whenever offered to you, in this way overcoming partly your restless nature. Marry a girl born in February or November. Do as you like yourself as long as you are sure you are right, and allow others to do the same. You were born on Friday. The day you ask about is past. Your colors are gold and white.

Smiles.—You have a strong, active nature, inclined at times to disregard the rights of others and to domineer. With this natural inclination, your destiny points the way to success by warning that you must not try to control the affairs of others or to stand alone in any important enterprise. If you follow out that natural inclination to be always at the head of things, you will not succeed as well as by co-operation with others. You are inclined to be rather restless and skeptical, and should have a fine feeling for anything that is artistic. You should not confine yourself always to your present line of work. You are capable of better things. You will make an excellent wife and homemaker, although you are not overly attracted to men, even with your rather pretty face. You are too modest and lack self-esteem. Cultivate this and also try to avoid asking unnecessary questions. You talk too much at times. Travel will be good for you. Do not give way to fits of melancholy and control that tendency to weeping which seizes you at times. You will learn self-control by overcoming it. Dress in pale, delicate shades, and give more attention to your dress than you are inclined to do. Marry a man born in September, October or July. You were born on Friday. Your colors are the flame shades, ranging from yellow and orange to misty blue.

Nancy.—You have a generous, affectionate, magnetic nature, with a secretive element that guards your own secrets and those of your friends and a fondness for good clothes. You have a good deal of creative power and tenacity and the circumstances of your present life call for the exercise of unusual sympathy and understanding of those about you. You belong to the class which may achieve much, not in the material order, perhaps, but in the realms of thought and truth-seeking. People will instinctively demand much of you as you go through the world, and will not easily forgive you if you fail to live up to their expectations. You are extremely exacting in money matters and are fond of accumulating money, taking care at the same time to enjoy life as you go along. You have so many good qualities that, unless you watch yourself, you may become selfish and critical, with a habit of picking others to pieces, a very irritating propensity. You like to travel and change of scenery is good for you. You have a strong, healthy physique and the years will not tell on you as they do on other women. Watch carefully what you eat and drink. You were born on Friday. Your colors are blue and cream. Do not dabble too much in speculation in the way you ask about. You are not especially fitted for this kind of thing.

Tut.—You have a receptive nature, peace-loving, even-tempered and kind, without much initiative or efficiency, however. You must always associate yourself carefully with others in any enterprise, and not try to stand alone. You belong to the class which is said to be the strongest and the weakest in the world, with great possibilities, but an inclination to a weak character. You have good taste and good judgment, are fond of happiness and pleasure, and have a high sense of honor. You are inclined to worry too much, a habit which will cause you much unnecessary suffering in life, unless curbed in youth. You are a natural home-builder and will make a very good wife. You are fond of good clothes, and have a liking for dark shades. You are inclined to think a little too much of personal appearance and materialism and indolence will debar you from reaching the highest in life, if you are not careful. Learn to study and learn concentration. Improve opportunity. Remember that perfect honesty and truthfulness are necessary to the characters of great men and women. Marry a man born in October, January or June.

You were born on Friday. The day you ask about is past. Your colors are gold and white.

PILES DISAPPEAR

No Cutting or Salves Needed

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M.D., a specialist set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at McDermid and Jury, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

WHO IS YOUR SKINNY FRIEND, ETHEL?

Tell him that thousands of thin, puny, peaked, scrawny men all over America have improved their physical health and appearance and bless the day they first heard of these wonderful sugar coated tablets so full of weight producing vitamines.

Ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets. McDermid & Jury, Jas. Lynch and Bond's Drug Store and every druggist sells them—60 tablets—60 cents. Any thin man or woman can put on five pounds of healthy flesh in 30 days or your druggist is authorized to refund the purchase price.

One woman put on 15 pounds in six weeks. Children grow robust and strong—feeble old people feel younger in a few weeks.

BAND CONCERT

Campbellford Band Appears With Large Number of Players.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 1. — With the largest number of players ever yet seen at a public performance, the Northumberland Regimental Band, 31 strong, gave another concert in the Regent Theatre Sunday night, Captain Hyland, as usual, allowing them the use of the building free of charge, heating and lighting it at his own expense. William Pearson, the leader, is constantly training new performers, who make their first appearance as players at these concerts and in this way is able to keep the band up to full strength. There are at present 37 members on the complete roster.

The theatre was crowded as usual Sunday night, and many complimentary comments were heard on the excellent programme that was provided. Major J. M. Bygott was chairman and announced the different numbers as follows:

"O Canada."
March—"The Scout."
Overture—"King Lear."
Selection of airs from "Il Trovatore."
Song—"An Old-Fashioned Home in an Old-Fashioned Town," by Mrs. Frank Daly.
March—"Service."
Overture—"Tannhauser."
Valse—"The Druid's Prayer."
Solo—"Absent," by Mrs. Daly.
Selection—"Home Songs."
Hymn—"Abide With Me."
The National Anthem.

There will be more of these concerts given before the end of the winter season.

Badly digested food, acidity of the stomach, and sluggish liver cause headaches. Seigel's Syrup will remove these causes. Any drug store.

THREE-MINUTE JOURNEYS

—Temple Manning—

WHERE "MAN-POWER" RUNS THE TROLLEY CARS.

One of the chief reasons for China's lack of progress in the mechanical and industrial world is the fact that human labor is so extremely cheap. This is due, of course, to the fact that the country is vastly overpopulated. Where there is so abundant supply of a community, the price of it is bound to come down.

With labor to be had so plentifully and cheaply, China has felt no urgent need to invent new machinery to cope with growing industries, nor indeed, to adopt those which other countries invented to meet their needs. They have gone on, to a large extent, using the means that Nature so lavishly bestows upon them.

The result is that there are portions of China where "man power" is still used to run the "trolley cars." There is no stranger sight in the world than to see a car, even one of the small ones in use there, being pushed along the street by the efforts of a perspiring coolie. Very often, of course, the speed of one of these cars is considerably elss than that of walking on one's own feet. But there is a certain distinction and glory in riding in a car.

The tracks are narrow and rather slender, and the cars themselves are light; so that the effect, when a car is filled, is somewhat that of a wheelbarrow with aspirations to diguity.

The fare on these cars is next to nothing, but the services one gets is very little more. The cars have no sides and the seats are simply benches. If the road is rough one feels every jar and a man of impatient temperament would be driven well-nigh mad before he reached his destination. But one can ride a goodly distance for what is the equivalent of a fraction of one cent.

A slight hill often lends a semblance of real speed to a trolley of this sort. For when you shove anything on wheels down an incline it is sure to gain momentum and speed as it goes. In fact, it may even gain enough speed in those moments to make the passengers fidgety and nervous. But their fears are rapidly allayed when they reach level ground again. For there can be no danger of their traveling at a rate greater than that at which a man can walk, or at best, run.

BUSINESS MEN VISITED APSLEY

Representative of Mantle Company Secured Contract for Lighting Church.

IF FUNDS SUFFICE

APSLEY, March 1—Mr. W. Harvey of Peterborough was in the village last week representing the Aladdin Mantle Company and did quite a business. Besides supplying several private houses, he secured orders for the lighting of St. George's Church and the Parish Room and Parsonage. The lamps are giving satisfaction, and are superior to anything yet tried out in the lighting of the church, provided the funds will allow for a sufficient number to be purchased.

A representative of the Peterboro Milk Products Co., piloted by Mr. W. Thompson of Mount Julian is touring the neighborhood securing contracts for next season's cream from the farmers.

Mrs. D. Brown and Mrs. B. Coones have been called to London to the bedside of their uncle, T. J. Bedford, who is very seriously ill.

The worst snowstorm of the season mingled with a heavy rainfall struck Apsley Thursday. Low temperatures have been recorded lately. Sunday morning 30 below; Tuesday morning 25 below, and Wednesday morning 18 below. Thursday's storm will hamper the lumber industry, every available team being engaged in drawing logs of late, while the draw roads were good.

Mysterious Gifts.

During service at St. George's Church on Sunday evening, the Rev. C. Spence referred to two kind deeds he had experienced in the week which he felt should be recorded as well as occasional moral delinquencies which always receive public attention. On Wednesday evening after service at St. Stephen's Church, Chandos, when his horse and cutter were brought from the driving shed, the latter was found to contain a bag of oats from an unknown donor, and on Friday, some one who evidently knew of the depleted condition of the wood pile at the Parsonage, had deposited in the woodshed a load of firewood.

MORE CHANCES IN COUNTRY LIFE

GOOD PROGRAMME

WELCOME, March 1.—A very interesting debate took place on Wednesday evening, in the Wesleyville church, when six of the young people of the neighborhood debated on the subject, "Resolved that the country affords more opportunities for a successful life than the city."

The affirmative was taken by Mr. Roy Cornish, Mr. Austin and Miss Mabel Woolscott.

The negative speakers were Mr. Ernest Bunn, Mr. Wilfrid Bee and Mr. R. Bee.

The affirmative side defined what is meant by successful life. Then took a number of successful Canadians who had been born in the country, Sir Sam Hughes, Sir William Mulock and Jack Miner. Then they dealt with the advantages of country life, physically, socially and morally.

The negative side proved that the majority of the great men of the day while born in the country got their education and training in the city. Their subject was systematically divided. Each speaker taking a different phase of the subject.

The debaters were a surprise to the audience, as only one had ever debated before. Their diction, originality, material and style were all good.

The judges were Mr. Hayden, Mrs. Trip and Mrs. Lewis.

Mr. Hayden in giving the decision of the judges, gave a critical resume of each speaker's address. Then said that while the sides were very well balanced, the judges had declared he affirmative side successful.

During the evening Miss Bernice Brooking gave a recitation, "The Last Hymn," while Mr. George Cole and Mr. G. Bryce sang two duets. The ladies of the congregation served lunch afterwards.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

TUESDAY, MARCH 2.

A day of excellent possibilities is the forecast made from many of the strongly favoring astral operations, an outstanding figure being the Greater Fortune, Jupiter, in trine aspect with Luna. This should prosper the hopes and wishes, but there is a decidedly detrimental aspect in the square of Mars to the moon. There is an omen of the best conditions, being disturbed and nullified by rash, impulsive and quarrelsome conduct. Heart and home affiliations should give happiness and should prosper.

Those whose birthday it is have a year of splendid prospects for fulfilled ambitions, but they may prove their own enemies by flying into rash deeds or rages. Impulse and passion may upset all good auguries. Personal relations should flourish especially if held in amiable control. A child born on this day should be generous, kind and popular despite a tendency to a tumultuous and quarrelsome disposition.

Fear follows crime and is its punishment.—Voltaire.

Campbellford Churches

AT ST. ANDREW'S.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 1. — Rev. A. F. G. Bennette, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church of Norwood, took the services in the Presbyterian Church here on Sunday, Rev. James Grier preaching the anniversary sermons at Norwood. Mr. Bennette's evening discourse was a protest against present-day modernism, the tendency to regard Christ as a mere man instead of what He really was, the Son of God, and to make light of the sacrifice on Calvary. The colleges, he said, are adapting their teachings to these modern ideas because the ministers that they turn out know that if they preach Christ and Him crucified they will fail to draw the crowd. Conditions have changed little, the preacher said, from those which prevailed in the days of the Apostle Paul, when the preaching of the Gospel was a stumbling block to the Jews' and to the Greeks' foolishness.

Church union in this country is yet in its infancy, according to Mr. Bennette. It will, he believes, develop into a powerful organization, but it will be a political rather than a religious body.

THE COAL QUESTION.

The fuel situation soon promises to develop a practical test as to whether the people of Ontario are sincere in their protestations in regard to the desirability of a Canadian fuel supply, making this country more or less independent so far as her coal requirements are concerned.

The shipments of Alberta coal, as a result of a joint agreement among the Governments of Alberta and Ontario and the Federal Government, are to continue, and at the same time anthracite is beginning to arrive from the Pennsylvania coal fields where work has been resumed after the long tie-up.

Will the Ontario consumer turn from the Alberta product that he was very glad to get a short time ago to the imported fuel now that the latter is again on the market?

It is perhaps too soon to give a positive answer to that question, but an advertisement of a local coal dealer, who is taking orders for anthracite with the proviso that the customer must take 50 per cent. Alberta coal with his order, is significant as indicating a trade opinion that the Pennsylvania fuel will again dominate the market when it arrives in sufficient quantities.

In that case what becomes of our Canadian fuel policy?

THE CANTEEN FUNDS.

Peterboro veterans are being asked to indicate what they think should be done with Ontario's share of the canteen funds, and the question should receive the serious consideration of every local ex-service man.

It seems to be the concensus of opinion that to divide the amount among the men who served would not benefit any veteran to a worth-while extent, while it would prevent the adoption of a plan that would be of lasting value.

In this connection several veterans have suggested the advisability of using the canteen funds to provide hospital accommodation for any veteran who finds himself in need of treatment.

That is a plan that has many advantages and may commend itself to a large number of ex-service men.

However, the question is one for the veterans themselves to settle; the money represents the profits of sales made to the men of the C.E.F., and it is only fair that they should be asked to show how they want the surplus distributed.

It would be impudence for any one else to attempt to interfere with the decision of the men who fought, and the Examiner merely brings forward the hospital idea because it originated with veterans of the war and because it may appeal to their comrades as worthy of their consideration.

THE INCOME TAX.

The Progressive leader is a fervent admirer of the income tax and opposed to any suggestion that the Canadian taxpayer should be relieved of some of the burden of this levy.

The United States administration, however, does not share Mr. Forke's love for this form of taxation, and the latest cut just signed by President Coolidge will cause Canadians who have to pay income tax to sigh with envy as they compare the rates in the two countries.

By this reduction several millions of people who had to pay income tax last year are relieved altogether of this tax, the exemptions having been considerably increased.

The slash is all the more notable because of the fact that the United States income levy had been already reduced to much below the Canadian level.

During the last election campaign Hon. J. A. Robb intimated that an income tax reduction might be possible this year.

Nothing more has been heard of this matter, although Mr. Robb's announcement drew from the Progressive leader a very warm expression of admiration for the income tax.

With the political situation as it is at present and the Government dependent upon Progressive support, Mr. Robb is not likely to insist upon a policy against which Mr. Forke has so strongly expressed himself, but the drastic cut across the line will be reflected in a fresh and more vigorous demand from the Canadian taxpayer for relief.

BIG BUSINESS.

Handling the affairs of a city the size of Peterboro is getting to be a big business, as will be seen from the fact that the City Council will learn at Wednesday's meeting that something in the neighborhood of $277,000 will be required to finance the city's activities for a year.

That is a sizable sum to be expended, and the magnitude of the amount should express itself upon the ratepayers as a very important reason why efforts should be made each year to secure the services of citizens who are qualified to deal with important questions in a businesslike way.

No one can afford to be indifferent when such a large amount of money is concerned, and yet the fact remains that the average citizen is much less interested in the business of nominating and electing suitable candidates as he is in the success of the city's hockey team or some other question of like importance from a civic viewpoint.

When the estimates are printed the Examiner recommends that the ratepayers scan them carefully to impress upon themselves the fact that their representatives in Council have a big task on their hands—a task to which it is both unwise and unfair to ask those who are not capable of handling such matters.

The merit that a candidate is what is ... is not sufficient endorsation ... responsibility of spending ...

OUR OPPORTUNITY.

Ontario raisers grew some 20,000,000 pounds of tobacco last year, and the bulk of it brought from 22 to 45 cents a pound, says the Border Cities Star. That runs into money—between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000—much of which went to the farmers of Essex County.

But we can do much better, Hon. John S. Martin, Provincial Minister of Agriculture, says. He sees a market for Ontario tobacco far greater than the one at present enjoyed. There is a little hitch, however, as to completely capturing that market—a hitch that our farmers can easily and comfortably overcome. That hitch is that the big market in Britain for the kinds of tobacco we can grow here depends largely on quality. And growers—rather naturally—seeking to make the most money they can from their crop, are apt to concentrate on quantity.

Canadian tobacco enjoys a preference in the British market of two shillings out of the eight shillings a pound which is levied on the weed from the United States, where the tobaccos that John Bull prefers to use in his pipe have been raised for years. Even with this preference, Canada is not going to sell a great deal of tobacco in Britain unless the quality comes up to, or rather exceeds, that of the American leaf.

Such is Ontario's problem. Our farmers, if they are willing to concentrate on quality, can capture one of the biggest tobacco markets in the world. They have been given a good start by the preference tariff, and it is up to them to do the rest—by raising the fine quality of leaf to which soil and climate in this Province are adapted.

There is no doubt as to the possibilities of the tobacco raising industry in Ontario. The question has been exhaustively gone into and the verdict of the experts from the Ontario Agricultural College, Professors A. L. Fitch, B. Harcourt and R. D. Colquette, is that the field is boundless. But they lay stress on quality. And so does Mr. Martin. And so should our growers. They must not think they have a gold mine, with nuggets obtainable for indifferent work. Ontario's opportunity in tobacco is nothing of the sort. It will depend on hard work and constant striving after quality.

BENEFITS OF THE COAL STRIKE.

Who settled the coal strike? Every windy busybody who managed to get his name into print, from Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania to the last go-between in the final desperate settlement, claims the credit. The strike was won by the consumer of anthracite, and it is likely to stay settled, little as the conditions published point to permanent peace between the miners and the operators. There have been six strikes in twenty-four years and three of them since the war. The old conditions of marketing a monopoly product were successfully retained and, as the French say, the more you changed them the more they remained the same thing. It almost seemed as if the consumer were hypnotized. The smoke-consuming ordinances of New York and the New England cities gave an enormous advantage to anthracite, which was also more accessible than any form of bituminous coal. It is hard to teach an old dog new tricks, and new apartment houses were not constructed to burn oil; while a certain public indolence, which is the special trust and reliance of monopoly, had prevented the consumer from working out smoke consumption in a practical fashion.

But the strike has changed all that. It is true that the police have not been vigilant in the enforcement of city ordinances. But users of soft coal have themselves given thought to getting out of the fuel that enormous percentage which ordinarily goes up the chimney, coming down in soot, to the housekeeper's dismay. The strike will stay settled because the inducement to burn substitutes for anthracite has been driven into the consumer in such a way that a return to old conditions is impossible. Not only every new apartment house or hotel will be built with a view to the consumption of cheap fuel; there will be a similar installation everywhere, among those consumers who had supposed that anthracite was the only possible fuel, until the strike taught them differently.

What, then, is the five-year agreement, to maintain present wages, worth? Hardly the paper on which it is written. Anthracite can command only that part of the market in which it is demonstrably the most economical fuel. Those who do not care to encounter the expense of new furnaces will continue to use it. The others will use it also, but only at a reduced price, which must necessarily make the present scale of profits and wages a thing of the past. What has been arrived at is a new Jacksonville agreement. One of its results seems likely to be the disintegration of the supposedly air-tight union, exactly as an impossible scale of wages put the unionized bituminous mines out of business.—Barron's.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The city fathers are evidently not superstitious. They have decided to have a group photograph taken this early in the year.

The announcement from Hon. Geo. S. Henry that considerable work is to be done on the Peterboro-Port Hope road next summer means that by 1927 it will be a comfortable road over which to drive. At least that is a more optimistic viewpoint that to say that it means plenty of detouring in 1926.

Fellowship of Prayer

MONDAY.

The Way of Peace.

Read John 6:16-21. Text: 6:20. It is I; be not afraid.

Meditation—Darkness falls upon us. A storm of adversity and injustice overwhelms us. Difficulty like a great wind drives us back. The loss of our goods or of our reputation seems to us irreparable. We are sore afraid. But in that very storm the Master comes to us and to bless. "Before I was afflicted I went astray." "Whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth." As soon as we see that He is behind the grim circumstances we are at last unafraid and free.

"Away despair my gracious Lord doth hear,
Though winds and waves assault keel, He
He doth preserve it. He doth steer,
Ev'n when the boat seems most to reel.
Storms are the triumph of His art:
Well may He close His eyes, but not His heart."

Prayer: O God, who has encompassed us with so much that is dark and perplexing.....leave us not to our own devices, nor even when we pray Thee to; nor suffer us for any care to Thee or for any pain to us to walk our own unheeding way. Plant thorns about our feet, touch our hearts with fear, give us no rest apart from Thee, lest we lose our way and miss the happy gate. Amen.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

ANGER AND RAGE.

Nothing is improved by anger, unless it be the arch of a cat's back. A man with his back up is spoiling his figure! People look none the handsomer for being red in the face. It takes a great deal out of a man to get into a towering rage; it is almost as unhealthy as having a fit, and time has been when men have actually choked themselves with passion, and died on the spot. Whatever wrong I suffer, it can not do me half as much hurt as being angry about it; for passion shortens life and poisons peace.—Spurgeon.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Feb. 28 (Canadian Press).—A feature of the local cash grain market was the increased demand that developed late Friday and Saturday, and sales of over 100 000 bushels of Canadian Western grades at c.i.f. prices Bay Ports and for all-rail shipment from Fort William. The tone of the spot market for car lots was firmer, but prices were unchanged.

The condition of the market for spring wheat flour was unchanged.

A much stronger feeling prevailed in the local butter situation on Saturday, and another advance of 3-4c to 1c per pound was recorded for Canadian pasteurized grades, which makes a net rise of 1 1-2c per pound for the week from the lowest level. Sales of Townships No. 1 pasteurized creamery butter were made at 44 1-2 to 44 3-4c per pound, and Canadian winter made No. 1 pasteurized at 43c per pound. Receipts on Saturday were 3,645 packages.

The condition of the market for cheese was unchanged. Receipts were 578 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 27 (Canadian Press).—Wheat rallied to a material extent today from recent severe setbacks in price. Predictions that unofficial estimates of domestic farm reserve supplies of wheat will be small, led to a new buying movement, and there were also reports of dust storms damaging Nebraska winter wheat. Closing quotations on wheat were firm, 1 3-4 to 2 1-8c net higher, May (new) $1.65 1-2 to $1.65 5-8, and July $1.44 1-4 to $1.44 3-8.

With corn 5-8 to 1c up; oats showing 1-4 to 3-8c gain, and provisions varying from unchanged figures to a rise of 12 to 15 cents.

Upturns in wheat values started as soon as business began. A majority of traders had apparently acquired a belief that private reports Monday on farm reserves would average 87 000,000 bushels, whereas last years holdings were 112,000,000 bushels and the average in recent years has been aronnd 140,000,000 bushels. In this connection, it was pointed out also that the total predicted would be close to the smallest in many years, 83,000,000 bushels for 1895. Under such circumstances, commission houses with foreign and eastern connections became active buyers, and there was also much evening-up of accounts for miscellaneous speculators who have been on the selling side.

Your Children
May be well fed - yet not sufficiently nourished

Many children, notwithstanding the fact that they eat heartily of modern foods, still are frail and under-developed, in fact are literally starving for lack of the elements which promote health and build up the body.

The reason is simple. They are not getting enough of the health-giving, body-building, disease-resisting vitamins so necessary to normal life. Such vitamins are abundant in good cod-liver oil.

Every lot of Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil has been especially tested for both Vitamin A and Vitamin D.

A single pint of Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil is richer in Vitamin A than 1,200 pints of grade A whole milk, than 400 pints of heavy cream, than 100 lbs. of the best creamery butter—and milk products, next to good cod-liver oil, are, it is admitted, the richest sources of this vitamin.

Tests show that it is exceedingly rich also in Vitamin D, the element which prevents and cures rickets and builds strong, straight bones and sound, well-formed teeth.

The vitamin content of ordinary cod-liver oil may soon be lost through exposure of the oil to air during its preparation and handling. But Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil is prepared by an exclusive anærobic process which fully preserves the vitamins and at the same time renders the oil more palatable. When kept on ice and taken cold Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil is practically tasteless.

LINDSAY DEPUTATION VISITS CINCINNATI FOR LUMBER MILL

MAY BE HALIBURTON

FENELON FALLS, March 1. — The introduction of a bill in the Legislature by Mr. J. R. Mark, M.P., North Victoria, entitled an act to incorporate the Haliburton, Whitney and Mattawa Railway, is the result of negotiations with the Schroeder lumbering interests of the United States, with headquarters at Cincinnati.

This is the big lumbering firm which Lindsay hopes will locate its plant in that town. While the press as well as the municipal authorities are preserving silence relative to the scheme, the Scugog Town is working hard to locate the plum. It is stated that the town has secured an option on the Twohey farm, which is situated on the Haliburton branch of the C.N.R. on the northern boundary of the town, and which contains a little over 100 acres. It is also announced that a deputation from Lindsay is in Cincinnati in order to press Lindsay's case before the Schroeder interests.

It is unofficially stated that the mill will be located in Lindsay or Haliburton, but that nothing definite will be announced until the purchase of some nine townships in the north from English Land Company by the Schroeder interests is consummated. The C.N.R., it is understood, would like to see the company build their plant in Haliburton.

The people of Haliburton believe that the mill will be erected in the north, and in support of their belief point to the desire on the part of the Schroeder interests to have the railway referred to constructed.

PREMIER OF BOYS' PARLIAMENT ENTERTAINED IN CAMPBELLFORD

NO TOASTS DRUNK

Leaders Would Have Youths Forget the Existence of the Practise.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 1. — Campbellford had the honor Friday night of entertaining a Premier, the head of the Boys' Parliament of Ontario the young man who holds that position this year being Roland L. Freidenburg, whose home is Perth and whom made the long trip to this town in order to take part in the Father and Son Banquet which was held in St. John's United Church. The Premier was given a most cordial reception, the large audience coming to its feet when he entered the room and greeting him with three rousing cheers and a tiger. He was given, too, as attentive a hearing when he made his address as any Provincial or Federal Prime Minister could ask for, and what he had to say caused no division of opinion among his hearers.

It is over three years since such a function was held in Campbellford and this one was an interdenominational affair, every minister in town with a single exception, being present.

Rev. C. D. Daniel of the Seymour Circuit was the chairman, and J. Maclean Haig, member for East Northumberland in the Boys' Parliament, was secretary of the executive committee that made the arrangements for the banquet. The latter acted as chairman in a manner that showed that he has acquired knowledge of parliamentary procedure during his one session at Toronto and has also improved as a public speaker. The Premier complimented the chairman, saying that he was one of the best members of the Parliament, and adding that the constituency had every reason to be proud of its representative.

There was a distinguished gathering at the speaker's table, including Major Belford, M.L.A.; Alex. Hume former warden of the United Counties; the Mayor of the town; Reeve Davidson, and the local clergymen. There were two feature of the affair that met with popular favor. The speakers with the exception of the guest of the evening, were limited to five minutes each, and every one of them observed the rule. No toasts were drunk with lukewarm coffee or with cold water or any other beverage either to individuals or institutions. The committee of arrangement decided that toast drinking is an anachronism in a Province that has been under prohibition for nearly ten years and that the rising generation should be encouraged to forget that such a convivial custom ever prevailed. Even Royalty escaped the empty compliment of having a liquid petition offered up for the preservation of its health.

The Premier's Address.

Premier Freidenburg is a fluent and pleasing speakr, with all the ease of a veteran orator on the platform. He is an optimist who believes that this is the golden age of the world and that more progress has been made during the last quarter of a century than in any period of the same length in its history. He recognizes the fact that there are still greater heights to be attained and that the rising generation have a big task to perform but does not say as so many older speakers do, that everything under the sun has been going wrong and that it is up to the coming generation to restore order. The place that young men and women are taking in the affairs of the universe, he says, is today more important than it ever was.

It is not the object of the Boys' Parliament to train politicians or to provide the members with a good time. The real aim is to teach the boys to think in terms of the problems of the day and to so train them that they may be able to lead Christian lives.

To illustrate his argument, the speaker told of the co-operation that was required in a game of football when, if the team was to win, every player had to forget self and work with his companions for victory. The lessons that boys learn on the athletic fields at high school should be applied to the affairs of later life. If anything is to be accomplished for the general good, all must work together.

Good Feeling Prevailed

Leslie Clegg, on behalf of the boys, paid his respects to the fathers present, and Mayor Kingston replied for the latter. Reeve Davidson was chosen for the chivalrous role of thanking the ladies who had provided the banquet and this compliment was gracefully acknowledged by Mrs. Davidson, who is president of the Ladies' Aid, the hostesses of the evening. Another of the youthful speakers was S. Carr, who showered felicitations upon the older men in the audience.

W. J. Park of Hoard, advised the boys to be guided by the counsel of their fathers if they wished to grow up into useful citizens. Revs. Edmund D. Ford, W. S. Elliott and C. D. Daniel made five minute addresses, and another speaker was Ivan Groh of the High School staff, who since coming to town has taken an active interest in the work among the boys both in and out of the school.

Major Belford Speaks.

It remained for Major Belford to deal with a phase of filial relationship that the other speakers had touched upon, when he spoke a good word for the mothers, advising the boys to be guided by maternal advice when they met with problems they and their fathers were unable to solve. If they did this, the speaker would undertake to guarantee that they would never go far astray.

Rev. C. D. Daniel led in the sing song, and a number of the stunts of the C.S.E.T. varied the proceedings and afforded the audience welcome relaxation. E. C. Dolman played the accompaniments for the singing in which old and young heartily took part.

"There never were such dads and never such boys as those in Campbellford," was the sentiment that pervaded the entire proceedings.

Sent Their Regrets

M. E. Maybee, M.P., who was advertised as one of the speakers, sent a telegram to say that his duties at Ottawa made it impossible for him to attend. Gordon Lapp of Brighton, who a year ago was Premier of the Boys' Parliament, also found at the last minute that he could not attend.

VALENTINO THROWN FROM AUTOMOBILE

Film Star and Two Others Escape Death.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Cal., March 1.—Rudolph Valentino, film actor, had a miraculous escape from a serious injury and possible death Friday night when his automobile was wrecked and its occupants hurled out after the car had struck a railroad guide post while travelling at a high rate of speed.

Valentino, accompanied by a director and a chauffeur, was driving to Hollywood. He was unable to negotiate a sharp turn near Santa Margarita, and the car whirled around several times and crashed into the guide post.

The three occupants were thrown out but none was injured. The actor left for Hollywood by bus 2 hours later, none the worse for his experience.

Happy Party From Peterborough Visits Pine Grove Farm, Smith.

Pine Grove Farm, Smith Township, the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Holmes, was the destination of a happy party of about thirty young people from Peterborough on Friday evening. After an enjoyable sleigh ride the scene of festivities was reached and the evening spent in dancing and games. Refreshments were served and after singing "Auld Lang Syne" and "For they are jolly good fellows," the happy party departed for the city, which was reached in the early hours of Saturday morning.

SHOT GIRL WHO REJECTED HIM

Both Were Employees of New York Bank — Crazed By Jealousy.

MAN TO RECOVER.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Walter B. Mayer, the young bank clerk who killed Miss Shirley McIntyre Friday evening and tried to end his own life, turned remorseful Saturday. While he was repenting the Brooklyn authorities began preparation to indict him for murder.

The clerk and Miss McIntyre, a stenographer, were fellow-workers in the Chase National Bank. Mayer was in love with the girl, but she did not reciprocate. Mayer, in a rage, shot her twice at her home, 100 Lefferts Place, Brooklyn. He then fired two bullets into his side.

When he came into the hands of the police he said that Miss McIntyre had passed him by in favor of others more cultivated and with more money. He incorporated this and the charge that the "White Lights" had turned her head in letters he left for delivery.

Recalls Her Statement.

Saturday, however, he took back his reflections upon the girl. Her friends and business associates bitterly denounced the attacks on her. Mayer did not learn of his crime until Saturday morning when he was told of the girl's death in Jewish Memorial Hospital. An operation in the hospital has assured Mayer's recovery.

"I must have gone insane with jealous rage when I shot her," he said, as he moaned and buried his face in the pollows. "I'm so sorry—oh, I'm so sorry—why did I do it? What have a done? What have I done? Oh, I wish I were dead.

"It is not true that she liked the bright lights on Broadway. She was a good girl, and I loved her truly. I knew her a long time. During the last month I kept pleading with her to marry me and she refused. Finally, I despaired. I had thought before that she encouraged me, and when she flatly refused to marry me, I guess I went insane with jealous rage. I must have gone off my head when I shot her."

"The tragedy involving two highly regarded employees of the Chase National Bank came to us as a great surprise.

"Shirley W. McIntyre, aged 25, entered the employ of the bank about one and a half years ago, holding a position in the credit department as a typist. She came well recommended and had many close friends in the department and thoughout the bank. The bank is very careful in selecting its employees, and, while Miss McIntyre was of a lively disposition, her deportment and character as far as we know were entirely above reproach.

"Walter B. Mayer, aged 22, came into the employ of the bank approximately three years ago. He also was employed in the credit department as an investigator and was well rated by the head of the department. He came to us well recommended, a quiet, hard-working young man and well regarded by his associates."

ONTARIO FREES LAST TOLL ROAD

Plank Road Between Sarnia and Petrolia in County System.

HISTORIC HIGHWAY

SARNIA, March 1.—(Canadian Press).—At six o'clock Saturday night the bugle "cease fire" was sounded at the Old Toll houses on the Plank Road and yesterday motorists, and all who pass this point, have done so without the hand of the tax gatherer being held out for the usual tithe. Today this historic road passed into the county road system. The weather beaten toll houses, familiar landmarks, for many years to those who travelled east to Petrolia and other points will be removed from their present sites and the road widened out at these points to conform with the rest of the highway.

The Plank road, and probably it will continue to be known by this name, connects Sarnia with Petrolia, Oil Springs and Florence. A return trip by automobile, buggy or any kind of conveyance cost up to 18 cents. It is said to be the last toll road in Ontario.

Lass of 16 Was Aide of Kenneth McIntosh, 17, in Robbery.

OTHERS INVOLVED.

Three Fifteen Year Old Boys Also Arrested For Share in Burglaries.

TORONTO, March 1 (Canadian Press).—While not an out-and-out desperado, a 16-year-old girl played a prominent part in at least one alleged robbery in the east end of the city. The girl is said to have acted the part of "look out" for Kenneth McIntosh, aged 17, when McIntosh, it is charged, burglarized the home of Alex. Mitchell on February 26 last. McIntosh is said to have been implicated in five other robberies in which he had as his confederates three 15-year-old boys. The trio of boys, McIntosh and the girl were taken into custody over the week-end on charges of shop-breaking.

A grand Oriental Night was held in the Oddfellows' Temple on Friday, February 26th, when Cyzicus Sanctorum, No. 24 Ancient Mystic Order of Samaritans entertained over three hundred members and was a huge success.

About sixty couple played progressive euchre for which six prizes were given. The ladies' first prize was won by Mrs. F. Miller; second by Mrs. A. Whitehouse, and the third by Mrs. L. A. Campbell. The gentleman's first prize was won by Mr. Braden Elliot, second by Mr. F. C. Rooke, and the third by Mr. L. R. MacDonald.

At the conclusion of the euchre and the first part of the dance programme, the "Moon Feast," prepared by a committee of ladies, was served by the officers.

The "We Never Sleep" dance, the feature of the evening followed. The beautiful lighting effect arranged by Sheik C. C. Mowry, was shown to great advantage.

Dancing was carried on until 1.30.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL

"For this is the will of God, your sanctification," was the text taken from the First Epistle to the Thessalonians, fourth chapter, first to seventh verses, which formed the basis of the sermons preached at the morning Masses yesterday at St. Peter's Cathedral, by His Lordship Bishop O'Brien.

"What a wonderful thing is salvation," said the reverend speaker. "Is it not worth while making any sacrifice to obtain the prize and the glory of heaven? In the Lenten season, we should examine ourselves as to our own convictions regarding the salvation of our souls. Do we regard the saving of our soul as the greatest business in life? This should be not only a time of prayer and mortification, but of deep, religious thought. We should examine our consciences to see that we are not only avoiding sin, but building up in our souls the foundations of our eternal salvation. We must dig down and get away from every deliberate venial sin, and fortify ourselves by daily prayers, by attendance at the morning Masses and by daily communion, if possible, and by the practice of the necessary virtues of life, not only of faith, hope and charity, but of kindness, patience, meekness, truthfulness, justice and charity toward our neighbors.

"What is our general demeanor toward the things of God? Are we content with just keeping out of grievous mortal sin? Should we not try to become nearer and dearer to Almighty God by having a real passion for love of God and for the sanctification of our souls? Let us always puts the success of worldly matters second, instead of first, in our thoughts, an place the salvation of our souls above everything else."

His Lordship went on to admonish his hearers to trutlsfulness, in our thoughts, and place the salvation of our souls above everything else."

His Lordship went on to admonish his hearers to truthfulness, in small as well as in large matters, to honesty in carrying out the duties of life towards employers, so as not to merit the reproach of being the first to leave at night and the last to arrive in the morning. "And we cannot give of our best to those who employ us if we have spent half of the night before at the dance."

"Are we going to be slaves to what the world calls style, and take as our model the ideas of some profligate in Paris, or London, or New York, rather than the ideal of the Blessed Mother of God. The Catholic who follows out the inspirations of the world is not far from damnation, for we cannot serve God and Mammon at the same time. If we try to do so, we shall end by making an utter mess of it, and become the slaves of our own eccentricities and whims and of the desires of the world."

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN

(Contributed.)

A number of conceptions more or less generally held about conditions in church life and work are being challenged these days in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, with every indication of success. The theory that people demand short sermons and won't attend churches to hear long ones is being contraverted by the fact that Rev. William Allan frequently speaks from one-half to three-quarters of an hour. One Sunday evening recently it was a few minutes after nine o'clock when the hug congregation was filing out of the church, yet no one was complaining of the length of the sermon. That evening was something of an exception, but it is interesting to note it did not affect the attendance the following Sunday, as last evening's service was attended by one of the largest congregations of the winter.

It is being widely stated that the old Gospel message, that our fathers and mothers were accustomed to hearing, has lost its appeal in these modern days, and that people want something more up-to-date along the lines of modernism and social service. Nothing but the old Gospel message, that centres around Redemption through the shed blood of Christ, is being taught in St. Paul's Church and yet the attendance is constantly increasing and people are attending from long distances and in all conditions of weather to hear this story told.

The interest in the mid-week service has become so slack in many congregations that it is proving a good deal of a struggle to keep the service going and to make them any real force in the life of the church. The attendance at the midweek service in St. Paul's Church, at which the sole attraction is plain Bible teaching on practical problems of everyday life, is steadily growing, and two weeks ago created a record when over 300 were present. The pastor, Rev. William Allan, does not take the credit to himself, but says he believes the hearts of the people are no different today than at any other time in the past, and that they are hungry for the Word of Life. He believes also that God has promised to honor that Word wherever it is faithfully proclaimed.

Last evening's address was the concluding one in the series of five which Rev. Mr. Allan has been preaching about the Jews. It centred around the topic "A Jew at the head of the world's greatest civilization." The mystery of the Burning Bush, which was revealed to Moses, is similar to the mystery of the Jews. For centuries they have passed through the fires of affliction and yet today are more numerous than ever before in the world's history, although scattered to all the quarters of the earth. There is only one explanation: That is that God has been preserving them for His purposes which will be revealed in due time. One of His announcements concerning them is that they are to be regathered to the Holy Land, something which is even now taking place. Those who say that Palestine is not large enough to contain the Jews have not acquainted themselves with God's covenant with Abraham, which distinctly states that the land promised to the Jews is not Palestine alone but the whole of Asia Minor, which is capable of sustaining a population of 150,000,000 people.

Rev. Mr. Allan quoted a number of passages on the New Testament to show that the prophecies of both the Old and New Testaments agreed in predicting a time of wonderful blessings to the world when God's people have once more been regathered in their own land. People who claim that civilization has been a success are partly right but largely wrong. In material ways the world in many respects has improved, but mankind at heart is no different today than at any other time in the past. The world war proved this and the heads of our police departments, and others in a position to know, confirm it. God is working out his purposes as revealed in His Word, and those who accept the revelation there given will find it to be true.

NEW BOND ISSUE AVAILABLE SOON

Strong Canadian Syndicate Will Market Attractive List.

TAKEN QUICKLY

The new Dominion of Canada $45,000,000 issue of 4 1-2 per cent bonds, due February 1, 1946, is being offered at once by a strong Canadian syndicate composed of The Bank of Montreal, The Royal Bank of Canada, The Canadian Bank of Commerce, Wood, Gundy & Company, Limited, Dominion Securities Corporation, Limited, A. E. Ames & Company, Limited, and National City Company, Limited. The new issue is considered to be attractive, being offered at 97 and interest, yielding an interest return of 4.73 per cent.

The details of the bonds are similar to previous Victory Loan and Refunding Loan issues, in that interest is payable at any branch in Canada of any chartered bank. It is understood that the present financing completes the Dominion Government's requirements for the current year.

In view of the pronounced shortage of Government and Municipal bonds, due to the smaller volume of financing in 1926, it is expected that the present offering will be quickly taken up by investors. It will be recalled that in the case of the Dominion Loan last September, orders from the larger buyers exceeded the amount of the issue and it was found necessary to scale down these large applications in order that bonds might be retained to meet the private investor demand. It is understood that the syndicate offering the bonds will again follow the policy of distributing them as widely as possible by giving small investors throughout the country a full opportunity to participate. In order that bonds will be available, it is expected that it will again be necessary to allot larger buyers a less amount than applied for.

The proceeds of the issue are to be used for refunding purposes and will be applied toward retiring $70,000,000 of short term Notes, and $25,000,000 of Bonds, maturing April 1. Both issues were payable in United States funds and the new issue is another step toward meeting the financial requirements of the Government by borrowing at home rather than abroad. In the present case, the interest coupons on the new bonds will be payable only in Canada, whereas the Notes and Bonds being refunded were payable in United States funds.

The bonds run for a longer term than any other direct Dominion bond available in the market. Dealers are urging clients to forward applications as quickly as possible, in order to ensure fulfillment of orders.

RELIGIOUS TROUBLE STARTS IN FRANCE

Meeting Held in Brittany, at Which Hard Words Were Exchanged.

PARIS, March 1 (United Press). —Religious troubles such as caused street fighting and much ill-feeling last year, are again coming to the surface. Catholics and anti-clericals are awaiting the effect of two meetings in the heart of Brittany on Sunday, during which words of defiance were exchanged between the respective leaders. General De Castelnau, the pugnatious Catholic layman, presided over one meeting. The anti-clericals adopted a resolution urging free-thinkers to band themselves together against the "triple coalition of the clergy, reactionary militarists and big employers."

WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN BURNING HOUSE

DESERONTO, Mar. 1 (Canadian Press) — When firemen broke into the home of Mrs. Hattie Harrison in the west end of this town at 2 o'clock this morning, when the kitchen of her two story frame structure was found to be afire, they found the body of Mrs. Harrison under the table. The body was fully dressed. It is believed that death was due to the excitement caused by finding her home on fire or to the smoke which filled the room.

Standard Mining Exchange Had a Moderate Increase

TORONTO March 1 (Canadian Press).—A firm tone was shown on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning, though trading was of only moderate volume, and there were weak spots. McIntyre was one of these, losing 15 at 25.75. Kirkland Lake gained four at 117 and Vipond five at 175, while Premier advanced 15 at 270, and there were numerous small advances. In the silvers, Mining Corporation gained four at 417 and Capitol 1 1-2 at 47.

British Columbia Fishing And Brazilian Takes Lead

TORONTO, Mar. 1 (Canadian Press)—General firmness characterized this morning's session of the Toronto Stock Exchange, though few gains were of any proportion. British Columbia Fishing and Brazilian were the leaders, but the turnover in these was not exceptional, trading being scattered over a wide list. Fishing advanced two points at 75 and Brazilian a quarter at 93 1-2. Half point gains were made by F. N. Burt at 62 and Brompton at 33 1-2. C.P.R. was marked two and a half points lower at 153 1-2. Dome, leader of the mines, advanced 25 at 1900. Noranda was sold down 24 to 1476, but Kirkland Lake advanced 4 1-2 at 116 1-2. The oils were slightly easier.

Wheat Takes Sudden Drop Other Farm Produce Firmer

CHICAGO, March 1 (Canadian Press).—Wheat prices turned downward today after a wavering start. An unexpected decline in quotations at Liverpool had a depressing effect, as did the fact that the first unofficial private estimate today of domestic farm reserve of wheat was larger than looked for. Opening 1-4 cent off to 3-8 cent up, May 1.65 1-2 to 1.66, and July 1.44 to 1.44 1-2, was followed by material setbacks.

Corn and oats sagged with wheat. Besides it was unofficially estimated that the farm reserve percentage of present crop of corn is the largest with one exception since 1907. After opening at 1-2c decline to 1-8c advance, May 79 7-8 to 80 1-8, corn underwent a decided drop.

Oats started unchanged to 1-8c off, May 41 7-8, and later continued easy.

In line with hogs, provisions were firmer.

Collapse of Several Pools Frightens Stock Investors

NEW YORK, March 1 (Canadian Press). — Stock prices experienced another violent reaction in today's market. The recent collapse of several supposedly powerful pools and the continuation of bear attacks against issues which are still believed to be selling out of line with their current yield and prospective earning power, brought a forth large volume of liquidation by frightening investors which carried quoted values down from one to nearly 20 points in a long list of issues.

Selling centered on the merchandizing, food, shipping, chemical and motion picture shares.

MORE BUILDING THAN LAST YEAR

MacLean's Report Shows Increase of Three Million in February.

OVER $13,000,000.

TORONTO, Mar. 1 (Canadian Press) — Building construction throughout Canada during February amounted to $13,477,000 compared with $11,047,000 in February of last year, according to MacLean's building reports. It is pointed out that records to date indicate that earlier predictions that 1926 would be a good building year are being substantiated inasmuch as the building total for the past two months has been 25 per cent greater than for the same period last year.

DEATH SUSPICIOUS.

Attending Physician Refuses To Permit Burial.

PORT ARTHUR, Mar. 1. Canadian Press. — James H. Harney, a merchant in the Current River section, died suddenly on Saturday night and because of suspicious circumstances, the attending physician refused to issue a burial permit.

Dr. Laurie, the coroner, has ordered an inquest for to-night. The police, it is reported, found a number of white tablets in a small bottle.

DUNNING SWORN IN.

OTTAWA, March 1.—(Canadian Press.)—Hon. C. A. Dunning was sworn in as Minister of Railways and Canals this morning at Government House. This afternoon he will attend his first meeting of the cabinet and to-night he will leave on his return journey to Regina. Mr. Dunning arrived in the capital at 6 o'clock this morning.

STEAMER BURNED.

HAMILTON, March 1 (Canadian Press).—The Canada Steamship Lines steamer White Star, was damaged by fire to the extent of about $25 000 during the night.

It is believed that addicts of wood alcohol had made a resort of the boat and caused the blaze.

LIFE UNCERTAIN FOR JACK DWYER

Boy Rescued From Dummer Is Still in Precarious Condition.

Life is still an uncertain business with 12-year-old Jack Dwyer, who with his brother and sister, was plucked from a home of ingratitude by Provincial Constable Norman F. Maker and John Edgar. According to the attending physician, Jack had taken a downward trend, while George was feeling better and gradually responding to solicitous nursing.

If Jack is to survive, he has a hard fight before him. It is not easy to build up flesh that has been worn away by the ravages of hunger and wracking toil; it is not easy to restore the desire for life in a spirit which is crushed by the lack of love and sympathy. Driven as they were by harsh words and brutal blows to labors which must have seemed Herculean to the tender, inadequate muscles, the two boys again face a tremendous battle but withall a battle which will be tempered with kindnesses. They may win out. If it is granted that the attention of nurses and the skill of doctors can bring them back to health, it should be a long day before they are again called upon to face such a period of hardship as that which they must have endured.

Nellie—big sister—is reported as progressing favorably. It is said that within a few weeks she will have regained considerable strength. Adequate clothing and nourishing food can perform miracles of rehabilitation, and those essentials will not be lacking.

Should the little children make complete bodily recovery there will still be memories—thoughts of painful days and sleepless nights—days spent crouching under the lash of tongue and toil—nights of huddled misery and fears increasing with the coming of dawn. How soon can they forget those things?

There is something coming to those children. They have been robbed of many childhood, carefree days—their birthright for infancy. There must be some way in which that intangible loss might be repaired and the broken cup of sorrow sealed by loving kindness. But, of course, the first consideration is that they might be restored to health, for sickness encourages misery of its own. Hospital attendants are doing their best to build up the bodies of the little fellows. Their spirits will be doctored later.

AT KEENE.

KEENE, March 1.— Prices for produce in Keene stores on Saturday were as follows:

Eggs, 36 cents a dozen.
Butter, 40 cents a pound.
Honey, 15 cents a pound.
Hogs, $14.50 a hundred pounds.
Wood—Green hardwood $9.50 a cord; dry hardwood, $11 a cord.
Veal calves, 8 to 8 1-2 cents a pound.

AT BURNBRAE.

BURNBRAE, March 1. — Hog prices took a bad slump last week, and although local buyers are offering 13 cents a pound the market only warrants 12 3-4 cents. Heavy shipments at 14 cents a pound caused the drop. Dairy cattle continue in good demand at around $80 a head for choice stuff.

Few potatoes are being put on the market, but a few sales at prices from $2.50 to $3.00 a bag are reported. Butter prices are steady but a drop is expected as the flow increases. Eggs remain firm at 31c. a dozen. Honey is selling at 15 cents a pound.

AT TRENT RIVER

TRENT RIVER, Mar. 1—Potatoes, $3.00 a bag; Apples, 50 cents a peck; Butter, 40 cents; Eggs, 30 and 35 cents; Lard, 25 cents.

FOR WINTER FAIR.

Chatham To Continue Efforts For Establishment.

CHATHAM, Ont., March 1. — (Canadian Press.)—The Peninsula Winter Fair Association directors were empowered to continue their efforts to establish a permanent winter fair at Chatham at a largely attended annual meeting of the association held here Saturday afternoon.

The annual meeting of the organization has always been held in March, but owing to the present situation as the result of the county council refusing the grant of $15,000 toward the project, the meeting was held Saturday to ascertain whether the farmers really wanted the fair continued. There were in the neighborhood of sixty present, representing the various sections of the country, and with one exception all the speakers were in favor of a permanent winter fair in Chatham.

The YELLOW STUB

by Ernest Lynn

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JANET RAND, his daughter, breaks her engagement with BARRY COLVIN, because of the "Disgrace." JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Chicago, where the theater is. The stub is traced to THOMAS FOGARTY, a political boss, who says he gave it to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing police want her for murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warnings to leave Chicago, and later is attacked at night by two men, but escapes.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Mary tells Jimmy this when they meet and he, trying to hurt her, accuses her of marrying for money.

That evening Jimmy and Olga, out together, see in an auto a man they both recognize—she as the man who had got the stub, he as one of the men who had attacked him. The man and his companion escape. Later they recognize his picture at police headquarters as that of IKE JENSEN.

Church, out driving with Mary, drives over a dog and kills it. His heartlessness over the affair kindles hatred in her and she breaks their engagement.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

The letter was lying in the same spot where Mrs. King put all his mail—on the little table beside the telephone.

And then he frowned. "They're not satisfied with trying to bother me," he growled. "They're worrying the folks back home."

For out of Janet's letter had fallen a single sheet of paper. It was written in the same scrawl that had characterized the two anonymous notes he had received, ordering him to leave town. And it very briefly, but in plain language and with no salutation, stated that if Jimmy's family wanted to see him alive again they would persuade him to return to Grafton—at once.

That was all.

"I haven't the faintest idea," Janet wrote, "what it's all about. Jimmy, you are concealing things from mother and me? The envelope was addressed to mother, but she happened to be lying down when it came and, without giving it much thought, I opened it.

"I haven't shown it to her, because she worries enough about you as it is. But Jimmy, I'm afraid. I wanted you to go in the first place, but I can't bear to think of you there with this unnamed danger hanging over you. Do you know what it is? If you do, please tell me. If anything happened to you Mother and I would never get over it and I'd never forgive myself for urging you to go to Chicago.

"I've told Barry Colvin about it. He still comes to see us nearly every evening and I think he's an old dear. He's alarmed about it and he says he's going after you if you don't come back."

There was more, but it dealt with family gossip and the state of Mrs. Rand's health.

The recurrence of the anonymous warning had Jimmy thoroughly enraged. What had at first amounted to nothing more than an annoyance was now beginning to get on his nerves. He picked up his empty pipe and stuck it savagely in his mouth . . . It was not that he feared anything, he told himself, for, he asked, if anyone really contemplated harm to him why would there be any warning. But it was the thought of this unknown person eternally keeping watch over him and his affairs, knowing his every movement. . . .

He lay in bed for a long time, cursing himself for his inability to banish the thing from his mind and go to sleep.

"Good morning, Mr. Hilton," and at the cheery note in Mary Lowell's greeting the chief clerk of the Q. and R. Railroad looked up in some surprise.

"Good morning, Miss Lowell. I, er——" He stopped, and rubbed his chin.

She waited. "Yes, Mr. Hilton?"

"Oh, nothing," he said, and bent over his desk. . . .

She had told her mother that morning—told her with definiteness and firmness—that she had broken with Samuel Church.

It was no use, she had insisted when her mother had protested and, later, had cried. She didn't love him and never would. She hated him. She told of the incident of the dog and the little boy as if such a thing against any man were enough to damn him forever.

"He thinks, Mother, that his money can buy anything. He thought he could buy me with it, just as he thought he could buy the boy a new dog."

And she had put on her hat and rushed off to work, feeling strangely light and free. . . .

Shortly before noon Church came in the office, pulling papers out of his pocket, and immediately went into a conference with Hilton.

But he was engaged very briefly and Mary sensed, when he came out of Hilton's inner office, that was only a pretext to see her.

"Mary," he said, leaning over her desk, "you've had time to think it over now. Tell me that you didn't mean what you said to me yesterday."

Her fingers never once paused as they flew over her typewriter. "I meant it," she said shortly.

"Mary, you couldn't. You don't realize what you're saying. Listen, I was angry when that—that accident happened; so angry that I didn't even see the dog until it was too late. I had been saying things to you and you weren't answering me. I was sorry it happened—just as sorry as you were." He held out his hand pleadingly.

She paused in her typing and looked up at him. "You're not helping your case any by lying," she said coldly, and turned back to her work.

His face darkened and his fists clenched. He was about to make some angry retort, but he controlled himself. The door opened and Hilton came in.

"Oh, still here, Mr. Church?"

"Yes, I was just going. I'll be back later. Something more I wanted to take up with you." The door closed behind him.

Hilton said to Mary: "That's funny." He laughed. "He must be getting absentminded. He came in to see me about a matter that we'd already gone over thoroughly by telephone.

"Oh, I beg pardon," he added hastily, his face coloring slightly. "I had forgotten you two were engaged."

"Did he tell you that?" asked Mary.

"Yes. Said it wasn't generally known, but that you'd announce it later. Told it to me in confidence."

"Well, it's not true. At least, it's no longer true."

He whistled and then stuck his tongue in his cheek. Finally curiosity got the better of him. "You mean you—you broke off with him?"

"Yes—yesterday."

At that he stuck his hands in his pockets and whistled some more. Finally he said—and Mr. Hilton could be very amusing when he tried—"You see, Miss Lowell, I was getting all set to congratulate you. Now I congratulate you all the more." With which enigmatic statement he walked out of the room, still whistling.

The only thing that worried Mary about breaking her engagement was her mother. Mrs. Lowell, with her fondness for the material comforts and her memories of a luxurious past, had found much to enthuse over when Mary told her she had accepted Samuel Church.

It would be a blow to her, of course. Mary knew that her mother had already installed herself, mentally, in a fine home, with servants to carry out her orders and a motor car to take her wherever and whenever she wanted to go. Now that dream was ended and Mrs. Lowell would have to try to reconcile herself to existing on the necessities with very few of the luxuries she craved.

Mary walked from her office to the water cooler, and while drinking she noticed the man known as Mac, sitting at his desk. A sudden resolution prompted her to walk straight over to him.

"Mac," she said, "you remember Mr. Rand who worked here?"

"Why, yes."

"What was that you told him about money being able to buy anything?"

His face reddened, "Why, why—" he floundered.

"You were wrong," she said softly, and walked away, feeling a sudden pity for this tragic, war-torn boy.

True to his promise, Church dropped in again late in the afternoon. He didn't even make a pretense of seeing Hilton but went to Mary directly.

"I've got the car outside, Mary. Let me drive you home." He had a bunch of flowers in his hand.

"What's the good of it?" she asked wearily. "It's no use. I've quite made up my mind."

"Mary, you spoke in the heat of anger. We all do and say things we are sorry for when we are mad."

"But I have had plenty of time to cool off. No, it's no use. You'll have to excuse me." She turned to the coat rack.

"Mary, give me another chance. You haven't given me a chance at all, I tell you—"

"Mr. Church," she cut in, "I'm through. Do I make myself clear?"

"Here, Mary," he had taken the ring out of his pocket and was offering it to her.

But she turned away from him and put on her hat. As she started out of the office he blocked her path.

"I know," he cried, beside himself with rage. "It's that young pup, Rand, isn't it?"

"Will you please get out of my way?"

"No. Not until I've had my say. I'll tell you this. You'll never marry him. Do you hear me?"

"All this melodrama is quite unnecessary," she said quietly. "Will you let me pass?"

"No."

"Very well." She turned and walked to the door of Hilton's private office. It closed behind her, and he was left alone with his ring and his flowers. The first he shoved back into his pocket. The flowers he slammed into the waste basket. Then he marched out of the office. . . .

In the street below he jostled his way heedlessly through the crowd, chewing viciously on a cigar that he had stuck in his mouth. He bit through the cigar, grabbed it out of his mouth and flung it away.

"Mr. Church," said a voice at his elbow. It was Jimmy Rand.

"I wanted to congratulate you, Mr. Church." Jimmy offered his hand, but Church snarled and turned away.

"Young pup," he muttered, and walked down the street, leaving Jimmy standing in dumfounded amazement.

SEYMOUR COUNCIL TO COLLECT BILL

For Telephone When Belmont Passes Authorizing By-law.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 1. — Township of Seymour was interested in the telephone case that was heard recently at Havelock and Dr. G. A. Hay, the township clerk, attended the hearing in the interests of the municipality. Those who heard the case were A. B. Ingram, vice-chairman of the Railway and Municipal Board and F. F. Dagger, supervisor of telephone systems in Ontario.

The Belmont Council extended the municipal telephone line into Seymour Township at Trent River and J. J. Sedgwick of that place signed up for a telephone. Later he refused to have the instrument installed or to pay for it.

When the line of one municipal telephone is extended into another township the council of the latter is expected to collect from the patrons of the extended line. Dr. Hay has refused to do this on the ground that the Belmont Council had failed to pass a bylaw giving him the authority to take such action.

Sedgwick has been ordered to pay for the telephone and the bill which has been running for the past two years will be collected by Seymour Council in the regular way after Belmont has passed the required bylaw.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

Dear Annie Laurie:

I am just another wanting my name added to that long list of your thankful friends, and I would greatly appreciate it if you would answer a few questions for me.

1.—When you are introduced to a bunch of fellows who say "Hello," what is correct to reply? Don't you think "How do you do" too formal on such an occasion?

2.—What should you say when a young man asks to take you somewhere, or asks for a dance?

3.—It is the hostess' place to open the door for her guests (or guest) when they are leaving?

4.—Will you please state all the rules of correspondence between a girl and a young man, and on what occasions these rules may be broken. I mean who writes first on all occasions?

5.—I have dark brown hair and blue eyes. What colors do you think would suit me best?

Thanking you so much for your valuable advice. I am,

PATSY

PATSY.—You have a somewhat wholesale way of asking for information, Patsy, but we will see if we can answer you satisfactorily.

1.—Perhaps you had better stick to "How do you do?" even if it does seem formal. You can temper the formality with a smile and cordial look. Men, although they like to sidestep the conventions themselves, usually prefer a girl to stick quite closely to them.

2.—Just be natural and say, "Yes, I would like to go," or "Thank you very much," if you wish to go somewhere with him, or say, "Certainly" or simply "Yes" if he asks you for a dance. The main thing is to let him know that you appreciate his attentions, without being too excessively gracious about it.

3.—That depends. If it is a young man who is leaving the house he may quite well open the door for himself, while she stands talking to him. For older women or other girls, she may open the door if she is nearer it than they are. Some people are rather touchy on this point and consider the opening of the door by the hostess an indication of her wish for their departure. You must govern yourself by circumstances.

4.—It is rather hard to give all the rules in these cases. When a young man is going away, he usually speaks first of writing to the girl he is leaving behind. Of course, if he is very shy and she knows that he likes her, she may suggest writing him, but it is usually best to wait for him to say something along this line, and then she can promise to answer him. If he does not write after speaking of it, she had better not take the first step and start the correspondence. The only exceptions to this rule might be when certain circumstances develop that might allow the young lady to write first. I mean, in case there has been some misunderstanding and she feels that she was wrong; she should write first or if the young man suffers misfortune by death in his family or illness, it would be quite permissible then. The basic idea in this, as in other relations between people of the opposite sex, is the fundamental theory which modern ideas may have shaken somewhat, but still have failed to combat utterly, that the man should be the pursuer and the girl the pursued.

5.—A rule laid down for colors in dress is to match your hair on the street, your eyes when dressing for the house, and your skin when getting ready for the evening function.

HEDDA HOYT TALKS ABOUT THE THINGS THAT INTEREST THE BUSY WOMAN OF 1926.

NEW STYLES.

By HEDDA HOYT.
(Written for the United Press.)

NEW YORK, Mar. 1 (United Press).—Sports coats of fur are far more numerous than more costly fur coats this season. Where we see one mink, tan-dyed ermine or broadtail we see a hundred leopards, nutrias or raccoons. The sports coat is far more youthful than more expensive coats of fur and women are now wearing them for all occasions.

Artificial flowers on coat collars are being worn again as Spring advances. Huge, curly chrysanthemums in orange, yellow, orchid or white are among the newest flowers worn. Occasionally one sees some smart Miss wearing her corsage on her coat cuff.

Wintry weather has brought out fur muffs. With a sealskin coat one young Miss wore a Beret tam of gray squirrel and carried a melon-shaped muff of squirrel. Several small mink muffs were worn this week and invariably the wearer was a well-dressed person.

Since many women are wearing the mannish coats with up-standing collars it is well to know how the corsage is worn with such collars. They are placed at the back of the neck instead of in front and one of the prettiest corsages seen used this way was two waxed pink tulips. The coat collar was beaver.

A yard and three-quarters of 40-inch material will make the new snug-fitting costume slip which is being featured by several stores in New York. This slip fits plain over the hips, in front and at the rear but still has ample room about the hemline. It is made on the cross-wise of the material. One pins one end of the material under the left arm. Then wrap the material across the back and around the body until it crosses the back again and reaches the right underarm. Two side-seams extend from underarms to a low waistline. There is a double thickness of the material at the rear. Cut out the underneath layer of the bodice portion, stitch the two skirt layers together across the rear waistline, hem the sides of the material and you will have a skirt that is slit at the rear but which overlaps so that this does not show.

LIGHT FOR PLANTS.

Fuchsia, ferns, pansies, violets and dwarf Japanese morning glories may be planted in a north light. Two hours of sunlight a day are sufficient for these flowers, if soil conditions are correct.

THE SLEEPING PORCH

By Annette Bradshaw

For people who spend so many of their waking hours indoors, as do most city folk, there's nothing so healthy as sleeping out of doors. This is possible to most people who have their home in the suburbs of the large cities.

A corner of the porch is screened off, or a projecting balcony serves the purpose. Odd pieces of furniture of the simplest sort is all that is desirable. There are several small convenient pieces such as the small dressing table and the little round night table illustrated here that can be made of packing boxes, sandpapered and painted in a bright green or blue.

A cedar chest is very handy for clothing or extra blankets. This convenient storing-place is also a bench to sit on. A large packing case may be made to serve this purpose if fitted with a set of antique-looking hinges and a lock. After thoroughly rubbing down the case with coarse sandpaper a coat of dark mahogany varnish stain will do wonders toward making your chest look like a real strong box.

A few attractive details such as the lantern light shelters, a parchment lampshade on the table beside the bed and the water bottle and its tray are suggested useful trifles that may be acquired from time to time.

The old-fashioned rag rug adds a colorful touch and will be appreciated on a cold morning. Curtains which may be drawn across the windows should be of a heavy stuff, to shut off anunfavorable draught. Air by all means, does not mean discomfort or exposure.

IRON STAINS.

Rust stains may be removed by covering the stain with salt after wetting in boiling water. Then lay in hot sunshine over bright tin, and squeeze on juice of lemon or tomato. Rinse in hot water and repeat if necessary.

A Fashion Model's Diary

—By Grace Thorncliffe—

SHE DESCRIBES A SMART BEIGE GABARDINE COSTUME.

"I'm simply buying up all the checks I can find," I heard Madame announce to the woman who helps her considerably with the buying of materials.

I understood why this was true when Madame told me a few minutes later that she was going to make smart checked treatments the keynote of her Spring showing.

"I think checked things are always terribly smart," I replied with enthusiasm.

Madame went on to explain:

"I'm going to make a number of suits and ensembles in all-checked woolens of light weight, and I'm also doing some crepe checked frocks."

I asked if I might see some of the sketches of designs, and Madame answered:

"There are a lot of them on my desk I'd love for you to look at as soon as you have helped me on this costume."

She signified an interesting looking beige and brown affair hanging over a chair, and I proceeded to put it on.

First there was a simple frock of beige garbardine, made straight except for an applied piece about the bottom that was finished with an inverted pleat at the front. Six covered buttons at the V-necked collar were the only trimming touch.

Then came the coat, a smart three-quarter affair, with the beige and brown checked woolen applied about the bottom and on the collar.

"This is stunning!" I said.

"I like it too," Madame remarked.

Then she asked me to turn around so she could see if the back fitted perfectly. She explained:

"I'm doing almost everything this year with perfectly straight, flat backs, and of course they must be faultless as to fit, or the whole point is lost."

She turned her head at a critical angle while I walked back and forth in the suit, and then pronounced it perfect.

The hat I wore was a tiny felt model, perfectly plain, of beige.

For her younger clients, Madame

is making some of the most fascinating ensembles of Scotch plaids and dark blue French serge. They are wonderfully becoming to the youthful figures and Madame invariably advises one of the gay felt hats in the fascinating alpine green, or flaming scarlet, or brilliant orange or yellow to match the predominating color of the plaids.

I'm so glad that the checks and plaids are coming into their own again, for I do think they are fascinating. I am planning one for myself of black satin combined with a black and white checked taffeta, and I've my eye on the most adorable black and white hat, which has a single wooden ornament on the side of the most heavenly shade of blue. Pam says that it will be most intriguing.

WOMEN AFAR.

Taxation of all men in Russia for an alimony fund to be used for all abandoned women and children is the hunch of Madame Kollantay, Russian woman ambassador to Norway. The madame argues that support from such a general form would be less degrading to a woman's pride than direct support from a divorced husband.

NEW HOMES FOR OLD.

You might find some surprises!

One gets accustomed to one's home as one does to one's face. But folks who "drop in" see the stained wall paper, the chipped woodwork, the soot stain, and sundry evils.

Beauty experts advise a woman to really look at herself at least once a week, and take time off to repair hair, nails and skin.

The monthly look at one's house wouldn't be a bad idea! Then get busy!

Water colors will cover up that white scratch on the paint. You have a scrap of wall paper in the closet to match that spot on the paper. Put it on. Its newness will soon tone down.

Really shock yourself and and change the position of the fur and pictures entirely. It'll fresh your spirits!

CATASTROPHE.

I thought I was going to faint. I knew that my bag had been there on the table before me just the minute before. Then I remembered that a particularly flashy man had stopped at my table as though to speak to me and I had turned my face away for fear that he would oblige me to make some sort of a demonstration before he could be persuaded to leave.

Frantically I looked about the table and room, before I realized how silly it was, for I knew positively that the man had taken my bag.

Then it seemed to me that everything except despair had gone out of this world. I upbraided myself for doing such a foolish thing as drawing my money out of the bank, and then I forgot everything except the face that I was in a strange town, penniless and alone.

Unsteadily, I got up from the table and made my way to the dressing room. I had grown panic-stricken at the thought that I had no place to lay my head that night, for I did not dare go back to the hotel and tomorrow morning have to tell them that I had not a cent in the world.

A feeling of nausea crept over me and I fell down in a chair. The dressing room attendant came up to me and said:

"What's the matter, dearie?"

Oh, how I hate that word "dea I disliked it before, but when I f my money was gone, it seeme though I could not bear it.

Finally I managed to tell the w that I had lost my money.

My heart sank lower than ev this. I realized it was the waite that I owed for my dinner and not pay.

I guess yer all planin', as likely as not, on planting some seeds in the spring; on pickin' a place fer a nice garden spot, and dreamin' of what it will bring.

A fella gets thinkin' round this time of year of radishes, lettuce and spuds. The call of the spade and the rake he kin hear, an' he pictures himself in old duds.

He reads lots of catalogs over and through, and is joined in the task by his wife. He knows there are plenty of things he must do, but he'll have quite the time of his life.

The sun will beat down, and the heat waves may burn, but he'll plug just as long as he's able. He'll know there's a whole lot of earth he must turn so's to grow some real food fer the table.

Just think of the thrill that is comin' to you, when you've planted a whole flock of seeds. As sure as yer living, some sprouts will come through an' 'out ninety per cent. will be weeds.

OTTAWA BREAK BOSTON'S STRING OF VICTORIES AFTER THE BRUINS HAD TWICE JUMPED INTO THE LEAD

TERRIFIC PACE

OTTAWA, Ont., Mar. 1 (Canadian Press)—In one of the hardest-fought games of the local N.H.L. schedule this season Ottawa Senators came from behind Saturday night to defeat the Boston Bruins 3 to 2. The Ottawa triumph, marking the first reverse for the Bruins in their last eleven league engagements, came only after the home team had waged a stubborn, uphill struggle against the climbing Bruins, the winning goal coming four minutes from the close of the contest.

Away to an early lead, the visitors clung tenaciously to their advantage until three minutes from the end of the second period when the score was tied on a disputed goal. Early in the final session, Boston again took the lead, only to have Ottawas tie it up again and then drive home the winning marker. The game was a spectacular exhibition from start to finish and the crowd was in a constant uproar as the teams, employing strictly open-hockey methods, tore from end to end at a blinding pace in search of goals. The terrific speed had much to do with the clean play which featured, as the defence men had little opportunity to work their poundage on the flying attacks. Only two minor penalties were handed out.

Carson Cooper put the Bruins one up, five minutes after the game started. He took a somewhat lucky pass from Harrington, the puck flying over to him when Smith checked Hago, and streaked in on the open wing to drill one past Connell from a few feet out..

Bruins Dispute Goal

For thirty-two minutes they fought away without a goal either way. Boston took one early in the second period, Cooper scoring from Harrington's pass, but it was ruled offside. Then Smith engineered a rush into Boston territory and in endeavoring to circle the net to get away with it, Cooper slipped and fell. He attempted to hook the puck back behind the net again and it struck Herberts' skates and glanced into the net. Nighbor has been right on Stewart's goal crease trying to corner Cooper and he was given credit for the goal. Boston disputed the score, but Referee Marsh ruled it legal.

Coming out for the final period with the score tied at one-all, Boston opened up a hot offensive immediately. The Bruins had faded a bit in the last half of the middle session but they came strong after the rest. Cleghorn sailed for the Ottawa net, flanked by Cooper. He passed as he hit the defence and while the Ottawa rearguard waited for the expected shot from Cooper, the latter whisked the puck back to Cleghorn and he drove it home without giving Connell a chance to get set.

Senators Tie Score

The Senators then threw everything they had into the attack. They swept in on Stewart and scored in a few seconds, but it was offside. Nighbor did the scoring on Denneny's pass. In five minutes they had tied it up. Clancy carried the puck down and passed to Denneny when they were inside. Taking the pass on his wrong wing, Denneny hurled a backhand shot at Stewart and it went home.

In five minutes more, Nighbor jumped into the hero role with a beautiful tally. He took Clancy's pass on his wrong wing and when Herberts and Cleghorn raced over to run him into the corner, he stopped, turned and drove a flash shot through Stewart's pads for the winning counter. Stewart's vision was obstructed and he never saw the rubber until it hit his pads. For the remaining few minutes, Ottawas held the frantic Bruin attacks helpless around mid-ice, Nighbor scintillating with a wonderful display of center ice defensive work.

Boston Faded

For a period and a half it looked as if the Hubtowners would repeat the success which attended their last visit here, but they faded as the game progressed. Forced to paly without their captain and star defence man, George Boucher, Senators were a bit disorganized at first and did not find their feet with real team play until the middle session was well advanced. Finnegan and Kilrea shone in patrolling the right flank in place of Hooley Smith who took Boucher's place on the defence.

Nighbor and Clancy starred in the Ottawa victory, with Connell again playing a sensationl game in goal. He had his busiest night of any home engagement this season, and at times he baffled the opposing attack with uncanny ability. Denneny was the best man on the ice in the final period, but in the first two sessions he was held well by Cooper. Smith played a splendid game on the defence and his offensive work was dangerous at all times.

Standing out for Boston were Cleghorn, Cooper and Herberts. The latter two were very much in the limelight, some of Herberts' solo efforts being far above the average. Cleghorn played with a heady, steadiness that was felt by the entire team. Cooper tired badly in the last period after shining in the two opening periods of the game. Stewart played a star game in goal, and the first Ottawa tally was a bad break against him. Harrington, Stuart, Cahill and Jackson did good work when on.

The teams:

Boston		Ottawa
Dr. Stewart	goal	Connell
Hitchman	defence	Clancy

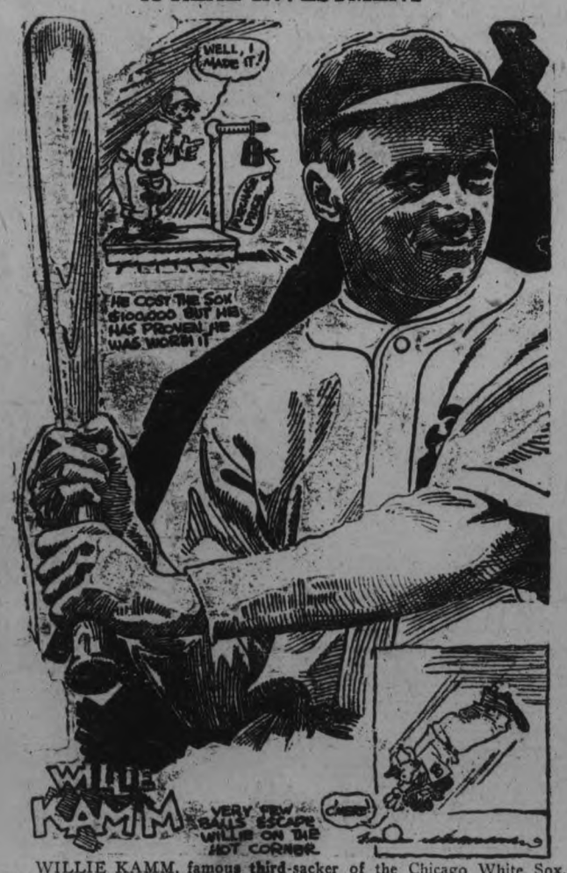
WORTH KNOWING IN SPORT

Joe Bush, veteran American League pitcher, is making the rounds. This season will find him with his fifth major club.

"Bullet Joe," as he was known at the height of his career several years ago, started with the Athletics in 1912. There he remained until the close of the 1917 chase, when he was traded to Boston. The Red Sox kept Joe four seasons. In December, 1921, a trade took him to the Yanks. A year ago Huggins swapped him to St. Louis.

Now Bush goes to Washington through another exchange. In his 14 major league seasons he has been on the payroll of every American club but Detroit, Chicago and Cleveland. And he still has a chance to get on with them.

A REAL INVESTMENT



WILLIE KAMM, famous third-sacker of the Chicago White Sox, differs from most of the other high-priced minor leaguers that have come into the majors of late years, in that he made good with a vengeance. Kamm cost the Chicago club, a heap of money. He was purchased at about the same time Jimmy O'Connell, Sammy Hale and some other stars from the lower leagues were grabbed for big coin. Kamm proved his worth right off the reel.

Kamm is an especially sweet fielder. He can get 'em anywhere around the hot corner and has a stout arm which enables him to shoot the ball across to first with speedand accuracy.

The former Coast League star isn't a terrific clubber but is fairly dangerous in a pinch. One season he had the happy faculty of turning many of his hits into doubles, which earned him the name of "Dublin' Bill." Kamm, by the way dislikes the name of "Willie." He much prefers to be called just plain "Bill."

MISS WILLS WINS COVETED TROPHY

MONTE CARLO, March 1.—(Canadian Press).—Helen Wills defeated Senorita De Alvarez, of Spain, in the finals of the tennis singles Sunday for the Duke of Connaught's gold cup. The score was 6-2, 6-3.

Suzanne Lenglen and Mlle Vlasto won the finals in the women's doubles for the Beaumont Cup from Mrs. Satterthwaite and Miss Ellen Bennett, 6-4, 8-6.

Helen Wills and Mlle. Contoslavos defeatd Senorita and Mlle. Vlasto in the finals of the women's open doubles, 6-3, 8-6.

The Duke of Connaught stepped onto the courts and presented Helen with the gold cup, which she immediately turned over to the tennis club for safe keeping.

"Suzanne had better quit," was the verdict of the majority of the spectators who yesterday watched the once super French player struggle through two hard sets, which ordinarily she could have won handily, 6-0, 6-0. Mlle Lenglen said after the match that she would not even play for the Cup of Nations at Mentone.

Flowers Says Prayer Was Big Help In Beating Greb

NEW YORK, March 1.—(Canadian Press).—Tiger Flowers, who has ascended the middleweight throne of pugilism after a career of many vicissitudes which found him at various times porter, church steward, laborer, saxophone player and fighter, has announced that he will make an exhibition tour of Europe. He will return and will defend his title within 3 months of the time when he knocked the crown from Harry Greb's head. He will fight the "leading middleweight challenger," whether he be Greb or somebody else.

Flowers attributes his success in pugilism to careful training and a strong reliance on religion. Not only, he says, does he read the New Testament daily and pray before each contest, but he also repeats verses of scripture to himself during his ring battles. During the Greb fight he repeated "Blest be the Lord, my strength which teacheth my hands to war and my fingers to fight."

COAFFEE WINS TWO.

Winnipeg Sprinter Almost Equals Records.

CINCINNATI, Ohio March 1.—Cyril Coaffee of Winnipeg, running for Illinois A.C., defeated Dehart Hubbard, nationally known negro sprinter, twice here Saturday night in exhibition dashes, staked in connection with the annual Y.M.C.A. athletic carnival.

In the 50 yard dash, Coaffee ran the distance in 5 2-5 seconds, beating Hubbard six feet. His time for 60 yards was 6 2-5 and his margin over the negro one-half foot. Each time was one-fifth of a second slower than the world's record.

HELPFUL HINTS BY GOLFING STARS

By Special Arrangement With Colliers' Magazine.

Roger Wethered—How "Half and Half" is Played.

The "half-and-half' shot comes into action when the ball has found a cuppy lie. Nothing but marvellous ingenuity will enable the player to insert the blade of the ball cleanly without removing a little of the soil behind the ball during the process, in which case much back spin cannot be imparted. When a mashie is used for this stroke it is unwise to pitch the ball on to the green. A risk must sometimes be taken and the ball must be pitched short of the green and allowed to run on its own account. In effect the shot will be a quarter-iron stroke played with a mashie. The left hand will grip hard, and the ball will have to be driven out by the stretch of the left arm. Any attempt to nip it out of its bad lie with the right hand will result more often than not in disaster or loss of direction.

The face of the club in the upswing must not turn as in the case of the pitch shot. The swing should resemble more of a careful cricket stroke. The flight will be lower, and the check spin wil be neutralized to some extent. The ball will not run in the free manner of a running stroke.

SHORTY RUSSICK WON $1,000 PRIZE

Manitoba Musher and His Dogs First in Race.

NORTH CONWAY, N.H., Mar. 1—Shorty Russick, dog sled driver from The Pas, has justified his popular title of "the four foot iron man from Manitoba." He won the 140 mile point-to-point New England dog sled race Saturday, making the gruelling three day trek in 14 hours, 31 minutes and 52 seconds. Last night he was the possessor of the $1,000 first prize, and his backer, Harold I. Sutton of Chicago, wore the blue ribbon of supremacy.

Russick had a nip and tuck race all three days with Emil St. Goddard his neighbor in The Pas, who finished first Saturday but whose time was 15 minutes, 48 seconds slower than Shorty's, Russick was 15 seconds ahead at the end of the first leg at Wolfeboro, St. Goddard had the better of him by seven minutes Friday at Ashland. Sunday Goddard left second and Russick next to last, but the latter was fourth in.

St. Goddard won the second prize of $500, his time being 14 hours, 47 minutes, 40 seconds.

Francois Dupuis, of Quebec, winner of the international derby there last week, was third with 15:08:10, gaining the $300 prize; Earl Brydges, of The Pas, was fourth with 15:20:36 gaining the $200 award, and Jean Dupuis, brother of Francois, got the last money prize of $100 by doing the distance in 15:24:05.

Russick, who comes to most men's shoulders, said he ran most of the way from Ashland. It was bitter cold with a strong wind blowing, but the sweat poured from his face as he sung his dogs into the home stretch. A frost bitten, blue eyed gnome, he lay a few minutes later in his stables with the head of his lead dog, Murphy, in his arms. His eyes were shining and a broad grin was on his face, but only Murphy knew what he was saying.

The judges said Russick's victory was due in large part to the care he and Sutton took of their dogs. Friay night at Ashland the two men worked for four hours over the animals while the others were at a carnival dance. They curried and rubbed the dogs' spines with alcohol and liniment and were up before dawn to do the same thing and prepare for the tussle.

NEW YORK GRAB ONE GOAL GAME FROM CANADIENS

IN CELLAR PLACE

Americans Heaved Puck All Over Rink Killing Time.

MONTREAL, Que., March 1.—(Canadian Press).—Canadiens have hit the lowest depths in the National Hockey League and for the first time in several seasons are in danger of ending the 1925-26 race on the bottom rung of the ladder. After playing against ill-fortune throughout the winter's campaign, the league champions of the past two years reached the climax in their warfare with Dame Fortune when they were beaten, 1-0 by New York Saturday night. The loss sent the Canucks to the cellar position and enabled New York to move up into a tie for fifth place with the Toronto St. Patricks.

It was a heart-breaking loss for the local team. They had outplayed New York at all stages up to the first five minutes of the final session. The Americans had been holding doggedly on the defence and Vernon Forbes was turning aside drive after drive with the most miraculous saves.

Then New York saw an opportunity. Canadiens were so bent on ramming home a goal that they were caught around the American cage and Billy Burch broke with the two Greens in front of the local forwards. They had only the two Canadien defence men to pass. Burch gave Red Green the puck and the snappy little New York left winger sizzled the disc at Rheaume. The Canadien goalie saved, but could not clear. Shorty Green showed a flash of his old time aggressiveness by boring in on the Canadien net for the rebound. He got to the puck and in the wild melee that developed jabbed it into the corner of the Canadien net for the lone and what proved the deciding tally of the game.

New York Kill Time.

There was still fifteen minutes to go and New York, driven desperate by their own depleted ranks, started in to kill time for the final long spell. They went purely to the defence and drove the puck to all quarters of the rink. In fact some of the lifts, made hurriedly from in front of the Americans' goal in those last fifteen minutes, became dangerous to spectators. Pucks were frequently caroming off the top of spectators' heads and striking other fans on the face. And with Canadiens pressing with six men and New York driven to the limit to get the disc out of the way, affairs got to such a state that Referee Dave Ritchie, who was powerless under the rules, to halt the procedure, requested that the New York players keep the puck lower down as a safeguard for the spectators.

Canadiens had a distinct edge in the first period, but the closest they could come to getting the puck behind the ubiquitous form of Vernon Forbes was on a shot from Billy Boucher in a scramble around the Americans' goal. The referees did not see whether the puck had crossed the goal line or not. The goal umpire ruled it had not. The goal insisted that it had, but lost the argument—the first bad break.

Then came the second session in which Canadiens fairly buzzed around Forbes. All the Canadiens but the goalie had certain looking goals at their command at one time or another. But they could not keep the disc away from Forbes.

The line up:

Canadiens—Goal, Rheaume; defence, Mantha, Leduc; centre, Morenz; wings, Boucher, Joliat; subs, H. Lepine, A. Lepine, Larochelle, Paulhus, Coutu.

Referees—Don Smith and Dave Ritchie.

TWO RECORDS BROKEN.

Hoff Soared in Pole Vault at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, March 1 (Canadian Press).—Two world's records were shattered in the 22nd annual indoor games of Johns-Hopkins University in the Fifth Regiment Armory Saturday.

Charley Hoff of Oslo, Norway continued to climb to new heights in his specialty, the pole vault, with a hoist of 13 feet, 5 1-8 inches, while Herb Meyer, crack Newark A.C. hurdler, broke his own record by 7-10ths of a second in the 100-yard low hurdles.

DIVIDE GAMES WITH VISITORS

Lindsay Girls Defeated P.C.I. But Boys Reversed Decision.

SOME BIG SCORES

Lindsay and Peterborough Collegiate Basketball team broke even in two games played at the Y.M.C.A. gym on Saturday afternoon. The Lindsay girls won their game by a large margin and then the Peterborough boys reversed the count.

The visiting players were entertained at dinner at the local Collegiate by the home team before the game. Most of the Lindsay players and their supporters left for home on the 5.25 train.

In the girls game the Lindsay Collegiate team gave the Peterborough Collegiate girls a bad beating by a 60 to 10 score.

The Lindsay girls were far superior to the Peterboro girls both in size and speed. The showed better combination and far more accuracy in shooting.

The scoring honors were pretty well divided between the Lindsay forwards, Misse E. Cole and, N. Miles, while the two guards, F. Fever and T. Harcus had their share of baskets.

For the Peterboro ladies Miss MacDuffee had most baskets, scoring seven points for her team. The rest of the team worked hard but could make no headway against the Lindsay team.

By periods the score was 46-4 and 60-10 for the Lindsay team.

Miss Stewart of Lindsay was referee and her work was never questioned, her decisions being impartial at all times.

The line ups:

Referee—Miss Stewart, Lindsay.

The Boys' Game.

The Peterborough Collegiate boys evened the count on the day when they swamped the Lindsay boys, 59-11, in their game. The boys' good showing helped to take the sting from the girls' defeat.

Ecobichon and Sturgeon divided the scoring honors for Petes, each having 10 baskets apiece, scoring 40 points between them. The rest of the team all showed up well, playing good combination and showing great speed and accuracy in shooting.

McEwen was the best for the Lindsay Collegiate team, scoring six of his teams eleven points.

Art. McLeish of Peterboro refereed the game to the satisfaction of both teams.

The line ups:

Referee—A. McLeish, Peterboro.

MENIE SEXTET WAS SHUT OUT

Hydro Boys Won Game By Five to Nil Score

AT CAMPBELLFORD.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 1. — The Hydro applied the whitewash to the Menie Sextette 5 goals to 0 in a town league fixture at Coverts Arena on Saturday afternoon.

The Hydro had the edge in speed, and they worked right in close before shooting and although the Rev. Clarke turned in another fine exhibition between the posts for Menie he was at the mercy of the Menie sharpshooters on several occasions, ter they had his defence beaten cold. It was not as good an exhibition as the majority of the league gamts have been, neither team playing the hockey of which it is capable. The players roamed from their positions with a tendency to bunch together too much and it slowed the game up considerably.

The line up:

Menie: Goal, Rev. Mr. Clarke: r. defence, Rev Daniel; l. defence, Hay, centre, Hume, r. wing, Rannie; l. wing, Lyon; subs, Anderosn and Hobbs.

Officials, Weston Stewart.

At a meeting of the executive of the Town League, held in the Public Library Saturday night, Perry Saunders was added to the roster of the Hydro, and the Electric boys' chances for the championship appear very bright.

There has been considerable betting on some of the games, and the executive went on record as being very much against the practice among the players, and any further instances coming to the notice of the executive will be dealt with and the players possibly suspended.

If the managers of the teams to play cannot agree on referees before 12 o'clock noon on the day of the game, the appointment of officials will be left to Secretary Daniel.

Games Next Week.

Monday, March 1st— 8 p.m., Hydro vs. Campbellford Cloth; 9.15 p.m., Clerks vs. Outlaws.

Wednesday, March 3rd—8 p.m., Junior Colts vs. Campbellford Cloth; 9.15, p.m., Menie vs. Outlaws.

SCOTS DEFEAT IRISH BY 4 TO 0

International Soccer Game Played in Downpour Before 30,000.

LEAGUE RESULTS

GLASGOW, March 1 (Canadian Press Cable).—Only 30,000 fans turned out at Ibrox Park Saturday to see Scotland defeat Ireland by 4 goals to 0 in an international soccer game. Playing conditions were wretched, rain falling heavily and the ground being a veritable quagmire. Under these circumstances good football could not be expected. Consequently it was not a great game, although Scotland were easily the better team. Gallagher, of Newcastle United, accounted for three of Scotland's tallies, while Cunningham of the Rangers, added the fourth. On both sides, the intermediate lines were poor.

In the league games, Queen's Park got their third successive win when they defeated St. Johnstone at Hampden Park by 2 goals to 0. Langmuir and Nicholson did the services for the winners, who displayed sparkling form throughout.

Rangers put up a great exhibition of football against Dundee, whom they crowded out by 5 goals to 1. Fleming was the hero of the match. He scored all of Rangers' goals, while Meagher responded for the Dundonians.

While Dundee was going down in their own home town, their interborough rivals, Dundee United, were also drinking the bitter draught at Partick. They succumbed to the Thistle by a couple of goals, obtained by Neas and Salisbury.

Aberdeen Beat Airdrie.

One of the big surprises of the day was registred at Aberdeen, where the locals administered a 3 to 1 defeat on Airdrieonians. Aberdeen were at the top of their form and effectively filled all of Airdrie's attempts at agressive football. Jackson, Doola and Smith scored for Aberdeen.

Gourlay Freeh and McCartney netted for Moon against Falkirk when the "Birns" dropped the points at Greenock. Paterson responded by shoting in one counter for the visitors.

Motherwell were a disappointment on theirown ground against Kilmarnock, wen, against the goals scored by McColl and Morton, they replied with oly one, got by Stevenson.

Other scores were: Devlin 3, and Leonard 1 forCowdenbeath against Hamilton; Gile 1 and McRae 1 for St. Mirrer against Hibernians; Brown and Ray one each for Raith Rovers against Clydebank.

SECOND PLACERS WON FROM IRISH

TORONTO, March 1.— (Canadian Press) — The breaks of the game more than anything else, gave the Montreal Maroons a 4 to 3 victory over St. Patrick's in the final clash of the present season between the two clubs, the second placers finishing with a perfect record of six wins against the Irish. The result of the game practically made the Maroons certain of second place, while the Irish are now tied with New York Americans for fifth place, one point in front of the tail end Canadiens.

CAPITOL THEATRE STARTS TODAY

MOVIEGRAPHS

HOLLYWOOD, Mar. 1.—Henry B. Walthall tells this one on Maurice Barrymore, father of John, Ethel and Lionel Barrymore. Ethel, some years ago, was playing in England. She became engaged to a nobleman and cabled her father about it.

He cabled back: "Congratulations." Two weeks later Ethel broke her engagement to the titled gent and again cabled her father, informing him of her action. Maurice cabled his daughter: "Congratulations."

A group of picture producers were conjecturing as to who was the greatest inventor. One said Wright, another Edison and so on.

"Vell," said the final producer. "De man vot invented percentage vassn't any slouch."

William DeMille and Cecil B. DeMille are brothers. Cecil's young daughter recently attended a party and met a woman who asked if she was related to the great DeMille?"

"And did you tell the lady that he was your father?" beamed Cecil when his daughter told him of the incident.

"No, I told her he was my uncle," she replied.

The People vs. Motion Pictures: Proving that filmdom is a porridge of make-believe—Pat O'Malley plays the role of a Russian Grand Duke in "The Midnight Sun."

Matrimonial Chart: Mae Busch, ex-wife of Francis McDonald, who married Belle Roscoe, ex-wife of Al Roscoe, who married Barbara Bedford, declares she is going to stay single for awhile.

Only five years ago Bryant Washburn was one of the brightest stars on the Lasky lot. He received top salary. And after he reached the pinnacle he drifted down the ladder that had carried him to the summit.

Now he is going back home to the Lasky studio after this lapse of years which is cons in the picture scale of existence—going back as a villain to support another star, Raymond Griffith, in "Wet Paint."

A clause in the Famous Player-Lasky film contract of Lois Moran, 16-year-old capsule of the cinema, provides that she "must remain unsophisticated during the period of the contract." After that time it is presumed Lois will probably leap out roller-skating and may even dare use a toothpick as steps toward Hollywood sophistication.

Ernest Vajda, Hungarian writer, who gets $20,000 for every movie tale, and he writes many a tale, has bought his first automobile since coming to Hollywood. It is a second-hand machine and he paid $585 cash for it.

I know an actress who makes $200 a week when she works (which is not often) and she drives a Rolls-Royce—price-tagged with countless payments and mortgages.

RACE WITH JUSTICE LOSING ONE, "BROKEN LAWS" DEMONSTRATES

Mrs. Wallace Reid's stirring new photodrama, "Broken Laws," now playing at Regent Theatre, starts and ends with a thrilling race with justice.

And it can't be beaten, as the picture demonstrates.

A boy and his father are "beating a speed cop," as the mighty drama of the screen opens. They get away with it, temporarily.

In the closing scenes the boy, now 18, has another race with justice. He is charged with manslaughter. For he killed a woman while emulating the early speed exploits of his father.

And he loses!

The boy, a part played by Arthur Rankin, and the mother, played by Mrs. Wallace Reid, present a pitiful picture as the judge pronounces sentence upon the lad.

He is brought home the whole idea of "Broken Laws." Like father, like son. Liquor in the home jazz parties, joy rides by the parents—and what can be expected of the child. More broken laws, of course.

Yet the picture is not propaganda, it is not a sermon in any sense of the word. It is a mighty, compelling drama with action and color from beginning to end. There is not a dull moment, and there is sustained interest throughout.

Mrs. Reid is supported by an able company including such sterling players as Percy Marmont, Jacqueline Saunders, Ramsey Wallace, Arthur Rankin, Virginia Lee Corbin, Lincoln Stedman, Pat Moore and Jane Wray.

"Broken Laws" is a worth-while contribution to the screen by the woman who dared to produce "Human Wreckage."

FOUR CHAMPIONS STAND OUT IN CHANGING FIELD

Dempsey, Tilden, Hornsby a nd Jones Make Up Rare Gro up.

By ART CARLSON.

Champions in sport, like weather-beaten umbrellas, don't, as a rule, hold up very long.

The winning trail is short and far from smooth. Keen rivalry and even keener competition have made it so.

DEMPSEY

But, in this era of crown-crushing, with its continual string of changing title-holders, there are at least four wearers of the purple robes that have stood off the oncoming hordes quite successfully.

I refer to Jack Dempsey, Bill Tilden, Rogers Hornsby and Bobby Jones. Four of them in as many sports—boxing, tennis, baseball and golf.

Dempsey has clung to the top close to seven years. He's been up there for a longer period than any heavyweight champion in history, with the exception of Jack Johnson. The colored boy led the procession slightly more than seven years and three months. Dempsey should come near to equaling the mark (especially at the rate he's going).

Dempsey, in case you don't recall, won the crown at Toledo, July 4, 1919. True, he's defended it, but a few times, the last against Firpo, nearly three years ago. But that's Dempsey's business. Johnson didn't do such a great amount of battling when he ruled the pugilistic parapet, either, if I remember correctly.

TILDEN

Tilden leaped the final barrier to the tennis title in 1920. He's surpassed the field on every occasion since. Moreover, the lanky Quaker looks like a fair bet yet a while. Tilden still needs another victory to tie the high mark of seven straight, established by a fellow named Sears about 40 years back.

Hornsby, one of the greatest right-handed hitters in all baseball history, first won the National League batting bunting in 1920, the same year Tilden climbed the dizzy heights.

HORNSBY

Like Tilden, Hornsby has been showing the way all these years. He has already hung up a new consecutive record for the old circuit and now hopes to better Ty Cobb's major league mark of nine in a row.

Bobby Jones, after many reverses, finally blasted his way to the national amateur crown. That was in 1924. The year previous the Georgia golfer had won the open title. Last season he performed the rare deed of successfully defending his amateur laurels. It hadn't been done since 1913, when Jerry Travers turned the trick.

How long will this quartet cling to the top?

Many opine Dempsey will step out the first time he climbs into the ring (if he ever does). Tilden, within a gunshot of defeat several times last summer, still looks good for a few more whirls, as I've already mentioned.

JONES

Hornsby the Great shows no outward signs of caving in; at least not by his 1925 performance. And the youthful Jones, though in a game where consistency of effort is more or less unknown, is dangerous in any competition. Another win would place him in a class by himself. Some day the four must give way to the ever-present group of challengers. But when?

That's another question.

KINGSTON PLAYS IN JUNIOR FINAL

Meets Owen Sound Greys at Kingston and at Toronto.

PLAY THIS WEEK.

TORONTO, March 1 (Canadian Press).—Owen Sound Greys and Kingston play the final games for the O.H.A. Junior championship and the right to enter the Memorial Cup play downs on Tuesday and Thursday nights of this week, the first game at Kingston, with Harold Mitchell of Toronto as referee and the return fixture at the Arena Gardens, Toronto, with M. J. Rodden in charge. Total goals scored in the two games decide the winner. If the teams are tied on the round a third game will be played on neutral ice. The O.H.A. champions will play the Northern Hockey Association winners Monday, March 8, and Wednesday, March 10.

FINAL CONTESTS IN CITY LEAGUE

St. Peter's and De Laval Hold Lead in Last Dash For Hockey Honors.

SOME FAST GAMES.

The curtain will be rung down on the City Hockey League tomorrow night, when the second games in the championship finals will be played, commencing at 7.30 o'clock.

St. Peter's with a lead of three goals, meet St. Andrew's for the Junior championship and the Hoberlin trophy, in the opening contest. St. Andrew's will be weakened by the loss of Marshall on the defence, the player having sustained a fractured collar bone while working out on Saturday. Still, St. Andrew's will be hard to dispose of, and more so if they settle down to business and play their effective combination game.

The fans were greatly impressed with the St. Peter's youngsters in the first of the finals, their puck-carrying and defensive work being cleverly executed. Here are two teams in which hockey fandom should be interested.

De Laval, with a one-goal lead, face the Brintons at 8.30 o'clock, in the final dash for Senior honors and the Brown Cup. The first contest was filled with thrills and much good hockey. Tomorrow night's game has every indication of being the most interesting battle of the season.

An effort is being made to secure the services of Irvin Bailey and Bert McLeod as referees.

QUEEN'S WON IN OVERTIME

KINGSTON, Ont., March 1 (Canadian Press).—Queen's intercollegiate Seniors defeated University of Montreal by 4 to 2 in ten minutes of overtime here Saturday night.

BERGER RETAINS SKI-JUMP TITLE

His Form Decided Canadian Championship.

OTTAWA, Ont., Mar. 1 (Canadian Press)—Form counted in the ski-jumping competitions here Saturday when Norman Berger, Montreal, who won the Dominion championship a year ago retained it against the flower of ski-jumpers on the American continent on Rockcliffe Park Tower. While the Montreal man did not make as great distance as several of the others, his landings were clean and the absolute command he had of himself in his thrilling flights impressed the judges so that he had a lead of 52 points over his nearest rival who was D. Powers of Ottawa.

Nels Nelson of Revelstoke, one of the acknowledged world's greatest jumpers, could do no better than seventh, while the leading skier from the United States was sixth. It was rather a surprise that the first five places went to Canadians, four of them from the province of Quebec and one from Ottawa. Thirty-seven competed although several gave up after one or two jumps.

Form and Distance

The conditions provided that each competitor should have three jumps and the form and distance were both to count in arriving at a decision as to points earned.

Berger emerged with a total 1,736 points.

His distances for the three jumps were 122 feet, 121 feet and 116 feet. D. Powers of the Ottawa Ski Club was second with 1684 points. His distances were 118 feet, 116 feet, 118 feet. Kar. Moen of Three Rivers, Que., was third with 1665 points. His distances were 109 feet, 115 feet 118 feet. Alex. Olsen of Montreal was fourth with 1649 points. His distances were 108, 112 and 108 feet. E. Hogen of Montreal was fifth with 1579 points. His jumps were 100 feet, 111 feet and 108 feet. D. Couture of Berlin Mills, N.H., made the longest jump of the day, that counted, 135 feet. Monsen of Battleboro, Vt., jumped 140 feet but he fell and his jump was not counted.

Greatest Contest

It was the greatest ski-jumping contest ever staged here. There was a "nip" in the air that kept the trail fast and dry. Conditions were well nigh ideal for the competitors although the hundreds of spectators found it rather cold. The new tower at Rockcliffe from which the jumps were held has only been in place a few weeks and previous to yesterday the record distance made was 119 feet.

The jumpers found the trail from the points where they landed hard to negotiate and falls were more numerous than were the instances where the competitor was able to keep on his feet. The tower is mounted on the top of the cliffs at Rockcliffe and the end of the run is on the river below, several hundred feet and the crowds that lined either side from the brow of the hill to half way across the Ottawa river got the thrills of their lives as the daring skiers performed.

SEEKS LATE DAD'S LAURELS.

FRANK GOTCH JR. LEFT, AND "STRANGLER" LEWIS

One of the greatest wrestlers in history was the late Frank Gotch. Many called him "king of them all." Another famous matman is Ed "Strangler" Lewis, who has held the championship at various times. Lewis says Frank Gotch taught him many of his tricks. Now Lewis has taken Gotch's son in town and will endeavor to make a champion of him. Frank Jr. is 12 years old and some day hopes to possess the laurels once held by his illustrious dad.

FROM STAGE TO TENNIS VICTORY

Tilden Rushed From Matinee To Duel With Jean Borotra.

THRILLING GAME.

NEW YORK, March 1 (Canadian Press).—William T. Tilden brought triumph to the United States Saturday in the international indoor tennis battle against France with a half hour's display of as dazzling a game as the national champion has ever exhibited. In that brief space of time Tilden overwhelmed Jean Borotra in two successive sets after the United States star had trailed his rival in two previous hours of a gruelling struggle for points.

Tilden's final margin of victory was by scores of 6—4, 8—10, 11—13, 6—1, 6—3, in the fifth and deciding contest of the three day series. It gave the native forces the verdict by three matches to two after Rebe Lacoste, the outstanding star of the invading team, had added to his laurels by trouncing Vincent Richards, 6—3, 6—1, 6—3, in the day's opening encounter. In the previous day's matches the United States had captured the doubles, while Lacoste beat Tilden and Richards vanquished Borotra in the singles.

Rushed From Theatre.

Tilden rushed to the Seventh Regiment Armory from a matinee of his Broadway show in order to take the court against Borotra. By the time he got through he barely had enough interval to speed back to the theatre, but he had given close to 7,000 fans a thrill as he came back with a savage, relentless attack to beat back the "bounding Basque," whose own brilliancy had given him a commanding lead in a brace of tensely fought deuce sets.

Borotra's scintillating overhead play and his fearless attack at the net enabled him to offset Tilden's hard driving through the first three sets, but the effort of gaining this advantage apparently robbed the Frenchman of his reserve stamina.

Lacoste's triumph over Richards not only gave the 22-year-old young French ace a clean sweep of his singles matches with the foremost stars in the United States within a fortnight's period, but was by far the most convincing exhibition of his sensational invasion. In two matches with Richards and one against Tilden Lacoste has not dropped a set. On each occasion this country's stars have been helpless before the machine-like precision and rock-ribbed steadiness of the foreigner's play.

His time was two hours twelve minutes and thirty seconds. Olaf Saetre, his brother, representing the same club, came in second.

John Nott, who retired from office as president, was made past president. J. E. Delanty, of Cobourg, was elected first vice-president, C. E. McTavish, of Oshawa, second vice-president, and Orme Gamsby, of Orono, third vice-president. A. A. Stagg, of Port Hope, was elected secretary-treasurer. The Mayor of each town, the Reeve of Clarke Township and W. E. N. Sinclair, K. C., M.P.P., were named as honorary presidents.

The Durham and Ontario Baseball Association will this year broaden out to include Brighton, Colborne, Whitby and a combination team of Orono and Bowmanville. The group will play in two sections. The western section in the intermediate series will include two teams from Oshawa, one from Whitby and the Orono-Bowmanville team. The eastern section will include Cobourg, Port Hope, Brighton and Colborne. The play-off will be between the winners of each section.

The delegates to the annual meeting of the O.B.A.A. will be George V. Strong and J. E. Delanty.

The meeting was the largest in attendance in the history of the Association, and with no senior ball in Oshawa this year, the executive of the Association expect this to be a most successful season.

FOURTEEN TIED SOCCER SCORES

Five Drawn in First Division of English League.

SCORING LOWER

LONDON, March 1.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Out of eleven games played in the first division of the English League on Saturday five were drawn, five were won by home teams and one team, Manchester United, gathered in the points away from home. District battles were waged in the north of England, Lancashire, Yorkshire and the Midlands. At Sunderland, Newcastle United held the home team to a draw; at Manchester, the city drew Liverpool; at Huddersfield Town the league leaders defeated Leeds United, and at Birmingham Aston Villa were compelled to bow to a two-one count. Blackburn Rovers were victorious on their own ground over Bolton Wanderers.

Scoring Was Lower.

In the four league divisions there were no fewer than fourteen drawn games. The scoring ruled lower than usual, 119 goals being counted in all contests. This was the lowest aggregate for the season, and it is an open question whether this result is due to temporary staleness, not unusual at this period of the season, or to the new offside rule.

The "hat-trick" was turned up on three occasions, Bedford signalising his return to Derby County by running up three goals against the Wednesday, while Robinson of Northampton and Shaw of Southend United also achieved the same feat.

Crowds Were Large.

Public interest in soccer continues undiminished, however, as attested by the 40,000 fans who witnessed the Birmingham-Aston Villa match, and the same number who saw Manchester and Liverpool play.

An incident which at one time appeared to threaten a handicap for England in their international game against Wales today at Selhurst occured at Birmingham where Walker, the villa's star forward, was carried off the field apparently severely injured shortly before the interval. Fortunately he was able to resume the second half and scored a goal.

IRELAND AT TOP OF RUGBY RACE

Defeated Scots, While England Won From France Saturday.

KING SEES GAME

LONDON, March 1 (Canadian Press).—Ireland took a clear lead in the international rugby series on Saturday when they defeated Scotland at Murrayfield park, Edinburgh by 3 points to 0. This victory, the third in succession for the Irishmen, was being won in the Scottish capital at the same time as England were blanketting France 11-0 here at Twickenham. This was England's first win this season and was France's third defeat in a row. It was also Scotland's first loss in two seasons of rugby. Ireland now stand in the most favorable position of all the international teams and should they do as well against Wales at Swansea on March 16 they will carry off the international championship for the first time since 1899.

King Meets Teams

Forty thousand spectators turned out at each game. King George was an interested spectator at Twickenham and prior to the kick-off, the players were presented to His Majesty who shook hands with them.

Weakness in the scrum in the initial period brought disaster to the Frenchmen, who played a seven-man pack for the first half. After the interval they balanced things up by drawing a man from the rear-line and putting him forward. England were two tries to the good at the turn, the home three-quarters showing some great speed and combination, while a goal, converted by Francis from a try by Kittermaster, increased England's lead in the second period. The principal fault of the French team was too great fondness for kicking, their rear men punting, when more could have been gained by some combined running efforts.

Irish Win Near End.

At Murrayfield, Ireland's victory came in the last minute of the game when Gage scored following a pretty piece of play. The Scotsmen held their Hibernian opponents throughout the first period, and for the greater part of the second, but Ireland's speed and the brilliancy of their three-quarters told in the end.

The international standing now is:

	P.	W.	D.	L.	F.	A.	Pts.
Ireland	3	3	0	0	33	15	6
Scotland	3	2	0	1	28	14	4
England	3	1	1	1	28	22	3
Wales	2	0	1	1	8	11	1
France	3	0	0	3	6	42	0

The next contest is at Swansea on March 16, when Wales meet Ireland.

INSTITUTE FOR BLIND SENDS BOOKS TO 35 LOCAL PEOPLE

Braille Literature in Library Is Incorrectly Printed and Old.

FREE SERVICE.

Institute Has Twelve Thousand Volumes of Best Braille Books.

About the most important reason that the Braille books or magazines are not in great demand at the Peterboro Public Library is because of the danger a blind person encounters in wending his way to the library on account of the congested traffic and also because of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind with headquarters at Toronto, which has a central library of over 12,000 volumes composed of Braille's system of reading for the blind. This institute has arranged with the Canadian Government for free postal service, which enables the blind of the Dominion to have free use of these volumes in their own homes absolutely free of charge. This institute has never followed the practice of lodging the Braille volumes in the different libraries for two very obvious reasons. The first is that it would take a tremendous quantity of these books to stock the libraries that that would even make a smattering of literature that should be justifably available for the blind; and secondly, but few people live in close proximity to the libraries for these books to be accessible to them.

One organization not connected with the Institute played upon the sympathy of the people by going about presenting magazines to the different libraries for loaning purposes and after securing a letter of acknowledgment from the librarian collected money from the public-spirited people of the district concerned. The print in these volumes was very bad, having at least four or five mistakes to every line and after several years' operation this enterprise was wound up about the year 1919 by the public trustee on behalf of the Canadian Government.

An accurate account of the registration bureau of the Canadian National Institute of the Blind gives the impression that there are 35 blind residents of all ages and both sexes residing in this city. The records of this institution show a decided increase in the registration of the blind of Peterborough which shows that people have developed a taste for the best literature. Through this library they are able to have a knowledge of all the best works of our English and Canadian authors.

GERMAN PEOPLE NEITHER FORGET NOR YET GIVE UP

Mussolini Calls Attention To Military Activities in Germany.

MANY AVIATORS.

General Staff Controls Railways of Country Through Militia.

PARIS, March 1 — (Canadian Press).—The Petit Parisien publishes an interview by its Rome correspondent with Premier Mussolini on the subject of the recent controversy between Germany and Italy. Premier Mussolini is reported by the newspaper as declaring that nothing in Germany had been materially changed. Military parades were still continuing, he said, and German aviation, although hampered by the provisions of the Treaty of Versailles, had advanced through the perfection of a number of technical inventions, and was proceeding to turn out numerous well-trained pilots. The railroad militia had been re-established in Germany, which meant that the general staff had regained the upper hand in the control of the railways. Mussolini concluded that these events proved that "such people do not forget, they do not give up."

Did You Ever Stop To Think?

That as spring progresses the tourist germ starts its work.

That it makes the automobilist get out his maps and figure out the trip he will make this summer.

That he reads everything that tells of wonderful scenery and of the invigorating climate of other sections.

That some of them need complete rest.

That others need considerable activity.

That all of them think they need a change of scenery.

That your city is fortunately situated in that respect, because it is located in a section where anyone can find any number of attractive places to spend a vacation.

There are many wonder-spots in your section that are easily accessible by automobile. It is always best to know your own section of the country first.

WELSH NATIVES CELEBRATE TO-DAY

St. David, Patron Saint of Wales, To Be Remembered in All Lands.

NEW YORK, March 1.—To-day is celebrated by Welshmen the world over in honor of their patron saint, St. David. If you see a man wearing something on his hat that looks like a small onion, you may know him for a fellow-countryman of Lloyd George, displaying the national emblem according to tradition on this date.

However, the sons of the sturdy sons of the ancient Welshmen who labored in the collieries that made Wales famous, are not so enthusiastic about their national emblem, the leek. It might have been all right in their great-grandmother's garden, but for a boutinniere it is passe. By stretching tradition this new generation may wear the daffodil—it's permissible under the new order of things and also has a considerably more delightful odor.

But whether or not they display the national emblem, the sons and daughters of little Wales, either in the home land or in new homes they have found beyond the seas, will celebrate the day in a manner which the custom of ages has prescribed for the occasion. In nearly every city or town of any size in America there exists a St. David's society, the members of which will gather about the festal board to-night to indulge in their annual feast, to recall the traditions of the home land, and to sing the praises of St. David. The banquet halls will be decorated in the Welsh colors, green and white. Many dishes peculiar to Wales will grace the banquet table. The speakers will hold forth eloquently on the glories of Wales and the deeds of her heroic sons, and "The Feast of Great St. David" will be sung by a bevy of young girls dressed in Welsh costume.

The observance of St. David's Day is on the supposed anniversary of the death of David. The definite date of his birth has never been established. Even the year in which he died is disputed, but most authentic sources state it was in 588.

The matter of St. David's age involves a question about as "deep" and about as necessary as the Bacon-Shakespeare controversy. Lovers of the bard of Avon don't care who wrote the works—they are good. This sentiment prevails among the Welsh people. Aside from all legend and mythology it is established by the Scriptures that St. David did accomplish much since he was the very successful Nemesis of those who believed in the teachings of Pelagius, who flourished before St. David was born. Pelagius taught a doctrine which believed in God but not in Christ. St. David was successful in wiping out the followers of Pelagius.

According to tradition 118 bishops met to protest against the Pelagian heresy and to proclaim the true faith to the great throng gathered. But nobody could make himself heard, so great was the tumult. David's name was suggested and he was sent for, and after much persuasion, induced to go. The legend states that on the way he raised from the dead the only son of a widow. When he reached the scene of the gathering he was master of the situation. The ground under his feet rolled into a little hill, where a church now stands and his voice was heard unto the uttermost parts of the assemblage. His arguments carried the day and the approaching heresy vanished. Upon this feat most of his greatness lies.

St. David is known to the Welsh people as St. Dafydd and is said to have lived to be 146 years old, although most of the modern authorities say that he died at the age of 82.

GROCER SAVES HIS PROPERTY

Cries For Help Frighten the Robbers Who Assaulted Him.

BADLY WOUNDED.

TORONTO, March 1. Canadian Press. — When two desperadoes entered his grocery store early on Sunday morning, Charles Kantavitch was so reluctant to being robbed that one of the thugs struck him a savage blow on the head with the butt of a German Luger automatic.

Kantavitch was removed to the General Hospital. The would-be robbers got away in a coupe without taking anything, being alarmed by the wounded man's cries for help.

Choir Joins Heartily In a Farewell Party

And Songsters Rhyme Their Praise of Popular Mrs. Sage.

(Contributed).

On the twenty-sixth of February,
At the closing of the day,
The choir of Murray Street Baptist Church
Assembled to laugh and play.

The home of C. B. Westbrook,
Two sixty-eight London Street,
With its cheerful hospitality,
Made a pleasant place to meet.

The occasion was a farewell,
In honor of Mrs. Sage,
The most popular little lady
The choir has seen in an age.

Everyone showed to advantage,
Playing old-fashioned games,
And original stunts by Charlie
Captured the hearts of the dames.

Grasping live wires whose voltage
Should have made them tremble with fear,
The guests wandered over the household,
Behaving decidedly queer.

They crept into every corner,
And out in the open air;
And men crawled through cellar windows
To capture their ladies fair.

Later the call came to order,
The President, Walter Kidd,
Rising in dignified fashion,
Proceeded to take off the lid.

Then mid tears and laughter,
With speeches and everything,
Mrs. Sage was presented
With a beautiful diamond ring.

Suitable songs were rendered,
Refreshments which followed were fine;
And after the clock had struck midnight,
They closed with "Auld Lang Syne."

Hon. James Lyons Resigns Ontario Cabinet

PREMIER FERGUSON DECLARES CONFIDENCE IN HIS MINISTER WHOSE COMPANY HAD BEEN DEALING WITH FIRMS THAT HAVE HAD BUSINESS WITH GOVERNMENT

Biggest Sensation in Ontario Legislature in Years—Surprise to the House.

NOTHING LEGALLY WRONG, SAYS PREMIER

Sheaf of Questions by Opposition Members Cause of Retirement.

TORONTO, March 2.—(Canadian Press).—The biggest sensation in Ontario politics for some years was sprung in the Legislature Monday afternoon when Premier G. Howard Ferguson announced the resignation from his Cabinet of Hon. James Lyons, Minister of Lands and Forests, and his acceptance of the resignation. The resignation was entirely unexpected by most of the members of the House and by the general public.

The reason given for the resignation is that the firm of which Mr. Lyons is president has been trading with persons who had Government contracts. The Lyons Fuel and Supply Company of Sault Ste. Marie, since Mr. Lyons became a Minister of the Government in 1923, has sold supplies to organizations which were doing work for the Government. Premier Ferguson said that there was nothing legally wrong in this, and Mr. Lyons defended his attitude as being honest and proper, but felt that both he, himself, and the Government must be above the least suspicion. He, therefore, resigned his Cabinet post, but declared that he would remain a member for the present session at least. He invited the Public Accounts Committee to investigate every transaction that the Lyons Fuel and Supply Company ever had with any company, persons or organizations dealing with the Government, and declared his utmost confidence that every transaction would be found honorable and legitimate.

No Comment by Members.

The letter by Mr. Lyons containing his resignation and the letter written in reply by the Premier accepting the resignation are both brief, but each read a long statement to the House, which received them in silence and with no comment. The Premier did not announce any Cabinet changes, but already there are rumors regarding what is liable to happen. The most common rumor last night was that the Premier himself will take the Department of Lands and Forests and give up the portfolio of Minister of Education, naming a man for the last post as soon as possible. An alternative will be to make F. H. Keefer, present Secretary for Northern Ontario, the Minister of Lands and Forests. If an outsider were chosen he could be given an opportunity to run in the Northern Ontario seat, Kenora, made vacant by the resignation of Peter Heenan, who was elected to the House of Commons. However, nothing authoritative is forthcoming on any Cabinet reorganization so early after the resignation.

Dangerous Practice.

Mr. Lyons states both in his letter of resignation and his statement to the House that his business in Sault Ste. Marie has been built up by selling materials to contractors and timber companies and mines which had to do with the Government, and rather than give up this business he is obliged to resign from the Government. The Premier in his statement reviewed at some length the history of cases in Ontario where members and Cabinet Ministers had some trouble by finding themselves trading with the Government in an indirect and innocent manner. He defends warmly Mr. Lyons from wrong intent. He speaks of firms suppling the engineers under the Northern Development Department buying supplies, and adds: "From time to time supplies are required by them, and while they may be within the law and justified in a legal sense in purchasing from the Lyons Fuel and Supply Company where their prices are lowest, yet with the head of this company as a Minister of the Crown it is not only dangerous but a highly improper practice."

CORRESPONDENCE BETWEEN PREMIER FERGUSON AND RETIRING MINISTER

Questions By Opposition Members Suggested Business Advantage for His Company, Hon. James Lyons Wrote in Resignation.

TORONTO, Mar. 2 (Canadian Press)—Hon., Mr. Lyon's letter to Premier Ferguson was as follows:

March 1st, 1926.

"Dear Mr. Ferguson,—The numerous questions placed upon the order paper recently making enquiries of a general character in reference to business relations between the Lyons fuel and supply Co., Ltd., of which I am a shareholder, and president, and customers that the Lyons Fuel and Supply Co. Ltd., may be doing business with, are evidently placed there with the idea of establishing in the minds of the public, by inference, that the position of Minister of Lands and Forests, that I occupy is being used to the advantage of the Lyons Fuel and Supply Co. Ltd.

"May I point out to you, sir, that the Lyons Fuel and Supply Co. Ltd., was established in a small way in July,19 13, I being in direct charge from its inception until 1923. The business commenced as a general fuel business, and has been increased and enlarged from year to var as conditions and circumstances would permit until it is recognized now as a general wholesale and retail fuel and builders supply business with business relations extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific, but trading particularly in Northern Ontario with mining companies, lumbering companies, pulp and paper companies, municipal corporations, and the general public.

Discussed Last Year

"You will recall that last year when the question of the advisability of members of the legislature who were shareholders in joint stock companies doing business with the government was discussed that I willingly stated on the floor of the house that, as far as I was concerned, I would undertake to see that no further business was transacted by the Lyons Fuel and Supply Co. Ltd. with the government while I was a members of the house, and I notified the Lyons Fuel and Supply Co., Ltd., accordingly.

"You will appreciate the fact that where a well established business has been built up through years of effort with large industrial concerns, to discontinue such a business would bring disastrous results, and you will also realize, I hope, that to comply with the unprecedented requests and submit to the public the business transaction of any established business with its customers would be just as disastrous.

Continue in Business

"It is not my desire to embarrass you or your government in any way, or, to retard by any action of mine the progress that your government is making in re-establishing prosperity and confidence in the minds of the necessity of responsible government, and, as I cannot undertake to discontinue the business relations of the Lyons Fuel and Supply Co. Ltd., with its established customers, I beg sir, to tender herewith my resignation as Minister of Lands and Forests in your government. May I express to you my sincere appreciation of the confidence you have placed in me by appointing me to the position, and I have endeavored to reciprocate by serving loyally and efficiently.

"Yours very truly,
James Lyons."

Premier's Reply

The Premier's reply to Mr. Lyons follows:

Toronto, March 1, 1926.

"Dear Mr. Lyons,—I am in receipt of your letter of today's date tendering your resignation as Minister of Lands and Forests in the present government.

"In accepting your resignation I desire to express the deepest regret that your splendid ability as an administrator will be no longer available to the province.

"I thoroughly appreciate your view of the situation and your determination that no opportunity to those opposed to this administration to cast reflection upon yourself and upon the government.

"I have the utmost confidence in your integrity and refuse to believe that you at any time or in any way made use of your position as a minister of the crown to further your personal interests either through your connection with the Lyons Fuel and Supply Co. or in any other manner. The fact that the customers of your business are to be largely found in Northern Ontario among the various business organizations who are more or less dependent upon or have relations with the government has rendered your position as head of a department, whose activities have chiefly to do with the north country, a most delicate and difficult one and lends itself to those who may desire through innuendo or contortion to mislead the public and to discredit yourself and the administration.

"While I regret that these circumstances have arisen, may I say that I fully concur in the conclusion you have reached and the action you have taken.

"The cordial relationship that has always existed between yourself and the other members of the government will increase our regret that you are to be no longer associated with us.

Yours very truly,
G. Howard Ferguson."

Statement to House

The Prime Minister read the following statement to the House: "The principle of the independence of parliament, is one of the most firmly established and most important safeguards of our representative institutions. Originally asserted as a protection against encroachments by the crown, it has been continued as a check upon governments representing the authority of the crown. It is designed to insure that governments will not by the distribution of favors exercise undue influence over legislators. The principle comes to us with the sanction of long established usage and is necessary to uphold the honor, the dignity and the authority of parliament. Yet it has been found in actual practice that the rule cannot be rigidly enforced without some reasonable modification. For this reason we have in the law the provision that a member of the Legislature shall not be disqualified by reason of being a shareholder in an incorporated company which has business relations with the government."

After reciting a number of cases in which members had incurred disqualificaton the Premier continued:

"The determination of this government has always been not only that there shall be no wrong doing, but that nothing shall be permitted that can be so construed as to create suspicion or shake public confidence in the integrity of the government or any of its members. It is of the utmost importance that public men should be above the shadow of suspicion.

"There is a tendency today with a certain element of the public and a section of the press by suggestion and misrepresentation and allegation without foundation, from motives best known to themselves to cast discredit upon and even vilify those engaged in the public service. It is most deplorable, but none the less true, that this condition estranged many public spirited outstanding business men from entering public life and giving the province and the country the benefit of their abiltiy and training.

Confidence in Lyons

"In the case of Mr. Lyons I desire to say that I have every confidence in his integrity. Owing to the very nature of his private business and the constituency which he serves and upon which it depends for its existence, the opportunity is afforded for the creation of suspicion. There are three features of this relationship that I would like to draw to the attention of the house. Firstly, a great deal of public work in the way of road construction and otherwise is carried on under the immediate direction of the northern development branch. Engineers are in charge of these various works. From time to time supplies are required by them and while they may be within the law and justified in purchasing from the Lyons Fuel and Supply Company where their price are lowest. Yet

A Name on a Cross--

JOHN CHARLES SMITH

I see across the shrapnel-seeded meadows
The jagged rubble heap of Julien,
Blood-guilty Pilckem brooding in the shadows
And Hooge's chateau empty as a shell.
Down Ypres' riven streets the moon is leering,
The Langemarck hillside takes its bitter ray;
And all the road from Poperinghe I'm hearing
The shrapnel and the lyddite deadly spray.

Once more within the sky's deep sapphire hollow
I see a swimming Taube, a fairy thing,
I watch the angry shell flame flash and follow
In feather puffs that flick a tilted wing.
And then I see, with a devil magic wrought,
The crawling green of gas fumes; slimy death;
The batteries are rancorously crashing
And life depends on just another breath.

Oh! Spacious day of glory and of grieving,
Oh! Sounding hours of lustre and of loss;
Let us be glad we lived you, still believing
The God who gave the cannon gave the Cross.
Let us remember well the men whose crosses stand
From Zonnebeke to Brielen, Hooge to Keerselle;
Remember those who held the line there, and fell,
And he who fought, and now comes home to die.

—Adapted from Service.

John Charles Smith, one of Peterborough's few remaining heroes of the Second Battle of Ypres, was borne to his grave in Little Lake Cemetery this afternoon. He died on Saturday as the result of poison gas inhaled on the day when he, with Canada's First Division, held the road to Ypres.

The history of that battle which raged for days around Ypres has not yet been officially written, but when it is it must give the Canadians the right to stand side by side with the superb British troops who, in the first battle of Ypres, broke and drove before them the flower of the Prussian Guards.

"As long as brave deeds retain the power to fire the blood of Anglo-Saxons," says Sir Max Aitken, "the stand made by the Canadians in those desperate days will be told by fathers to their sons; for in the military records of Canada this defence will shine as brightly as, in the records of the British Army, the stubborn valor with which Sir James Macdonnel and the Guards beat back from Hougoumont the division of Foy and the Army Corps of Reille."

On April 22nd, 1915, the Canadian Division held a line of about five thousand yards, connecting on the left with the French troops. At five o'clock in the evening, after a peaceful, sunny day, an attack was launched upon the French troops, accompanied by asphyxiating gas. The Turcos and Zouaves broke and fled, leaving thousands dead and dying along the four-mile gap through which the Germans were pouring. The rout left the left flank of the Canadian troops unprotected, and they were compelled to extend southward to nine thousand yards.

Facing at least four enemy divisions supported by immensely heavy artillery which pounded their batteries continuously the Canadians fought through the day and through the night and then through another day and night; fought from the impulsion of sheer valor—to again quote Sir Max Aitken—because they came of fighting stock.

At midnight a counter-attack was made to recover four British guns captured by the enemy in the advance earlier in the evening, and successfully carried out by the Canadian troops. On Friday morning another attack was made by the First Brigade, under the covering fire of the 1st Canadian Artillery Brigade, in which was the battery with which John Smith was serving. The astonishing attack, pushed home in the face of direct frontal fire, made in broad daylight by units whose names should live for ever in the memories of soldiers, was carried to victory. The charge, made by men who looked death indifferently in the face—for no man who took part in it could think he was likely to live—saved the Canadian left and secured in the most critical moment the Allied line.

The Artillery Brigade in which John Smith served is specially mentioned for its services in this attack. Through sleepless days and nights when so much depended upon their support, the guns were never silent. Not a Canadian gun was lost in the long battle. Galloping close to help in a critical advance; madly retiring to take position to cover a desperate retreat; shelled, gassed, and decimated by machine-gun fire, the Artillery broke many a mustering field-grey column and gave brazen tongue to the battle-cry of the front line: "They shall not pass." The batteries found themselves in such situations that they were compelled to turn two of their guns directly about and fire, back to back, over open sights, at an enemy pouring down on both flanks. Some gunners seized rifles, and kept off attacks while the guns were served. And over all was the acrid gas.

This is the battle in which John Smith was gassed. Nineteen of his comrades in the brigade were killed and nearly a hundred wounded, but he came home, to die nearly eleven years afterward.

The graveyard of Canada in Flanders is large, very large. Those who lie there have left their mortal remains on alien soil; to Canada they have bequeathed their memories and their glory.

On Fame's eternal camping ground
Their silent tents are spread,
And Glory guards with solemn round
The bivouac of the dead.

And to-night, in peaceful Little Lake Cemetery, lies one of Peterborough's boys who died as clearly in his country's service as did they; one who knew the glory of the epic struggle that is Canada's pride and sorrow.

There are not many left, now, of the men who fought at St. Julien, and the passing of John Smith should not be unnoted.

DUMMER BOY SUCCUMBS

John Dwyer Passes Away After Alleged Maltreatment In His Farm Home in Dummer

Charge of Neglect Against Father May Be Changed and Police Go To Bring in Foster Mother — Boy Was Frozen and Starved.

INQUEST PROBABLE, CORONER SAYS.

Everything Done By Doctors and Nurses To Build Up Wasted Frame—Sister and Brother Are Progressing Toward Recovery — Hope Never Strong.

Little John Dwyer couldn't stick it out! He died this morning soon after the midnight hour, his tired little spirit leaving with reluctance a body which had been forced to plumb the depths of abuse and mistreatment before it as schooled to withstand the shocks of life. Life, brief as he knew it, exacted too much of John Dwyer, so the frail, but game little chap, slipped quietly away where there will be such peace as he has quite probably never known.

Doctors and nurses did their utmost to save the twelve-year-old boy. Day and night they watched at the bedside where John lay, they carried nourishing things to build up strength and they encouraged long restful slumbers but it was all too late. There were too many gaps in the shattered battlements of health—the last reserves of strength had been expended. Too long, the weakened body had been functioning without sustaining food until the very tissues and fibers of flesh had been consumed by wracking cold and pain. So he died.

It was not unlooked for. Almost from the very first there had been but little hope for him in the minds of his attendants. One doctor reported yesterday that vitality was slowly ebbing and that there was uncertainty spelled by the flickering pulse beats. So after a manner, it was expected. But one can feel a distinct sense of shock in the arrival of a fore-ordained event. One could imagine that such a thing could happen in a hopelessly heathen land, One might expect such a tale to emanate out of the vexed land of Soviet; but this is different, this drama with its spectral attendant was enacted in Canada where the teaching of humanity is accepted and promoted as the doctrine for the world. Believers in that doctrine support costly missions in far distant lands. How could it happen here?

Others Recovering

John is gone. John's big sister and little brother remain. Nellie is making gradual gains and is staying in the city with her aunt, under the supervision of the Children's Aid Society. It was discovered recently that her foot is very sore. She said that it was stepped on while she was trying to feed a horse. She, a little girl of thirteen, had been sent out to do the chores around the stable, and while doing them one of the heavy animals had implanted a sharply calked iron shod hoof squarly on her instep.

George is also responding favorably to skilled attention. When he was brought to the City by Provincial Constable N. F. Maker and John Edgar, he weighed but 30 pound. He should have weighed 60 pounds. He was taken from the train on a stretcher and it was found that one great toe had been frozen off at the second joint and that one heel and two fingers had also been frozen.

George Dwyer the father of the children is at present facing a charge of neglect, but it is quite possible that in view of the death of the one child, the charge will be changed.

Dr. T. W. H. Young said today that while he was not yet certain, an inquest would probably be held.

NOW, HONESTLY—

Summer's comin'—an' so's yer old garden.

'Sfunny how a fellow plans, and plans all winter on the wonderful flowers he's gonna have—

And then forgets about them when planting time arrives.

Truth of the matter is, you're passing up a double-barreled opportunity, when you slight the growing of flowers.

They please the Mrs., in the first place, and they help to keep this li'l old world more beautiful, in the second.

Plan on planting—and then plant!

GOVERNMENT GIVES NOTICE OF APPLICATION OF CLOSURE RULE TO HOUSE DEBATE ON ADDRESS

Means Suspension of Debate at Two o'clock Wednesday Morning.

THREE DIVISIONS.

First on Closure, Second on Progressive Motion and Third on Address.

OTTAWA, Mar. 2 (Canadian Press)—The Mackenzie King Government last night gave notice of closure in the House of Commons. This means that at two o'clock on Wednesday morning, the debate on the address which has been in progress for about six weeks will be ended and the house will vote. There will then be an automatic adjournment until March 15.

Three divisions are probable before this adjournment becomes effective; first today on the application of the closure; second on the motion for the previous question submitted some days ago by a Progressive and third on the address in reply to the speech from the throne. Under the closure rule a member may speak once only and then for not more than twenty minutes. The debate ends automatically at 1 a.m. the next day or on Wednesday morning in the present case, whether all members have spoken or not.

The provision for the closure was adopted by the Canadian house about thirteen years ago but it is rarely put into effect. Last night's step is another stage in the continuous parliametary battle waged since the house opened early in January. Following the defeat of the motion of non-confidence, the government secured the adoption of a motion providing for adjournment, after the conclusion of the debate on the address, till March 15th. The adjournment, according to Government announcements, was for the purpose of making cabinet changes and it was estimated at six weeks. The Conservatives met the move by continuing to make speeches on the address. In this manner four of the six weeks have already been exhausted.

As matters stand, the closure will mean adjournment from March 3rd to March 15th instead of the original six weeks.

With the exception of a few minutes at the opening, the Conservatives yesterday continued the debate on the address through the entire sitting, afternoon and evening. The topics ranged from the coal supply to the Rouyn Railway. L. B. MacDougall, Conservative, of Inverness, N.S., predicted that American anthracite would in ten years be selling in Canada at from $25 to $30 a ton unless other sources of supply were developed.

Mr. MacDougall urged a higher tariff on bituminous and anthracite. He also pressed for the recognition of Maritime rights. H. B. Short of Digby - Annapolis suggested that rural credits should be extended to fishermen-farmers of the sea. Dr. I. L. Chabot of Ottawa spoke of Premier King's reference to the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway as a "brazen bribe" to the electors of the West. J. R. O'Neill of North Temiskaming thought the Rouyn railway was "another scribe hotel."

Diversity Factor Explains "Magic" Says Utilities Commission Chairman

Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—In Saturday's Examiner Mr. R. R. Hall attacks the Utilities Commission on the ground that they sold more power than they purchased and sold it at a less rate per horse power than they paid for it.

Mr. Hall calls this magic. There is no secret or magic about it.

One of the chief factors in handling electricity is the diversity factor—that is, the fact that all users are not using the full amount of their loads at the same time.

This operates in more ways than one. The electricity used for light is not all used at the same time as the electricity used for power. This is especially true in the summer months, when the bulk of the light load is largely off, for many power users do not operate more than ten hours and others do not use their full load at night.

Another feature of the diversity factor is that all the power users do not draw their full load at the same time, neither do all the domestic users have their full loads on at the same time.

This diversity in the time of the use of their full loads by power users especially, and also domestic users, enables the seller of electricity, whether a municipality or a private owner, to sell the electricity at a less price than is paid for it or than it costs to produce and to make a profit, because they purchase it on a 24 hour basis and sell some of it on an eight and ten hour basis and even less.

There is another feature in this diversity factor. The Hydro Electric Commission furnishes power to a number of municipalities in the Central Ontario System, and the System as a whole receives a benefit from the diversity factor between the different municipalities, and Peterboro along with the other municipalities receives the advantage of this benefit.

Yours very truly,
E. F. MASON,
Chairman Peterborough Utilities Commission.

CLOTH COMPANY WILL BE ASKED TO COMPLY WITH BY-LAW TERMS UNDER WHICH IT IS ASSESSED

To Be Asked To Submit Statement That Employment Has Been Given.

NEVER TURNED IN.

Council Says Assessment Saves Company $2,000, Which Should Be Collected.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 1.—At the March meeting of the Town Council last night Councillor O'Sullivan moved, seconded by Councillor Cole, that Clerk McGregor write the management of the Campbell Cloth Company asking them for a statement to show whether or not they are complying with the terms of their agreement with the town by which they were granted a fixed assesment on their property. This motion was carried unanimously.

In the year 1910 a by-law was submitted to the taxpayers, and carried, giving the company a fixed assessment of $50,000. In return for this concession the company agreed to employ at least 220 hands eleven months in the year, and to make a statutory statement not later than the 1st of March every year showing that these conditions were being complied with. According to the town officials, it seems that no such statement has ever been filed.

Other terms of the agreement with the company provide that if the latter fails to employ the stipulated number of workers or in any way does not carry out the terms of the contract, it shall for that year pay taxes on the full amount of its assessment for town and school purposes alike. The present assessment on the plant for school purposes is $131,000.

Fore some time the company has not been running to capacity, and about two years ago the finishing and dyeing departments were removed to Toronto in which city the firm has another factory. This change threw a number of highly salaried local employees out of work and several were obliged to seek positions elsewhere, while others were removed to the Toronto branch.

A Saving in Taxes

Speaking to his motion last night, Councillor O'Sullivan said that the fixed assessment meant a saving to the company of about $2,000 a year. If the by-law is not being lived up to, then the full amount of taxes should be charged. This charge can be made if the company defaults for one year and if for two years then the fixed assessment is forfeited altogether.

Clerk McGregor had the by-law which was endorsed by the taxpayers in 1910, and in which the above conditions are clearly set forth.

$300 Grant to Fair

President Wyse, ex-President Locke, T. J. Horkins, and Dr. S. L. O'Hara, directors of the Seymour Agricultural Society, all addressed the Council, asking for a grant. Mr. Horkins, who was the chief speaker, called attention to the fact that the society furnished the town with 10 acres of park and playground for which no charge was made. Twice a year big bills are got out and posted all over the district advertising the fair, and these posters help to advertise the town at the same time. Additional buildings are needed and more money than ever is required this year. The fair also helps to provide the public with pure milk, beef, cheese and butter as no deceased animals are allowed inside the grounds.

Another argument used by Mr. Horkins was that the fair directors have granted the town the free use of the grounds as a site for an auto tourists' camp, except for the two days when they are needed by the society, and has also agreed to permit the Council to store the municipal road machinery in the fair buildings when these implements are not in use.

Deputy-Reeve Palliser, who had appeared before the Board of Direetors as a delegate from the Council confirmed what Mr. Horkins had said with reference to the tourists' camp and the use of the buildings for the road machinery adding that the latter concession would save the municipality $60 a year in rent. He moved that the directors be given $300, the same amount that was voted them last year. After the other directors present had addressed the Council, the grant was passed unanimously.

To Hold Special Session.

The Council will hold a special session at the call of the Mayor to deal with a matter which has arisen out of the recent B.O.T.A. case, this having been first called to the attention of the councillors at the February meeting. The father of one of the four boys convicted maintained then, and does so yet, that his son had not been given a fair deal and asked the Council to refund him the fine of $75 and the costs which he had been required to pay in order to secure the son's release.

The father last night appeared before the Council with a copy of the evidence taken at the Police Court hearing and asked that action be taken forthwith.

Mayor Kingston said that a matter so important should be taken up at a special session when Magistrate Payne and Police Chief Brown and Assistant Chief Light could be present to present their side of the case. He did not think that the father had taken the proper course and that instead of coming to the Council he should have appealed against the finding of Magistrate Payne.

The father made a serious charge against some of the officials and stated that all he was looking for was a fair deal. He had, he said, always been under the impression that the Council was elected to look after the interests of the town and of the people as well.

Deputy-Reeve Palliser said that he had thought that the last had been heard of this matter and, for one, he had no idea that it was to be brought up again last night. On his motion it was decided to have the Mayor call a special meeting.

Ready For Guests.

The town jail has been finally put in shape for the reception of prisoners, and it will no longer be necessary to take to the bastile at Warkworth any person arrested here while awaiting a hearing in the Police Court. Deputy-Reeve Palliser, who is chairman of the Police Committee, reported that the cells had been made habitable at a cost of $100.

New Industries in Prospect.

Mayor Kingston was authorized to go to Toronto to interview a firm that is talking of establishing a business here as the town possesses all the advantages that the enquirers are looking for.

There is another industry in prospect, and a public meeting will be called to give a representative of this concern an opportunity to explain his proposition.

Join In Petition.

The Council will join the city of Hamilton in a petition to the Lieutenant-Governor, asking that a percentage of the amusement tax be paid to the municipalities in which the collections are made and that no tax be levied on gasoline for the autos used by police and firemen.

Other Business Matters.

The question of what kind of a bridge is to be put up at Simpson Street, the abutments of which are already built, will be decided at the special meeting.

It was decided to make an attempt to secure a reduction in fire insurance rates after Mayor Kingston had explained that Belleville had been successful in getting a cut of 15 per cent. by submitting to the underwriters a statement of the fire fighting apparatus in use together with figures to show the total loss by fire in the town for the past five years. This method will be followed by a committee consisting of the Mayor and Clerk and Councillor Wiggins, and Reeve Davidson, the latter being chief of the fire brigade.

The reports of Auditors Jenkins and Wilson was accepted and these officials will receive their salaries. Councillors Wiggins, who is chairman of the finance committee to whom the report was referred at the last meeting, said that the auditors deserved credit for their excellent work. They had, he said, done a perfect job.

One of the recommendations of the auditors was that a fire proof safe be procured in which to keep the town's valuable papers.

Clerk McGregor was instructed to ascertain the cost of such an equipment.

Another recommendation of the auditors was that all the employees of the town, except the office staff, be insured under the Workmen's Compensation Act, and the clerk will also find out the cost of this to the town.

The Canine Population.

"So far this year there have been nine dog licenses sold," said Councillor McDonald, "and if there is one dog in this town there are 900."

On the motion of Councillor McDonald it was decided to have the Chief of Police look after the collection of this tax.

"I have been asked by a local resident," said the Mayor, "if the Council would care to sell the Ogilvie building."

The sentiment of the Council was against such a step as the hope still exists that this building may become a more valuable civic asset. It has been leased to the Federal government for an armouries for the past three years and this lease has just been renewed for the same length of time.

L.T.B. SOCIAL EVENING

Many People Attended Supper and Dance at Armouries.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 2.—The ladies of the Duchess of Clarence L.T.B. Lodge held a very successful supper on Friday evening in the Armories. Over two hundred people sat down to a bountiful supper, which was served from 6.00 until 9.00 o'clock. C. W. Palliser as chairman, opened the meeting with a few well chosen remarks. Solos were given by Mrs. Bates and H. Cubitt, several selections by the Campbellford String Orchestra and two very interesting dialogues by Mesdames Shaw, McArthur and Malhoit, and Robert McArthur. After the programme was over, the rest of the evening was spent in dancing.

PRISONERS ESCAPE.

Five Free in New Brunswick Jail Delivery.

NEWCASTLE, N.B., March 2.—(Canadian Press.)—Five prisoners, all remanded on charges of theft at Doaktown and Chatham Head, broke out of jail here during Sunday night. Deputy Sheriff Doran had made his nightly inspection at midnight and the escape must have been made between then and daylight. An iron bar, said to have had a flaw in it, was broken and used as a pry to shift the other bars. Blankets were used to lower the prisoners to the ground.

PICTURE GIVEN TO RETIRING MANAGER

Group Photo of Board Presented to Dr. G. A. Hay.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 1.—Rev. James Grier and the Board of Managers of St Andrew's Presbyterian church called at the residence of Dr. G. A. Hay on Friday night and presented him with a handsomely framed group photo of the members of the Board and an address expressing appreciation of the services of the doctor as an official of the church. Dr. Hay has been associated with St. Andrew's church during his long residence here and since the union movement became effective he has been one of the most active workers. When the congregation was reorganized he was elected a members of the Board of Managers and was chosen chairman of that body, holding that position until the annual meeting last month. He resigned then and stepped back into the ranks, his reason being that interest in the work could be best maintained by passing the offices around.

The address commended the doctor highly for the readiness with which he came to the front when the congregation was passing through a crisis and for the diligence and efficiency with which he labored as an official to maintain the high standard that had been set up by the pioneer Presbyterians of Campbellford.

The members of the Board who were associated with Dr. Hay during the past, (a year which proved the most successful in the long history of the congregation) besides the pastor, were: R. J. Allan, secretary; R. N. Morrison, treasurer; Harry Townsend, John S. Wallace, Ernest Haig, Reginald McCulloch, Andrew Govan and W. S. Russell who died during the year. The pictures of all these are included in the group. After the presentation a pleasant social hour was spent and the party was hospitably entertained by Dr. and Mrs. Hay. In the address which was presented to her husband, Mrs. Hay was not overlooked, the members of the Board tender her their thanks for the interest she has always taken and the help she has at all times been ready to give in church work.

NO DEMAND FOR BY-ELECTIONS

No Political Advantage Because of Government Majority, Ferguson Says.

ANSWERS RANEY

TORONTO, March 2.— (Canadian Press.)—Premier Ferguson in the Legislature to-day, replying to a question placed on the order paper by W. E. Raney, Progressive leader, asking why the government had not filled the seven vacancies in the House before the session opened, read a long statement of reasons. He declared that it was not unusual for a legislature to open with vacant seats. In 1922 the session was held with two vacant seats, although at that time a difference of two on the opposition side would have made a great political change. "That was keeping seats open for political advantage," said the Premier. "There could be no political advantage to any party if we filled the present seven vacancies because the government majority is too large."

The Premier said that five members resigned last fall to go into the Federal campaign. "We could not have had by-elections then because the country was too much interested in the Federal elections. We would simply have added to the turmoil. When that turmoil was over it was too late to have by-elections in several of the vacant ridings because winter had come and there is a general opinion against winter elections in Ontario. Further there was no demand from the vacant ridings for by-elections. I had only one request for an election in any of the seven vacant ridings. To have held elections in any one or two of the ridings would have looked like discrimination. It could not have changed the standing anyway. We think we pursued the proper course in not holding the by-elections."

LEAGUE MEETING WELL ATTENDED

Many Other Activities in Bethany During Past Week.

BETHANY, March 2—The Young People's League on Wednesday evening was well attended. Rev. Poulter took the topic. Several duets and readings helped make an interesting programme. P. C. Brown, the president, resigned owing to his removal from the village, in the near future. Upon motion by Mrs. T. Jackson, and unanimously carried, Bertrand Monk was elected president for the remainder of the year. Impromptu speeches were made by both the new and retiring presidents.

The Ladies Aid of the United church met at Mrs. F. C. Dawe's home on Friday afternoon instead of Thursday afternoon, owing to the wet weather on Thursday. About twenty-five members were present. After the regular business period, a social half hour was enjoyed by all, the hostess serving tea.

Thursday evening the members of St. Paul's Anglican church enjoyed an illustrated lecture on life and travel in India, the speaker being a missionary home on furlough.

On Friday evening the Agricultural and Home Economic classes which have been in session for the month of February with boys and girls of the village and surrounding country in attendance, gave a farewell entertainment in the Town Hall. The hall was crowded to the doors. Speeches, music and dancing were enjoyed until three o'clock in the morning. Byams' three-piece orchestra of Millbrook was present to play for the dance. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge and every one present enjoyed the good time.

FARM RESIDENCE A COMPLETE LOSS

Family Awakened By Smoke in Sidney Township Home.

STIRLING, March 2.—The residence of Newton Bird, 7th Concession of Sidney Township, near Oak Lake, was completely destroyed by fire last Friday night, at 1 o'clock. The occupants were awakened by smoke. The fire had made such progress that they were unable to save much of the contents. In the cellar was stored a great quantity of potatoes and apples also a number of skips of bees. By going in an outside cellarway, they were able to save part of the bees, but the potatoes and apples were mostly destroyed. Mr. Bird had been preparing a load of apples for Saturday's market, and having built a fire in the room where he was working, it is supposed an over-heated stove pipe was the cause of the fire.

Mr. Bird suffered the loss of his barn and contents by fire a few years ago, so great sympathy is extended to him in the present calamity. The house was one of the older houses in Sidney, having been built 57 years ago, by Mr. Bird's father, the late James Bird. The family has moved into a vacant house on a nearby farm for the present.

CHANGE IN TRAINS NOT SATISFACTORY

Train From West Through Bethany to Peterboro is Always Late.

BETHANY, March 2. — The change in train service on the C.P.R. in the past week has been anything but satisfactory, so far for this village. The change came but by removing the Port McNichol train and adding two day coaches to the way freight which arrives at this station at 9 a.m. bound for Lindsay. It is scheduled to arrive at 4.15 bound for Peterboro but so far has always been late and on Friday night it was one hour and forty minutes late and a number of passengers for Peterboro sat all that time in the station while a number decided to remain in the village over night and take the early morning train out.

U. S. Official Urges Creation of Commission For Thorough Study.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2. (Canadian Press)—The creation of a commission to study the general prohibition question in all its aspects was proposed Monday by Assistant Secretary Andrew of the Treasury Department in charge of dry law enforcement. With both Senate and House preparing to take steps to inquire into conditions under prohibition and with wet and dry organizations engaged in bitter controversy over it, Mr. Andrews declared that he believed the time had come for thorough study of the question in its economic, social and other phases.

MRS. WILLIAM HUTCHINSON

NORWOOD, March 2—Mrs. William Hutchinson, another of the old residents of this district, was laid to rest in the Norwood cemetery on Friday afternoon last. The deceased who was 80 years of age, lived for a number of years in the village where her husband (the late William Hutchinson) conducted a shoe shop Some years ago he gave up business in the village and purchased the farm now owned by Mr. John McNaughton after which, he with his family moved to the district near Westwood, where Mrs. Hutchinson passed away on Wednesday morning last. Three sons and on daughter are left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother. The service at the home was taken by Rev. Mr. Archibald of Keene and at the cemetery by Rev. T. M. Wesley of Norwood.

SEWING CLASS GIRLS ENTERTAIN FRIENDS

Successful Party in Town Hall—Enjoyable Time Spent.

WARSAW, March 2.—The sewing class girls gave a party on Tuesday evening. Each girl invited one friend. The boys of the agricultural class were invited and each of them might bring a friend. The instructors were there

The bareness of the Town Hall was relieved by large curtains. Mr. Currie kindly consented to act as chairman and in his address he spoke of the work of the class, of these classes and regretted that they were all held during school hours, as he would like to have attended some.

The program included "How do you do?" by the girls; recitations by Mr. W. S. Anderson, Gwendolyn McQuaig, Evelyn McMurray, Nellie Bullock; songs by Mr. Rufus Payne and Mrs. O. McIlvena; duet by Misses Willa Darling and Nellie Bullock, and community singing led by Mrs. George Taylor. Mr. Saeger spoke of tthe work of the class. Some of the scholars showed a great interest in their work. His regret was that there were not several more.

Mrs. D. Miller spoke of the work of the millinery and sewing classes and expressed the hope that when chances come to hold short course classes here they will be accepted.

There was one contest on naming automobiles. Partners for lunch were found by names of things found on a farm.

PASSENGER TRAIN STALLED IN DRIFT

Monday's Storm Worst of Season Around Lindsay.

LINDSAY, March 2.—This district was visited by the worst snow storm of the season Monday morning, and as a result the C.N.R. had its first problem of the winter in keeping the lines clear for traffic. The passenger train from Coboconk, which is due here at 10.10 a.m., was stalled in a huge drift at Victoria road, and a number of plows were sent out from the local yards to open up traffic. The train had not reached Lindsay at 6 o'clock last evening.

Reports from the eastern end of the division conveyed the information that the Madoc line was stormbound for three hours, and that only the good work of the plows prevented a complete tie-up of the service.

Railway officials declared that this storm was the most severe in years. Pratically every plow in the service was brought into action. If a windstorm follows, the cuts will fill in rapidly completely demoralizing the service.

Restored Strength and Former Good Health.

Quebec Lady Was Weak, Excessively Nervous, Depressed and Weighed Down With Lumbago

Mrs. E. Boyd Took Three Weeks' Treatment of Dodd's Kidney Pills and Amazing Results Followed.

DUNANY, P.Q., March 1.—(Special).—That Dodd's Kidney Pills brings back health and strength is proved by the following statement from Mrs. E. Boyd, who resides at Dunany.

She writes:—"I took your Dodd's Kidney Pills because I was weak and excessively nervous. I was unable to work without feeling depressed, was also weighed down with lumbago and had no appetite. It has only taken a few weeks' treatment of Dodd's Kidney Pills to restore my strength and courage and former good health."

This statement speaks for itself. Ninety per cent. of the ills from which women suffer come from weak or diseased kidneys. They are the organs that strain all the impurities out of the blood. If they fail to do this, the impurities remain in the blood and are deposited all over the body.

SOUTH MONAGHAN CLUB'S ICE PARTY

BAILIEBORO, March 1. — On Wednesday evening the members of the South Monaghan Young People's Club held a skating party, and several sleigh loads of the young folks from this district drove over to Millbrook, to enjoy a night's skating on the Cosmos Rink.

The ice was in excellent condition for skating, while the bright moonlight night made the event most successful.

Among those who took in the skating party were Misses F. Barnard, L. and E. Perrin, V. White, L. Stutt, S. Rutherford, F. Bonneycastle, F. Telford, M. Dawson, E. Donaldson, E. Tate M. Emberson, E. Huggins, Miss Weir, H. Staples, D. Hall; Messrs. J. Pue, H. Dawson, E. Eagleson, R. and D. Rutherford, F. Barnard, H. Campbell, M. Wood, I. Muskrat, W. Johnston, F. Wood, G. Morrison W. Waterman, C. Rowland, W. and C. Hall, E. Hutchison, G. Gainer and others.

CORRESPONDENCE BETWEEN PREMIER

with the head of this company as a minister of the crown it is not only dangerous but a highly improper practice.

"Secondly, there is the case of sales to independent contractors who have secured their contracts by public tender and are ordinarily entitled to buy supplies where they wish. There could be nothing inherently or legally improper where the Lyons Fuel and Supply Co., sells under such circumstances. Yet there is the opportunity for those desiring to direct criticism at the minister or the government to cast suspicion or such tarnsactions and it is better in the public interest that such sales should not take place.

"Thirdly, there is a phase of the subject where the Lyons Fuel and Supply Co., have been doing business with lumber companies and mining organizations over a long period of years. I think no one would suggest that these business relations should be severed. They began before the minister occupied any public position and will doubtless continue on strictly business basis whether he be minister or not. Yet Mr. Lyons, keenly sensitive of his personal honor feels that in view of active criticism intended to injure both him and the government he should no longer continue in a position that makes these activities possible."

Mr. Lyons supplemented his letter with another statement delivered with some feeling. There were "cunningly devised questions" put on the order papers, he said, intended to create suspicion that he had "corruptly sold supplies to those that had contracts with the government."

In Committee

"When the members of this house know the true facts, and I suppose they will come out in the public accounts committee," declared Mr. Lyons, "they will know that my business has suffered and suffered substantially since I became a minister of the crown."

He pointed out that it was possible for some to carry on their business, notably the legal profession, "but when your humble servant tries to carry on his business he has to carry this load of suspicion. I know a great deal of it is politics, of course, and I accept the situation gracefully."

Mr. Lyons remarked that he would be on the job until the end of the session, probably, and in the interval he will turn in a report on the department which I believe will be a creditable showing for myself and a creditable showing for the department."

"There will be a time," he concluded with some emotion, "when the honorable members who spread this propaganda will come to know that what I say is true."

Insinuations?

When Mr. Lyons sat down, Hon. Charles McCrae rose to tell the house that if Mr. Lyons were making any insinuations as the outside dealings of members while they were in the house, these insinuations most emphatically didn't apply to him.

W. E. Raney: "Let us have something specific. Mr. Lyons has either said too much or too little. He should give names."

The Speaker: "The member said that these things would come out later."

Mr. Raney: "But the insinuation has its effect immediately."

Rub It On At Bed Time

For Deep Chest Colds

All colds should be treated with vapors, for vapors alone can carry the medication DIRECTLY to the air passages and lungs.

Vicks is a "vapor" treatment in salve form. For deep chest colds you first apply hot wet towels over throat and chest to open the pores, then massage briskly with Vicks for 5 minutes, spread on thickly and cover with a flannel cloth.

Vicks not only penetrates like a poultice or plaster, but the ingredients, vaporized by the body heat, are inhaled all night long.

This double action usually checks the most stubborn cold overnight.

PROTECTING THE PEDESTRIAN.

The intimation that something may be done in the interest of pedestrians who have to walk on Provincial highways will be welcomed.

Up to the present there has been no attempt to provide footpaths along such roads for pedestrians, and the omission to do so has been the cause of numerous accidents.

Despite the prevailing idea that the Provincial ideas were made for the exclusive benefit of motorists, many people are compelled to make their way along these roads on foot, and they never venture out, especially at night, without jeopardizing life and limb.

It should be possible to provide a footpath without greatly adding to the cost of road construction, and the wonder is that the public has not stirred up an agitation over this matter that would compel the authorities to take some notice of the fact that there are a few people left who have to depend upon their feet as means of transportation.

The question should not be allowed to drop now that it has been brought to the attention of those responsible for road construction in the Province.

THE SQUARE DEAL.

A feature of the Rotary Club's work about which the public knows little or nothing is that touched upon by Rotarian Geo. A. Gillespie at yesterday's meeting of the local club in regard to better business methods.

The effort being made by Rotary to carry the Golden Rule into every-day life has possibilities of great value to the world, in view of the fact that the organization has now clubs in thirty-two different countries.

It does not take a vivid imagination or an excess of enthusiasm to see that from such an organization, once it has succeeded in showing its members that the responsibility of carrying out this policy is an individual one, much can be expected.

The doctrine of a square deal is, of course, not a new theory, but there is something fresh and appealing in the idea of a world organization of professional and business men fired with the idea of carrying out that doctrine in their relationship with their competitors, with their employees and with their customers, clients or patients, as the case may be, and of endeavouring not only to follow the Golden Rule themselves but of inducing by their example others to adopt the square deal slogan.

ANOTHER WAR VICTIM.

The Great War, even though the last shell was fired more than seven years ago, is still claiming its victims.

The funeral of John C. Smith this afternoon was a sad demonstration of the truth of this statement.

He was one of the first men to enlist in Peterboro for overseas service, joining the first quota of the 24th Field Battery and training at Valcartier with the first Canadian contingent.

As a member of the 4th Battery, C.F.A., C.E.F., he went to France with the 1st Canadian Division, being gassed at the Second Battle of Ypres, where the Germans first launched their gas attacks.

As a result of that experience he developed tuberculosis, and on his return to Canada there was a long series of negotiations with the Pension Board before it was finally conceded that his disability was the result of overseas service, the case illustrating the fact that many war victims have difficulty in securing the recognition that their service and condition justifies.

John C. Smith's name must be added to the long list of Peterboro's war dead. He not only contributed his life, but long years of illness to the Empire's cause, and will be mourned by many Peterboro returned men as a gallant fighter and a good comrade. Particularly will he be missed by the originals of the Great War Veterans' Association, inasmuch as he was one of the founders of the Peterboro branch.

CANADIAN INSURANCE.

It is interesting to note that the Canadian Manufacturers' Association has advised its members to keep their insurance in Canadian circles as far as possible, especially in view of the fact that the manufacturers have more than once been accused of inconsistency in this respect.

The need of supporting Canadian institutions is revealed by the figures in regard to fire and casualty insurance in Canada, which shows that in 1924, the last year of published record, over $73,000,000 in premiums was collected from Canadian policyholders by 229 companies, of which only 14 are purely Canadian companies operating with Canadian capital. These Canadian companies transacted only $6,573,000 in premiums, or 9 per cent. of the total.

Canadian policyholders were taxed during 1924 approximately $2,200,000 on their premiums paid on fire and casualty insurance, an amount equal to more than 33 per cent. of the total business transacted by purely Canadian companies.

Domestic companies in the life assurance field are very strong, and many companies, such as the Sun Life, Canada Life, etc., are household words the world over, and while a substantial life business is being transacted in Canada by British and foreign companies, purely native institutions remain in the ascendant and maintain a firm grip on the business of the country.

In fire and casualty insurance there remains to be done a great deal of work in educating the public in a movement to support native institutions and enable the Canadian companies to participate in the $73,000,000 of home business available.

THE "MARKET BASKET."

There have been many schemes to offset the effects of inflation and deflation. The "stabilized dollar," the purchasing value of which would remain always the same is one plan with strong advocacy, though many economists regard it as impracticable, says the Hamilton Spectator. In the case of wages, the cost of living is, more or less, the determining factor. Rates rise or fall according to official index numbers, but it is admitted that the present method is not entirely satisfactory, either from the point of view of the employer or the employee. In order to obtain more accurate approximation to actual conditions, an experiment is being carried out in the city of Philadelphia, with the slogan "the full dinner pail." That old political rallying cry takes on a new significance as applied to industrial relationships. The Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company announces that wages will henceforth be based on the cost of necessities, with a comfortable margin over. To ascertain just what these living costs are, the workers will be divided into classes, and the prevailing cost of food, clothing, rent, etc., will be taken as a basis for fixing the pay for each division. Every year a new revision will be made, according to whether living costs have risen or fallen; but in the event of a variation of 10 points or more from the "market basket" index, continuing over a period of three months, it is agreed that a special overhauling of wage schedules will be made. To keep a constant check on prices a monthly investigation of living costs is provided for.

Commenting on the plan, the Wall Street News wonders how it would work out in manufacturing, where employer incomes are regulated by supply and demand. "If business be poor and profits low in the steel industry," it is observed, "wages come down. If business be active and employment fairly full, competitive bidding for labor acts to carry rates upward. Still, the Steel Corporation, for one, has made much of the living cost factor in its various increases of common labor wages since 1913, and it may be that, provided the Philadelphia venture proves its practicability, the market basket idea will set new marks rendering a truly scientific slant to the perplexing problem of wage fluctuations."

SHOULD WE PREVENT OR PAY?

It was pointed out recently in London, England, that no fewer than fourteen forms of Poor Relief were in operation in that city, extending from infancy to old age. They became effective gradually as interested parties saw the need of giving public assistance here or there, and brought pressure to bear on the public Treasury. In the country as a whole legislation has been enacted to provide for almost every conceivable form of social work. The same thing has been done on a smaller scale in many other countries, as need arose, particularly in those countries where class distinction prevailed and a line was drawn sharply between rich and poor, where the rich became richer and the poor poorer.

Under such conditions recourse to these remedies was inevitable. But what about a country like Canada, where every man has an equal chance, where opportunity is wide open to all? Is there necessity for drifting into a state of affairs which eventually will call for a multitude of laws, Federal, Provincial, municipal, to provide means for the underprivileged, the unfortunate and the thriftless? So long as such classes exist they must be provided for, but the question is: To what extent is it necessary for them to exist? Cannot they be kept to a minimum with due foresight and proper safeguards, to their own benefit and that of the country as a whole?

The time to consider this is now, at the threshold of the country's development—to consider whether we are to allow ourselves in the course of time to decline into the status of European countries and take up social problems as they arise, to anticipate them by legislation which will be in force when they arrive, or to take all possible means to circumvent them.

The problem is economic as well as social. It seems easy to let things drag and then call upon the Government to make good the defects in human nature. But we forget that the Government is the people, that Government funds are made up of contributions from the people, that every dollar spent adds to the public taxes. Nor does it help matters to imagine that the wealthy pay the taxes. Most taxes can be passed on, included in costs of commodities or services, ultimately finding their place in the living expenses of the man on the weekly payroll. In shifting a financial burden to the Government we are merely assuming it in another form.

The important point is whether a program based upon foresight is not preferable to one devised to meet preventable conditions; whether these conditions cannot be avoided by maintaining a fairly high average level of wages, with inducements toward personal thrift and provision for emergencies and old age; whether the country would not be better off in the long run if employers in general committed their employees to a policy of investment; whether, if the Government is going into social legislation, it would not be well advised to help people to help themselves, by compulsion if necessary; whether the Government annuity system, already well established, could not be made more popular among persons starting out in active life; whether the holding of Government bonds could not be popularized among persons of limited means.

It is not altogether the isolated incident that counts, but the adoption of a well-understood policy running through our business and Governmental plans, to make every man the master of his own fortune, be it big or little, by directing his thoughts into well-defined and constructive channels. For, after all, the man who fails in a country like this, given health and a fair amount of training, is usually he who "intends to" until it is too late.

Is it possible for Canadians to look beyond the rim of the immediate circle and rise to the demand of a national community spirit calling for broad leadership in the interests of a contented, prosperous population?—The Globe.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

According to some people's viewpoint, the worst feature about the episode in which a girl bathed in a tub-full of wine was that she was committing a breach of the prohibition law.

The St. Catharines Standard comes out with the timely reminder that no matter what the weather may be in March, May 24 is less than three months away.

Mr. Ferguson is as silent in regard to his rumoured liquor policy as he is about the seven unrepresented ridings. And now they even say there is a connection between the two questions.

The best way for a Canadian to feel better about his income tax is to compare it with the British levy.

Peterboro music-lovers should keep the annual concert of the Peterboro Male Voice Choir in mind. Here is a community organization deserving of general support.

The Globe asks, "Who is running the affairs of Ontario anyway?" Well, we could name seven constituencies that are not having anything to do with it anyway.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

THANKS FOR VERSE

The Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir, — Sanitary Ice thanks those who have contributed in verse or otherwise, articles that might be used for publication. The writers not having given their names, we are not in a position to thank them personally or through the mail. However, we beg to say that they will be used later on as we feel that the present time is not opportune.

CHILDREN'S AID

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—One of the high officers of the Children's Aid Society said the other day that there was no doubt that the Society would have a deficit this year. Revenues are falling off because they are going elsewhere. Some of these under-privileged children are being pampered up and it would be better if the money went to the two children's aid societies for sad cases like that in Dummer. Such cases cost a lot of money for expenses and if the work has not the money it can not be done. We do not ask for what you are spending on other good work but only what it costs for shouting. That would help wonderful. T.D.J.

TUESDAY

The Spirit of Life.

Read Jn. 6:48-59. Text: 6:56. He that eateth my flesh and drinketh my blood abideth in me, and I in Him.

Meditation— This very concrete symbol is coupled with words which emphasize that they are symbols. "The words that I have spoken unto you are spirit and are life." Jesus used the vivid impression made up on them as they ate the paschal lamb and drank the ceremonial wine and said in arresting phrase, "Except ye eat this flesh and drink this blood ye have not life in yourselves." He spoke in terms of the first century physiology. They thought of the body as the instrument of the life and of the blood as the life. If you eat this flesh of the lamb you incorporate it in your own body, and as you partake of the blood you incorporate the spirit, the life with your own life.

Prayer—O Thou who art our life and our light. Help us not to stumble at Thy words, coming to us clothed in the experiences of long ago. Help us not to miss the perfect insight of his parable. Help us to live them every day until the shadows lengthen and we are called hence to be with Thee. Amen.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 1 (Canadian Press).—Whirled downward by a storm of selling, the wheat market today suffered a fall of as much as 6 7-8 cents a bushel and carried down other grains as well.

Unofficial estimates that the amount of wheat held on United State; farms is much larger than has generally been supposed was among the chief factors which brought about the general rush to sell. Contributing also was a violent setback of stock market values in Wall Street.

A semi-demoralized close resulted in the wheat market, with prices at virtually the day's bottom level, 3 1-2 to 6 7-8c net lower. May (new) $1.58 3-4 to $1.59 and July $1.40 1-8 to $1.40 1-4. Corn finished 2 3-8 to 2 7-8c off; oats 1 to 1 1-8 to 1 1-2c down and provisions varying fr. 7 to 10 cents decline to 12 cents advance.

A big share of the selling in the wheat market was ascribed to one of the largest speculators here. He is credited with having been the owner of a huge line of wheat and the fact that he has a considerable following of smaller traders did much to render the market unstable when talk spread that he was letting go of his holdings.

In the stampede to sell, the fact was also practically ignored that the average of the private estimates of farm stocks of wheat, 91,000,000 bushels, is the smallest since 1895, and that the estimated aggregate domestic supply is likewise the smallest in some years.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Que., March 1.—(Canadian Press). — The export train in grain in the Montreal market today was reported dull, there being no firm bids in the market from foreign buyers for any line. The domestic demand was also limited and the tone of the market for oats was weaker at a decline of one cent per bushel with car lots of No. 2 Canadian Western in car lots quoted at 59c, No. 3 C.W. at 55c and No. 1 at 52c.

Owing to the weakness in the cash wheat situation and the break in prices of contract grades of 5 3-8 to 5 1-2 per bushel at Winnipeg the local flour market for spring wheat grades was weaker and prices were reduced 20c per barrel. The demand was restricted, the volume of business done was small. Car lots of first patents were quoted at $3.70; second patents at $8.20 and strong bakers at $7.80 to $8 per barrel.

A weaker feeling developed in the market for fresh eggs and prices for fresh extras and firsts were reduced 1c per dozen. There was a good demand for supplies and a fairly active trade was done in a jobbing way with sales of extras at 42, firsts at 38, an seconds at 32c per dozen. There was no change in the condition of the market for storage eggs, prices being about steady with a small business passing. Receipts today were 773 cases.

A moderate amount of business was done in potatoes and the tone of the market was about steady with Quebec varieties quoted at $2.75 per bag of 90 pounds, ex-track.

The tone of the market for beans emains steady with a small business passing in car lots of choice handpicked lots at $2.45 per bushel, and in smaller quantities at $2.65 per bushel.

A pronounced strength prevailed in the market for butter and prices scored a further advance of 3-4c per pound, with sales of Township No. 1 pasteurized creamery selling at 45 1-2 cents per pound. Receipts today were 24 pacakges.

The trade in cheese was quiet and the market was without feature. The undertone being firm with current receipts quoted at 19 1-4 to 19 1-2c per pound. Receipts today were 70 boxes.

WINNIPEG WHEAT

WINNIPEG, March 1 (Canadian Press).—Weakness in United States markets, which caused loals "longs" to liquidate, resulted in drastic declines on the wheat market here today. Record low marks were reached, closing quotations registering losses of 5 1-2c with May at $1.46 1-8; July at $1.4, and October at $1.29 3-4. There was general selling during the sesion, and the buying support was exceptionally poor. All markets an into stop-lossselling while exporters and millers were out of the pit.

After opening fractionally lower, the market rallied little but with the publication of te United States farm reserves, whih traders considered bullish, weaness quickly developed. Snow's eport placed the United States farm reserves at 96,428,000 bushels.

Coarse grain makets reflected the decline in wheat prices, and all markets fell to new low levels. Trade was again ght.

CHAMBERLAIN PLEADS FOR FREE HAND FOR BRITISH DELEGATE TO MEETING OF THE LEAGUE COUNCIL

Secret Conference With the League of Nations Committee of House of Commons.

NO COMMITMENTS

League Would be Paralyzed If All Members Bound By Orders.

LONDON, March 2 (Canadian Press).—At the House of Commons Monday afternoon, Sir Austen Chamberlain for an hour addressed a meeting of the League of Nations Parliamentary Committee, which the Prime Minister, Stanley Baldwin, addressed last week, on the subject of the coming Geneva meeting.

The proceedings were juite private, and came to a premature end by a call to an important division in the House, which prevented any questions being put to the Minister. According to the version of his speech authorized by Sir Austen to be issued to the press, he explained that the differences which existed over the League Council were differences not of principle but of method, whereby ends common to all supporters of the League were to be attained.

He appealed for some latitude for the man who must conduct the negotiations and who by the nature of his office was in closer touch with all the Governments concerned than men outside the Cabinet could be. It was out of the question for him as a member of the League Council to adopt the attitude of a dictator. If he was to secure the adoption of the course he believed to be best, he must secure it by persuasion.

Course Not Decided.

Having repeated that the Government had not yet decided upon its course and that he had taken no decision on this or any other question when passing through Paris the end of January, Sir Austen traced the developments of the Council to this point, recalling previous discussions of the Council and the Assembly. He said there was no question of a proposal being sprung upon the world. Moreover, there was real cause for consideration of the composition of the Council. The demand that the practice of re-electing non-permanent members year after year should be abandoned was growing.

The Minister himself would have been glad to avoid a discussion of the question at the present moment, and particularly regretted the turn it had taken. He declared himself immovably opposed to the suggestion that any state should be admitted to the Council as a counterpoise to Germany, but contended that there was sound argument for increasing the permanent membership, seeing that under the Locarno agreement it was possible that Germany herself and all the present permanent members, except Japan, would be regarded as interested parties and would therefore be unable to vote if a dispute under the Locarno Treaty came before the Council.

Test of Effectiveness.

The real question was how could the Council be made most effective for the maintenance of peace and best pursue its task of conciliation. This was the test which ought to be applied, and not any counting of votes in a body where, unless there was unanimity, there could be no decision.

Alluding to Poland, Sir Austen paid a warm tribute to the attitude of Count Skrzynski at Locarno and the courage, statesmanship and moderation displayed in the speech which the Count made last week. Observing that nothing impressed him more since he had been at the head of the Foreign Office, than the immense part personal relations played in the conduct of international affairs, he contended that if on any great questions the British representatives were required to define their attitude unequivocally beforehand, the delegates of the other countries would be forced into the same position, and paralysis would result from the casting of votes by one state against one solution, and by another state against an opposite solution.

Keep the Door Open.

The only way to keep the door open for conciliatory negotiations was to avoid irrevocable commitments on the part of any delegate in advance. As for the present situation, he hoped complete harmony might be achieved through preliminary conversations conducted in the Locarno manner with the German delegates at Geneva.

Various solutions suggested themselves, and all he asked was that he might not be expected to go to Geneva with his hands so tied that he could put nothing into the common stock of thought and action and contribute nothing to a solution.

Let him that hath done the good office conceal it; let him that hath received it disclose it.—Seneca.

CHRISTIANITY PARALYZED BY DIVISIONS; SHOULD BE UNITED ON SOCIAL PROBLEMS

Churches Should Present United Front on Questions of War, Liquor, Purity, Etc., Says Sir Henry Lunn.

MONTREAL, March 2.—(Canadian Press.) — Churches of the world, if it is not possible for them to unite in worship and in the nature of their beliefs, should achieve a united front, and express themselves in one united voice, on great economic and social problems confronting Christendom, such as war, barbaric acts, liquor, social purity, pauperism, etc.

That is the firm conviction of Sir Henry Lunn, business man, churchman, and philanthropist, as expressed in an address to members of the United Church of Canada here on Monday.

"The ancient church had authority I never want to see again," said Sir Henry. "I never want to see temporal power; but I hope and pray that a united Christendom shall declare its will in respect to such questions as war and desolation of the earth's surface by the barbarism of the Turk.

"The divisions of Christendom have paralyzed Christianity," Sir Henry continued, "and we must declare as members of the Christian church that we are all one in Christ, and, that being so, we must give one message to the world."

Ahead of Europe.

Sir Henry's address revolved about the many conferences organized to bring about greater church unity. In this connection he said that "Canadians, Americans and Britons are two generations ahead of Central Europe in their application of the principles of the teachings of Christ to social problems; and they are centuries ahead of the churches of the East."

"It is the duty of the churches of the English speaking world," Sir Henry concluded, "through International gatherings, such as at Stockholm last year, and otherwise, to influence the churches of Central Europe towards an increasing sense of the importance of the social implications of the gospel."

2,324 IMMIGRANTS CAME IN JANUARY

And 4,334 Canadians Returned From the U. S. A.

OTTAWA, March 2 (Canadian Press).—Immigration to Canada in the month of January amounted to 2,324, according to a statement just made public by the Department of Immigration and Colonization. This is the low point of the fiscal year, as is usually expected in January, but shows an increase of 317 over January a year ago. The sources of immigration in January were: British 508, United States 809, other countries 1,007.

For the ten months of the fiscal year ended January 31st, immigration to Canada was 76,439, of which 31,512 were British, other from the United States, and 29,130 from other countries.

The largest immigration from any state in the American Union in the ten months has been from Michigan with 1,987, following closely by Washington with 1,754, and New York 1,629.

The return of Canadian citizens after an absence of six months or longer in the United States continues, and amounted to 4,334 in January, and 37,863 for the ten months ended January 31st.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., March 2.—(Canadian Press.)—Elevators at the head of the lakes are crammed to within a million bushels of their total blanket capacity, yards are filled with thousands of cars of grain waiting to be unloaded, and the Board of Grain Commissioners order denying elevators the privilege of taking any other than damaged grain into the house from the yards for drying purposes, was effective Monday.

PROPOSALS FOR VOLSTEAD PROBE ARE PUT FORTH

Survey of Efforts of U. S. Prohibition Law Suggested.

MELLON OPPOSED

Committee Will Hear "Wet" Senators at Enquiry Next Week.

WASHINGTON, March 2 (Canadian Press).—Appointment of a presidential commission to conduct an investigation into the general effect of the prohibition amendment was proposed Monday by Assistant Secretary Andrews, in charge of enforcement, but it was immediately frowned upon by Secretary Mellon.

Expressing the hope that the inquiry started yesterday by the House Alcoholic Liquor Traffic Committee into Prohibition would result in such a recommendation, Mr. Andrews, speaking informally, said it would do much to quiet the public mind and aid enforcement work.

Secretary Mellon took an opposite view on the proposal of his chief enforcement officer, however, expressing the opinion that the public has made up its mind either for or against prohibition, and such an investigation would be of little help.

Call Andrews First.

Mapping out plans for its study of the effect of the operation of the Eighteenth Amendment, the House Committee decided to call Mr. Andrews as its first witness, probably next Monday. Chairman Hudson indicated the proposal of the assistant secretary might be endorsed after a preliminary inquiry by the committee.

Another viewpoint, however, was expressed by Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League of America.

"Congressional leaders are not inclined to authorize any new commission to investigate the results of prohibition," he said. "A Congressional committee is the usual one to investigate conditions on which Congress acts. The Alcoholic Liquor Traffic Committee is making an investigation and this is all that will be done at this session."

Would Broaden Enquiry.

Nevertheless, the Senate Judiciary Committee has decided to hear next Monday the proposals of Senators Edge, Republican, and Edwards, Democrat, of New Jersey, and Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, for amendment of the Volstead Act. These senators are insistent on a general public hearing by this or a select committee on the whole subject of prohibition enforcement.

Unwilling to make an estimate of the effect of the prohibition law himself, Mr. Andrews deplored the "increasing number of wild statements," and expressed the opinion that, if proper enforcement were to be possible, the public mind must be quieted. Mr Mellon, on the other hand, held that the public generally knew the facts about prohibition, and was in a position to obtain any information which a general commission might.

The inquiry outlined by Mr. Andrews would take into consideration all phases of the effects of the prohibition amendment, which he described as a "tremendous sociological experiment." He would have particular attention given to the economic and sociological effects of the amendment.

This is the first proposal from a Government source for a general inquiry into the prohibition law in the six years since it became operative.

Most of the claims represent cash contributions to his bootlegging syndicate.

Executors Save Woolworth Heiress Loss Of $2,000,000

NEW YORK, March 2 (Canadian Press).—Barbara Hutton, 15-year-old Woolworth heiress, has escaped the loss of $2,000,000 by what The Evening World describes as a Wall Street coup accomplished by the trustees of the estate.

Barbara inherited 175,000 shares of Woolworth stock from her grandmother, wife of the late F. W. Woolworth, founder of the Woolworth 5 and 10-cent stores. Last January her trustees privately sold 50,000 shares at more than $200 a share, when it was quoted on the exchange at 218. Since then the stock has been declining and now stands at 181, and the shares Barbara sold have depreciated $2,000,000. Her remaining stock, however, has depreciated $5,000,000.

Six Blocks Swept By Cooperage Fire.

NEWPORT, Ark., March 2.—(Canadian Press.)—Fire which originated in the plant of the Merriman Cooperage Company here Monday afternoon, destroyed six blocks of residences on Ash, Vine and Elm streets and, fanned by a high wind threatened other property.

About 25 dwellings in the main residential section of the city and 25 or more negro dwellings were burned. The V. O. Jones lumber plant also was destroyed.

TRENTON SEEKS PLANT.

Strong Efforts To Secure Alcohol Industry.

LINDSAY, March 2 (Canadian Press).—According to information from Trenton, a big effort will be made to have the denatured alcohol plant which certain Toronto capitalists are interested in, installed in that town instead of in Lindsay. There is a chemical plant standing idle in the former town, and every inducement is being offered the promoters to take it over.

It is pratically assured that the industry will locate in Lindsay, although nothing definite can be arranged until the company secures its charter. The company, it is understood, will agree to pay off the outstanding taxes on the old cereal mill at the rate of $1 000 a year, and will asked for a fixed assessment of $10,000 for a period of ten years.

GRAIN EXPORTS

983,000 Bushels Exported From U. S. Last Week.

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 2.—(Canadian Press). — Grain exports from the United States for the week ending February 27 totalled 938,000 bushels, as compared with 700,000 the week before.

Canadian grain in transit cleared from United States ports totalled 1,531,000, against 3,755,000. North American wheat flour in transit 167,000 barrels, against 231,000 barrels.

EMPLOYMENT IMPROVES.

Situation Better Than in February, 1925.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 2.—(Canadian Press.) —According to returns received from 5,817 employers, says the Bureau of Statistics, there was partial recovery on Feb. 1 from the losses in employment recorded by the beginning of the year. The revival, like the declines from which it was a reaction, was less extensive than on the corresponding date of last year, but the situation this year was decidedly more favourable than on Feb. 1, 1925.

MARGINS SWEPT AWAY BY BEARS

Speculative Accounts "Weeded Out" in Wall Street's Explanation.

NEW LOW LEVELS.

NEW YORK, March 2 (Canadian Press). — Speculative markets — stocks, grain and cotton—broke to new low levels for the year Monday in one of the most drastic shakeouts of impaired marginal accounts in recent months.

Stocks slumped one to 15 points, despite the fact that banking support, running into the millions of dollars, had been provided before the opening to take care of overextended speculative groups in three stocks — American Brakeshoe and Foundry, Foundation Company and Canners—which had sustained violent declines in Saturday's brief session. Total stock sales ran over two and one-half million shares, the largest of any session this year.

Wheat futures sold off 3 3-4 to 6½ cents a bushel, the May option closing at $1.59 as against a high of $1.85½ in the closing days of last year. Other grains yielded in sympathy. Cotton closed 24 to 32 points net lower, with all the options except March in new low ground for the season, and contracts for December delivery selling below 17 cents a pound.

While the drastic nature of the decline in stock prices gave rise to all kinds of rumors, Wall Street generally was inclined to look upon it as a "weeding out" of speculative accounts which had been carried to extremes.

28TH ANNIVERSARY SAM CLARKE, M.L.A.

Northumberland Liberal Congratulated in Toronto.

TORONTO, March 2 (Canadian Press). — Sam. Clarke (Liberal, Northumberland) received congratulations in the Legislature yesterday on the 28th anniversary of his entry to the House. THE FORMER CROWN PRINCE NEEDS CASH

Poorer Than Peasants, But Sports $7,500 Car.

BERLIN, March 2. — Former Crown Prince Wilhelm is suffering acute pecuniary difficulties, being poorer than the lowliest peasant on his vast Oels estate in Silesia, comprising 25,000 acres.

That is the version given out by his Adjutant, who is Wilhelm's spokesman.

This declaration was made to a peasant who wanted a small loan and who noticed the ex-Crown Prince's new automobile, which cost $7,500, entering the court of Oels Castle, driven by a liveried chauffeur and attended by a footman wearing the Hohenzollern crest.

That Wilhelm lacks cash is evidenced by the fact that the Prussian State is claiming $600,000 in taxes from the Oels estate.

As the national Government is attempting to adjust settlements between the ex-rulers and the various federal States, a large percentage of the once reigning families have registered poverty.

The YELLOW STUB

HCJI Peterborough Symphony Orchestra

by Ernest Lynn

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JANET RAND, his daughter, breaks her engagement with BARRY COLVIN, because of the "disgrace." JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Chicago, where the theater is. The stub is traced to THOMAS FOGARTY, a political boss, who says he gave it to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing police want her for murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warnings to leave Chicago and later is attacked at night by two men, but escapes.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Mary tells Jimmy this when they meet and he, trying to hurt her, accuses her of marrying for money.

That evening Jimmy and Olga see, in an auto, a man they both recognize—she as the man who got the stub, he as one of his attackers. The man and his companion escape. Later they recognize his police picture as that of IKE JENSEN.

Church, out driving with Mary, runs over a dog. His heartlessness kindles hatred in her and she breaks their engagement. The next day he attempts a reconciliation at her office but fails. On the street he encounters Jimmy, who offers his hand in congratulation. Church snarls and turns away.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIX.

Jimmy Rand stood in his tracks where Church had left him. Bafflement was written in every line of his face. His hand was still half extended he shoved it into his pocket.

"Well I'll be," he exclaimed. "What a nice boy he is. I swallow my pride and try to offer my congratulations and he snaps at me like a bear."

Chance, and the necessity of making some deliveries, had brought him to the neighborhood at this particular time. He had just come out of an office building and was about to climb into the truck when he saw Church, and, thinking in view of what he had said to Mary Lowell that he owed it to her, at least, to show he was a good sport, he had fought down his natural aversion to Church and offered his hand in congratulation.

He said aloud, his eye still on Church's retreating figure: "Well, at least, if you don't like me you're quite honest about it. I'm darn glad you feel that way about it. So do I."

He climbed into the automobile and pressed his foot against the starter. Ahead of him he saw Church, standing with one foot on the running board of his roadster and conversing with another man. Jimmy had never seen the other before and decided that he was not exactly a prepossessing figure. He had no overcoat and his coat collar was turned up. From where Jimmy sat it looked very much as if the man also needed a shave.

While Rand sat watching, the man climbed into the machine with Church and the two drove off together.

Jimmy drove away, his eyes still following Church and his companion. The press of automobiles set up a deafening roar, so he did not hear Mary Lowell's voice calling to him from the sidewalk. If he had not been gazing so fixedly ahead of him, he would have seen her wave to him.

She took a few quick steps, as if she were going to run after him. Then apparently thinking better of it, she slackened her pace and turned homeward.

Lieutenant O'Day hung up the telephone receiver, shoved the phone across his desk and then lifted his head to find Jimmy Rand facing him.

"What luck, Lieutenant"

"Luck? Lots of luck, my lad, but all of it bad." O'Day leaned back in his swivel chair and laughed boisterously at his own wit.

"Sit down, Rand." He indicated a chair for Jimmy.

"First of all, though," said Jimmy, ignoring the proffered seat, "have you got a line on Jensen?"

O'Day waved his hand. "The chicken," said he, "has flown the coop. But sit down, Lad, I want to tell you about it."

Jimmy took the chair. "Smoke?' he offered a cigaret to O'Day and lit one himself.

"No smokin' on duty," said the lieutenant, declining the offer. "Besides, I never touched a cigaret in my life, and it's too late to begin."

"A cigar, then, for after midnight." Jimmy produced two from his pocket and laid them on the other man's desk.

The smell of tobacco smoke was too much for O'Day, so he decided to woo Lady Nicotine in another form. From a desk drawer he pulled forth a package of "chewing," the kind commonly known as "scrap." With his fingers he extracted an amazing amount of the stuff and thrust it carefully in his mouth.

"There now," he said comfortably, settling back in his chair. "Smoke and be darned."

He swung around to face his caller. "Rand, we've looked for Jensen high and low and we're no better off than when we started.

"You think he left town?"

"Either that or he's layin' low somewhere, where we're not apt to find him."

"Tell me just how far you've gone," Jimmy urged.

"Well, to begin with, we started at that house where Jensen and the other bird with him got away from you. The house is vacant and has been for some time. It seems the school board has condemned it and several other houses near it. They're going to put up a new school building pretty soon. That's why we didn't see any for rent sign on it.

"If only there'd been somebody living there, we might have got a line on Jensen and his companion, whoever it was, right away. That was the first piece of hard luck we ran into.

"Then we got hold of some of the boys Jensen has been known to hang out with—hard-boiled eggs, the lot of them, too—but they all swore they hadn't seen him for a long time. We found the rooming house where he had been living, but he had cleared out of there—the very night you saw him—taking all his belongings with him."

"And that's all?"

"Well, it's not all we did. "We watched the railroad stations to try to keep him from leavin' town. But he might have slipped away in an automobile. It's nothin' for those guys to steal a car any time they want to use one."

"And how about the stolen car they had that night? You said it had been traced to a man named Kennedy."

"That's right. An' I sent for Kennedy. When he came in, I showed him Jensen's picture an' asked him if he had ever seen him before. 'No,' he says, 'I've never laid an eye on him.'

"'When,' I says, 'did you lose the car?' Where was it stolen from?'

"'Why,' he says, 'the wife an' I were to a picture show. When we came out it was gone.' Kennedy didn't help us a bit."

"And where had this man Jensen been working? Did you learn that?"

"Why, he hadn't been workin' at all, as far as we could find out. The woman who runs the roomin' house where he stayed said, he came an' went at all hours. He couldn't have had any regular job. He had plenty of dough, too—he must have pulled off a job lately. The landlady says the last time he paid his room rent he peeled off a roll of bills that would choke a horse."

Jimmy laughed. "Evidently he finds his game, whatever it is, a profitable one."

He leaned forward in his chair. "You know," he began eagerly, "I don't want to jump at conclusions or anything, but the fact he has a lot of money lends some strength to the theory that he may have been hired to murder my father."

O'Day frowned. "No use guessin' about that, Rand."

"Guessing is about all we can do, Lieutenant."

"It was the Maynard girl who had that hunch, wasn't it? By the way, Rand," and O'Day shook an accusing forefinger at Jimmy, "you're not fallin' for that woman, are you?"

Jimmy laughed; his face reddened. "Why, what makes you ask that?"

"I'm askin' you. Are you?" O'Day's finger was still pointing.

"No, Lieutenant, I'm not falling for her, as you say."

"Well, don't."

"And why not? Why shouldn't I fall for her if I wanted to?" He fumbled for another cigaret. "It would be my own business, wouldn't it?"

"Rand, let me tell you somethin'. O'Day leaned forward and spoke with earnestness. "I'm a lot older than you—old enough to be your father. I've got kids of my own, though none of them is as big as you. Now, I tell you. I like you, see? I liked you almost from the moment I saw you when you came in here an' told me why you were in Chicago.

"You're an intelligent lad, an you look a man in the eye when you talk to him. You're game, an' you're nice lookin' with it."

"Why, thank you, Lieutenant." Jimmy was ill at ease. He plucked the cigaret nervously from his mouth.

"Let me finish. As I say, I like the looks of you. Now don't go throwin' yourself away on any girl that's not good enough for you. If you'd told me you'd fallen in love with this Maynard woman I'd kept my mouth shut. But you said you hadn't, an' I believe you You said it wasn't any of my business, Rand. You're right, but let me tip you off to a few things.

"In the first place, this girl's gotten under your skin. You're sorry for her, an' they say—don't they?—that pity's akin to love, or something like that. You don't believe she's mixed up in any way in your father's murder. Maybe you're right; she tells a pretty straight story. But I always say like the French do in a case like this: 'Cherchie la femie," which is their way of saying look for the woman."

"I'm afraid that's Dublin French," laughed Jimmy. "Cherchez la femme, Lieutenant."

"I can't say them foreign words." O'Day dismissed the correction with a wave of his hand. "Now, Rand, this girl is commencing to fall in love with you, or I'm still a harness bull."

'No, no, you're mistaken. She's trying to help me, that's all."

"I know what I'm talk'n' about. You steer clear of her, Rand. She's been travelin' around in bad company, as no respectable woman should do. She's been mixed up in a divorce case as co-respondent, an' some kid who tried to kill himself not so very long ago is thought to have lost his head over her. You go slow, Rand. Some day the right little girl will come along. Then you'll be glad you listened to me."

"Nothing you've said, Lieutenant, has made any difference in the way I feel toward her. No matter what she has been, she has been trying to go straight now. But I'm not in love with her. You needn't have worried about it."

"I was just tryin' to help you, Lad."

"I appreciate it. If anybody else had said the things you've just said, I'd have shut him up. I wouldn't have listened. But coming from you it's different. Listen, Lieutenant, I want to tell you something in confidence. I've got to tell somebody. Can I?"

"You sure can, Lad. Shoot."

Indigestion

In most cases, indigestion results from torpid liver and sluggish bowel action. Tablets for the stomach and aids to digestion fail in this chronic form of indigestion. You must get the filtering and excretory organs right before you can expect permanent relief and this is best accomplished by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Chronic indigestion is a very common condition. On this account many suffer for years not realizing that relief is at hand in the form of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Headaches, biliousness, spells of constipation and diarrhoea are among the accompanying ailments.

What a relief it would be to be free of this condition which makes one feel so miserable and it is so easy by using this well-known regulator of the liver, kidneys and bowels.

OPTIMISM JUSTIFIED.

Contracts Awarded Shade Those Taken Out During Same Period Last Year.

The total awards for Canadian construction for the month of February, compiled by MacLean Building Reports, Ltd., wer $13,477,600 as compared with $12,669,000 in January and $11,047,600 in February a year ago.

Residential building accounted for 33.1 per cent of the February total amounting to $4,470,200. Business building amounted to $2,751,000 or 20.4 per cent; industrial building, $3,790,000 or 28.2 per cent and public works and utilities, $2,466,400 or 18.3 per cent.

The activity was distributed among the provinces as follows: Ontario, 42.1 per cent; Quebec, 38.1 per cent; Prairie Provinces, 8.6 per cent; British Columbia, 9.4 per cent and the Maritime Provinces .8 per cent.

During the first two months of this year construction contracts to the value of $26,146,600 have been awarded. This is an increase over the same period of last year of 25 per cent. By classifications, the construction contracts awarded during this period were divided as follows: Industrial, 30.4 per cent; business building, 29.9 per cent; residential, 27.1 per cent; engineering, 12.6 per cent. The apportionment by provinces was—Quebec, 35.6 per cent; Ontario, 35.4 per cent. Prairie Provinces, 20.3 per cent; British Columbia, 8 per cent and the Maritime Provinces .7 per cent.

Earlier predictions that 1926 promised to be a good building year have so far been well substantiated. The increase in dollar value of contracts awarded this year over last year is not likely to continue in the same proportion as it has during the first two months, but this increase may be taken as an indicator of the general trend of construction for this year.

Contemplated work continues to appear in good volume. The total value of construction reported as contemplated during February was $52,322,100. This makes the total of $72,346,200 for the first two months of this year.

9 O'CLOCK BEDTIME CAUSES A DIVORCE

Husband's Order To Wife Declared "Barbarous."

PITTSBURGH, March 1.— Declaring that it was an act of cruel and barbarous treatment to require a wife to go to bed at 3 or 9.30 o'clock, a divorce was recommended for Mrs. Miriam Elpern from Jack Elpern by the Master, William W. Booth, who heard the case. A Master's recommendation here rarely fails to secure a decree from the court.

Citing instances when her husband interrupted her enjoyment to force her to retire, Mrs. Elpern said that one one occasion he humiliated her in the presence of guests by breaking into a game of bridge and ordering her to retire at 9.30 o'clock.

Mrs. Elpern said she was fond of dancing, and that she enjoyed the theatre, but that she was unable to get any pleasure out of life because of her husband's strict ruling, which he insisted on enforcing at all times.

Twenty-seven of the fatal and 86 of the non-fatal accidents were self-inflicted. Seven fatal and 13 non-fatal accidents occurred when persons were killed or injured in mistake for game.

Sixteen persons under 18 years of age were responsible for the infliction of fatal wounds, while several of that age were victims of self-inflicted wounds.

BAND IS REPORTED IN GOOD CONDITION

Annual Meeting of Lakefield Organization Indicates Commendable; Progress.

LAKEFIELD, March 1—The annual meeting of the Citizen's Band was held in the Council Chamber on Thursday evening. Reports for the past year show a very healthy condition financially, strength of the band, and also musically. Organized two years ago the band has gone forward rapidly and harmoniously and is now a creditable organization with every evidence of being a permanent institution. During the year an agreement was made with the village, whereby all the band property belongs to the village which will, if necessary, lend financial aid. The band has full use of the instruments and other equipment while it remains active, but in the event of it being defunct, the property reverts to the village. The year has seen the departure from the village of some of the members and the admission of several new members which keeps the band fully up to strength.

The following officers were elected: Honorary President, W. H. Casement; President, Richard Graham; Vice-President, Gordon Scriver; Secretary-Treasurer, Allan H. Clarke; Bandmaster, Walter Madill; Deputy Bandmaster, Allen H. Clarke.

Executive Committee: Alex. Graham, Theodore Crawford, Kenneth Kemp. Musical Committee: G. G. Connell, R. H. Graham and the band master.

After the business was disposed of, the bandsmen repaired to the home of Mr. A. C. Carveth, Nassau Street, where a pleasant social even-

CANADIANS LACK NATIONAL PRIDE AND SHOULD SEEK ADVANCEMENT WITH PURELY UNSELFISH MOTIVE

Address Presented at Y.P.S. Meeting Gives Review of Conditions.

HAVE GREAT COUNTRY

Many Splendid Natural Resources Await Touch of Industry.

WARKWORTH, March 2.—The following is an address given by Orval Kelly at the Union Young People's meeting recently on "What It Means To Be a Canadian":

The speaker said our attention is drawn quite frequently to a great deal of comment regarding our national sentiment in this country. We read it in United States and English newspapers, even in our own Canadian periodicals. Public men of other countries often draw attention to it when telling of the impressions they have formed on visits to Canada. They tell us we fail to appreciate our country, that we are poor advertisers, that we would sooner knock than boost. We are accused of lacking that great national pride that belongs to the English, the French, the German and the United States citizen. Leading Canadians tell us that this may be partly attributed to the fact that we do not understand our country, that we know more about the United States or some other part of the world than we do about the Yukon, Nova Scotia or other parts of Canada.

There are two main points of which we as Canadians should be proud. We are citizens of the second largest country on the globe, and we are part of the great British Empire on which the sun never sets. There have been great empires in the past—Greece, Rome, Spain, France and Germany—but they have all withered and fell, but not the great Empire which is marked with red on the map of the world, because this Empire is not merely a nation, but a commonwealth of nations, claiming one-fifth of the earth's surface and one-fourth of its population.

Although this Canada of ours has only a population of about nine millions of people, nevertheless it forms about one-third of the area of the whole Empire, having an area of nearly three and a quarter millions of square miles, almost as large as all Europe. The amazing fact was exposed recently at Ottawa at a convention of the Dominion land surveyors that seventy-five per cent. of Canada has never been travelled over by white man. The fact that the country is so sparsely populated is one of the reasons that we perhaps do not understand our country as well as we might.

Here in Warkworth we imagine that we are quite an important part of the world. We have the champion ladies' hockey team of Central Ontario and John McCubbin is the Warden of the United Counties, and so on, but when we take a map and compare Central Ontario with the rest of the Dominion we feel like six cents. But these nine millions of people who inhabit our country have come from pioneer stock. Their ancestors came from the two great nationalities of the world—the French and English. The French came first, and for nearly two hundred years they explored and established small settlements. Then came the English conquest, and a new rule followed. Did these French settlers leave? No! They were real Canadians and were destined to play an important part in the history of Canada.

Immigration in future years was from the British Isles, and then came the American Revolution with its consequent influx of United Empire Loyalists so that they might still be under the Union Jack. This was the beginning of the settlement of Ontario, and gradually the tide swept westward until it reached the Pacific Ocean.

In the future settlement must extend northward. Our immigration so far, fortunately, has been chiefly English-speaking, and today they number almost two-thirds of the population. The French, however, have held their own and they still comprise almost a third of the inhabitants, so the development of our country, as in the past, will be chiefly in the hands of the founders of our nation.

Canada's Great Men.

Canada holds a unique position in the world in that she has two major languages, and the Canadian Parliament is one of the few in which the questions before it are discussed in two different tongues. These nine millions of people have contributed some notable men to the world, men who have achieved international fame and can be termed leaders in their professions. The late Bonar Law, born under humble circumstances in New Brunswick, rose to the height of political fame and piloted the ship of state of the British Isles. Senator Dandurand, who acted as Canada's delegate to the last meeting of the League of Nations, so commanded the respect of the assembled statesmen of the world that he was chosen President of that body. The fame of Doctors Banting and MacLeod has spread throughout the world for their contribution to medical science of insulin, and they were the first Canadians to be awarded the Nobel prize. The late Sir Adam Beck, the Hydro knight, achieved fame as the foremost authority on electric power development in the world, and through his foresight the Ontario Hydro-Electric transmission lines form one of the largest public ownership schemes in the world. In many other lines of scientific and international work Canadians have commanded respect, especially in astronomy. Canadian sportsmen have also achieved fame whenever they have competed, mainly because they possess an abundance of that British characteristic, "Fair play." Canada holds first place in the world in many engineering and construction works, namely, the greatest railway mileage per capita, the Canadian National Railways being the longest and greatest public-owned transportation system in the world, while the Canadian Pacific Railway is one of the greatest transportation systems in the world and has the largest railway yards operated by one concern at Winnipeg, with two hundred and fifty-eight miles of track; the Quebec Bridge span is the largest of its type in the world; Canada has the largest grain mills in the Empire; the second largest telescope in the world; the world's highest hydraulic liftlock at Peterboro; the largest combination elevator in the world at Port Arthur; the C. P. R. irrigation dam at Bassano, Alta., is the largest individual project of its kind on the continent; the Chippawa-Queenston Power Canal is the largest single hydro development in the world and the largest engineering work since the Panama Canal; the largest storage dam in the world on the St. Maurice River; Port Arthur and Fort William lead the world in grain storage; Montreal is the world's largest inland port, the greatest grain exporting seaport, and has the largest grain conveying system, as well as being the fifth largest city on the continent, which is amazing considering Canada's small population; the Toronto Exhibition is the largest in the world, considering attendance and area.

If ever a country was well blessed with natural resources that country is Canada. Nowhere are there as rich farm lands as the prairies of our great West, the granary of the Empire. Canada holds the key to the world's food supply. While the world was increasing its wheat production by fourteen per cent., Canada increased hers by one hundred and six per cent. She has the largest yield per acre and is the world's largest exporter of wheat. She is also one of the chief sources of dairy products and meat, has the second largest forest area in the world, being second to the United States, and has nearly fifty per cent. of the total area in the British Empire. Canada has the largest supply of pulpwood and will shortly overtake the United States for the world's largest production of pulpwood. She produces twenty per cent. of the world's lumber and thirty-two per cent. of its pulpwood. She is one of the richest nations in the world in regard to mineral resources. It is estimated that ninety per cent. of her area is rich in minerals, and she produces one-third of the world's supply. This year Canada will become the second largest producer of gold in the world, having in the Hollinger one of the richest mines in the world, producing twelve million dollars in gold a year. Our country supplies eighty-eight per cent. of the world's asbestos and eighty-five per cent. of its nickel. Canada has the most extensive sea fisheries in the world and produces twenty per cent. of its cured fish. The greatest water power resources in the world are situated in this country, and it stands second among the countries in per capita use of electricity and first in actual consumption of electric energy.

Place Among Nations.

This has been mainly responsible for Canada becoming the second largest manufacturing country in the Empire. Our country stands eighth among the maritime nations in marine status, and the Sault Ste. Marie locks handles more tonnage than any canal in the world. Canada has also been richly endowed in regard to recreational facilities, possessing as she does the greatest resources in big game and fish in the world, while her national parks are the greatest wild life sanctuaries in the world. Her mountain parks are the largest and most beautiful and are aptly described as sixty Switzerlands in one. There is no more attractive field for the tourist or sportsman than Canada. It has the destinction of possessing the largest herd of buffalo in the world, and is one of the richest countries in the world. Her national wealth is estimated at twenty-five hundred dollars per capita and savings deposits average two hundred and twenty-five dollars per capita, and is the only country in the world whose income per capita has risen since the war, now being two hundred and sixty-one dollars.

Canada also holds first place in life insurance per capita in the Empire, while she has one of the lowest death rates in the world. Perhaps the greatest example she sets to the world today is the fact that she has the world's longest unprotected boundary line. It has long been our boast that two contiguous countries have lived for over a century without a fort or navy on the entire boundary line. There have been numerous cases of irritation, but these have been overcome by diplomacy and good sense.

Notsky recently said that in case of a war between Britain and the United States, Canada would undoubtedly side with United States. Such a thing is preposterous. We see Canada as an interpreter of the United States to the Mother Country. There was long an indifference by the Republic towards us, and even the idea of annexation had some support on both sides of the border. Canada's success, however, had much to do with changing the United States attitude, and that country now respects her as a nation within the British Commonwealth and as a neighbor who will make her own way to success.

It has not been a path of smoothness for Canada. First came the American Revolution, which resulted in a large movement of Loyalists, who established English-speaking Canada with the same language as the Republic, but who for a long time held resentment. The second war in 1812 sowed further discord. There was a long period of adjustment of detailed border territory with accompanying irritations. After that there were fishery and trade disputes and tariff recriminations which were at times trying to the cause of friendliness. At the same time other phases of the life of the two countries were making for greater harmonies, such as the investment of United States capital in Canadian industries, the free circulation of their newspapers and periodicals, untrammelled movement of tourists and business agents, and now the voices of radio exchanged daily across the invisible air boundary.

The International Joint Commission, a permanent body for the adjustment of disputes between the two countries, is cited and approved as a successful tribunal which might be well copied in Europe. Canada is fighting at present the illegal diversion of international water at Chicago. The United States has a just claim against Canada for the unlawful export of liquor into her country. These problems will be settled as those of the past.

But the story of Canada is not to be told in the coming of the United Empire Loyalists, the fights with the Indians, the Plains of Abraham or the Northwest Rebellion, the South African War or the Ypres salient; or is the story told in the advance of the pioneer from the Atlantic to the Pacific, in the building of the C.P.R. and the conquering of the wilderness, in the searching of the mountains and the establishing of great industries in the coming of the immigrant, the invention of Bell, nor even in the lives of our great leaders, Macdonald, Brown, Mackenzie and Laurier.

Land of Adventure.

All those are expressions of the Canadian spirit of adventure, of purposeful searching after the thing that is better. Canada would never have been discovered except for adventure. The wrestling of the land for civilization by French missionaries and the early British is an epic in the world's history. Confederation was one of the world's greatest examples of political adventure. Adventure must accompany further development, for here lies the true story of Canada, the promise of the future. The nineteenth century may be described as belonging to the United States. The twentieth undoubtedly belongs to Canada. United States is the America of achievement; Canada is the America of opportunity. To be a Canadian is not to be the embodiment of concert as to all things that are fundamental in Canada or to be satisfied with things as they are or to let things drift.

We want adventurous youths in our country today, men who are willing to take a chance, like Lord Mount Stephen, who when the Government refused to come to his aid when building the C.P.R., put his own money into the venture, and even borrowed to carry out his plans. He took a chance and won. Give our youths the spirit of the Crusader—a day of adventure every day—and this country will be the happiest country in the world. Opportunity is nothing if the man is not fit and willing to take advantage of it. Canada is a nation of workers. The man who does not work in Canada, whether rich or poor, is looked upon with doubt. Such conditions tend to an equalized distribution of wealth to individuality of thought and action, and therefore liberality and progress in social, industrial, commercial and political life. Nowhere in the world today are there more liberal institutions of wealth or equal rate of progress.

No Canadian is a true Canadian who does not believe in his country. No Canadian is a true Canadian who does not study as thoroughly as he is able the great problems confronting the Dominion, and we must all work together, for in union there is strength; co-operation is the keynote of success. One of Aesops' fables describes a man's arms and legs setting up a revolt against the stomach, claiming they were doing all the work, all the fetching and carrying, while the stomach was getting all the food, and they decided they would bring no more food to that lazy region. That is exactly what will happen to our country if we fail to appreciate the other fellow's efforts to alleviate his troubles, to study his handicaps and co-operate together for the benefit of the whole country.

We as Canadians should not speak bitterly of ourselves, or altogether boastfully, but we should learn to appreciate our country to develop a great national pride, so that if we ever are asked as to our nationality we may look our inquirer full in the face and with a proud voice say, "I am a Canadian."

Three sparks—pride, envy and avarice—have been kindled in all hearts—Dante.

POWERFUL GUNS ON U. S. VESSELS

LONDON, March 2. (Canadian Press).—Something of a sensation is made in The Evening News of the statement contained in the official catalogue of the world's navies, issued today, that five United States battleships are fitted with 5-inch anti aircraft guns, which The News characterizes as the most powerful guns of their type afloat.

The paper summarizes the story in big captions reading:

"The United States navy's new anti-aircraft gun—a gun that can attack a plane six miles up—A secret of United State battleships revealed—A quick change."

HOW OUTDOOR MEN TREAT MUSCLE-STRAIN

Sprains, bruises, rheumatism also yield to this treatment

Outdoor men who do hard muscular work, who undergo exposure and risk of accident every day, know how necessary it is to give prompt attention to muscle-strain, bruises, sprains and other injuries.

A member of a survey party, sent out by the government of British Columbia to do sub-division work three hundred miles from civilization writes: "The chief of our party with rare foresight brought along as a part of our first aid supply a bottle of Sloan's Liniment. And through weeks of exposure and hardship we found it our best help for sprains, bruises, stiff muscles and rheumatism."

Sloan's gives real relief because it doesn't just deaden the pain. It helps your body to throw off the cause.

Just a little Sloan's patted on lightly—and a healing tide of fresh new blood is sent right to the place that hurts. The aching and stiffness are helped right away.

Menus for the Family

By Sister Mary.

Breakfast—Stewed figs, cereal, thin cream, griddle cakes, maple syrup, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Spinach and mushrooms on toast, brown bread, jelly, cocoanut tapioca pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—Stuffed breast of veal, beets in orange sauce, macaroni salad, raisin pie, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

The starch usually supplied by potatoes is found in the macaroni salad suggested in the dinner menu. Celery and lettuce add vitamins making the dish an excellent potato substitute.

The combination of spinach and mushrooms is well worth trying as the rich flavor of the mushrooms adds much to the mildness of the spinach.

Cocoanut Tapioca Pudding.

Three tablespoons minute tapioca, 2 tablespoons cornmeal, 1-4 cup grated cocoanut, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 2 1-2 cups milk, 3-4 cup brown sugar.

Heat milk in double boiler. Mix tapioca, cornmeal, cocoanut, sugar and salt and stir into hot milk. Cook until mixture thickens. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake three-quarters of an hour in a moderate oven. Chill and serve with cream.

Y.M.C.A. ACTIVITIES.

J. T. H. Wallace, chairman of the Young Men's Supper Club, was the speaker at the club's supper the other evening at the Y.M.C.A. Mr. Wallace chose as his subject, "Problems of Youth," and he packed a great deal of useful advice in his talk.

The same evening the "Y" was thrown open to the men of the Canadian Woollens and Brinton Carpet factories. The Canadian Woollens' snappy five-piece orchestra was present and added a great deal of zest to the fun. The men played basketball and group games in the gymnasium and bowled. Charlie Cook performed some sleight of hand tricks and all in all it was a lively entertainment. Mr. Herrick, of the Canadian Woollens planned the programme.

H. B. Cowan was the speaker at the Sunday afternoon sing-song and Mr. Richman continued his series of talks at the supper afterwards.

PRESENTATION TO KNOX CHURCH LADY

Mrs. William Bannon is Leaving to Take Up Residence in Orono.

About forty ladies, members of the Ladies' Aid and Berean Bible Class of Knox Church, gathered at the home of Mrs. William Bannon to make presentations to her before her departure for Orono. The following addresses were read by members of the two organizations and refreshments were served before they departed:

Dear Mrs. Bannon.—We, the members of Knox Church Ladies' Aid Society, having learned of your intended removal from our city and from our midst, take this opportunity as the time draws near for you to sever the ties that have bound us together in the work of the Master to express our regret of losing you from our midst.

We realize that since you became a member of our society, you have always been ready and willing at all times to help us in any way. You have always been an agreeable and cheerful member. It is needless for us to say how much you will be missed.

We trust that God's richest blessing will go with yourself and family to your new home.

As a small token of our regard and esteem we ask you to accept this fruit set.

Signed on behalf of Knox Ladies' Aid Society.—Mrs. G. Davis Mrs. H. Wilson, Mrs. S. Watson.

Dear Mrs. Bannon.—We, the members of Knox Church Berean Bible Class, meet this evening to express to you our cordial appreciation of your sincere interest in our work. You have been in faithful and regular attendance at our Sunday morning or afternoon sessions, and an enthusiastic worker in all the class activities. You were always prepared to render acceptable service to the other departments when called upon to act as supply teacher.

In His good providence, our Heavenly Father has been pleased to transfer your activities in the promotion of His Kingdom to another field. We will follow you in prayer and sympathy and we all, as true "Bereans" believe that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them also who are called according to His purpose.

We wish also to express to you our appreciation of your unfailing kindness, patience, and hearty goodwill, to each and every member of our class. We really will miss you, but we will take comfort in the thought that others are reaping the profit of your knowledge and experience in Christian service.

We, too, in Spirit, with you and with Mary of old, will sit at Jesus' feet and hear His word.

Till we meet again our prayer is:
The Lord bless thee and keep thee
The Lord make His face shine upon thee and be gracious unto thee,
The Lord lift up His countenance upon thee and give thee peace.

WISE WORDS.

Marriage is the strife of life

HER OWN WAY

by A GIRL of TODAY

THE HOUSE DETECTIVE.

"I haven't a relative in the city," I answered. Until now I had not sounded the depths of my condition In my despair I was about to ask the woman if she would loan me enough money to telegraph my father, when I heard another voice at the door asking for me. The attendant said:

"They want you, miss."

Not knowing who "they" were and scarcely caring, I went forward. It seemed to me that nothing could be worse than what I had already experienced in the last half hour, but worse was to come. I found the waiter and a man with a peculiarly hard countenance standing just outside the woman's dressing room.

"The waiter seems to think you were ill, miss. Can we be of any service to you?"

"I am not ill, but I've lost all my money."

The waiter held out the bill for my dinner to the man. He scrutinized it carefully and then looked at me searchingly.

"You may use the house phone to telephone your friends," he offered.

"I have no friends here. I am alone in the city."

The man looked me over again appraisingly.

"I'll take you to the manager," he said.

Although I was terrorized as I had never been before, I could not help noticing that as we walked through the dining room to the office, we attracted much attention, but it was not until I had faced the manager and realized that I had been following a detective attached to the restaurant, that I understood why the people looked at me.

Clement Sterns, as I learned his name later, was an unknown type of man to me. He seemed to think that a young, unprotected woman was a legitimate object of his attention. I felt myself trembling and turning alternately white and red before his narrowed eyes.

"So, you've been trying to beat the restaurant," were his first words.

"I beg your pardon?"

"Well, you came in here and ordered an expensive dinner for which you cannot pay."

"No, sir, I cannot," I answered. "I thought I had two hundred and fifty dollars in bills in my bag when I came in and only discovered that the bag was gone while the waiter was out for my ice-cream."

HEDDA HOYT TALKS ABOUT THE THINGS THAT INTEREST THE BUSY WOMAN OF 1926.

GOWNS

(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, Mar. 2.—(United Press)—Reds and greens have at last stepped aside giving white first preference for evening wear. Of course one still sees many rose and light green shades at evening events but the majority of smart women choose white ornamented with crystals, pearls or rhinestones. Pastel rose and greens have become so popular for dressy afternoon occasions that they are not important for evening.

Palm Beach as well as New York is favoring the all-white evening gown and there under the Summer setting white is enlivened by Spanish shawls and by red or green satin slippers matching the huge roses in the shawls. Next to white, Palm Beach is favoring silver cloth and luxurious brocades for evening. Fanny Ward of screen fame wears a gold cloth evening wrap bordered at the hem in large roses. Her turban is a draped affair of jade green and gold cloth. Many well known women who run 'figures' rather than girlish lines are wearing highly colored brocade gowns of semi-draped effect and with these gold or silver wraps.

Younger girls and women at Palm Beach are wearing tulle dance frocks but so far we have seen very few of them in the New York shops due to the fact that tulle is too perishable. The crispness of tulle lends itself well to flaring hemlines which are popular with the younger set. Often the tulle frock has a long slender bodice with ruffled skirt. Again the skirts are full and cut in points or layers of uneven panels which stand out as does the ballet skirt. The corsage is the usual ornamentation. Necklines are youthfully rounded or V-shaped.

Taffeta frocks of simple type with uneven hemlines faced in gold or silver are chosen by some. Usually this type of frock is seen at afternoon occasions rather than formal evening affairs. The hem may be short in front and rear and dipping at the sides or it may be short in front and slope to a deep dip at the rear.

Love's Wish

By Juanita Hamel

WHEN one is in love, then more than ever, one wishes for the Midas touch. For this would transform everything into a glittering golden jumble that would enhance the loveliness of one's self for the delight of the loved one. And this rule works both ways. For she would like always to have everything lovely; so that she would always be at her best for Him. And He would like to be able to give Her everything under the sun that is wonderful, beautiful and lovely.

But Love makes everything right and no matter what She wears, He thinks she's the loveliest girl in the world. And to her eyes He's the hero of her dreams and the most beautiful man that ever, ever was. And if wishes were riches, they'd far outstrip Midas. But the wealth of their love is far greater than Midas' gold and brings them more happiness.

A Fashion Model's Diary

By Grace Thorncliffe

SHE DESCRIBES A SMART AFTERNOON GOWN.

"Yes, I know just the type of afternoon frock I should like to make for you," Madame said to Miss Heyward.

She is a lovely young client who buys her clothes at Madame's shop, and I am usually the model for them, as she wears just my size.

Madame took up her pencil and continued:

"Black is awfully good this Spring, and I like to make my black gowns with some distinctive color touch that marks them as models of this season."

"What would you suggest to use with this black crepe satin?" Miss Heyward asked of Madame.

"Well, I've been using a good bit of eyelet batiste in cream color with black," Madame answered. "But for you I'm going to suggest a departure in the use of a lovely piece of beige crepe de chine I have, embroidered in black."

"Sounds lovely," said Miss Heyward. "May I see it?"

Madame dispatched an errand girl to the stock room, explaining:

"I have only a small piece of this, a bit I brought back myself from abroad, and it really will be stunning with the solid black."

Madame proceeded to draw with her pencil and I peeped over her shoulder to see a smart garment growing into definite lines beneath her rapid strokes.

"This gown will have an inset piece of material down the front of the bodice, which extends into an inset belt that runs about the lowered waistline," Madame explained. "There will be a bit of the beige inset in the middle of this to give a vestee effect."

"I love the sound of it," Miss Heyward responded with enthusiasm.

"You will love the overskirt, pointed at the front," Madame assured her. "And there will be a beige lining for the split, flared cuffs."

"Well, suppose you go ahead and plan to let me have a fitting on the frock as soon as possible," the pretty client said in a coaxing tone.

Beige Crepe de Chine with Black Embroidery and Black Crepe Satin.

Madame promised to start on the frock as soon as she could.

The Home Kitchen

By Jeannette Norton

DELICIOUS RECIPES FOR MEAT SUBSTITUTES.

In choosing meat substitutes, the cook instinctively turns to eggs. Of course, their high nutritive value and the many dishes that can be made of them accounts for this, but there are many other things equally good. Nuts are suggested, for they are rich in oil and protein and have a small percentage of starch and sugar.

Among the vegetables rich in protein and fuel value, beans and lentils are highly recommended. They must be well soaked before cooking, if dried, and well cooked under all circumstances. Soaking dried beans is a very necessary part of their preparation and should never be soaked less than eight hours. Soft water should be used for bean and lentil cookery; if the water is hard add a saltspoonful of soda to a quart of water to soften it in soaking, and again in cooking the beans. In boiling dried peas, lentils and beans, a bunch of seasoning herbs, a stalk of celery and a cut onion may be added to improve their flavor. And when cooked, plenty of good butter added makes them specially palatable.

Lentils A La Creole.

Wash a half cupful of dried lentils and soak them over night. In the morning, drain, cover with fresh water and boil steadily for a half hour. Drain again and cover with boiling water and simmer gently until the lentils are tender Put a heaping tablespoonful of butter into a sauce pan and when melted add a finely minced onion. Cook until the onion begins to brown, then add a minced pepper and a cupful of canned tomatoes. Add pepper, salt and a little sugar, and cook for a few minutes, then add the lentils that have been strained careuflly, cook together for fifteen minutes and serve on a hot dish in the center of a ring of boiled rice.

Pimento Roast.

Chop two cupfuls of cooked lima beans rather fine, and add to them four canned pimentos chopped, a grated onion, a tablespoonful of soft butter, pepper, salt, and a little sugar. Add a cupful of cream or cottage cheese, and enough fine crumbs to make the mixture firm enough to shape into a roll. Place in a roasting pan and brown in the oven. Baste with melted butter and a little water or tomato juice as it cooks.

Nut and Fruit Cheese.

Put a quarter pound each of figs, stoned dates and seeded raisins through the meat chopper. Put a quarter pound of pecans, two ounces of almonds, two ounces of pine nuts, and two ounces of blanched Brazil nuts through the chopper and mix with the fruit. Add a package of cream cheese, a tablespoonful of soft butter, a little salt, and work all into the fruit and nut mixture. Press into a small mould and set to cool. When ready, serve sliced as a luncheon meat substitute.

Baked Rice.

Butter a baking dish and put in a layer of boiled rice, dot with butter, dust with pepper and salt and sprinkle with grated cheese. Add another layer of rice and continue as before. Cover the top with a few crumbs, cheese and seasoning, pour in a half cupful of cream and bake a delicate brown in a medium oven.

The Woman's Day

Written by a Woman for Women.

Touching brightly on woman's every major interest in life from books and babies to politics and psycho analysis.

(By Allene Sumner)

A WORD FROM THE WISE

"He never made a commonplace remark in his life," shouts an ad concerning the famous author of a set of books.

This ad is an insult to the author in question, Oscar Wilde, who was certainly comfortably human enough to write many a commonplace remark, and must have spoken them likewise.

Ye Gods! Preserve us from any biped who "never made a commonplace remark!"

BEING DONE THIS YEAR

Although etiquet books use the form "may I present?" in actual life "the best people" rarely use it. The commoner form, and equally correct, is to use no particular verb but merely to mention the names, with punctuation turning the trick. Thus, "Mrs. Green, Mr. Blue."

However, if a young person is being introduced to a much older one, or a plain soul to a very distinguished personage, the "may I present?" is used to advantage.

HANDICRAFT AT HOME

Many a piece of old weather-beaten, scarred furniture has been made into a thing of loveliness and a joy forever by the use of several cans of paint and a paint brush. On the other hand, many a lovely old antique has been ruined by this vogue for smearing up any and all furniture. Look before you daub is a good motto!

Having decided that the golden oak bedroom set which you bought back in 1900 would give more joy to your soul if it were dove-gray with delft-blue stencils upon it, go to it! Full directions for painting furniture can be procured from any paint dealer in booklet form.

Lacquer red with black is stylish right now and is all right for the unusual piece of furniture, but do not paint your bedroom set or breakfast set this color. You will tire of it!

WOMEN WHO SUCCEEDED.

Many women have named babies, but few have made a fortune out of it. Now comes Miss Laura Lee Rogers who makes a four or five-figure income by naming breakfast foods, houses, shops, trains, etc. She is versed in many languages, and delves into the tomes of all nations for "the right word in the right place.

COAL ORDERS TO BE DISTRIBUTED

Among Alberta Mines on Basis of 1925 Production.

ONTARIO'S ORDER.

EDMONTON, March 2 (Canadian Press).—The 200,000 tons of Alberta coal to be shipped to Ontario under the arrangement whereby the Federal Government and the Provincial Government of Ontario and Alberta, will bear in equal proportion any transportation cost over $7 per ton, will be pro-rated as to distribution of orders, among the various coal fields in the province.

This decision was reported following the conference between Premier J. E. Brownlee and the other members of the advisory coal council and a schedule will be prepared based on the 1925 production of the various companies.

A month's trial of this allottment sysem will be made and if agents of the various companies are unable to secure sufficient orders in Ontario to take up their allotments on this basis, a re-allotment will be made at the end of the month.

Faust is to be a wearied book worm, satiated with life, and all traces of hades and supernaturalism are to be eliminated from the opera Faust, in a production which the Birmingham Grand Opera Society is preparing to give in an effort to demonstrate that it can be produced in a thoroughly up-to-the-minute setting with the same success that Hamlet was given in plus fours and evening clothes. FAITH IN HOME CITY NEEDED BY CITIZENS

Men of Vision Work to Push Home Town to Front.

That every citizen should have faith in the home city and show their faith by both words and actions.

That men who express doubt as to the fuutre of their home city are not usually the men who are best able to gauge its future.

That the citizens who push the home city to the front are those who have unbounded confidence in its ability to forge steadily ahead in the years to come. Cities peopled with this class of citizens always move ahead.

That in every city there are people who should stop doing things they ought not to do and start doing things they should do.

That some men with high imaginative minds who spend their time building air castles should stop dreaming. Dreams never build cities.

PEOPLE OF THE HOME CITY SHOULD NOT BE DISCOURAGED BECAUSE SOME DREAMERS WISH TO WAIT AND WATCH TO SEE RESULTS SECURED BY PROGRESSIVE CITIZENS SO THEY CAN REAP SOME BENEFITS FROM THEIR NEIGHBORS' WORK, EVERY CITY HAS DREAMERS.

DREAMERS SHOULD WAKE UP AND BECOME A WIDE-AWAKE, ACTIVE PART OF THE HOME CITY AND DO THEIR FULL SHARE TOWARDS ITS UPBUILDING.

A CITY MUST HAVE THE THOROUGH, ENERGETIC AND PRACTICAL COOPERATION OF ALL ITS CITIZENS IN ORDER TO KEEP IN THE MARCH OF MODERN PROGRESS.

CAPITOL THEATRE

SOCCER TEAMS TWINS INVITED

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

No. 24—TWINKLE PEN IS CURED.

The minute Blue Whiskers lost his beard, he cried out, "I'm done for! I can't stay in Fairyland now. I'll have to go and work for my living."

Then he rushed out of the kitchen door and that was the end of him.

The cook picked up the Blue Cherry and was just about to swallow it, when Jupe, the kangaroo, grabbed it out of his hand.

Paddyfoot, the mouse, took a nibble, and instantly there stood the real king of the Land of the Blue Cherry.

Then Jupe took a snip and he turned at once from a blue kangaroo in a blue velvet coat, to a handsome prince in a blue velvet suit.

"Thank you, children," said he. "My brother and I never would have become ourselves again if you hadn't come searching for the Blue Cherry. And I beg your pardon if I was ever rude to you or scolded you. A kangaroo can't be expected to have as fine manners as a prince."

"Oh, that's all right," answered Nick. "You are as kind as could be. The only thing you were cross about was the wicket."

Jupe laughed kindly, or I should say, the prince laughed kindly. "That is all over now," he said. "And now just as soon as I do one more thing, you may take the Blue Cherry to the Fairy Queen.

So saying, Paddyfoot, excuse me, I mean, the king, and Jupe, I mean the prince, led the way to the court room and gave each little black pig and each big white pig a nibble of the Blue Cherry. Instantly they all turned into lords and ladies.

Next they went out to the courtyard and fed every crab and codfish and lobster a bit of Blue Cherry.

Instantly they turned into soldiers and guards. And a bit of the Blue Cherry dropped into the moat turned it back into water again.

Then they hunted up the alligators and they all turned into farmers. And still for all the bites taken off it, the Blue Cherry was as whole as ever.

The king and the prince went as far as the wicket gate with the Twins.

Nancy took the Blue Cherry and put it into her pocket, and then turned to say good-bye.

But wonders of wonders! There stood the Fairy Queen and Doctor Snuffles and the other fairy doctor called Doctor Pulse N. Pills. And there was poor Twinkle Pen still wandering around the room singing, "Forty-nine bluebottles ahanging on the wall! Forty-nine bluebottles ahanging on the wall!" The furniture was covered with writing, and the walls were covered, and the ceilings and everything that could be written on was covered with words.

The magic shoes had gently but swiftly carried the Twins from the Land of the Blue Cherry back to the Fairy Queen's palace from which they had started, as quickly as you could say "Boo."

"Why, hello, here, kiddies!" cried the Fairy Queen with delight. "You've only been gone ten minutes! That was quick work. Did you get the Blue Cherry to cure Twinkle Pen?"

"Yes, here it is," said Nancy, handing it over. "But ten minutes! Why we even went to China! And we've had ever so many adventures."

"That's right" said Nick. "It must have taken up ten minutes just to climb Cherry Bounce Hill alone!"

"Ten minutes by my watch!" said the Fairy Queen. "Come here, Twinkle Pen. Here's a nice cherry. Take a bite."

The poor fairyman who had drunk the blue ink, and had been acting queerly ever since, took quite a bite.

Instantly he changed from blue to white and his hair changed back from orange to brown.

"I'm all cured now," he said gracefully. "Thank you, my dears. I'll have to buy a nice big eraser now and rub out all the stuff I have written."

The Twins, too, had more work ahead.

This day we fashion Destiny, our web of Fate we spin. —Whittier.

Fixed fate, free will, foreknowledge absolute. —Milton.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3.

A generally favorable state of affairs may be looked for, according to the prevailing sidereal operations. Some opportunities or changes of importance are likely to develop, and these should eventually result in substantial benefits and rewards for perseverance and industry. The mind may turn toward study and invention, especially in the direction of application of the higher forces in nature. Those in employment should be careful.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of new projects, possibly involving a change of environment. Eventual rewards for application and industry are shown, and in a substantial measure. But those in the employment of others should not jeopardize their positions. A child born on this day may have a profound and studious mind, probably turned to investigation (and inventions), into aeronautics, electricity, radio and similar application of nature's finer forces.

Goldie.—You have a kind, affectionate disposition, although not overly demonstrative. You have a superior intelligence and should succeed in any enterprise connected with business or finance. You are born to fear poverty, burglars and robbery and dread being left alone at night. You have a nature that is generous, kind-hearted and noble, but must guard always against jealousy of friends and companions. You are very fond of your own home and its surroundings, and would like to be at the head of your own establishment. You are very sensitive to slights, and should always seek pleasant people and things. Realize that this world is pretty much what you make it. Later in life, you will travel a good deal. Guard, as you grow older, against a tendency to hoard money and become miserly. ou have a good deal of healing power within yourself, but are apt to have trouble with the lungs, throat and kidneys. You are inclined to be capricious and changeable, a characteristic that will not make for your own happiness in life nor that of your companions. You like to be praised and are fond of seeing your name in print. When you marry, you will center most of your affection on your children, but do not forget your husband altogether. Marry a man born in November, March or January. You were born on Saturday. I regret that the day you ask about is past. Your colors are gold and violet.

M. A. H.—Although you are still quite young, your destiny is rather strongly mapped out for you. You should have a peace-loving nature, eminently fitted for the home and for the bringing up of children. You belong to the class called the parents of the race, and your greatest happiness in life will come through personal service to others inspired by love. It is a fine existence and one that should be the very height of a woman's ambition. That is, if you follow it out. It is not at all likely that you will do so, and I am going to tell you quite plainly that the choice of happiness or disaster in your life lies in your own hands. While you should marry quite young, you may not do so, as your dual nature will keep you from your manifest destiny. You are inclined to be capricious and fickle to the last degree and you belong to that unfortunate class of people who crave for the affection which eludes them. "Only the unattainable is desirable" that disastrous, foolish motto of the temperamentally inclined, will probably rule your life and you will pay for this instinct in bitter repining in later life. Jealousy and anger will mar your existence, unless you control these traits in their infancy. What you can do is to strive eternally to conquer indecision of character, map out the course you wish to pursue and march honorably forward, learn the value of silence and spend a portion of each day alone in quiet meditation, eat good, plain nourishing food and never touch strong drink. Evil companions will influence you very easily and you should marry a man born in December, whose nature will be best fitted for the vagaries of your peculiar temperament. You have a very intuitive intelligence and if educated in the right course, will follow it out conscientiously. In brief, you have a double nature. In this beginning of your life, you may make it a fine, wholesome existence, by conquering these faults which are only in their infancy, or you may make a hash of your whole life, and find yourself in the years to come bereft of friends of health and of peace of mind. Don't you think it is worth while taking stock of yourself?

You were born on Wednesday. The day you ask about is past. Your colors are orange and gray.

Bobbee.—You should accomplish a good deal during your lifetime, both with head and hands, as you are possessed of ability along both these lines. You are reserved and retired in your temperament, and have a leaning toward the mystic and occult elements in life. It is not well to carry this too far. You are inclined to pay too much attention to showy people and things and should rather look for real worth. You are a loyal friend as long as you are permitted to have your own way but make a very bitter enemy. You have a special aptitude for embroidery and decorative effects and have a very good memory. You should strive above all else for development of your spiritual nature, as in this way you will reach the very highest measure of success and happiness. Be careful with what you eat, as you are apt to have stomach and intestinal trouble. Never touch anything stronger than tea or coffee. You do not care for housework and should strive to make it as easy as possible to get through your daily round. A tendency to domineer and a strong temper should be controlled. Listen to the advice and experience of others. You do not know it all.

You were born on Thursday. Your colors are opal shades, also tan and buff.

Min.—You have an intensely domestic nature, and will probably find your greatest happiness in the married life, if you strive hard to overcome a certain tendency to capriciousness which does not make for joy, either for you or for those about you. You must realize that for you there is no good in playing the lone wolf. Do not try to stand alone at any time. You must always associate yourself carefully with others in any enterprise. You are a skilful worker in embroidery and a fine decorator, and have very good taste in such things. You like to arrange parties for your friends, and are inclined to pay too much attention to showy people and things rather than to those of real worth. You are quite adaptable, and easily fit into any society or occasion. You are inclined to live too much in the physical enjoyment of life, and should learn early in life that the mind is the real master of the body, which is its servant. Bear with the faults of others and strive to acquire tolerance and to overcome a certain tendency to domineer. Control your temper and watch carefully what you eat and drink. You may have a liking for strong drink, which should always be watched carefully. You do not like housework but should try to overcome this dislike, as you may have a great deal of it to do if you follow out your destiny. Try to make household work as easy as possible for yourself and do not put off cleaning the kitchen sink for the working of a nice piece of embroidery. Your companions will probably appreciate both, and you can do both if you try.

Your colors are gray and scarlet. You were born on Monday. The day you ask about, a Monday, is one for acquiring information and knowledge. Do not engage in any important business enterprise on this day.

SPY LOST RACE WITH HANGMAN

GOOD NIGHT STORIES.

By Blanche Silver

PEGGY MAKES A QUEER DISCOVERY.

While Peggy was visiting her aunt in California she spent most of her time out in the woods in search of new adventure.

One day, after a long walk, without seeing anything startling, Peggy sat down on a stump to rest. The grasses moved just a short way from her feet and a wee little round bit of grassy earth, like a tiny door, lifted up.

Peggy saw four little black hairy feet holding tight to the earth door, and she jumped up excitedly. "Flop" went the tiny door and by the time Peggy reached the grassy spot there was no sign of an opening.

"Oh, dear, just my luck!" and Peggy began digging in the grasses with a stick when a tiny hand caught her's and held it.

"Wait a second, Peggy," commanded a stern voice. "Is that the way your mamma taught you to enter a stranger's door?"

"No, Squeedee," laughed Peggy, tossing down the stick. "I always knock when I stop at a stranger's door."

"Then don't forget your manners," laughed Squedee. "Mrs. Cteniza is a fine little lady if you come as a friend, but I'm afraid if you try to dig her door open she'll resent it."

Squeedee rapped gently on the ground. Not an inch from their feet the tiny round piece of dirt rose up and a black, hairy creature peeped out. Seeing her guests, she crawled out and shook hands with Squeedee.

"May I Peek Into Your House?"

She was one of the ugliest spiders Peggy had ever seen. She shook the hairy arm, just the same, however, holding to Squeedee's hand all the time.

"I thought your door was over there," said Peggy. "You have a clever way of hiding it from intruders."

"We have to hide our doors, or we'd be worried to death by unwelcome callers," replied Mrs. Cteniza. "You don t live around here, or you d know a trap door spider when you saw one."

"That's a cute name," laughed Peggy. "May I peek into your little house?"

For answer Mrs. Cteniza led Squeedee and Peggy into her little doorway. She was very careful to close it tightly after her with her front feet and jaws.

Peggy turned around to take a good look at the queer little doorway. It was made of earth fastened together with threads of cobweb, covered on the underside with silk. The thick hinge that held the door in place was made of thick silken threads. Her little tunnel-like house was just about a foot deep.

"But what if someone would try to break into your house?" suggested Peggy. "Couldn't they get in?"

"No, indeed," replied Mrs. Cteniza. "I hold the door shut with my two front feet and jaws and brace my two hind feet against the inner walls. No one can budge that door then unless I wish to let them. I was just going out in search of food when you startled me. I'm glad you're a friend. Come and see me again."

Peggy promised she would come again before she left California, and Mrs. Cteniza led them out into the sunshine once more.

Peggy watched the little trap door spider close her door and disappear among the grasses, then, thanking Squeedee, she hurried on home.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Many a night has been a disturbed and unhappy one because of a distressing and uncomfortable cough. A nasty little tickling in the throat or bronchial tubes is as irresistible as if a feather were being used to tantalize the sufferer.

There are many causes for a cough of this sort. The tickling may be purely mechanical. That is, some perfectly observable factor is involved in producing it. For instance, the uvula may be too long.

When you look in the glass with your mouth open, you will see a little pendulum-like projection hanging from the back and upper part of the throat. This is sometimes called the palate; the doctors call it the "uvula."

It is rare indeed to find two palates of the same thickness and length. It matters not what its shape may be, provided the uvula does not drag on the base of the tongue or swing against other throat tissues. But when this happens it will cause exactly the same sensation that would be produced by a foreign body in the throat.

I have seen a great many cases of ceaseless cough ended at once by snipping off the end of the uvula. The procedure may seem formidable, but it is quickly done and after the passing of a couple of days of soreness, the nagging cough disappears.

But a more common cause for such a cough is one of the many forms of cold. There are some colds which make their attack almost exclusively upon the lining tissues of the nose and its nearby cavities.

Other colds attack the tonsils or the back part of the throat. Sometimes the ears are involved. Occasionally the muscles or remote parts of the body are affected before the poisons are eliminated.

In some attacks of the so-called "cold," the larynx, as the voice-box is called, or the bronchial tubes may become congested and unusually sensitive. There may be just enough swelling to give the foreign body sensation.

In such a case as this there may be incessant coughing. Especially at night, on lying down, the coughing starts in and may continue off and on all night.

Then we get other coughs of the "reflex" type. You will be surprised to learn that if the ear-canal becomes packed with wax, so that it presses against the ear-drum, there may be a peculiar tickling in the throat and a nasty cough in consequence.

Sometimes a cough may be controlled by slowly swallowing water, hot as can be borne, or just a swallow of ice-cold water may help. Hot water compresses to the neck will do much to relieve congestion and stop the coughing.

There is another cause for obstinate cough. Sometimes heart trouble may result in lung congestion, with cough as one symptom. Cigarette smoking, when the smoke is inhaled, may cause a nasty cough.

Always seek the underlying causes for the annoying symptom. It is not enough merely to treat the symptom. Get rid of the causative factor and, of course, the cough will be forgotten.

According to Hansard

(Being extracts from the official record of the Canadian House of Commons now in session.)

I LOVE ME!

Mr. J. H. HARRIS (Toronto-Scarborough): Mr. Speaker, look at our front row, I ask the Minister of Public Works, where is the ability of this House?

Mr. KING (Kootenay): Over here.

Mr. HARRIS: Have another dream, brother, and wake up. I say, Mr. Speaker, that any one of the 116 men on this side of the House, with the exception of myself, has ability enough to fill a seat on the treasury benches.

An hon. MEMBER: Where are they?

Mr. HARRIS: Most of them are here tonight. You never saw finer looking specimens of men in your life. Analyse the achievement's of these hon. gentlemen; that is all you need to do to find out where the ability is in this House. The Prime Minister drew from among his own ranks a Minister of Immigration and Colonization, Mr. Gordon, before the last election. I wonder where he is now? Away back in a snowbank in Peterborough. He also drew from the ranks of his own party the Hon. Mr. Marler. Where is he now? Is he here? He also drew from the ranks of his own party the hon. Solicitor General (Mr. Cannon), and the Hon. Minister of Customs (Mr. Boivin). Then he drew from the ranks of the big interests the Hon. Vincent Massey. Where is he to-day? Like "Massa" he is in the cold, cold ground.

IT'S SARCASM.

Mr. MEIGHEN: May I ask the Minister of Finance how many departments he is acting minister of now?

Hon. Sir HENRY DRAYTON (West York): May I ask my hon. friend the Minister of Finance, the Acting Minister of Trade and Commerce in his capacity as Acting Minister of Railways (Mr. Robb) if he would be so kind as to table the correspondence in connection with the Inverness railway.

AH! HA!—A PROMISE.

Mr. G. T. MACNUTT (Colchester) [outlining the needs and demands of Nova Scotia]: I say in all seriousness, Sir, and with all the emphasis at my command, that if the unwritten letter of the confederation pact cannot be carried out—which would make us a prosperous partner of the Dominion—then no objection can be raised to permitting us to deal with whoever we can, relieved of the restrictions which now surround us in this regard.

THAT LET'S HIM OUT.

Mr. ROBICHAUD: I thought he said he was not a Conservative candidate.

Mr. EDWARDS: You only thought you thought.

A NEW PORTFOLIO.

Mr. STEWART (Edmonton): Is the hon. gentleman aware that the price of butter in Canada is higher than it has been since 1921?

Mr. HARRIS: I am aware of the fact, but I was not talking about butter, I was talking about bread for our people. If I remember correctly, on a previous occasion during this debate the butter minister rose in his place and read a document—

Mr. KING (Kootenay): Order.

Theatre

AT THE CAPITOL

"THE ONLY THING."

There was a good crowd at the Capitol Theatre last evening for the first presentation of the much heralded Elinor Glyn production "The Only Thing." This is an entertaining picture, one of the type where the entire production from start to finish, is artificial and unreal, but while the interest is sustained throughout. A lovely princess is doomed to marry the ugly king of a tottering monarchy in one of those handy little Balkan states that make such excellent background for romantic stories. Just in the nick of time, a handsome English duke arrives and carries her off. But he has a very hard time doing it. A revolution that has been brewing for some time intervenes and the young man is enabled to prove that he is something more than a philander before he rescues his lady love.

Conrad Nagel bids fair to rival the handsome Rudolph as a heart breaker, and his love making in this picture should gladen the heart of the lady who produced it. It is an Elinor-Glynish picture from start to finish, and the hero fits in admirably with the rather sugary character of its screening. He is a very persuasive and handsome hero, nevertheless, and makes love admirably, although his small fair moustache mars to a certain extent the appearance of extreme manliness that he evidently wishes to maintain throughout.

There are some wonderful scenes in the revolutionary period of the picture, when the aristocrats are herded on to leaky barges and driven out to die The girl, Princess Thyra of Swendborg, played by Eleanor Boardman, whose blonde beauty is very appealing in the role, is one of the victims, but her English lover, disguised as another victim of the uprising, stays with her and eventually rescues her and brings her to his yacht.

The touch of the woman producer is evident in many of the scenes, particularly in the heavy love-making portions and in the somewhat "pink tea' atmosphere injected into the court scenes.

"The Only Thing" is like a pretty lace paper valentine and just about as artificial, but it is romantic, the lovers are beautiful and act well, the story is one of high life which appeals to people who never have a chance to look at a king or queen, and the screening is excellent. Nothing more could be expected of a picture which does not strive to point a moral but only wishes to be entertaining and achieves its purpose in fine fasion.

Several of the minor parts are very good. The king's aunt is the same fat lady who acted as duenna to the heroine in Valentino's "The Eagle," and there are two ugly little princesses who make a bright spot in the heavy romances of the picture.

The comedy is one of Lloyd Hamilton's screaming farces, "Careful, Please," with the ludricrously dignified gentleman in a number of appallingly dangerous situations..

The short reels are very good and include some lovely travel pictures, Lyman H. Howe's "Hodge Podge," clever and interesting, and the instructive Pathe Review.—Jeanette.

AT THE REGENT

Who is to blame for lawlessness among children—the father or the mother? Or neither?

These interesting questions are brought to mind by the mighty film drama Mrs. Wallace Reid offers at the Regent Theatre today. "Broken Laws," her newest photoplay deals with Mother Love and the Law.

One of the principal figures is a boy, Bobby Allen, who develops into a tyrant with no regard for law or for other people.

Who was to blame?

Bobby's father taught him it was smart to "beat" speed cops. He drank, too, and made light of the constituted law of the land in other ways.

Bobby's mothers poiled and humored him. She could see no wrong in the boy at all, regardless of what he did.

Between the two he had very little chance, and soon got into some very serious trouble.

The answer seems to be that both weer to blame. But regardless of the problems presented in "Broken Laws" it is first of all entertainment of the finest kind. A strong, virile drama, played by artists and presented in a most lavish way, Mrs. Reid's latest picture gives every evidence of being more successful than her last, "Human Wreckage."

ASK RESTRICTIONS TO PROTECT GAME

Deer and Whitefish Need Protection Say Speakers.

TORONTO, March 2. Canadian Press. — W. D. Black (Conservative, Addington), was elected chairman of the Fish and Game Committee of the Ontario Legislature today.

Warden Clunis of Kent County appeared before the Committee to urge that the regulation preventing the capture of ducks more than two hundred yards from the shore be abolished, saying that the ducks were killed wholesale on the shores.

Judge E. B. Frelick of Belleville, said that future generations would not know what deer looked like if restrictions were not strengthened.

He urged that the shooting of deer in water and deer without horns be prohibited.

A closed season for white fish for the month between Oct. 15 and Nov. 15, was urged by W. A. Clarke, of Collingwood.

BISSAILLON WANTED IMPORTANT OFFICE

Would Enter Secret Service if Made Chief in Quebec, He Wrote.

OTTAWA, Mar. 2 (Canadian Press)—"I am ready to accept a position in the Secret Service provided I am made chief of the preventive service for the province of Quebec," wrote J. E. A. Bisaillon, dismissed customs officer, to the Hon. Jacques Bureau, Minister of Customs, in February, 1924.

At the customs probe this morning, Mr. Bisaillon, on the witness stand, admitted having written the letter. Mr. Bisaillon was under examination by Hon. H. H. Stevens.

The minister had replied at the time, Mr. Bisaillon said, "I will try and do what I can." The examination then centered about the securing of a sedan for departmental use. Mr. Stevens read a letter from the witness to the minister of customs in July, 1924, saying, "I have chosen an automobile as you advised me to."

Mr. Stevens read a further letter describing a certain falcon as "a high road smuggler," and as an "acolyte of Oscar Gagnon, the lawyer."

The committee roared with laughter and Mr. Gagnon, counsel for Bisaillon, leaped to his feet to emphaticaly deny that he was the acolyte of any crook. He was a lawyer, practicing criminal law.

Foreign Buying Strengthens Wheat In To-day's Market

CHICAGO, March 2. Canadian Press. .... Wheat prices rallied today after down turns at the start. Buying by houses with foreign and eastern connections had strengthening influence as did the fact that Liverpool quotations displayed less weakness than in general looked for. Chicago opening prices 1-8c off to ¼ cent up; May 158 3-4 to 159¼ and July 140 to 140 1-4 were followed by a moderate set back and then by decided gains.

Corn and oats were relatively weak, although corn receipts to-day were small, only 90 cars.

For the most part cash buying was confined to previous sellers who could collect a profit. After opening 1-8 to 5-8c down, May 77 to 77 3-8, corn continued to average lower.

Oats started unchanged to 1-8c off, May 40¼ to 40½. Later all months showed some losses.

Higher quotations on hogs steadied provisions.

BRITISH CABINET OPPOSES GIVING POLAND PLACE

Seat For Germany Right Away, Fulfilling Locarno Terms.

NAME COMMISSION.

To Consider the Requests of Spain and Poland, Reporting in 1927.

LONDON, March 2 (Canadian Press).—The British Government has already determined its attitude anent increasing the number of permanent seats in the League of Nations Council, it is stated in well-informed quarters.

It is understood the Government opposes granting Poland, Spain or any other country other than Germany a permanent seat at present, leaving the question of a possible increase for future decision.

It is stated that great Britain holds to strict fulfillment of the Locarno Treaty terms. The British intend firstly, allowing Germany a permanent seat on the council of the present status. Secondly, they hope at a meeting of the Locarno signatories prior to the coming council meeting to have a commission appointed to consider applications of Poland and Spain for permanent seats, if such applications are made. This in effect, would postpone the admission of these two countries to permanent places until the Assembly meeting in 1927.

RESOLUTION PASSED.

EDMONTON, Alberta, March 2.—(Canadian Prses.)—The Legislature, at its Monday session passed a resolution moved by J. R. Love, U.F.A. HOGS AND WAR U.F.O. PROGRAM

V. S. Milburn Lectures on One and Rev. W. S. Edgar on the Other.

REGULAR MEETING

Hogs and War were the two topics dealt with by the speakers at the monthly meeting of the Peterborough U.F.O. in the Farmers' Hall on Simcoe Street. The former subject was dealt with by V. S. Milburn and the other was by Rev. W. S. Edgar.

Mr. Milburn, who handled his theme in racy, interesting style, introduced his address by humorous references to his own experience in raising hogs, interested his hearers by his various definitions of the word "hog." On referring to his dictionary, he said he learned that hog meant a swine, or a rough broom for scrubbing the bottoms of ships, or a grasping, gluttonous person. Pursuing the quest for knowledge still further, he learned that swine connoted any animal of the genus Sus with bristly skin and a long snout. He supposed most of his hearers, like himself, had been content to rear these animals with the long snout and bristly skin without worrying whether they belonged to the genus Sus or any other animal division. At any rate, he had never suspected that he had been chasing anything other than plain hogs, pigs or swine, the same that had devils cast into them in Biblical times. Sometimes he had thought that all these hogs were not drowned and that a few of their descendants still inhabited this earth, because the devil sure seemed to crop up in them very, very often.

Hog Trade Figures.

Mr. Milburn quoted a number of figures of the hog trade in 1924, the last year for which all the figures are available. In 1924 the consumption of pork in Canada was 809,282,942 lbs., or an average of 87.71 lbs. per head per annum. The export total for that year was 108,865,800 lbs., or 15 per cent. of the total production. Of these export figures over 102 million pounds went to the United Kingdom. These figures, he thought were instructive. Farmers, he said, had often been told that when prices were low, the reason was that the British market was closed, and most of them had held the belief that probably 75 per cent. of Canada's pork was shipped overseas. In other words, they were asked to believe that the small proportion taken by Britain—less than 15 per cent.—was the dominant factor in fixing the price of pork in Canada.

But these figures did not tell the whole story. Against the comparatively small export of pork had to be placed the fact that Canada imported in 1924 50,834,239 lbs., bringing down the net export for the year of 58,031,561 lbs. When they contrasted the 102 million lbs. imported from Canada by Great Britain with the latter country's total imports in 1924 of 1,470,732,032 lbs., it was easy to see that there was abundant room for expansion of the Canadian pork trade with Britain.

In 1924, 2,913,643 hogs were slaughtered in Canada. Of this number, 1,464,331, or approximately one-half, were slaughtered in Ontario. The number of hogs condemned was 7,683. Essex and Kent were the two counties sharing the distinction of being the greatest producers. He had been interested to learn that the record of Peterboro County was 30,000—not a very high figure.

In conversation with the local grader, Mr. McKinnon, he had learned, to his satisfaction, that the standard of local hog production was 3 per cent. better this year. Some of his hearers might not agree with him, but he was convinced that so far as local grading was concerned, the Peterboro farmer had no reason for complaint. The graders were not the creatures of the packing companies; they were experts with Government authority; they had all the necessary facilities for carrying out their duties, while on the other hand the farmer, who was disgruntled at the findings of the grader, frequently made up his mind that his hogs were selects, when that opinion was based on no surer ground than the approval of his friend and neighbor, who might have given his verdict after a very casual inspection.

Mr. Milburn discussed the project of recapturing the British market from which Canadian pork had been ousted in recent years by the products of Denmark. Denmark's phenomenal success, he thought, was to be attributed to the scientific methods pursued in the industry, the plants and the breeding being under strict Government supervision.

Advice to Farmers.

Some of the farmers still cherished the belief that in order to achieve a greater measure of prosperity in the industry, the farmers would have to go into the packing business. He thought that a farmer-owned or farmer-controlled packing plant would not succeed. They had already witnessed the results of a similar venture — the farmers' co-operative organization in Peterboro. It was well to remember that those conducting the packing plants were people who knew the entire business. They had studied it, and in many cases had begun from the bottom gaining experience in every branch of the industry. Were farmers to undertake such a venture, he had no doubt that in this, as in other cases, the farmers would get experience while others would get

In conclusion, he said that while the audience might not have learned a great deal from him, he himself had learned a great deal in preparing his paper. For much of his information he had been indebted to the publications issued by the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph. He thought the farmers of Ontario should make a great deal more use of the services of the College staff. As inhabitants of the Province, they had to pay their share in the upkeep of the College and, the speaker thought, it would be wise if every farmer would make fuller use of the expert advice and assistance of the College professors.

Mr. Milburn was accorded a hearty vote of thanks for his address.

Rev. W. S. Edgar.

Mr. Edgar said it was undoubtedly an abrupt transition from hogs to war, but as much of his story centred around the town of Ham (in France), there was a certain connection between Hogs and Ham.

Mr. Edgar related the activities of the Y.M.C.A. among the British and Allied troops during the war, and told of many of his own experiences in France during the last year of the struggle. Incidents in the daily life of the men on active service, superstitions and legends that were current among the inhabitants of the war-scarred towns and villages, work among the wounded, and the efforts of the Y.M.C.A. to succour the refugees and bereaved relatives of deceased service men were related to the accompaniment of many striking illustrations. Many pictures of war devastated areas in France were shown, with pictrues of Y.M.C.A. huts under shell fire, a tank in action, and a view of the spot where the first known casualties in the American army occurred.

Mr. Edgar gave a graphic description of the reverse at St. Quentin in 1918, and declared that he believed the hand of God was visible in the shaping of events which seemed so tragic and ominous at the time, but were followed by renewed efforts on the part of the Allies, efforts crowned with the successes that broke the power of the greatest military machine the world has ever known.

Cloture Vote in Commons Carried By 13 Majority

Progressives and Independents In Commons Support Government On Motion To Terminate Debate

"Take Your Medicine Hon. Mr. Lapointe Retorted to a Conservative Fling of "Wait Till the Election"—Conservatives Frustrating Will of Parliament, Acting Leader Charged.

CHORUSES FROM CONSERVATIVES; DEMONSTRATION BY GOVERNMENT

Hon. Arthur Meighen Taunted Lapointe With His "Vociferous Condemnation" of Closure in 1913 — Proposer of "Gag" To-day Was Mr. Lapointe Himself.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 3 (Canadian Press)—The Government motion for closure passed the House of Commons shortly before four o'clock Tuesday afternoon by a majority of 13 votes. The vote stood: for, 108; against, 95.

Parliament adjourned at 12.30 a.m. until March 15.

The motion was supported by all the Progressives as well as members of the Labour and Independent groups, with only the Conservatives opposing it. There were a number of absentees and a number of pairs which cut down the total number of votes passed.

Before the vote was taken, members on the Conservative side joined in singing choruses, but there was no great demonstration until after the result had been announced. Then, as Hon. Ernest Lapointe, acting government leader, rose to speak, the government supporters cheered, pounded their desks, and laughed.

The motion which was moved by Mr. Lapointe provided that the debate on the motion of Mr. Elliott for an address in reply to the speech from the throne, and also on the motion of Mr. Bird for the previous question, "be not further adjourned."

While a number of the Conservative members were paired, there were five absent without pairs. These were A. R. Hodgins, Middlesex East; John Hubbs, Prince Edward-Lennox; Col. Thomas Cantley, Pictou; H. C. McKillop, Elgin West, and G. B. Jones of Royal.

Continuous Debate.

Mr. Lapointe continued the debate on the address as soon as the motion had passed the house.

Parliament had been summoned for the purpose of deciding whether the government should function. It was well understood, said Mr. Lapointe, that when this question was settled, there would be an adjournment. The house had given its decision in favor of the King government as the proper party to carry on the affairs of administration. The government also had been supported on several occasions by the votes of the members.

In view of this the Conservative attitude showed "contempt for the decision of the majority" in the house. Conservatives had been endeavouring to frustrate the will of parliament. While the opposition had referred to the administration as remnants of a government." The Conservatives had been unable to defeat the government in the house so far. "I challenge them to defeat us now," said Mr. Lapointe.

Majority Must Rule

The majority of the members in the house must rule; and the suggestion of the Conservatives that the address should be withdrawn to consider legislation was "preposterous." Before the address was passed, the house was not properly equipped to transact its business. Two months had been wasted by the Conservatives in "futile, dull and uninteresting debate." The government was determined to carry on, and maintain the supremacy of parliament. "The frenzied hysteria of the Conservative press today is a comic relief from the present situation," concluded Mr. Lapointe.

Hon. Arthur Meighen

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, declared that of all members who condemned closure when the Conservatives were last in power, "the most vociferous" was the present acting government leader. Mr. Lapointe had, when in opposition, characterized closure as an "infamous proposal." "Who was the gagger today?"

"I do not object to closure," stated Mr. Meighen. "I believe that the closure rule is essential in all free parliament." That doctrine he had preached in 1913. Liberals had then fought and criticized it, but invoked it today. Was there anything left for this government to swallow of all its professions? What was to be said for a leader of a government who was "afraid" to use a rule of the House, and now come forward to claim that the opposition had been frustrating the will of parliament by continuing the debate.

Mr. Lapointe had stated that parliament had been called to determine whether the government should function. Yet the present administration was directing its attention towards seeing that the house did not have an opportunity to vote on a straight motion of nonconfidence. The press of the country had fully informed the members that it was the opposition's intention to move a straight vote of nonconfidence. Yet the opportunity had been denied, by the Progressive member for Nelson (Mr. Bird) moving the previous question, of voting on the "avowed proposal" ofr which parliament had been summoned..

Closure for a Holiday

The closure rule was alright, but, said Mr. Meighen, "never in the history of any parliament was closure adopted for the purpose of giving the members a holiday." This was what the government was now doing.

What position as the government in? The government was in just as good position "as the criminal is in a good position to be electrocuted when he takes the chair." The adjournment was also being sought in order that the work of the customs committee might be effectively retarded."

Robert Forke

Robert Forke, Progressive leader, stated that he had heard considerable in the house about "co-operation" between the Liberals and the Progressives. How could any "co-operation," however, be expected between Progressives and Conservatives in view of the terms applied by members of the Opposition towards Progressives members in the course of the debate?

The present situation had been created by the people of Canada, and not by the members of parliament. Had there been no third party in the house following the recent general election, the situation would not have been any better at the present time. In fact the two old parties would be so evenly balanced that whatever government was in office could not carry on.

Conservatives seemed to think they had the right to be in office, but they could not get a majority in the house. If Mr. Meighen were in office, he could not carry on without another election.

"I defy any member to say I know anything of bribery," said Mr.

ONTARIO VILLAGE SWEPT BY EARLY MORNING FIRE

Considerable Part of Lancaster Falls Prey to Flames.

NO ONE KILLED.

Heavy Stone Wall of Telephone Exchange Checks Blaze.

LANCASTER, Ont., March 3.—(Canadian Press.) — Fire, which broke out here shortly after midnight, burned up about half the business section of this village before it was brought under control about five o'clock this morning. The loss is estimated at $50,000. The only source of water supply for the 500 persons who reside here is wells, and one after another those in the vicinity of the blaze were soon pumped dry by the fire fighters.

The course of the blaze was blocked by the heavy stone wall of the store in which is located the telephone exchange.

The buildings destroyed were: John Caron's grocery and dwelling; Wm. Brady's garage; Robert Lager's grocery and hardware shop; J. B. Hebert's butcher shop; and Frank Love's barber shop and pool room.

At 3.45 the buildings adjacent to the Bell Telephone office were all in flames and the central office was threatening to take fire at any minute. However, the operator remained bravely at her post.

The village has a pumping engine, but with only two wells to draw on for water, this did not prove a very effective means of checking the onward rush of the flames. At 3 o'clock it was decided to use dynamite in an attempt to head off the fast approaching danger to other buildings. By this time large barns at the rear of some of the shops had taken fire and threatened the premises in an adjoining street.

Lethbridge Trees Budding; Only Ten Nights Of Curling

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., March 3 (Canadian Press)—Tom Pickering, farmer, living five miles west of Cardston, sowed the first wheat this year on February 7. Fred. Blumel, of Magrath, planted radishes and peas on the same date.

Trees are budding and perennials are showing above ground with a warm spring sun shining, bringing a temperature of 50 to 60 degrees.

All weather records for the winter have been broken. Extraordinarily early spring planting is expected unless March brings some winter weather.

Utterly Ridiculous, Nickle Says Of Gilbert's Statement

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, March 3.—"Utterly ridiculous," was the comment of Attorney-General W. F. Nickle today, with reference to the published statement of the Peterboro Ku Klux Klan organizer, that the Attorney-General was behind him in his efforts to clean up vice conditions.

Witnesses say the organizer, Harold Gilbert, made the statement in the course of his alleged blackmail activities in Millbrook. He faces three charges of blackmail upon all of which he is awaiting trial.

MOTOR TRUCKS TO BE LICENSED

Those Using Provincial Highways To Be Put On Same Basis as Buses.

UNDER SUPERVISION.

TORONTO, March 3 (Canadian Press).—S. L. Squires, Deputy Minister of the Department of Public Highways, in an interview today said that the department expected to put through at the present session of the Ontario Legislature a bill which would compel motor trucks using the provincial highways for commercial purposes to be licensed as passenger buses are licensed at present. It was only reasonable that those who made commercial use of the highways built at public expense should be on a different basis from ordinary motorists he said.

Licensing trucks will, of course, bring them under the supervision of the department.

CABINET BUSY DURING RECESS

Preparing Estimates and New Legislation—No General Re-organization.

EULER FOR LABOR ?

OTTAWA, March 3 (Canadian Press).—With the House adjourned till March 15, there is a lull in the Parliamentary battle which has been waged since the House opened on January 7.

Meanwhile, the Government is at work on legislation, and daily cabinet meetings are the practice. The estimates are being revised and bills prepared. These include an old age pensions bill, a rural credits bill a bill to transfer natural resources to Alberta, and a bill to amend the Dominion Elections Act. There are important appointments to be made. Although the shortness of the adjournment precludes any general cabinet reorganization, the expectation is that the appointment of the Hon. C. A. Dunning will be followed by another cabinet appointment with in a brief delay. W. D. Euler, Liberal member for North Waterloo, has been frequently mention for a portfolio, that of Labor being now associated with his name.

PROBE COMMITTEE DISCUSSES MOTIONS

Programme For Further Procedure.

OTTAWA, March 3.—(Canadian Press.) —The Customs committee spent this morning's sitting in consideration of its programme of procedure. After an hour and a half discussion of various motions put forward, including one by D. Donaghy, (Liberal, Vancouver North), that the committee should proceed to Vancouver. Hon. R. B. Bennett interrupted to remark, "If we don't do something in an orderly way this committee is going to make itself ridiculous."

The question was raised during the morning as to why one company—the Dominion Distillers — had been required to bring their books to the committee, while others who were to have the committee auditor call and inspect their records. Hon. H. H. Stevens defended his summons to this firm by saying he had reason to believe that "they have been implicated in a very serious case of smuggling," and that the "books that they have produced are a fake set of books."

No Inquest Into Death Of Dummer Child of 12; Say Cause Meningitis

"No Stone Should Be Left Unturned in Getting to the Bottom of This Abominable Outrage," Says Prominent Peterborough Lawyer, Urging Action.

CORONER CANNOT ACT WITHOUT FACTS; DR. YOUNG SAYS THESE ARE NOT GIVEN

"Neither an Inquest Nor a Post Mortem Will Be Held," Declares Crown Attorney—Dr. Clark Denies Reporting Meningitis as Cause of Death.

There will be no inquest held concerning the death of John Dwyer, Dr. T. W. H. Young, County Coroner, stated today. He added that no application for an inquest had been submitted to him and no representations made that warranted such an inquiry. He said that, according to his information, the child had died of meningitis, which had affected the brain and accordingly there were no grounds for proceeding with an investigation.

Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K.C., declared emphatically that there would be "neither an inquest nor a post mortem."

Dr. D. W. Clark said that to his knowledge no formal declaration had been uttered to the effect that death had been caused by meningitis. He had not up until 2 o'clock this afternoon, signed a burial certificate, nor did he know what steps would be taken regarding an inquiry into the matter, he said. He stated that as he had charge of the case, his signature to the burial certificate would be necessary before any disposition could be made of the body.

Chief of Police Samuel Newhall remarked that if no inquest were held the charge against George Dwyer would remain the same, that of "neglect."

Inquest Needed

"If ever there was a case in the history of Peterborough demanding an inquest, this is it," one the city's most prominent lawyers told The Examiner today. "The full light of publicity should be turned on all the circumstances, searching out why such terrible conditions can exist in the midst of civilization. And if any person, father, stepmother, or anyone else is responsible for the condition that led to the boy's death the crime should be brought home and pushed to the conclusion the people of Peterborough demand"

"It is not a case where the cost of an inquest or investigation should sway the coroner or the Crown Attorney an iota. For the preservation of the lives of other boys and of the good name of this entire district there should be no stone left unturned in getting to the root of this abominable outrage and teaching a wholesome lesson to other delinquent parents.

"In view of the circumstances surrounding the untimely death of this boy," he concluded, "it is hoped it will not be necessary to appeal to the Attorney General for the purpose of obtaining a public inquiry."

Excuses For Dwyer.

Chief Newhall said that in many ways there were extenuating circumstances in favor of George Dwyer. In most cases, he declared, where children grow up on the farm they take a peculiar delight in trying to emulate the grown up folks about the house. They like to get out and work and do the things that the men do. They don't mind a frozen toe or heel once in awhile, he said.

When asked why the father did not see that the children were better cared for, the Chief said that he had been working from early morning until late at night drawing logs out of the woods. He was seldom at home for meals and had little opportunity of seeing how his children were being treated. The father had known that John was very ill and, according to his own statement, the father had obtained some medicine for him. The Chief said that the boy was unconscious when brought to the hospital and had never regained consciousness before his death.

Blames Stepmother.

The Chief was of the opinion that the step-mother was more blame-worthy than the father who, he declared, was a very mild-tempered man. He said that some few years ago the father had fled from home with his children and that they were in much better condition when he was induced to return home than when he had left. He thought that the case would not go forward until the nine year old boy, George, was improved in health. He thought that the boy would be a material witness.

When the father had been told at the time of his arrest that the boy, John, would probably die, he said: "I am sorry but I can't help it; it isn't my fault."

Charge Unknown.

Chief S. Newhall said to-day he is unaware of the nature of the charge on which Mrs. Dwyer was being brought to the city this evening. Magistrate Langley and Provincial Constable Maker are the only persons, he said, who are cognizant of the charge against her.

"STALEST CASE."

Justice Remarks on Lawyer's Reference To Early Married Life.

In the Stewart vs. Stewart alimony case that was slated for hearing this morning before the Honorable Mr. Justice Mowat, a settlement was effected between the plaintiff and the defendant.

The defendant agreed to pay the plaintiff alimony at the rate of $120 a year, and the plaintiff's costs were fixed at $100.

R. R. Hall. K.C., appeared for the plaintiff and J. Fordyce Strickland for the defendant

Mr. Hall read from the evidence of discovery which mentioned alleged instances of a horse whip being used by the defendant; also the defendant tying up the defendant with ropes.

Mr. Hall commenced the proceedings by going back to the beginning of their married life, an action that drew forth the remark from Justice Mowat that "it was the stalest case he had ever heard—going back thirty years. His Lordship stated that he had sized up the situation and advised the plaintiff and the defendant to get together with their respective lawyers and try to effect a settlement. He advised them to go at it sensibly and stated that they both would be better off in the finish. His Lordship adjourned the court at 11.35 a.m. to allow them to arrange a settlement and at 1.25 p.m. both lawyers re-entered the court saying that a settlement had been arranged.

Mr. Strickland addressing the court, said that it was with great reluctance that he consented to the settlement.

His Lordship in giving judgment stated that it was a very fine piece of work on the part of the lawyers in bringing about a settlement between the two people.

At the conclusion of the cast His Lordship declared the Assize closed.

HUSBAND WORE HOUSE SLIPPERS WHEN HE KICKED HIS WIFE OUT AND ESCAPES WITH FINE OF $2

Family Row Started When Wife Wanted to Sit on His Knee.

COMMON ASSAULT.

Defendant Says He Saw Plaintiff Peeking at Him To See Result of 'Faint.'

The case of Rex versus Stewart Thorndyke was heard yesterday before Magistrate O. A. Langley who decreed that the charge be reduced from one of assault occasioning actual bodily harm to common assault.

Judgment was awarded for the plaintiff, the defendant paying a fine of $2 and costs amounting to a total of $12.25.

Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K. C., acted for the plaintiff, and J. A. O'Brien for the defendant.

Owing to the nature of the evidence the hearing was in camera and many who had gathered in the court room were expelled.

Dr. Hewitt was the first witness called and he testified that on Monday, February 15th, he examined the wife of the accused and found that there was a bump the size of a small egg on the woman's head, and a bruise as large as a silver dollar on one arm. She was very nervous.

Mrs. Thorndyke, the next witness, said that she had been married 3½ years had one child, and had lately taken up residence on Donegal St. She declared that the assault had occurred on Feb. 12. The trouble had arisen over a taxi which the defendant explained had been called by another girl. Witness declared that she went over to her husband and put her hand on his shoulder. He bit her wrist. She asked him if he were going to let this break up their home. She said that she pinched him on the arms, and then her husband had thrown her out of the door, kicked her, and told her to remain outside until she had cooled off. She stated that she was outside 15 minutes when her husband wanted her to come into the house. She said that she wouldn't. He then became angry, seized her by the nose, and throat, and bumped her head against the brick wall. She said he was rough. After that he threw her back into house and started pushing her around. She asked him to stop but he wouldn't so she kicked at him, and hit him a blow with her fist. She declared that he returned the blow and as a result she fell on the floor unconscious. She was called back to life by streams of cold water which he was pouring down her neck.

Witness declared that she got up and he wanted her to write out a "confession." She wouldn't. Her husband then wrote one and asked her to sign it. She wouldn't do that either.

Questioned by counsel as to the nature of the document witness responded. "The paper said he wanted me to accept $25 alimony from Feb 12, 1926 to Feb. 12, 1999, less one day."

She said he was very nervous and admitted something to him "by force." She said that she had been nervous ever since and couldn't sleep at nights.

Cross-examination elicited the information that her admissions to her husband "by force" acknowledged certain relationships with other men. In the box witness declared there had been no such conduct. She admitted that she had called her husband by a few opprobious epithets.

Says Wife Aggressed.

Thorndyke substantiated much of the evidence which his wife had submitted but declared that his wife had been the aggressor. He had been quietly reading when his wife wanted to sit on his knee and ask him about the taxi which had been called Thorndyke said that the taxi had been called so that he could follow his wife when she was out with another man, and not for the purpose of taking out another girl.

He said that his wife had called him names and that he had his slippers on when he kicked her. He did not chuck her head against the brick wall he declared. In the house he had acted according to the instinct of self preservation. Witness declared that his wife was not unconscious, while lying on the floor for he had seen her peeking at him to see what effect her "fainting spell" had on him.

Magistrate Langley in making his decision found that the wife had been subjected to certain indignities in being kicked out of the house even by a slippered foot. He did not find that any bodily harm had been caused so the charge was reduced to one of common assault. Owing to the fact that the defendant had spent one night in custody the fine was placed at $2 plus costs.

THREE KILLED 20 INJURED IN RAILWAY CRASH

Collision on South Side of Chicago Has Disastrous Result.

TOWER MAN HELD.

Reported That Open Switch Cause of Wreck—Dead Are Trainmen.

CHICAGO, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Three trainmen were killed and more than 20 passengers injured, 15 seriously, in a head-on collision between an Illinois suburban train and a Michigan Central fast freight on the south side early today.

Officials of each railroad immediately began an investigation of reports that an open switch was responsible for the accident. A towerman and his helper near the scene of the accident were held for questioning by the coroner's jury. Scenes of terror and confusion were described by the police and firemen who hastened to the rescue. For two hours after the wreck the injured men and women of the theatre crowd were being taken from the debris and sent to hospitals. The rescuers climbed to the trains on ladders as the tracks are high above the street level at the point of the crash.

The suburban train, a southbound Matteson local of four coaches, was travelling at a speedy rate when it approached the interlocking system at Dorchester Avenue and Sixty-Eighth Street, about eight miles south of the Loop.

As the suburban crossed the fifth to the first track, the enginemen saw the headlight of a north-bound freight tearing toward them on the same track. The engineer of the passenger train set the brakes and jumped. The coach directly behind the engine of the Illinois Central train was derailed. In it the rescuers found most of the badly injured.

FIRE FIGHTERS BELIEVED LOST

Party of 21 Cut Off By Flames in Australian Bush.

RESCUERS OUT.

LONDON, Mar. 3 (Canadian Press)—A despatch to the Daily Express from Melbourne says that a party of men fighting another bush fire in Australia has been cut off by flames and its fate is unknown.

The despatch says that twenty-three men who by strenuous efforts turned the fire that was raging on several ranges and which threatened to destroy the State fir plantation valued at about $25,000,000, were isolated by flames with only one day's food and suffering from exhaustion from lack of sleep. A motor car which was sent to relieve them was compelled to return. Two of the twenty-three men escaped. They reported it would be suicidal to try to rescue others. Nevertheless, a party of twenty-five men undertook the task.

HOCKEY EXCURSION TO TORONTO

The Peterborough Hockey Club will run an excursion to Toronto on Friday afternoon to see the first of the finals for the Senior O.H.A. Championship.

There is no doubt but that this will be the best game of the season, or in fact for many seasons, as both teams are now in their best form, and have shown quality in games where it was required.

The same arrangements will be made for going and returning as on the special train Monday last, and as this is likely the last game that will be seen by fans this season, unquestionably a large crowd will take in the trip.

INCREASED SALE IN PROVINCIAL LANDS

Receipts Show Big Increase in Sale of Real Esttae.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 3.—(By Canadian Press).— Receipts from provincial lands during the fiscal year of 1925, amounted to $235,673, the largest sum collected in many years, according to government figures just released. New land sales affected, involving 11,331 acres, represents the largest area disposed of since 1919. Prices received went as high as $15 an acre.

Although considerable land reverted to the province during the period through the failure of purchasers to meet their payments, the total unsold area under control of the province was reduced from 230,564 to 227,895 acres.

Principal and interest is given in the report as $687,974 as compared with $903,209 at the close of the last fiscal period. A number of timber permits were sold, although the report noted that the timber lands are gradually being denuded.

Commenting on the mining situation, the report devotes chief attention to the Bulldog district in the northern parts of the province. In this district, it is stated that at a depth of 400 feet, a gold ore body, considerably larger than anything previously found in Manitoba, has been blocked out.

MARGIN OF TEN IS LOOKED FOR BY GOVERNMENT

On Closure Motion and in Division on Address.

MOTION SURPRISE.

Many Members of Both Parties Away, Some of Them Impaired.

OTTAWA, March 3.—(Canadian Press).—Expectation in Liberal circles today is that the Government will have a majority of about ten on the closure motion and on the address, the division on which must come before two o'clock tomorrow morning. The notice of the closure motion, given last night by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, came as a surprise, so much so that a number of members on both sides are away, some of them unpaired. Strenuous efforts are being made to have them here tonight. If the House adjourns tomorrow, according to the programme, there will be a recess of twelve days.

LIQUORS APPROVED.

ABERDEEN, Scotland, March 3—(Canadian Press.)— The Town Council, which in December decided to banish intoxicating beverages from civic banquets by a vote of 16 to 1 last night rescinded the resolution.

FRESH TROUBLE IN SOUTH TYROL

Austrian Paper Says Italian Official Interfered With Doctors.

MUCH EXCITEMENT.

VIENNA, Austria, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Fresh troubles in the Southern Tyrol, former Austrian territory which was given to Italy after the great war, are reported from Bozen (Bolzano) by The Neue Freie Presse.

Dispatches say the Italian prefect of Trent dismissed 40 German physicians from the German District Sick Benefit Association, substituting five Fascist doctors, and applied the Association's fund to party interests.

The German Medical Journal was suppressed and 160 German physicians were compelled to join the Fascist syndicate.

The German population is said to be much excited.

Dunning, Federal Minister of Railways and Canals, in the forthcoming bye-election, adjourned last night. A statement will be issued according to the chairman when "there is something to announce."

SAY FAREWELL TO YOUNG FAMILY

Leaving Smith Township to Take Up Residence in Monaghan.

Almost the entire population of the Fourth Line of Smith Township and many other friends and neighbors assembled on Friday night at the home of Wm. Paul for the purpose of bidding God-speed to Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Young and family, who are leaving the district. The Young family is descended from one of the pioneer settlers. Thomas Young, who located in Smith in 1832.

Mr. and Mrs. Young were presented with wicker chairs; Mr. Harry Young with a motor rug; Miss Clara Young with a clock, and Miss Ethel Young with a wristlet watch.

The following address was read by W. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Young and Family:

Dear Friends.—This pleasant occasion has been planned by your neighbors and friends of Smith Township to spend an evening with you, and to wish you happiness, as you leave our neighborhood to take up your residence in Monaghan.

We believe there are three elements that enter largely into the making of happiness, whether in family or in community life: viz., industrious habits, sound integrity and a kindly spirit. We have found these elements very much in evidence in all our relationships with you.

Everyone who has ever called upon you for help was assured of cheerful interested service; your business dealings have always been carried out in an honorable manner; and your kindly spirit has won the esteem of all. The school children, your nearest neighbors, have testified throughout the years, that "first aid" was never sought from you in vain, and the older folk whose declining years brought need of sympathy and interest found kindly help and cheer in your presence.

In the activities of Gilmour Memorial Church, your family has taken a prominent part, and we fully appreciate these faithful services. The Sabbath School, the B.Y.P.M., the Young Men's Class and your friends and neighbors unite in presenting you with these gifts, with the wish that God may bless you with health and happiness for many years and assure you that good-will accompanies you to your new home.

(Signed) W. S. Edgar, Wm. Paul, Melville A. Scott, Ed. Mahood, T. E. McMullen, Harry C. Blewett.

Smith Township,
February 27, 1926.

After the reading of the address, the entire assembly joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Mr. T. A. Young and Mr. Harry suitably replied.

Short speeches were delivered by Rev. W. S. Edgar, Messrs. J. A. Young, Joseph Mann and T. H. Graham, who spoke of the high esteem in which the departing family was held by all members of the community and extended kindliest wishes for future prosperity and happiness. A musical programme followed. Miss eBatrice McGregor played a piano solo; Miss Phyllis Moore recited, and Mrs. J. A. Young rendered a solo. Each of these efforts were enthusiastically encored. Community singing was then indulged in, and the old favorites, The Maple Leaf, My Old Kentucky Home, and Row Row, Row were sung with gusto, after which the younger male members of the community shook the rafters until close on midnight by a series of rollicking negro choruses. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

DEBATE ON MISSIONS.

Judges Decide That Foreign Missions Are More Essential Than Home.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 3—At the meeting of the Young Peoples' Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church Monday night the following question was debated: "Resolved, that foreign missions are a more important part of the church work than home missions". J. A. Anderson and Mrs. William Hume taking the affirmative side and J. D. Cumming and Mrs. J. D. McEachern upholding the negative.

The judges, Miss Hazel Atkinson, Ivan Groh and Charles Haig, all three school teachers were unanimous in their decision that the affirmative had won.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1926.

WITHOUT REPRESENTATION.

Premier Ferguson's explanation of the failure of the Government to provide for the filling of vacancies in the Legislature before the present session began is not very convincing.

In brief, it is confined to the statement that there has been only one demand from the ridings in question for a by-election, and that in order to have representatives elected before the House met winter campaigns would have been necessary.

So far as the question of demand is concerned, that furnishes no justification for lack of action on the part of the Government, while the obvious answer to the second part of the Premier's statement is that a winter campaign is to be preferred to leaving seven constituencies without representation in the Legislature.

Let us suppose that a Government control bill is presented during the present session.

Its fate would necessarily have to be decided without the people of seven ridings in the Province having a word to say through their representatives as to the passing or rejection of a measure that would directly or indirectly affect the majority of them.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

The local Chamber of Commerce is to be congratulated upon the calibre of the directorate elected for the present year as a result of yesterday's ballot.

The fact that so many busy citizens were willing to serve the community by helping to guide the affairs of this worth-while organization supplies an insight into the reason why the Chamber of Commerce is able to report so many successful activities.

The Chamber includes in its membership most of the leaders in commercial, financial and industrial circles in the city, and the evident enthusiasm of the members is a very healthy sign.

Such an organization has a very useful place in the community, acting as it does as a clearing house for many splendid movements and affording a chance for the development of progressive plans for Peterboro's benefit along many lines.

The desirability of membership in the Chamber of Commerce and the necessity of assisting in the carrying out of its manifold activities should not by this time need to be impressed upon the citizens.

The record of the organization speaks for itself.

MR. LYONS' RESIGNATION.

The resignation of Hon. James Lyons, Minister of Lands and Forests in the Ontario Government, is a development in Provincial political circles that has for a day or two at least distracted the attention of members of the Legislature from that favourite topic —the Ontario Temperance Act.

The general verdict seems to be that Mr. Lyons has acted wisely in placing his resignation in the hands of the Premier.

The Minister has undoubtedly been in a position of considerable difficulty.

The firm of which he is the head finds the greater part of its customers in New Ontario among organizations that necessarily have relations with the Government.

That condition left him always open to attack, no matter how carefully he might have endeavoured to avoid even the suspicion that he was using his official position to further the interests of his firm.

Under such circumstances it is better not only for Mr. Lyons himself and his business, but for the public that the situation be cleared in the only way possible for it to be cleared, that is by the resignation of the Minister.

IMPORTED MAGAZINES.

Another of the recurring spasmodic agitations has been started against the vogue in Canada of United States magazines and periodicals. Probably it owes its stimulus to the recent barring of the weekly publication of Liberty, not by an means of the gutter class, for issuing a series of articles rehashing ancient and much-discredited scandal and gossip current throughout the Victorian era. Some of the matter was undoubtedly repugnant and distasteful to public opinion in wealth, though, apparently, it is read with avidity in large sections of the population across the border who regard anything and everything as gospel truth that appears in print, especially if it panders to early-instilled prejudice against monarchies as the roots of all evil, social and political. Of course, the pity is that United States publications, professedly devoted to the cultivation of high ideals and the public uplift, and inclined to regard Canada as part of their parish, should descend to muck-raking, offensive in itself and irritating to a neighboring community. But the average United States publisher and writer is so entirely self-centred and so unaccustomed to the international outlook, that his lapses from neighborly obligations are unconscious and only realized with the reaction.

Canada, because of her geographical location, is peculiarly situated and exceptionally open to the influence of an adjacent country vastly greater in population, wealth, industry and commerce. Size and material development are, of course, no indication nor warranty of literary or artistic excellence, the greatest and most permanent arts and literatures have, so far, originated in small nations, even cities. But the United States is already possessed of the idea, and is not slow to give it voice, that today its writers and artists excel those of all other nations, past or present, and that the native products should be welcomed with open arms by the peoples who have fallen behind in the race for eminence. Doubtless many United States critics, if they deem it worth while to notice such trifles, are quite surprised that Canadians should feel aggrieved at the mental pabulum provided for home consumption, or should object to the Dominion sharing the provender so plentifully supplied. About the quantity, not quality, of that provender, no dispute is possible. An article by Mr. Charles W. Stokes, in last week's Saturday Night, shows that no less than twenty-five million United States magazines and periodicals are sold in the Dominion every year, with $3,700,000 as their face value. Against this flood of written words, at prices cheap because of advertising revenues, it is impossible for Canadian publications to compete.

As matter of fact, less than half that number of Canadian magazines is sold inside the Dominion during the same period, the figures being about twelve million copies of $1,300,000 face value. As. Mr. Stokes puts it briefly, for every ten Canadian magazines bought by the average Canadian, he buys nearly twenty-one from across the line—for every dollar he spends on the native product, he spends close on $2.85 on the imported product. In addition, he buys about a million United States agricultural papers and a million and a quarter trade and professional journals, besides unaccountable millions of Sunday newspapers. All enter Canada free of duty, those forwarded by mail being distributed by the Canadian post office at a rate nothing like commensurate with the cost. Every Canadian is prepared to admit that this is not a healthy condition of affairs and by no means conducive to the development of an intrinsically Canadian school of literature. But the question of how the situation is to be remedied presents formidable difficulties. Against distinctly immoral and offensive publications something can be done by barring them from the mails and seizure by the customs authorities, but to stop the incoming of magazines, not otherwise objectionable than that they come from across the line, is another story. Various remedies more or less drastic have been suggested, but none promises effectual results. Meantime, and until one is found, the only consolation is that the effect of these United States products on the Canadian mind is, perhaps, exaggerated by commentators. History reveals that strong national sentiment can remain unimpaired, may indeed stiffen, notwithstanding the pressure of militant propaganda on the part of an immediate neighbor.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

The Saskatoon Star objects to a recent news item in the Financial Post which suggested that Canada should not appoint representatives of various political and social factions to the proposed tariff board. It observes that "the board the Post would really like to see appointed would be a body of politicians with power to invent fairy tales for the spoofing of the public."

Not at all. The Financial Post wishes that the politicial spoofing and tariff distractions, which have been going on these many years, could be allayed. It recognizes, as a practical matter, that a tariff, properly devised, has a justifiable place in our national programme, and that its immediate replacement by a system of free trade is an impossibility.

A tariff, thoughtfully formulated, is in the national interest. It should not be the plaything of special interests, whether they be agricultural or industrial. The Post has no delusions about the tariff, but the predominant voice of the country is for a tariff which will serve the public interest by permitting our established industries to meet competition from abroad effectively. Nothing more—for the old days of special privilege are past. In return for the tariff our industries will increasingly employ Canadian labor, resources, capital, transportation and all those hundred and one factors which lead to balanced and prosperous economic life.

Because it believes that the virtues of a tariff, so conceived, commend themselves to all public-spirited Canadians, the Post has consistently advocated a tariff board. The board it has in mind will neither jack up nor cut asunder the tariff in a broad, senseless sweep. It will examine the schedules of the tariff and suggest such changes as are dictated by a wide variety of considerations involving the public interest, industrial prosperity, national finance and international trade relations.

We believe that it would be unwise to perpetuate in such a board the sectional and partisan views which have held sway in the past. We have enough faith in general common sense to believe that a tariff board, constituted to pursue its work in a spirit of scientific inquiry, can and will iron out any inequalities which today exist for the general public or the industrial establishments of this country.

Parliament should review the suggestions of the tariff board in the same spirit. It may not do so, but it is entirely conceivable that, with facts and figures before them, the members will be able to judge more clearly the results of their votes. They will neither initiate uneconomic production within the country nor proceed to wreck established industries in accordance with the vague phantoms of either protection or free trade philosophies.

In common with the Saskatoon Star we know that powerful sectional and political influences will be brought to bear on the board. This is exactly our reason for suggesting an impartial commission of thoughtful citizens and not the representatives of class consciousness. We are not unaware of the trials of the United States Tariff Commission, and we recognize that there are features of the American experiment which are not applicable to Canada. There are also inherent dangers in the plan and there are possibilities of disagreements.

With all these difficulties in mind, however, we believe the appointment of a properly constituted tariff board would be a notable advance. If the United States could find such men as Dr. F. W. Taussig and Dr. Thomas Walker Page, both theoretical free traders and eminent economists, who would look at the tariff as a reality without yielding to pressure from groups and parties, surely there are men in Canada who can do the same.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Applying the closure at Ottawa at this stage of the proceedings is like locking the garage door after the car has been stolen.

Perhaps Hon. Jas. Lyons figured that the Government would never be able to catch up with the questions asked about his firm.

Peterboro's hockey team is once more giving this city a large amount of publicity of a very desirable kind.

The nickname, "Hogtown," is a misnomer applied to Toronto when the hockey results are considered.

Now the Daily Mirror has been banned from Canada. The next victim may be the News of the World.

WEDNESDAY

The Water of Life.

Read Jn. 7: 37-44. Text: 7:37. If any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink.

Meditation—Again the Master appeals to keen sense of thirst in a hot, semi-tropical land. This appetite was felt intensely by all. Every one knew the refreshing satisfaction of the cup of cold water as the water vendor went around with the clinking of his metal drinking bowls. This satisfaction was used to symbolize the great satisfaction Jesus promises to those who believe and obey him. Complete fulfilment of the deepest needs of the great adventure of living his life in the wondeful way of Jesus.

Prayer — Blessed Lord, stand again in the court of my soul's temple and cry unto me who have eyes and see not. It is Thyself I really seek; for if I have all and not Thee, I have nothing, and my spirit remains famished and athirst. Interpret to me I pray Thee, the motives of my own heart; so that I shall no longer search for what I have, nor seek with sin to stay desires designed to find no satisfaction till I find Thee.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

MILITARY HONORS.

To the Editor of The Evening Examiner, Peterborough.

Dear sir:

I think it is a matter for deep regret that the honor of a military funeral should be denied Peterborough veterans of the Great War. In a city of this size, with four supposedly active militia units, it seems nothing short of a slight on men who fought in France and came back home to die in our midst, that the customary honors should be withheld.

On inquiry, I am informed that a military funeral would be possible on a Sunday, when the band and a firing party would be available, but that for two reasons Sunday funerals are impossible. My informant declares that the Ministerial Association decided it impossible to conduct Sunday burials of veterans and preach their sermons and attend Sunday School. If this is right—and I hope the Ministerial Association will correct me if I am misinformed —may I take the liberty of pointing out that the war in which these veterans fought was a seven-day affair, fifty-two weeks in the year, and that none of them flinched in their duty? The Ministerial Association of course, like any other organization of men for whatever purpose, may make what rules and regulations it desires to make, affecting its own members. Allow me only to suggest that since that regulation was drawn up, as I am told, two minister who were its strong supporters have left the city. These were not overseas Chaplains. Rev. James Rollins, who was overseas, was always willing to assist the veterans in any way possible.

But I am also informed that even when a Minister is willing to take the service on Sunday, as I believe was the case with this week's sad interment, the Little Lake Cemetery Board refuses burial on that day. Surely, sir, there must be some misconception here of the merits of the case! Can it be that in Peterborough there is a body of men so small minded that they will refuse the right to returned soldiers to honor one of their dead in a fitting manner? That in the one case, two years ago, where permission was reluctantly given they demanded twice the usual payment for opening the grave?

Sunday is the only day on which veterans in general can parade; it it the only day on which a band and firing party can be mustered. Is it too much to ask that for the sake of the war-time acts ofthe soldiers a few concessions be made them now?

Cannot the decision of the Ministerial Association be reconsidered, with a possibility of change through new members? Cannot the Board of Little Lake Cemetery reconsider its rules?

Or will these gentlemen make a statement through the press, both Ministers and members of the Cemetery Board—telling why members of Canada's splendid army must go to the grave without the honors customary to men who have served their country, when the granting of a few concessions would make the honors possible?

Yours truly,
RED PATCH.

A NEW ARITHMETIC

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—"Church Union" has given Canada many new things. It has given a new "denomination," unlike other denominations in that it seeks to build itself up at the expense of others. It has given us a new theology, changeable at any time at the will of its leaders. It has given us a new morality, which seeks to confiscate sacred trusts, disregards ordination vows and fails to keep covenant, agreement and pledge.

And now Church Union has given a new Arithmetic; for its official statement over the signature of its moderator, has been recently widely published, in some cases with huge head-lines — "Two-thirds of the Presbyterian Church voted for Union"; "Seventy per cent of Presbyterians voted for Union," etc.

Will you kindly permit some facts of that voting, in figures of the old arithmetic which Presbyterians still use:

At the first vote in the Presbyterian Church, in 1911, out of a total membership of 306,061, including elders, there voted for Union 113,000, and against it 50,753. The "unionist" vote was less than thirty-seven per cent. of the membership.

At the second vote, in 1915, out of a total membership of 344,740, there voted for "Union" 113,600, and against it 73,735. The Unionist vote was less than thirty-three per cent of the membership.

At the third voting, in 1925, the vote, as at June 10th, apart from New Brunswick and Manitoba, with which had not then voted, was 102,820 for Union and 110,404 against it. Later, out of a total membership of 379,762, the vote, including New Brunswick and aMnitoba, with Manitoba slightly incomplete, was 113,773 for Union, and 114,367 against it. The Unionist vote was less than thirty per cent of the total membership.

The total vote—for and against "Union"—in 1911 and 1915, was about fifty-four per cent of the total membership; in 1925 it was sixty per cent, showing that the latest voting, in which gave a total majority against union, represented the church more completely than did the two previous votes.

Note further that while the total membership increased over seventy thousand between the first and third votes, the total Unionist vote remained about the same, in all three votes, while the Presbyterian vote steadily increased from fifty thousand at the first vote to seventy-three thousand at the second vote and one hundred and fourteen thousand at the third vote.

But what of the forty per cent who did not vote in 1925. Many of them had no oppotrunity. Hundreds of "congregations" in Mission charges, under unionist official control, were not permitted to vote. Many of them are now asserting their rights and organizing, and the Presbyterian Church in Canada will, ere long, be but little short of her previous real strength. She is free from much that was not in sympathy and was a weakness. She has a unity and peace long hitherto unknown.

One feature of that "new arithmetic" quite in keeping with the "new morality" is its reckoning by "congregations" when hundreds of so-called "congregatons" would not average half a dozen members each, and some have none.

For example, one hundred and eight of the "congregations" claimed by unionists for Canada, are in the the Island of Trinidad, a mission field off the Coast of South America, where the school house on each farm or estate, in which the children of the Indian labourers on that farm are taught on week days, and in which the Indian native teacher holds a service on Sunday, where there may not be a single church member, and where a Church Union vote was never known or dreamed, is claimed as a "congregation."

In Canada, too, places where a home missionary may at some time have preached, no matter how infrequently, though they may have neither church nor church member, are given as "congregations."

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Mar. 2—A bunch of 13 light mixed butchers sold at $7 a cwt., but these were only good. Butchers' cows are in steady demand and prices are firm. Butchers' cattle sold stronger on Monday and prices today are from 10 to 25 cents a cwt. higher than last week. An arrival late this morning brings the cattle for sale today up to around 1,000 head. Receipts this morning are 90 cars, 795 cattle, 561 calves, 1,640 hogs and 371 sheep and lambs. The only export steers in were those on through billing. Export bulls sold at $5.50 and $5.75. Today's trade will be small as the late arriving cattle will not be offered till tomorrow.

Two cars of calves left here for Buffalo last night and another will leave tonight. Calf prices are quite firm and one bunch not choice sold at 14 cents a pound. Light thin calves are selling at 9 to 11 cents a pound.

Trade was slow in lambs on the higher prices asked. One deck of good lambs sold at 14 cents a pound, but two other decks were held for higher money. No choice sheep were on sale.

Hogs are unsettled but packers say they will not bid over $13 a cwt., f.o.b., but selelrs are asking an advance.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., Mar. 2 (Canadian Press)—The export trade in all lines of grain was again dull today, there being practically no demand from foreign buyers for supplies. There was some demand from local buyers for Canadian western oats and sales of a few cars were made. Spot prices were unchanged.

The weaker feeling that developed in the market for spring wheat grades on Monday was more pronounced today and prices scored a further decline of 20c per barrel. This makes a net reduction of 40c per barrel in two days, but even at the lower level little business was done. First patents were quoted at $8.50, second patents at $8, and strong bakers at $7.60 to $7.80 per barrel, jute bags, ex-track, less 10c per barrel for spot cash.

An unsettled feeling continues to prevail in the millfeed situation and it was reported that prices in some cases were being cut one dollar, but there was no official announcement of any change in prices.

The only change in the local egg situation was a further reduction of 1c per dozen in the price for fresh firsts, other grades being steady. Supplies were ample and an active trade was done in a jobbing way with extras selling at 42, firsts at 37, and seconds at 32c per dozen. The demand for storage eggs was somewhat limited, but as offerings were small prices ruled steady and unchanged. Receipts today were 1217 cases.

The tone of the butter market continues strong and steadily tending towards a higher level, prices having scored a further advance of 1-2c to 1c per pound. There was a fair inquiry for supplies but the volume of business was small owing to the fact that holders were not free sellers as they expect values will go still higher. No. 1 Townships Pasteurized was held at 47c, and No. 2 grades at 45c to 45 1-2c per pound.

The trade in a jobbing way was fairly active with sales of finest creamery at 46c per pound in solid packages, and at 47c per pound in one pound blocks. Receipts today were 342 packages.

EGG PRICES

OTTAWA, Ont., Mar. 2 (Canadian Press)—Egg markets generally are unchanged today. Heavy snowfalls in eastern Ontario and western Quebec are retarding receipts in those sections.

Toronto market is easy. Wholesale fresh extras, 39 to 40; firsts, 35 to 36; seconds, 30 to 31.

Montreal egg market is steady owing to stormy weather. Ontario receipts are light although local receipts show a slight increase. American fresh plentiful. Wholesale fresh extras 42-43c, firsts 37-38c, seconds 31-32c.

Winnipeg Jobbing fresh extras 42-44c, firsts 37-38c, seconds 32c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Mar. 2 (Canadian Press)—Although wheat values today touched the lowest level yet on the present downturn, a good demand from buyers developed on all the breaks in price and there were numerous sharp rallies. Export business, however, was lacking, and the world's available supply showed 1,055,000 bushels increase. Closing quotations on wheat were nervous at the same as yesterday's finish to 5-8c lower, with corn 1-8 to 1-2c down; oats 1-8 to 1-4 at 3-8c off and provisions varying from five cents decline to a rise of seven cents.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Man., Mar. 2 (Canadian Press)—The wheat market was erratic and nervous today, and after suffering a decline of two cents early in the day resumed an upward tendency, closing unchanged to 3-4c higher. May closed at $1.46; July at $1.44, and October, which registered the advance, at $1.30 1-2. Early in the session there was considerable short covering in the way of taking profits, and the market reacted upward, but again met heavy selling pressure and prices broke to new low levels, May touching $1.44. A better class of buying was then recorded, the values regained the lost ground.

HAMBERLAIN RETREATS BEFORE BRITISH OPPOSITION TO OPENING SEAT IN THE LEAGUE FOR POLAND

Accepts Government View That Geneva Meeting Only to Admit Germany.

AVOIDING DEBATE.

But Commons May Discuss Subject Before Meeting of Council.

LONDON, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Finding himself in conflict with the nation as a whole, Sir Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary, is said to have made a rather belated retreat from what was considered an impossible position, and, according to information in an authoritative quarter, has agreed to accept the Government view, that the coming meeting of the League at Geneva has no other purpose than the election of Germany to a permanent seat in the Council.

The Minister will try as a compromise to secure the Council's assent to the appointment of a special commission to study the claims of Poland, Spain and Brazil for permanent seats, and report back to the September assembly.

Government Crisis Ends.

Then so far as Great Britain is involved, the crisis may be considered ended. But that does not mean that the Geneva difficulty has been solved. The Locarno methods, which Sir Austen advocated, will probably be more than ever necessary, for France and Italy, finding that they have lost the support of the British Foreign Secretary, may become still more insistent, and, although Sweden and the countries supporting Sweden can veto the Spanish-Polish claims, there is still a possibility of some action on the part of France and Italy which would move Germany to withdrew her application.

Chamberlain is still in favor of a compromise, giving Spain a seat, provided Germany can be induced to agree. Both Belgium and Japan favor postponing Poland's claim until later, but it is understood that the delegations of these countries will have no precise instructions.

Avoid Debate in House.

The British Government will try to avoid a Parliamentary debate on the subject if possible, before the Geneva meeting, but the Opposition is likely to force a debate, unless Premier Baldwin is able to make clear that there is no ambiguity about Sir Austen's intentions.

ENFORCEMENT OF LAW AGAINST BOOTLEGGERS LAX, SAYS JUDGE

Mr. Justice Fisher Advocates Flogging of Liquor Peddlers

AT PORT ARTHUR.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., March 3 (Canadian Press).—"So far as the bootleggers are concerned, I may say, the enforcement of our law has been very lax. If I had the making of law, a bootlegger would come before me once, and probably not again. I'd flog him. If properly flogged he wouldn't want to come back again. Then I'd send him to jail for a term," said Mr. Justice Fisher at the opening of the spring assizes of the Supreme Court of Ontario, in Port Arthur Tuesday.

The Judge was reviewing the evidence in the case of Rex versus Roual St. Germain, charged with the murder of two men at Graham on November 28 last. The defence, he said, would be that St. Germain was intoxicated.

"The question of drink is vividly before us in the crime of the day," continued Mr. Justice Fisher. "Just when strong drink will be eliminated, the Lord only knows. If the Anglo-Saxon people and those who have respect for law and decency could exterminate it, we would have far less serious crime. The country has had a great deal of crime, and the most of the men who are charged are foreigners, and seventy per cent. of them, easily that percentage, are bootleggers. Those who are selling liquor or having anything to do with stills or the handling of liquor illegally are mostly foreigners.

There are some who say they have no sympathy for flogging as a punishment. Some people are so charged with sentiment that they cannot see anything but themselves; a month in jail, a fine, means nothing to the bootlegger. It means nothing to the breaker of the liquor laws. The son is a bootlegger one day, his father the next, and probably his wife the next."

BOGUS KLANSMAN COLLECTED DUES

Port Arthur Joiners Duped By Stranger.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., March 3.—(Canadian Press.) — Two men, who state they are representatives of a Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., detective agency announce that a commission from the headquarters of the Ku Klux Klan in Canada was successfu l when they located yesterday in a local hotel a man who, according to their story, has fraudulently been representing himself as an organizer for the Klan in Canada and as such been collecting funds as dues.

Discussion of Klan affairs has been live in the city during the past few days since it became general knowledge that citizens were receiving visits from a man representing himself as an organizer.

APSLEY MAN HAS STRANGE ACCIDENT

Was Choping When Overhead Branch Deflects His Axe.

APSLEY, March 3.—Frank Tanner of Apsley was the victim of an unusual, and what might have been a fatal accident, on Saturday, when he cut himself severely behind the ear with an axe, a feat that only a professional contortionist could successfully do purposely. He was cutting branches overhead, when the axe glanced off an obstruction, and swinging round cut the ear, the incision extending to below the chin, and just missing the jugular vein. The unfortunate man lost a great deal of blood before he was able to reach Apsley, where Dr. Shepherd dressed the injury.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith Assembled For Cards and Refreshments.

LAKEFIELD, March 3.—About twenty-five friends of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith gave them a surprise party on Friday evening last to celebrate the birthday of the former. The party was a complete surprise, and was one of the jolliest of the season, which has been unusually gay. Progressive euchre was played till about eleven when refreshments were served, after which Mr. J. A. Porte: read a short address expressing the felicitations of the group of friends, and Mr. C. S. Tanner presented a small token of esteem.

Mrs. F. J. Burgess and Mr. J. W. Ridpath were prize winners at euchre, and Mrs. J. S. Montgomery and Mr. W. J. Charlton won the consolation prizes.

The remainder of the evening was spent in music and chorades, and about one o'clock the guests departed, after making delicately worded inquiries about other birthdays which might be celebrated in a similar manner, the initial effort being so successful.

MISSION TALK BY FIELD SECRETARY

Miss Mitchell Told of Progress in Foreign and Home Missions.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 3.—Miss Mitchell, who for some years past has been field secretary for the Persbyteriah Women's Missionary Society, and now of the United church, spoke eloquently on Sunday morning in St. John's church of the work of the Missionary Society. She mentioned work done in India, Africa and China and gave in detail some of the work being done in Canada mainly Manitoba, Peace River district and British Columbia. She explained that the work was divided into three classes, namely, hospital, educational and evangelism and told of the training given in the Mission Homes for those who would be able in no other way to receive education.

Rev. Mr. Elliott, in the evening, gave a continuation of his talk on the seven cardinal virtues.

BEDLAM ON NEW YORK EXCHANGE AS STOCKS FELL

Hudson Led Motor Group With Loss of 17 Points.

RAILS ALSO HIT.

Ticker Trailed By Many Minutes the Rush of Selling.

NEW YORK, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Last night a million lights burned in the skyscrapers of lower Manhattan while clerks and stenographers of Wall Street perspired over their ledgers and typewriters, trying to catch up on the day's 3,015,700 share bear market. The detailed story of how the severest break in prices on the New York stock exchange since 1920-21 developed was meanwhile going forward over the telegraph wires to Palm Beach, Miami and other southern resorts where the solons of the street are spending their winter vacations.

Brokers read in these advices of how the gradual falling off in prices increased in momentum until the last hour, when total sales exceeded 1,400,000 shares, a new high record; how the tape was many minutes behind dealings on the exchange floor and how thousands of customers congregated in board rooms were thrown into consternation when the word was flashed that Hudson Motors was selling at 108 when the ticker was pounding out 118 3-4, how the fact that the Interstate Commerce Commission's rejection of the proposed "Nickel Plate" merger came within an hour after the market closed, and that rails were hard hit yesterday, led to the rumor that there had been a "leak" on the commission's action.

During the final moments of the market, the scene on the floor of the exchange was one of turmoil with wildly gesticulating brokers shrieking their orders, messenger boys dashing about, and telephone clerks barking out confirmations of orders and quotations to their offices at scores of booths.

SENTENCE OF LASH WILL BE EFFECTED

Appeal of Two Thugs Denied By Government.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 3.—(Canadian Press.)—Efforts to have the lash remitted from the sentence passed on John Leahman and James Gordon, convicted of assault with intent to rob La Banque Nationale at Calder, Alberta, last November, have failed. The sentence of the court was for six months in jail, and 15 lashes for each prisoner.

The two men were found guilty of assaulting the manager of the bank and of throwing in his face some substance which caused him pain and injury. They were tried at Edmonton in December last, found guilty and given sentence mentioned. The Department of Justice has been advised that the manager of the bank which these men attempted to rob is still feeling the effects of the assault which was made upon him.

OBITUARY.

JOHN BRAITHWAITE

ROSENEATH, March 3. — The sad and sudden death occurred on Monday morning, March 1, of John Braithwaite eldest son of Mrs. Margaret Braithwaite. Deceased was only in bed one week. His death came as a shock to his many friends as it was not known that his illness had assumed a serious nature.

There are left to mourn his loss, his loving mother and brother, Allen.

The funeral service will be held at the house Wednesday afternoon. Interment to Centerary Cemetery.

MRS. THOS. PRITCHARD.

MARMORA, March 3. — Rarely has such a gloom passed over the village as when it became known that Annie, beloved wife of Thomas Pritchard, had passed away at the home of her parents at 5 p.m. on Monday, within seven weeks of her bridal day. Deceased was taken ill a few days after her marriage, undergoing medical treatment in Toronto. Recovering somewhat, she returned later to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Linn. On Friday an operation was considered necessary, and her husband was summoned to her bedside. Little hope was held on Sunday of her recovery, yet her demise came as a great shock to her immediate relatives and friends. She is survived by her sorrowing husband and parents, a sister, Mrs. Harold Nayler, of Marmora, and a young brother, James, at home.

Don't Neglect The Children's Coughs and Colds

Mrs. Wm. W. Card, Bancroft, Ont., writes:—"Last winter my three children had very bad colds, and they would cough all night long, which was very annoying to the rest of the family.

I could get nothing to help them until one night, a friend who was staying with me, advised me to give them

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

I immediately got some, and after I had used four bottles of it my children became quite well again, thanks to Dr. Wood's."

Four Children Rescued From Their Burning Home

OTTAWA, March 3 (Canadian Press). — Four children, ranging in age from a few months to five years, had a narrow escape from death when fire broke out in their home at Eastview, near here, Tuesday afternoon. The mother, who had locked the children in an upstairs room while she visited a neighbor, returned to find smoke issuing from the building. Passersby rendered assistance, and the children were rescued. It is believed that the children, playing with matches, ignited old rags and paper.

The Cunning of Cookery

THE pleasure of eating is confined to the flavor. But a lot of the benefit of eating comes from flavor, also.

Try this with your husband, fresh from the office, his business cares still present. Tempt him with his favorite cake or pudding made with Shirriff's True Vanilla. But don't use inferior brands of flavoring extracts made from coal-tar chemicals.

Here's a flavor straight from the fragrant tropical vanilla bean itself. Just think, 6 drops of Shirriff's True Vanilla equal 18 drops of vanilla made from coal-tar chemicals. Dishes made with Shirriff's True Vanilla will truly please. Start today. A pleasant surprise awaits you!

Don't Let the Price Tag Do All the Talking

IT is a great injustice to goods of genuine quality, when a customer succumbs to the argument of lower price without knowing the whole truth. But it is a greater injustice to the customer also.

When the whole truth is told, Sani-Bilt Furniture really costs less than any other upholstered living room furniture on the Canadian market. Comparing dollar for dollar value is cheaper than any other.

Sani-Bilt Furniture has a larger output than any other upholstered furniture manufactured in this country, therefore, its manufacturing costs are less, and its selling price is less to the trade, and the retail dealer can sell it for less than he can sell other goods of similar construction.

Furthermore, Sani-Bilt Furniture is sold at a range of prices to suit all ordinary financial circumstances and every requirement of good taste.

"Cheapness" is No Guide

There may be Chesterfield Suites with strikingly designed and colored cover fabrics, offered at prices apparently cheaper than for Sani-Bilt Suites covered in quieter, and perhaps more refined taste. But these "cheaper" suites are not guaranteed. Is it fair to compare cheap, old "renovated," rubbishy stuffings to new fresh sterilized, sanitary fillings such as used and guaranteed by Sani-Bilt?

Is it fair to compare rough, second-grade lumber to clear, solid, well-finished No. 1 hardwood, such as used in the Sani-Bilt frames? Or rough-and-ready slip-shod carpentry to rigid, screwed, glued and corner-blocked joinery—the sound construction—guaranteed by Sani-Bilt?

Is it fair to yourself or is it fair to Sani-Bilt when an insignificant difference in price overlooks the extra number and quality of the Sani-Bilt, oil-tempered, steel coil springs, and the extra security by which the stout cross-tied cords hold them upright in their proper place? Doubtless you have shuddered at the "humps and hollows of poverty" such as disgrace cheap chesterfields after a few years' wear, when the springs begin to lean and sag. The extra springs give Sani-Bilt Furniture much longer life. It stands up.

Look for the Guarantee

Above all is it fair to yourself to buy a cheaper Chesterfield Suite sold under a guarantee limited to one year—perhaps under no guarantee at all to a Sani-Bilt, guaranteed without reserve mothproof for life long? A cheap flashy brocade or a bold, striking tapestry design may soon cover a frightful nest of moths. Surface spraying with a poisonous solution is worse than no protection at all, because it gives a false security.

Read the Sani-Bilt guarantee. Sani-Bilt guaranteed furniture is more truly economical, whatever the price. It is absolutely and permanently mothproof. It is moth-proof inside, as well as out. It is solidly constructed and honestly upholstered with heavier quality of canvas webbing under the springs than any cheaper chesterfield suites on the market. It offers the widest variety of artistic covering fabrics in Canada.

Look under the Snyder-Guaranteed Cushions for the Sani-Bilt label. The label and the guarantee are more important than the price tags, but Sani-Bilt is always the cheapest in the end, whatever the price tags.

CAMPBELLFORD CONSERVATIVES SUPPORT MAJOR J. F. B. BELFORD

But Think That He, in Turn, Should Support Ferguson.

SECOND DRIVE.

East Northumberland Member Pushed Forward For Education Portfolio.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 3. — The Examiner carried a Canadian Press despatch Tuesday in which it was stated that Premier Ferguson was likely to take the position of Minister of Lands and Forests in the Ontario Cabinet to succeed Hon. James Lyons, resigned, and that he would give up the portfolio of Education, which he has held ever since the return of his party to power. If this shift is made the Conservative party of Northumberland East will renew its attempt to have Major J. F. B. Belford, M.L.A. for the riding, elevated to Cabinet rank as Minister of Education.

When Major Belford was first elected to the Legislature in 1923, few men of whom greater things were expected, ever entered public life. The members of his party and others who knew him recognized the fact that they had in the Major a man of outstanding ability and an orator second to none in the Province. It was not enough that he redeemed the riding by a large majority, his supporters believed that he was qualified for a Cabinet position and at once got busy on his behalf.

Scores of letters were sent to the new Premier and a deputation went to Toronto to urge the appointment of the Major to the position of Minister of Education, a position for which he was peculiarly fitted by his academic training. This deputation included, among other Campbellford Conservatives, Robert Lowrey, the veteran vice-chairman of the party in this town.

The arguments advanced in favor of Major Belford were that he had been a school teacher and was familiar with the educational needs of the Province. He was later educated for the Anglican ministry and at one time held a professorship in a Manitoba college. He had entered the war as a private and had risen to the rank of major. His qualifications appeared to leave nothing to be desired.

When Premier Ferguson himself took the portfolio of Minister of Education the Major's chances for a Cabinet position vanished, but it was thought at the time that this arrangement was only temporary and the Major's champions were given the assurance that if a vacancy did occur in that Department the matter of the appointment of Major Belford would be given careful consideration. That is the promise upon which his friends are now building their hopes.

The Major's friends, however, did succeed in having their representative receive official recognition. When the Legislature opened he was, through their influence, chosen to move the address in reply to the speech from the throne and at the very outset of his public career this brought him prominently before the public and established his reputation as a finished orator, a reputation which he has ever since maintained.

His Stand On 4.4 Beer

There have been many changes since 1923. Major Belford has incurred the displeasure of a section of his party by the stand which he took on the stronger beer question, voting as he did against that measure when it was finally adopted. It is true that when the question was first submitted to the House the major lined up with the majority but the explained this by saying that to have done otherwise would be practically voting lack of confidence in the Government and that defeat at that stage of the proceedings would have meant the resignation of the Administration.

When the intention of the Government to legalize the manufacture and sale of stronger beer was announced in the speech from the strone, temperance workers here deluged Major Belford with letters urging him to oppose any attempt to weaken the Ontario Temperance Act. To all of these he replied that he would vote against any measure that permitted an increase in the alcoholic strength of beer. He wrote in the same strain to the Peterborough Presbytery when that body also sent him a resolution of protest.

Later Opinions

Major Belford was in Campbellford last week attending the fathers and sons banquet. Some of the leading temperance workers here are members of the Major's party and in conversation with these it is known that he gave them the assurance that if the House is divided on the temperance question this session (as everyone seems to expect it will be) he will again vote with the dry element. That is the information that has reached the officials of the Conservative executive here and it has considerably lessened the Major's chances for a Cabinet position.

"It is not likely that there will be any appointments to the Cabinet until after the House is divided on the liquor question," said a member of the local executive to The Examiner last night. "Then we will know the Conservatives who are behind the Premier and those who are not. If we elect a representative as a Conservative we naturally look for him to support the leader of that party on all important issues instead of jumping over the fence into the garden of Messrs. Raney and Sinclair. If he deserts his leader in a crisis we cannot be expected to boost him for a Cabinet position. Just the same we would be pleased as a party to get behind Major Belford as we did three years ago and help him to land a portfolio provided he remains true to the party that put him where he is today."

The YELLOW STUB

by Ernest Lynn

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JANET RAND, his daughter, breaks her engagement with BARRY COLVIN, because of the "disgrace." JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Chicago, where the theater is. The stub is traced to THOMAS FOGARTY, a political boss, who says he gave the ticket to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing police want her for murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warnings to leave Chicago, and later is attacked at night by two men but escapes.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Mary tells Jimmy and he, trying to hurt her, accuses her of marrying for money.

That night Jimmy and Olga see, in an auto, a man they both recognize—she as the man who got the stub, he as one of his assailants. The man and his companion escape. Later they identify him by his police picture as IKE JENSEN.

Church, out driving with Mary, runs over a dog. His heartlessness kindles hatred in her and she breaks her engagement.

LIEUTENANT O'DAY, a policeman, warns Jimmy about Olga and tells him she is falling in love with him. Jimmy asks him if he can tell him something in confidence.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXX.

Jimmy Rand pulled his chair a little nearer to O'Day's desk. He lit another cigaret and sat gazing at the match as it flickered and finally went out.

"I'm a fool, I suppose," he said, not knowing how to begin. "I ought to keep my mouth shut, but I feel as if I'll burst unless I confide in somebody. Lieutenant, something's been on my mind for weeks, worrying the devil out of me.

"You've just been warning me about falling in love. It's too late, lieutenant. I've already gone and done it." He smiled ruefully, watching the smoke from his cigaret curl up toward the ceiling.

O'Day produced the bag of "scrap" and refueled. "Go on," he said gruffly, his voice muffled by the huge wad in his cheek.

And then, the while he punctuated his sentences with deep inhalations of his cigaret, Rand told him about Mary Lowell.

"I don't know, lieutenant, whether there's any such thing as love at first sight, but I do know she appealed to me tremendously, and I've been in love with her ever since that night at the restaurant."

"An' she broke off with you because she saw you with this Maynard girl in your arms?"

"Yes."

"Your friend Olga seems to be bad luck to you doesn't she? But you can be sure of this, Rand. If she got mad at seeing you together you can bet your bottom dollar she thinks a lot of you."

"Apparently not very much, lieutenant," said Jimmy. "She's going to marry someone else."

"Oh she is, eh? Who?"

"A man by the name of Church."

"Church, eh? What's his first name? Maybe I know him."

"Samuel Church—he's a lawyer."

"Sam Church? Good night! Sam Church and you after the same girl? Say, you pick pretty stiff opposition, don't you?"

"Do you know him?"

"Sure. Seen him in court dozens of times. Got one of the finest homes in town, an' him a bachelor. Money to burn, they say. Made most of it fairly recently, too. Say, he's forty-five if he's a day."

"He doesn't look a day over forty."

"Well, he's at least forty-five. He's much too old for this girl you've been telling me about." He looked at Jimmy pityingly. "Too much money to turn down."

Jimmy winced. "Don't say that. I accused her of that very thing myself and I've been sorry for it ever since."

O'Day patted Jimmy's knee. "I'm sorry, lad. I'm sorry, too, for the girl."

The other looked up. "What makes you say that?"

"Because if there ever was a man who didn't deserve a decent woman, it's Sam Church. The thing that surprises me is that he has actually proposed marriage. It isn't like him; he usually tires of them too soon."

"You mean there have been other women?"

"I mean that his house, if it could talk, could tell many a story that would make choice readin'. There have been a dozen, more or less, breach-of-promise suits, but they never saw the light of day in court, because he's too smart a lawyer in the first place an' he never put anything in writin.' Oh, he knows how to squirm out of a tight place, all right."

"What kind of man is he? How is he regarded?"

"One of the biggest lawyers in town, although I happen to know he's not above fixin' a jury, an' he got his start in the legal profession bein' an ambulance chaser."

"My God! And Mary's going to marry him!"

"I'm sorry, lad. It's a damn shame. Why don't you tell her?"

"Oh, I couldn't. You don't understand."

"Faith, and I do understand. It's no backbiter you are. I'll tell her myself."

"No, you mustn't." Jimmy raised a protesting hand.

"Listen here, Rand. Did you tell Miss Lowell why you were in town—why you happened to be out with the Maynard girl?"

"No."

"Why in the devil didn't you. Then I bet this wouldn't have happened."

"I thought I had good reasons at first for not telling her. Now it's too late."

"It's not too late. Go to her an' tell her." O'Day plucked at the ends of his stubby, white mustache.

"I tell you you don't understand. What can I say to her even if I do explain? I can't ask her to marry me. I haven't got a nickel. I haven't even got a decent job."

"If she's worth her salt," O'Day growled, his ruddy cheeks flaming brighter, "she won't care."

Rand gazed dejectedly at the floor. They were silent for several minutes.

"Oh well," Jimmy rose. "Let's change the subject. I think I'll be going home, lieutenant." He extended his hand. "Thanks for giving me your time."

O'Day said gruffly: "My time's yours, any time you ask for it. By the way, lad, tomorrow's my day off. Would you come up to dinner tomorrow night? I've told my wife about you an' she'd like to have you. Nothing fancy, you understand. Just plain cookin'."

"You mean it?"

"I'd be proud to have you. We eat about six o'clock."

"Thanks. I'll be there."

"It's a shame—a damn shame," O'Day muttered to himself after Jimmy had left.

* * *

The shirt-sleeved clerk who had given Jimmy Rand his instructions the first day he had gone to work for the laundry had occasion to commend him a couple of times the next morning and afternoon for his speed and for the new business he was bringing in.

"Keep it up, Rand. That's the stuff."

At the end of the day he was told that Mr. Porter, the man who had hired him, wanted to see him. He went right in, thinking some more praise was in store for him—perhaps even a raise.

But to his amazement he was told that he was being let out.

Porter raised his head for a brief instant from his desk when Jimmy entered. "I'm sorry, Rand, but I'm discharging you." He pretended to be busying himself with some papers.

"You're what?"

"I'm letting you go. Here's a week's pay."

"But why? I don't understand. Everybody said I was getting along all right. I worked hard and I did my work, didn't I."

"Sure, I know." Porter was still studying the papers before him. "I, ah, that is, we have to cut expenses a little to keep within the budget, and so I'm having to lay some of the men off."

"But why me? The shipping clerk said I was already the best driver he had."

"Well, you were the last one hired, you know." He muttered something about "obligations to the older employees."

"Your chief concern when you hired me," said Jimmy bitterly, "was whether I would stay after I had learned the job. You seemed to think I'd run away as soon as another job offered itself."

"Sure." Porter seized on the suggestion. "That's another reason why you happen to be the first to go. Why should we strain a point to keep you here when you're only anchoring here for a while so you can keep your eye open for something better?"

"It seems to me," remarked Jimmy drily, "that as long as I did my work and did it well you needn't have gone out of your way to worry how long I was going to stay."

"Rand," said the other, finally looking up and meeting his eye "you're just wasting your time here. A man with your education has no business to be driving a truck. You ought to get some place where there's more opportunity."

"I'm waiting," said Jimmy, "to hear the real reason why I'm being fired."

"You've heard it. That's all." Porter rose as if he would put an end to the interview.

But Jimmy stopped him with a hand on his arm. "Do you know what I think, Mr. Porter?"

"No. What do you think?"

"I think you are a liar." He had raised his voice, and Miss Caton, at the other side of the room, stopped chewing her gum and listened attentively.

Porter's face went white and his hands gripped the edge of his desk.

"You're talking pretty carelessly, Rand."

"I'm speaking very carefully, Porter. Listen to me while I say it again. You're a liar."

He leaned across the desk, his face just a few inches from the other man's.

"And if you dispute the question in point," he went on, speaking very calmly, "we can go out in the delivery stable or in the yard and debate it."

Arbitrator Settles Dispute About Amount Owing Contractors.

TORONTO, March 3.—(Canadian Press).—G. T. Clarkson, acting as arbitrator in the dispute as to the balance due on the contract between the Hollinger mines and the Sir William Arroll Contracting Company, has awarded the Arroll firm $116,000 of their claim for $256,000. The Arroll firm had the contract for the Hollinger mines power development at Island Falls on the Abitibi River, and the dispute was as to the balance due the Arroll firm.

PROGRESSIVES AND INDEPENDENTS

Forke. It was not bribery for the Progressive members to accept a legislative program which it believed to be in the interests of Canada.

Hon. Robert Rogers.

Hon. Robert Rogers (Conservative, South Winnipeg) stated that the bringing in of the closure motion synchronized with the 50 day clause whereby their indemnity was made sure for hon. gentlemen opposite.

Thre were some cries of "order" from the Liberal side of the House.

"The 50 days are up and we have the motion," said Mr. Rogers. The charges that the government had been obstructed by the opposition were without foundation. Nothing had been brought down for the opposition to obstruct. Under the motion giving precedence to debate on the address the government was at perfect liberty to bring in the first stages of legislation on the Hudson Bay Railway, rural credits, or Maritime Province Commission. The truth of the matter was that the government did not want and did not dare to bring any measures before parliament.

Mr. Rogers quoted a campaign speech of the Progressive leader in which Mr. Forke was reported as saying that Premier King had failed to redeem his promises. In spite of this Mr. Forke was found supporting the government. "He is as certain to vote Liberal as my hon. friend from Antigonish," said Mr. Rogers, glancing across at Hon. E. N. Macdonald, Minister of National Defence. "He always has been and he always will be."

Concluding, Mr. Rogers predicted that the time would not be long when the government would be occupying that position "to which it had been relegated by the people of the Dominion of Canada.

Hon. Chas. Stewart.

Hon. Chas. Stewart, Minister of the Interior, said that parliament had been called for one purpose—to determine the government of the country. Parliament had expressed its views on this matter, and thereupon the government had asked for an adjournment in which to conduct bye-elections. Again the government had been approved by parliament. But the opposition had seen fit to sit and thwart the will of parliament for weeks. It had made difficult the filling of the treasury benches, but Mr. Stewart declared that the vacancies on these benches would be supplied from time to time, that progressive legislation would be brought down and that the government would govern as long as it commanded a majority in the House of Commons.

Mr. Stewart declared that there was nothing wrong with the Rouyn Railway transaction. If Mr. Meighen wanted to investigate it there was a committee of the House for the purpose. For himself, said Mr. Stewart, he had gone to the trouble to find out about this transaction, and he could say it was absolutely legal and that it had been entered into to preserve for the Canadian National Railway business which it should have. The charge that tenders had not been secured for the work of construction was false. Seven or eight contractors had presented bids and the contract went to the lowest tender.

Defends Thornton.

The Minister of the Interior said it seemed strange that members of the opposition should attempt to find fault with the president of the Canadian National Railways. Sir Henry Thornton was changing deficits into surpluses and predicted that in three years the Canadian National Railways would be a real financial asset to Canada. He claimed that the government had reduced taxation in Canada by $112,000,000 in four years.

Not for a Holiday

Resuming the debate in the House this evening, Hon. E. M. MacDonald, Minister of National Defence, declared that an "unprecedented time" had been spent in debating the address. There was no justification why there should be any further delay in its adoption.

Conservatives had undertaken to state that the adjournment until March 15 was only for the purpose of a holiday. This was incorrect. From now until March 15 the Government would be fully occupied in perfecting legislation for the re-opening of Parliament on that date.

Mr. MacDonald emphatically denied that the adjournment would interfere with the progress of the Custom's Enquiry Committee. Between now and March 15, there would be only seven actual sitting days in which the committee could function. There was no disposition so far on the part of any witness to refuse to testify. This suggestion, therefore, of retarding the work of the committee was a "delusion and figment of the imagination."

Hon. R. J. Manion

Hon. R. J. Manion (Conservative, Fort William) denied that a committee of the House could properly be appointed to investigate the question of the Rouyn Railway. This railway, he pointed out, was incorporated as a private company under the laws of the Province of Quebec.

The Government, in introducing closure, had once again demonstrated its ability to "swallow" itself. The avidity of the sword swallower at a circus, said Dr. Manion, did not compare with the "avidity of this Government to swallow its principles and its promises." The administration was willing to sacrifice its principles for "power at any price, even at the price of the Dominion of Canada. Its recantations from principle had resulted in business depression, marked unemployment, and an increased exodus of citizens from the country.

The situation in the House would be a "laughing hilarious farce" were it not for the fact that it was a "tragedy" for the people of Canada. The Conservatives were accused of obstructing Parliament, but the Government was "obstructing the will of the people" by staying in office.

Premier King in some circles, instead of being referred to as the leader of the Government, was described as the "misleader of the Liberal party."

The Government by introducing clousure, was seeking to retard the progress of the investigation into Customs' irregularities, and the attempt of Hon. H. H. Stevens (Conservative, Vancouver Centre) and other members of the Opposition to save millions of dollars to the people of this country through evasion of the Customs laws.

Abetted by Forke

Yet the Progressive leader (Mr. Forke) "aids and abets the Government," in legal phraseology, Mr. Forke was "an accomplice before the fact." In his opinion, the King Government would be consigned by the people at the first opportunity to "where weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth prevails," and not where it could laugh at its broken pledges.

Arthur Beaubien (Progressive, Provencher) declared that the first duty of a member was to his electors. He had been elected to force the two old parties to put into effect their promises during the last 25 years. These promises had included the construction of the Hudson's Bay Railway, rural credits, and the return of natural resources to the provinces. The Progressive members were endeavoring to have a programme for such legislation carried into effect.

LOCAL GIRL WINS IMPORTANT PRIZE

Bertha Edmondston First in Hy-San Color Contest.

Lewis E. Myers and Company of Valparaiso, Indiana, manufacturers of the Chautauqau Art Equipment, have just announced that Bertha Edmondson has been awarded second prize in the Hy-San Contest for 1925.

The local youngster competed with more than four thousand young artists from all over the country. The fine examples of art submitted in this contest have created a great deal of interest among educators and the winners are very much to be congratulated on submitting work of such excellent quality.

An especially important feature of the contest was the method of judging whereby children of three to seven years were enabled to compete on an equal footing with children of double their age. Entries included all ages from three to sixteen and nearly every age of this wide range is represented in the list of prize winners.

Another feature of the contest of special interest was the awarding of "Improvement prizes." These prizes were given to prize winners in the 1924 contest who submitted work again in 1925. The contests were judged on the basis of progress made in their work.

All of the drawings and paintings submitted in this contest were painted or drawn with the Hy-San colors, a combination of crayons, pastels, and water-colors, manufactured by Lewis E. Myers & Company.

SOCIETY

Dr. F. C. Neal has returned from attending the annual congress of the American College of Physicians, held in Detroit and Ann Arbor. Mrs. Neal accompanied Him.

Menus for the Family

Breakfast—Stewed prunes, cereal, thin cream, crisp whole wheat toast, creamed eggs on toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon — Macaroni with beef, brown bread, sliced oranges with grated cocoanut, milk, tea.

Dinner—Pork chops and apples en casserole, scalloped potatoes, buttered cauliflower, pear and cream cheese salad, sponge cake, floating island, graham bread, milk, coffee.

When purchasing macaroni remember that a good brand is essential. While the proper cooking of this paste-food is of utmost importance a poor brand won't lend itself to "proper cooking." If macaroni—properly cooked—splits and becomes sticky and tough the flour used in its manufacture was poor or else the paste was not carefully cured.

Macaroni With Beef.

Two slices bacon, 1-2 pound round steak, 1 large onion, 2 cups boiling water, 1 cup macaroni broken in pieces, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 2 tea spoons dark brown sugar, 1-8 teaspoon pepper.

Cut bacon into tiny pieces and try out fat. Cut meat into half-inch dice and sear quickly in hot bacon fat. Stir with a fork and cook until meat is brown. Add boiling water, onion cut in thin slices, tomatoes, sugar and pepper and cover closely. Simmer over a low fire for two hours or until the meat is tender.

Put 8 cups of rapidly boiling water into a large sauce pan. Add 2 teaspoons salt and when water is boiling hard slowly add macaroni without letting the boiling stop. Boil for twenty minutes or until tender but not soft and sticky. Drain and rinse in cold water. Reheat in the meat sauce and serve at once.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

THURSDAY, MARCH 4.

A fairly fortunate day is to be expected, judging by the solar aspect to Jupiter, which should advance financial interests and lead to the happy fulfillment of certain hopes and wishes. Yet there are disturbing lunar transits, which warn against change, removal and likewise advise that all manner of personal affairs be protected against unharmony. Sign all writings cautiously.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a fairly fortunate year, but one in which domestic, social or affectional affiliations may be involved or cause unhappiness. It would be well to sign all writings with care. A child born on this day may be generous and free but inclined to be extravagant and pleasure-loving. It may find inharmony in its personal affairs, but should succeed in its other undertakings.

HER OWN WAY

by A GIRL of TODAY

HELD AS A CHEAT.

"Did you have the bag with you when you came in here?"

"Yes, I laid it on the table beside me."

"That isn't a plausible story. A bag could not walk off of the table."

"No, sir, but a man came up to my table just a moment before and tried to speak to me and I, not wanting to make a scene, turned my head away. He talked for a minute or two, at least it seemed that long for I was rather frightened, and then he left. It made me so nervous that I forgot to look for my bag until I thought of paying my bill."

The man looked at me without speaking for a few moments.

"You say you have no friends in the city. Where were you going to sleep tonight?"

"I am at the Blackstone," I answered.

"Why didn't you dine there?"

"Because it seemed too expensive."

"I don't understand—'too expensive.' Young women who carelessly carry two hundred and fifty dollars around in their shopping bags, must at least have friends or a bank account."

"At the present moment I have neither, although I question your right to expect an answer from me to such a question. I have come to Toronto to hunt work and did not know how expensive the hotel was until after I got there."

"Oh, so that's it. You want work."

Again he looked me over in a way that brought the color to my face.

"What sort of work are you looking for?"

"I was going to take a stenographic course and in the meantime take any sort of temporary employment to carry me over."

I was getting more and more nervous and it seemed if he would ask me another question I would scream.

"Won't you please let me go now? I'll try to get some sort of work in the morning and I promise I shall pay you. Please do not telephone to the hotel for I must sleep there tonight. I have no thought of trying to steal from anyone."

I started for the door, my only thought to get away from those boldly prying eyes.

"Here, here, young woman not so fast!" said the detective. He grasped my arm so roughly that it hurt and I gave an involuntary little cry.

A Simple Party Frock of Mauve Taffeta and Silver Lace.

Most very young girls look best in frocks of the utmost simplicity. In other words, they do not need frills.

The simple and youthful frock above is made of mauve taffeta. There is deep silver lace about the hem, with a narrow curved band of matching silver lace for the yoke.

This would also be attractive in any of the pastel shade with metal lace or the silk laces now so popular.

The World Do Wag!

One of the main jobs of secret service men accompanying kings and presidents and such is to protect them, we hear, from snapshot fiends who will go to any length to bow to a sovereign and be snapped while greeting him. Such pictures and more chummy ones have been trotted out in numerous scandal cases revolving about potentates. Verily, "uneasy lies the head that wears a crown!"

Women want to be treated like pals by men, says a movie actress as part of her publicity game prior to the relase of an Elinor Glyn picture in which she stars. The talented young actress proceeds to say that women want men to discuss their business with them and stop the coddling stuff! And I don't believe one word she says! Women may think they ought to want this business conference stuff, but most of them still lap up the Dresden china coddling with much more gusto!

We will soon be toeless. We do not use our toes. We do not need them. Therefore wise Nature will take them from us just as she did our tails. This frightful warning comes from the president of the National Association of Chiropodists.

Well, do the chiros expect us to scale trees every morning in toe developing exercises? And if it's meant as warning, who cares? What's a toe more or less? Most bathing beauties would look far better with nothing but plain untrimmed feet.

Is Your Name Here?

For the Family Palate.

If you can't afford fresh fruits in the wintertime, try some variations with the dried and canned. Shortcakes, for instance, are delicious made with canned peaches, raspberries and pineapple. Dried apricots and loganberries make delicious puddings, and even the lowly prune can be dressed-up with the addition of lemon and orange peel while cooking. Dried fruits should be soaked for several hours in enough water to cover.

Our Home.

Paint is being used in the newer living rooms rather than paper for a wall finish. It can be wiped off with a damp cloth and it adapts itself to pictures, lamps and draperies better than a wallpaper. Walls of deep cream or ivory are the designer's first choice, being light and an harmonious background for any color scheme.

Budgeteering.

Clothing should cost from 15 to 20 per cent of income; rent or payment on home, 25 per cent; food, from 20 to 35 per cent, the former for family of two adults, the latter for family of four children; operating, 15 per cent; advancement, from 5 to 12 1-2 per cent; savings from 10 to 15 per cent.

Beauty Tips.

Many of the beauty clays sold are bad for the skin. They contain too much alcohol. Besides, the best of them are only fuller's earth, five cents worth of which costs about a dollar when under the beauty clay name. The best possible skin and freckle bleaches are sour milk or cucumber juice, or lemon juice.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

No. 1—THE TWINS MEET MISTER RUBADUB

"Hello! Hello! Is that the house where the Twins live?"

"Yes—this is Nancy," replied the little girl, for it was she who had answered the telephone.

"Oh, hello, Nancy!" said the voice. "This is Mister Rubadub, the fairyman who runs Scrub-Up Land. Are you busy?"

"Not very," said Nancy excitedly. "Nick and I are playing 'Casino'."

"Oh, ho!" came Mister Rubadub's voice. "I know something that's a lot more fun than that. Come to Scrub-Up Land and help me. Besides I really need you. I have so much to do as I am as busy as a one-armed drummer."

"Sure we'll come, Mister Rubadub!" said Nancy quickly. "How shall we get there?"

"Just look in the big box where you keep your rubbers. You'll find the magic shoes. The Fairy Queen said she sent them with Silver Wing last night after you were in bed. Come as soon as you can. Goodbye."

"What are you talking about? Why don't you come?" asked Nick, coming to see what kept Nancy so long.

Nancy hung up the receiver without answering and flew to the big box under the stairs where the overshoes were kept.

She banged back the lid and started to fish around and in about three and three-quarter seconds she held up the two pairs of queer little shoes that were famous for their adventures.

"Hurry!" was all she said, popping down on the floor where she was and untying her little leather shoes and putting the other ones on.

And not until Nick had done likewise and felt himself being whisked right out through the closed front door and down the road like a lightning express, did he know what it was all about.

Indeed, even then he didn't know exactly where they were going, but suddenly they were set down gently before a big gate, over which they spelled out the words, "Scrub-Up Land."

And there stood Mister Rubadub himself, all smiles, waiting to greet them. He had a big cake of soap in one hand and a fierce-looking scrubbing brush in the other. His sleeves were rolled up and he had on a big apron, but for all that you could tell that he was a fairy. There is no mistaking a real fairy, my dears.

"How d' do!" he said hospitably, changing his scrubbing brush over to the soap-hand, and wiping the other one dry on his apron so he could shake hands with his visitors. "I thought you'd be along about now. It doesn't take the Magic-Shoe-Express long to travel. No, sir! I certainly am glad to see you. But come right in. I'm a nice one to keep you standing here all day. Come right in to Scrub-Up Land and meet my friends."

The Twins followed the fairyman through the gate and along a little path between some brushes, and at last they came to a nice little house with a front porch.

On the front porch was a washing tub and all around on hooks hung brushes and scissors and combs of all kinds and sizes. On a shelf within easy reach stood a row of cans and bottles. It looked sort of like a barber shop and sort of like a laundry and sort of like a dentist office, for there was the big chair and everything.

"I'm getting the wood people and meadow people all cleaned up so they can go to the 'Land-Where-Spring-Is-Coming,'" said Mister Rubadub.

PLAY WIF ME.

Say, whats a fella gonna do, when all tired out at night when all his daily toil is through, and then, with all its might, a playful little youngster jumps and greets him at the door: 'Oh, daddy, will ya play wif me? Le's rassle on the floor?"

The one thing that he'd really like is rest and peace and quiet, but, shucks, most any little tike can switch this to a riot. Awaitin' all day long for dad, the little tot is blest with thrills that every child has had. Now, how can father rest?

You haven't got the heart to tell a tot that you're too tired. You figure that you might as well be also play inspired. A box of blocks is strewn about, and then, when time to sup, the youngster's always glad to shout, "Now, daddy, pick 'em up."

It simply isn't human when a fagged out man gets sore. When asked to play, you have to play for that's what dads are for. The world has always been that way, and thus 'twill always be. A father sits right down to play, when asked to "play wif me."

ARCHIE MOORE AWARDED $2,000 AS RESULT OF DAMAGES WHEN CAR CRUSHES HIM AT CHEMONG

Winter Sitting of Supreme Court Resumes After Adjournment.

F. C. ROOKE DEFENDANT

Plaintiff Had His Leg Broken and Lacerated, Evidence Shows.

The adjourned session of the winter sittings of the Supreme Court of Ontario resumed yesterday under the Honourable Mr. Justice Mowat. The first case to engage the attention of his Lordship was that of Archie R. Moore and F. C. Rooke and Sydney Rooke. G. N. Gordon, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff and R. R. Hall, K.C., for the defendent. The action arose out of a collision that occurred between two automobiles one of which was stalled at the time near the Chemong pavilion on July 3 last year, as a result of which Archie R. Moore, the plaintiff, eceived the injuries which were the cause of the suit.

Dr. J. Malcolm McCulloch was the first witness called and on being examined by Mr. Gordon stated that on the night of July 3 he received a telephone message saying that they were bringing Moore in on an ambulance from Chemong. He called Dr. Moir and together they started out to meet the ambulance. On examining him at the Nicholls Hospital they found that the limb had been dealt with by a tourniquet tied above the knee. Moore had lost a great deal of blood and there was a ragged wound below the knee. Both bones in the leg were broken and were exposed.

Dr. Moir, the second witness called, stated that in conjunction with Dr. McCulloch he had examined Mr. Moore. The doctor corroborated the findings of the previous witness.

Provincial Constable Norman F. Maker, examined by Mr. Gordon stated that he visited the scene of the accident on July 3. He saw the two cars that were in the accident. Moore's car was in the same place that the accident occurred. The car was on the west side of the Chemong Road and in his opinion was over towards the side of the road as far as was possible. There was a space of 15 feet of clear gravelled road and from 5 to 7 feet of grass where a car could have passed. He said that he found a big pool of blood at the left hand fender of Moore's car. He then saw Rooke and he told him that he was parked on the east side and was backing up to start for home. Rooke, the officer said, told him that he figured he would be able to swing around and said that he saw the car but did not see Moore until he was nearly on top of him.

Archie R. Moore the plaintiff, was the next witness called by Mr. Gordon. Under examination he stated that he was a roofer by trade and that he had been working actively before the accident but since that time he had been unable to work. His wife and two other ladies were in the car at the time of the accident. He stated that they had just started for home and had gotten about 150 feet from the pavilion when his engine began to spit. He pulled over to the side of the road and got out of the car to investigate the trouble. He opened up the hood and bent over the front fender of the car and was working at the carbureter when he heard a lady scream. The next thing he knew he was pinned between the two cars. He told Rooke his leg was broken and Rooke then started his car and backed off and in so doing twisted the heel clean off Moore's shoe. He said that he then felt weaker and remembered no more. "As I was lying on my back on the Chemong Road," said Mr. Moore, "Rooke came over and said he was sorry and that it was his fault."

The wife of the plaintiff said that she was seated in the car when the accident occurred. Just after they started for home the car stalled and Mr. Moore got out and fixed it. He then got back into the car and started again and once again the car stalled. He got out of the car and was bent over the engine when the other car approached. The lights on their car were all on. Rooke, the witness said, came to the house next day and in telling of the accident said that it was his fault and that instead of putting on the brakes he had stepped on the gas.

The two other passengers in the car gave similar evidence to that of Mrs. Moore.

This concluded the case for the plaintiff.

The Defense.

Sidney Rooke, the defendant, examined by Mr. Hall stated that he was an apprentice toolmaker. He said that he drove out to Chemong Park about 9 o'clock on the evening that the accident occurred. He parked his car on the east side of the road and after he had finished dancing he came out to his own car. He started up his engine, looked around and backed out far enough to let him come ahead. He looked up and saw Mr. Moore's car and next thing he saw was Mr. Moore. He said that he rammed on his brakes and stalled his engine but the momentum carried the car forward. He then backed up his car and got out to help Mr. Moore. Mr. Moore, he said, told him that he thought his leg was broken. He then telephoned for an ambulance and after the ambulance arrived went back and called Provincial Constable Maker.

In answer to Mr. Hall, witness said that his headlights were in good condition.

Archie Johnston, examined by Mr. Hall stated that he was driving north on the Chemong Road and had parked his car and was getting out of it when Rooke started his engine. He saw Moore's car and noticed the man working over the engine. Rooke backed out in a circle. Witness stated that he thought Mr. Moore's lights were very poor. In answer to Mr. Hall witness said that he left the scene of the accident before the arrival of Constable Maker.

Mrs. Sidney Rooke stated that she was in the car when the accident occurred. They backed up, witness said, and turned north-west in a circle. She first noticed Mr. Moore's car when they were 3 or 4 feet away from it. The brakes were applied immediately but the car kept sliding until it struck Mr. Moore.

H. Wood examined by Mr. Hall stated that he arrived on the scene just as they were putting Mr. Moore on the cushions. He recognized Mr. Moore's car just as soon as it came within the glare of his lights. Mr. Moore asked him to notice the position of his car and upon examining it he found that the front wheels were cramped to the left facing Peterborough.

His Lordship, in summing up the case, said that it was a very unusual case and that the circumstances were quite singular, but damage, he said, had been done. It seems as if the plaintiff had the better case, he said, but not by much margin. He stated that he would rather accept the evidence of the witnesses for the plaintiff than that of those for the defendant and was inclined to take their view as to the position on the road. The negligence on the part of the defendant was very small, he said, but the man who suffered should get the benefit.

His Lordship awarded the plaintiff $2000 damages with the costs of the action.

BY-LAW CHANGE IS OPPOSED BY HOLSTEIN MEN

Against Move to Require Herds To Undergo Tubercular Test.

KINGSTON SUPPLY.

Board of Health Asks Council to Make Change in Regulation.

KINGSTON March 3 Special to The Examiner).— At a meeting of the Kingston District Holstein Breeders' Association, the proposed change in the City Milk Bylaw was opposed. The Board of Health has recommended that the City Council pass legislation calling upon all the herds supplying milk in the city, to undergo the tuberculin test. The Holstein Breeders are not in favor of this, but recommend that all raw milk be pasteurized, with the exception of milk supplied by the herds under the Accredited Herd System conducted by the Dominion Health of Animals Branch or any other pure bred herds that have been tested for tuberculosiis by the Dominion inspectors of health. The members claim that a by-law as has been suggested would be a hardship on the grade cattle owners, as compensation cannot be secured for loss each man would sustain if compulsory enforcement were inaugurated.

BOARD TO SEEK INFORMATION ON SCHOOL MATTER

Will Visit Cities Having Combination Schools For Data.

HEATING TROUBLES.

Some Commercial Pupils Had To Be Sent Home Because of Cold.

Last night's meeting of the Board of Education was exceptional in that the business which is usually dispatched in half an hour, occupied the attention of the members until 10.30. The discussions developed largely on the much liscussed combination school while the matter of a new heating plant for the South Central school received alarge share of consideration. The latter item was left in the hands of the Property Committee to obtain information.

It was agreed that deputations should visit cities which had undertaken the construction of combination schools to gather information about plans and estimates so that when a publicity campaign is presented there will be a wealth of information from which to draw material.

H. R. H. Kenner reported that on certain dates many of the forms receiving tuition in the South Central School were sent home because the furnaces were incapable of supplying sufficient heat.

Dr. MacPherson in his report stated that a general improvement in health conditions was evident and that at the present time there was no epidemic.

A report from G. F. Rogers, High School Inspector, gave evidence of the good work being done by the Collegiate Institute proper, but deplored the conditions of the commercial department. He declared that the staff of the latter school was quite adequate.

It was moved that the medical and dental officers together with the school nurse attend the Health convention in oTronto and that their expenses be paid.

SUBSTANTIAL BACKING.

Must Be Something Behind Trademark For It To Mean Anything.

It costs about fifty dollars to register a trademark; but it costs many thousands of dollars in equipment, craftsmanship and sales effort to make a trademark of any tangible worth. It is not the trademark itself, but what the symbol stands for in the public mind, that gives it real value.

The trademark of the L. E. Waterman Company Limited carries with it more than a guarantee of a thoroughly satisfactory fountain pen. It is also an assurance of service. Since the inception of the Waterman Company, way back in 1883, it has been the policy to build a substantial background for the pen. This has been accomplished by the construction of Waterman buildings wheer service stores are maintained.

Starting with the original "Pen Corner" at 191 Broadway, New York, Waterman buildings have been erected in Montreal, Chicago, Boston and San Franciso, with a European headquarters at the famous "Pen Corner" in Kingsway, London.

The establishment of these buildings in Canada, the United States and Great Britain enables the Waterman Company to render a very practical and intimate service to the millions of users of Waterman pens. The substantial investments in buildings are convincing evidence of the stability of the company whose trademark guarantees the pen

RECORD SHIPMENT OF MARQUIS WHEAT AND BANNER OATS FOR THE ARGENTINE

Pedigreed Canadian Grain Totalling 33,000 Bushels Was Loaded at New York—Moose Jaw to Buenos Aires.

NEW YORK, March 3 (Canadian Press).—The largest shipment of Canadian seed grain ever shipped to the Argentine was loaded here Tuesday on the Vestvard, of the Houston-I.F.C. Lines. Totalling in all approximately fifty tons, the shipment was made up of 18,000 bushels of pedigreed Marquis wheat and 15,000 bushels of pedigreed Banner oats. It was consigned to the Bunge and Born Corporation, of Buenos Aires, from the Moose Jaw branch of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association.

The loading of such a large consignment of grain aroused no little interest, and the event was marked by a luncheon given by the captain of the carrying vessel, Frederick C. Hudd, Canadian trade commissioner of New York, attended, while Harry Lesser, president, and Alfred Meale, vice-president of the lines, were also present.

Moving pictures of the loading activities were taken for public distribution.

VETERAN BORNE TO FINAL REST

Six Battery Mates of John C. Smith Perform Last Office.

TOUCHING ADDRESS.

"Jack Smith was a good soldier to the end and his life was as near perfect as any that I have ever seen," said the Rev. J. D. Paterson in a touching and sympathetic address at the funeral service of the dead veteran, which was held yesterday at All Saints' Church. "Many times have we met to pay the last tribute to a departed comrade," said the speaker, "and now we meet to pay the last tribute and respects to Jack Smith." He spoke of the great company which had answered the call and which is paying the price of loyalty to King and country years after. The deceased comrade had been one of the first great contingents to cross, having answered the call without hesitation, and had been one of those who showed their manhood in the time of direct need.

If he had been taken then, said Mr. Paterson, there would have been much glory and glamor, but he came back to years of suffering alone, because people were only too anxious and ready to forget those terrible days. He was spared to return to his home and family, with the germ of the dread disease which has now claimed him. "We remember with pride," said the speaker, "the way in which the Canadians met the despicable tactics introduced by the Germans, the use of poison gas. If things were bad then, they are worse now, as the men suffer from its effects."

A wonderful picture could be drawn of his life, said the speaker. He never lost his courage, his cheerfulness, or his faith. A good soldier of his King, he was also a good soldier of the Lord Jesus Christ, and very rarely is experienced such an unshakeable faith and buoyant hope as he showed. He knew in whom he believed and was not ashamed. Many a kindly admonition was sent out from his bed to his friends and to his family. His children were baptized at the bedside and the elder ones confirmed with him by the Bishop of Toronto at a special service. He was content to die because he knew that death was only the breaking away from a life of suffering for a better and happier life of peace.

The speaker urged his hearers to join in prayer and sympathy for the bereaved family and to help carry the load of sorrow and care, showing their love for their comrade to those who had lost.

The hymns sung were, "Hush! Blessed Are the Dead," "Forever With the Lord" and "On the Resurrection Morning." Thirty-two members of the choir, of which Mr. Smith's three children were members, led the singing, with R. J. Devey presiding at the organ and playing "The Dead March" at the end of the service. Bandsman C. Thirnbeck blew the "Last Post" at the church and at the cemetery, and also sounded the "Reveille" at the cemetery. Six comrades of the deceased in the 4th Battery, C.F.A., C.E.F., Q.M.S. Duke, Sgt. Fry and Gunners Goulds, White, McGill and Sloane, were the bearers.

LIQUOR PLANE FALLS IN LAKE

Pilot Blinded By Wind and Snow—Liquor Found, But No Pilot.

BELIEVED DROWNED.

DETROIT, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Blinded by wind and snow an airplane liquor runner lost control of his craft over Lake St. Clair and crashed with his machine to the ice three miles out from Grosse Pointe shores. The plane contained the burlap bags of choice whiskey. When the Grosse Pointe police and members of the Federal Prohibition Patrol reached the scene no trace was to be found of the pilot, while holes in the ice nearby indicated the possibility that he was hurled out in the fall and was drowned.

MATTEOTTI DIED TO KEEP SECRET

Was About To Present Documents About Mussolin's Gambling Bill.

STORY FROM ROSSI.

PARIS, Mar. 3 (United Press)—General Cesare Rossi will expose Premier Mussolini's alleged surrender to the Monte Carlo gambling syndicate, according to the Quotideen's Nice correspondent. The murder of the Socialist Deputy Matteotti, of which Rossi says Mussolini is guilty, was ordered by the Premier to prevent the Monte Carlo story from being revealed in the Chamber of Deputies, according to Rossi's friends in Nice.

Mussolini ordered a bill drafted which would have permitted gambling on the Italian Riveria, so the story goes, and then suddenly changed his mind, declaring that moral reasons prevented enactment of the bill.

The facts were that the Monte Carlo syndicate feared competition from new gambling resorts and induced Mussolini to change his mind, "by convincing and unanswerable arguments."

Matteotti was ready to present the documents in the case to the Chamber when he was assassinated.

LEGACY DISPUTED.

Heirs Residing in States Start Concerted Movement.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 3. — (Canadian Press).—News that the heirs of the immense Webber fortune, residing in the United States, are about to begin a concerted movement to obtain the inheritance which they claim is justly theirs, has caused a stir of interest to sweep through the descendants of Anneke Webber Jans, residing in Halifax, and also at different points in the Province. Should settlement of the long disputed legacy finally take place, it is hoped that a considerable portion will come to this section of the country. The romance of Anneke Webber, which resulted in the controversy and legal battle of the present, occurred when her love for Roeloffson Jans, agriculturist and private citizen of Holland, proved greater than her desire to obey the commands of her royal father of Holland, who was adverse to the match. Anneke secretly wedded Jans and fled with him to New York, where he died in 1637, and his widow later married the Rev. Everardus Bogardus.

LEAGUE MEMBERS DON'T FEAR CRISIS

Dispute Over Permanent Seats in Council Won't Cause Trouble.

GENEVA, March 3 (United Press).—League of Nations members believed today that the dispute over permanent council seats would not develop a league crisis.

"The situation is merely caused by labor pains incident to Germany's birth into the League" the United Press was informed. "Both mother and child will survive." It is admitted, however, that the dispute may cause a Cabinet crisis in countries engaging in the current intrigue.

The ORACLE

This day we fashion Destiny, our web of Fate we spin. —Whittier.

Fixed fate, free will, foreknowledge absolute. —Milton.

Ada.—Although you have a natural inclination towards pleasure and good times, this is offset to a certain degree by circumstances that hedge your life about with a certain amount of reserve and retirement. You are apt to suffer from shyness and morbidity, and yet your nature is frank and progressive. You are very honest and conscientious and are usually busy at something. You have your own individual way of doing things, which is apt to confuse those who assist you and you do not like others to obtrude their ideas on you. You are strong in your likes and dislikes and are apt to despise what you cannot comprehend. If you do not overcome your tendency to rush matters, you may suffer from nervous prostration. You have excellent health in other ways, however, and will likely live to a good old age. You are musical and artistic. You will always be more successful when following out your own inspirations than when trying to follow the advice of others. You have an extreme regard for the truth, and a promise with you is absolutely sacred. You should have comparatively few intimate friends, and take care not to offend those friends. Try to overlook faults in others, and cultivate the faculty of not seeing little things which annoy. Forget and forgive injuries and learn self control. You were born on Monday. The day you ask about is past. Your color is black.

B. E. R.—I regret that you have not placed your address on the blank, stamped envelope you enclosed. As the postmark on your letter is blurred, and I know it is not from the city, I have no way of telling where you live. If you will forward your name and birth dates once more, also let me know where to send the answer, I will be glad to give you any information I can.

A. E. N.—You have a natural inclination toward the bright side of life, and like pleasure and good cheer. You are fond of singing and dancing. Circumstances of your life at present indicate that hard work will have to be your motto, at least as long as you remain unmarried. A good deal of monotonous detail and drudgery is associated with your daily round, but you must keep everlastingly plugging at your job to attain any measure of success. You have a good deal of skill with your hands, are courteous and affable when not engaged in serious business, but are apt to be very blunt at times. You are fond of good things to eat and pretty things to wear. You have a very bad habit of wishing to put things off and are inclined to love praise and flattery. You are apt also to scold and nag and do not care much for rules and regulations.

Marry a man born in June, July, December or January. January and July are your lucky months, Tuesday your lucky day. You were born on Monday. Your color is black. The day you ask about, a Friday, is one for completing any task and for accepting any responsibility. Play no games of chance on that day.

Beth.—You have a strong, highly-developed nature, with a healthy temperament, capable of much mental and physical endurance. You have much natural dignity and make friends readily when you wish to do so, but can also freeze up hard on occasion. Cleverness, rather than force, will get you what you want in life and a diplomatic handling of those about you. When your sympathies are aroused, you are kindly disposed, but usually you feel that your own business and interests require all your time. You are aggressive and executive in all things and are somewhat impulsive and headstrong. You have great fits of energy, when you wish to accomplish much, alternated by spells of indolence. You are capable of great things if you will only stick at them long enough. When angered, you have a high temper and should guard against this and a slight tendency to jealousy. You are fond of music of a weird nature and are subject to fits of the blues. You are very fond of the water. You are inclined to be extravagant with money. Try finding excuses for the other person, instead of yourself and determine to be more careful of the feelings of others also and less tender o your own. You were born on Tuesday. Your colors are red and brown. The day you ask about, a Wednesday, is one on which to be cheerful and generous and to accept any responsibility offered you.

WORST FIGHTING LONG STRUGGLE

Battle at Machang Most Severe in Fifteen Year Civil War.

CHANG VS. FENG.

LONDON, March 3 (Canadian Press).—The most severe fighting since the civil war in China began 15 years ago, is reported by The Daily Mail correspondent to be taking place near Machang, 50 miles south of Tientsin. It is described by the correspondent whose despatch is dated Machang, Sunday, as a life and death struggle between the rival interests of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian leader, and General Feng Yu Hsing, head of the national people's army, for the domination of Peking.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

My friend, Sir Arbuthnot Lane, has been on the warpath since he returned to London from America. He has railed about food more than ever before. Just back from our shores, he complains about our food display in the shops, the homes and everywhere. He is sure Americans eat too much and contends that all the world is overeating.

The day before the eminent English physician sailed for home I happened to be at lunch with him. A mutual friend brought together a group of doctors in his honor. For fear of violating hospitality I will whisper it—we did have far too much food at that meal. I fear Sir Arbuthnot suffered its effects.

He calls attention to the fact that modern man consumes three or four times as much food as the savage took for his far more active life. "We seem to be paying a terrible price for civilization, because this 'overloading' is the principal cause of cancer and appendicitis."

Whenever you need to make an appeal where appetite is involved, it is almost useless to say a word. We can resist everything except temptation, certainly the temptation of appetite.

Once in a while I meet a friend who has taken off a lot of weight by sustained temperance in eating. Where I see one such friend I meet a hundred others who are getting heavier by the minute. Overloading does it.

Those who resort to laxatives and cathartics brag about how well they feel after "a thorough cleaning out." Of course they do, but this drug practice will end in disaster.

How much better it is to have a clean digestive tract by practicing temperate eating of selected foods. This takes the strain off the clogged colon, the overworked kidneys and the "dead" liver.

There is no doubt that an overloaded system lowers the powers of resistance and paves the way for all manner of ailments, including the dread malignancies.

For effective, efficient, useful service in the world, the body must be treated with the care you give a fine watch. You wouldn't think of dropping the timepiece into a bag with three or four stones, a hammer, a couple of horseshoes and a stovelid.

It is just as bad to fill the stomach with a mass of miscellaneous stuff, some digestible, most of it indigestible. To make a plaything of the stomach and intestinal tract is dangerous business. There is no question it leads to disastrous results.

The time to begin right eating is in youth. It may be difficult to teach new habits to the old, but the children can be taught to live right.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

F. W. C. Q.—What causes low blood pressure? What are the symptoms?

A.—This condition is usually due to a run-down condition of the system. Fever, anemia, diabetes, shock, general debility and auto-intoxication may be responsible. Lowered vitality, lack of appetite, a feeling of tiredness, etc., are all symptoms. Treatment over a short period of time usually eradicates the trouble. Have your doctor advise you.

BRINTONS TIE UP FINALS WITH DE LAVAL AND FORCE THIRD GAME FOR CITY LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP

Best Game of Season Last Night Resulted in 3-2 Score.

BAILEY REFEREE.

McMartin and Williams Scored All Five Goals.

A third game will be necessary before the possession of the Brown Cup and the championship of the senior series of the City Hockey League is decided. Last night, after the best game of the season, the score was 3 to 2 for the Brintons, which erased the lead of one goal obtained by the De Laval in the first game of the playoff. The date for the third game has not yet been set.

When Eddie Williams notched a counter just after the start of the third period, putting the De Laval one up on the game and two on the round, it looked as if it was all over but the shouting. The period was about half over when McMartin slammed home a rebound and three minutes later Cripps shoved in another for the tying goal of the round. From then on it was a real battle between two teams somewhat tired by the heavy ice, but neither was able to score.

There were no stars. The superior experience of the Brintons was matched by the speed and checking of the De Lavals. All five regulars, Marchen, Evans, Williams, Dundas and McDougall, played wonderful hockey and the subs had little chance to show their worth. McMartin, White, and Rose led the Brintons, but every man on the team had a share in the victory.

Both goal keepers are deserving of much at the hands of their team mates as their work stood out. Bullet-like drives from McMartin and Dougall or slower but equally tricky shots from other players, were turned aside with equal ease, and all that went in were hard ones.

Irvin Bailey handled the bell and gave the boys a fairly free hand in the matter of checking, so that the game became somewhat strenuous, to the delight of the fans. The teams:

De Laval.—Goal, Ward; defence, Marchen and Evans; centre, Williams; wings, Dundas and McDougall; subs., Kingdon and Smith.

Brintons.—Goal, LeBarr; defence, Lackey and McMartin; centre, Rose; wings King and Cripps; subs, White and Wood.

Referee—Bailey.

First Period.

Eighteen minutes had gone before the Brintons tied up the round on a goal which aroused roars of disapproval. It was scored on a King to McMartin pass, which was claimed to be away offside.

The period was fast, with first one goal and the other threatened and both goal keepers making many fine stops. Three trips in a row by Marchen, Evans and McDougall left the De Laval three short, but Dundas and Williams held off the invasion, and came near scoring. McDougall was the marksman for the De Laval, but LeBarr was right on and robber him. Toward the end of the period, McDougall was again chased, and while he was off, the only goal of the period was scored. Marchen netted the puck a moment later, but the play was called back.

Second Period.

A little over half the period was gone before the only goal of the period was scored by Eddie Williams on a pass out from Dundas. Rose was serving a penalty for loafing at the time. Play all through the period was strenuous but even, each team having a fair share of the play, and both goals being often threatened. Combination play was more in evidence than in the previous period.

Third Period.

The period had hardly opened when Eddie Williams shoved a hard one past LeBarr to put the De Lavals two up on the round. They then dropped one man back to hold the lead for the remaining 19 minutes. For eight minutes they succeeded and then McMartin rushed, shot from between the defence men and came in on Ward to left in the rebound. Three minutes later Rose shot from the side. Ward fell in making the stop and Cripps picked up the loose puck just as Smith was about to clear it, and scored. From that moment both teams made every effort but the goal keepers were invincible.

Summary

First Period:—
1—Brintons, McMartin.....13.00

Second Period:—
2—De Laval, Williams (Dundas) 12.00

Third Period:—

4—Brintons, McMartin 8.00
5—Brintons, McMartin 3.00

Penalties—McDougall 4, Marchen and Evans; Rose 2, McMartin, Cripps, and King.

WON TORONTO BOUT.

GEORGE FIFIELD,
Toronto welterweight, who walloped Mike Dempsey of Rochester in Toronto Tuesday night.

ST. PETER'S WIN HOBBERLIN CUP

Shut Out St. Andrew's 2-0 in Junior City League Final.

WON ROUND 5-0.

St. Peter's Junior City League team will hold the Hobberlin Cup next winter, shutting out St. Andrew's 2 to 0 in the second game of the playoffs and winning the round 5 to 0.

The wingers were by far the better team. Every man tried hard and they showed good combination. Mein put up a wonderful game in the nets and was given good protection.

Disheartened by the loss of Marshall, who broke his collar bone on Saturday, the losers were still further disorganized when Gillespie let a soft one ooze through his skates. Hall and Sowden in particular lacked pep and Allen and Robertson bore the brunt of the attack. Jennings played well in Marshall's place.

First Period.

St. Peter's quickly added two goals to their lead of three, playing a heady and alert game against the dilatory tactics of their opponents. Archambault scored the first goal and Le Barr scored the second on a rebound. Towards the end of the period Allen and Robertson led a determined attack on Mein, but he turned them aside. A number of rebounds were missed by the losers, whose play through most of the period was badly disorganized.

Second Period

The losers played a little more hockey in the second period, but they still lacked much of the form that won them a place in the playoffs. The period was about even between the two teams with both goalers starring. Mein made some especially fine stops, and was also helped by Lady Luck. Gillespie recovered his form afetr some rather sloppy play in the first period, and also turned aside some hard shots.

St. Peter's—Goal Mein; defence, LeBarr and Richea; centre, Archambault; wings, Jones and Kinnealey; subs, Carroll and Wolfe.

St. Andrew's.—Goal, Gillespie; defence, Jennings and Sowden; centre, Hall; wings, Nivon and Allen; subs, Mowry and Robertson.

Referee—Bruce Cox.

Penalties—Carroll, Sowden, Archambault and Hall.

GREB AND FLOWERS SIGN RETURN BOUT

Championship Battle in New York May 21.

NEW YORK, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Harry Greb, who lost his middleweight title to Tiger Flowers, Georgia negro, last Friday night, yesterday signed articles to meet Flowers is a return battle for the championship at Madison Square Garden on May 21.

Signing of the articles by Greb came within two hours after the Pittsburgh fighter's formal challenge to his conqueror had been rejected by the State Athletic Commission, which requires champions to defend their titles only once every six months. The customary bond of $2,500 to guarantee good faith, which accompanied Greb's challenge, was returned to him by the commission.

The Flowers-Greb return match will be over the usual championship distance of 15 rounds to a judges' decision.

GERMAN GIRL WILL MEET MISS WILLS

"My Finish," Says Frau Neppach of Game To-day.

MENTONE, France, March 3. — Canadian Press. — Miss Helen Wills, Senorita De Alvarez, Frau Neppach and Didi Vlasto all weathered Tuesday's round of the women's singles in the Mentone tennis tournament.

Miss Wills played against Miss Daisy Hamerton of England whom she defeated 6-0, 6-0.

So far as the scores were concerned there was little to choose between the four winners. Senorita De Alvarez won 6-1, 6-0; Mlle. Viaston, 6-1, 6-0; Frau Neppach, 6-1, 6-1.

The German player was elated over her victory but showed worriment about meeting Miss Wills to-day, saying "This will be my finish."

"I am so sorry Mlle. Lenglen has gone to Italy," said Miss Wills after she had won from Miss Hamerton, But still she knows her own business best. I feel disappointed that I cannot meet her again until Wimbledon but don't you think she should have given me a return match here?"

TORONTO PRESS COMMENT ON PETES' WIN

Norman Albert in The Toronto Star:

Peterboro never looked so good before in their two years' Senior campaign. That they overpowered, out-skated and out-scored Parkdale was principally due to an outstanding piece of stamina and determination. The "Petes" have suddenly imbedded themselves solidly with Toronto and all other amateur fans.

The brightest hockey was produced by boys who have hitherto been seldom mentioned in starry roles. Rose, the Peterboro sub., showed his class when Parker was injured. Sent to the defence, Rose and McLeod held out the Toronto snipers. Rose's rushing was beautiful, and his goal, after faking a shot, was deserved.

Parkdale bodied themselves out of the contest. They started out to splatter themselves all over the Petes, but the old adage about he who laughs last laughs best, came true. Bailey, Ranger, McLeod, Bogardis and Collins were tossed up on their thinking boxes in the first couple periods—they were there in the third, however, better than ever.

Joe Dwyer, in the Petes' goal, undoubtedly stood out in the 7 to 0 victory of the easterners. He started in early to gobble up the Paddlers' shots, and never reliquished his brilliancy. He avoided almost certain goals hy miraculous consistency and he killed ordinary pin-shooting rallies. Dwyer dove out near the blue line twice to roll on the rubber bun.

No doubt about how the game was won and lost. Peterboro could all skate and shoot like fiends. Their bullet-tossing was always timely. Their combination kept improving as the Parkdales kept tiring. Bert McLeod held the fort in keeping out the white-jerseyed attacks. Ranger, Bailey, Bogardis and Collins checked their rivals silly. Harry Watson only had a chance a few times when he picked up loose pucks and wiggled around for a blazer at the Dwyer protected cage.

Says Lou Marsh in The Star:

In the second period the Petes turned on all the speed they had, and led by the spectacular Ranger and the brilliant Bailey, steamed out to a distinct margin in the play, though they could not get any goals. When the end of the period came the West End watermen were a weary outfit, and their hearts were broken by the marvellous play of Joe Dwyer in goal and the cyclonic back-checking of those simoons from the northeast—Bailey, Ranger, Collins, Bogardis and Rose.

The only ray of sunshine they could find was the fact that the accident to Parker had removed from their path half of the Petes' superb defence. Parker's injury was unfortunate, but it looked like a good break for the Paddle Punchers. I wonder if any of them know a paddle from a sweep oar—but even with Parker out of there, they could do nothing.

Abbie Rose went back to the defence, and while he was a bit shy about using the body to stop Parkdale rushes he did some remarkable poke checking, and when he did get the puck away he headed some of the best rushes of the evening. With a fourth forward on the ice there was plenty of zip and punch to the Peterboro attack in the 30 minutes of the game.

Will Worry London

The Petes played a sweet game from the goal out—a game which if it is repeated will do more than worry. London Ravens, the champions of the Big Six. In fact the Petes are dead liable to change the spelling of the monicker adopted by the champions of the western loop and make it descriptive of a state of mind around London after the final tilt is over.

London has a smart team from the goal out, but when they face the champions of the somewhat despised eastern group they are, despite the loss of Parker, facing the best team they have stacked into this season. Moore will have to turn in a better game than he has turned in all season—and he has been a sweet goal janitor—to hold his own with the Hon. Josephus Dwyerinski, while Starkings and Graham will have their hands full trying to keep track of the lightning-like attacks of the Aanger-Bailey-led flock of goal getters.

London has the edge up in the "Big Six" simply because they were better fortified with subs than any others team in the league.

Now it will be different. Peterboro has subs which rate up with the regulars, and every one of them is not only a speed merchant, but a goal getter.

What a fine pair of evenings, those rival forwards are going to have. The Pete stars will find that Lowry and Keeling have lashings of speed and pep and that "Sandy" Somerville is a hard boy to keep track of around the goal mouth—and the Cockney forwards will have just as much trouble trying to keep tabs on the fast-breaking, quick-shooting Petes.

It is going to be a great battle, but on last night's game the eastern champions have a wonderful chance to come through.

And this from The Telegram:

Peterboro at Best.

Last night's Peterboro team was the Peterboro team at its best. That effort was their real one and if they can repeat it in the play-offs with London then the Ravens will find the going mighty hard. There wasn't a weakness on that Peterboro team. Dwyer in goal wasn't just good. He was marvellous. Some of it may have been luck but most of it was keen eyesight. His work alone was enough to break the hearts of the Parkdale attackers. The defence was sound and while they did not resort to heavy checking much they covered nicely. And at that Parker was forced out of the contest with a dislocated shoulder when Morris bumped him. And Parker will likely be out for the balance of the season. Rose who took up the defence burden, did not weaken the position, and in fact supplied more scoring punch than Parker.

McLeod a Star.

Big Bert McLeod, on the Peterboro defence, turned in one of his best efforts. On breaking up attacks he was real good and invariably made the stop himself on the shots. But it was on the attack that he stood out. His rushes were not of the weaving kind. He broke fast went down the centre, and how he did shoot. His first goal was a smart play. He let the puck drive just as he swung by the defence, and Collett was completely fooled by the move. McLead, however, hasn't the same good condition as the rest of his team and those sallies up the ice took a lot out of him.

Forwards Did Check.

Until the break-up came in the final period and goals were numerous because of the weakening of the checking, the Peterboro attack did not carry the scoring force of the defence. But how they did check. They were back on top of those Parkdale puck-carriers like bees. Peterboro had the edge because they had more speed than Parkdale, they had more real scoring punch and they broke fast. And the forwards supplied great aid to the defence with checking. There wasn't a weak man on the entire attack.

PIRATES DEFEAT WEAK MAROONS

Keep Pace With Boston By Shutout Win—New York Beats Ottawa.

FIRST OF SEASON.

MONTREAL, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Pittsburgh kept pace with Boston in the fight the two teams are waging for the play-off berth in the National Hockey League when they blanked the weakened Montreal Maroons here last night 4 to 0. Without Reg. Noble and Babe Seibert, the Maroons had little or no team combination to get them to close quarters with the Pirate goal.

New York 3, Ottawa 1.

OTTAWA, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Tommy Gorman and his New York Americans invaded the capital last night in a National Hockey League fixture and defeated the League leading Senators for the first time this season, the score being 3 to 1. The result came as a big surprise to the crowd, but for two periods the Americans played like a high-class team, although all of their three goals were of the soft variety.

Boston 4, Canadiens 1.

BOSTON, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Boston Bruins and Pittsburgh Pirates remained in the same relative position in the National League standing last night when both aspirants to the play-off honors won their games.

The Bruins defeated the Canadiens 4 to 1 and retained their one point lead over their Pittsburgh rivals. Canadiens, handicapped by the absence of Morenz, their star centre, battled valiantly against heavy odds.

DELORO CARNIVAL

Cold Night Interfered With Attendance—Burlesque Hockey Match.

MARMORA, March 3.—In choosing Saturday night, the promoters of the Deloro skating carnival were somewhat unfortunate, as the bitterly cold night interfered with the attendance. At 7.30 p.m. a short series of juvenile races were held, resulting as follows:

Girls under 14—Dorothy Haacke.
Boys under 14—Eugene Phillips.
Girls under 12—No entries.
Boys under 12—Fred. Callery.

A hockey match was then commenced between the Maroons and the Whites. The latter scored twice in the first period, through C. Brady and J. Quinn. In the second period A. C. Berry netted and M. Auger put the puck through his own goal. The Maroons retaliated through Jack and Yates. In this period burlesque was introduced, the referee suddenly appearing in feminine attire to the evident glee of the juvenile spectators. There being no score in the final period, victory went to the Whites by the margin of 4 to 2. The ice was in ideal condition. The line-up:

Maroons—H. Auger, goal; A. V. Yates, right defence; R. C. V. Jack, left defence; J. A. Bond, centre; J. McCroden, right wing; W. Ralph, left wing; F. Craig and A. S. Brown, subs.

Good umpires—W. Kerr and F. Gray.

Referee—Earl Bennett of Cobalt.

Between first and second periods, judging of the custumes took place. There was a good number of entries, and judging of the excellent impersonations was by no means easy.

Messrs. R. A. Elliott, J. Hemphill and R. Hunter undertook the task. Mrs. W. Williams secured the prize for best lady's costume in her representation of a magician. Master Alfred Barton won the prize for best gent's costume for his original make-up as "The Bat." Fay Buskard, attired as a gypsy girl, was voted the best of the girl entrants, whilst Jack Shannon as "Santa Claus" was considered the best among the boys.

MINISTER OF CUSTOMS ASSURED OFFICER WOULD NOT DO HIS DUTY

Has Begun Prosecution of Makers of Native Wine in Quebec—Was Told To "Use More Discretion."

LIST OF STILLS TO HON. MR. BUREAU.

OTTAWA, March 3. Canadian Press. — A list of still alleged to be operating in the jurisdiction of J. E. A. Bisaillon, former chief preventive officer in the district of Montreal, was produced before the customs committee Tuesday afternoon by Hon H. H. Stevens. This list had been sent by Mr. Bisaillon to Mr. Bureau, then Minister of Customs, asking instructions. Mr. Bureau returned the list with a letter explaining that "yes" and "no" would be noted by each name and that Bisaillon was to act accordingly. Mr. Stevens pointed out that on the list they were all "No's."

The production of the list was the occasion of a small difference among the committee members. Paul Mercier, the chairman, insisted that from the files it was shown that the informer who gave the names of the operators of stills had since been sent to the penitentiary and therefore the information given was to be discredited.

Use More Discretion.

Mr. Stevens continued to read letters showing that an officer under Bisaillon in the St. Hyacinthe district had commenced the prosecution of certain makers of native wines for their own use. In this case Mr. Bureau had had the officer informed that he should use more discretion.

"The minister instructed you to pull officer Cadotte out of St. Hyacinthe, and in reply you assured the Minister that this officer would not do his duty?" asked Mr. Stevens.

"Yes," replied Mr. Bisaillon.

"The Minister," said Mr. Stevens, "rebuked the preventive officer in this case and ordered him to keep his men out."

Mr. Stevens charged the witness with making a practice of communicating confidentially with officials of the department, other than his chief, regarding the sale of seizures.

"That is the sense of my letters," replied Mr. Bisaillon, referring to letters which had been read by Mr. Stevens.

Report Destroyed.

A former preventive officer. Duval, who had seized a car for the customs department, gave evidence. He had made a report to Bisaillon of the seizure and later heard that the report had been destroyed. In the investigation made later by Mr. Wilson after Bisaillon's dismissal, Duval had given him a copy of the report on the seizure.

Examined by Mr. Calder, Duval testified that he had reported to Mr. Wilson over Bisaillon's head. Meanwhile Bisaillon had told him to have the car released though Bisaillon would not give the order himself. Subsequently Duval wrote the order releasing the car on Bisaillon's order. Duval declared that his action was not taken because of a threatened loss of position.

Profit on Sedan Sale.

The sale of a sedan which had been seized by the Customs Department to a certain Quellette, a messenger in the department at Ottawa, and the resale of this car at a profit of $200 a few days later, was the subject of examination by Hon. Mr. Stevens.

Bisaillon wrote Mr. Bureau, former Minister of Customs, that he could resell this car at a good profit and "remit a difference that will be worth while."

Mr. Bisaillon admitted under examination that this car was sold without any reference to his immediate chief, Mr. Wilson, but with the direct instructions of Mr. Bureau.

Mr. Bisaillon said he knew of a Dr. Sproule as an alleged dealer in "stolen cars, narcotics and liquor." There were others working with Sproule. The witness admitted cases in which he made settlements regarding the disposal of cars at the dictation of the Minister and apart from the jurisdiction of Mr. Wilson, Chief of the Preventive Service at Ottawa.

Mr. Stevens pressed for the name of a certain informer in a seizure case.

"Was it not K. Juno of the Ritz garage and did he not receive $157?"

"I decline to give the name of an informer," declared the witness and the matter was dropped.

GOLFERS SHOWN IN CHURCH WINDOWS

Stained Glass Windows Presented By Club Men.

LIVERPOOL, March 3 (Canadian Press Cable).—Golfers who regularly attend the Sunday morning services in St. Nicholas' Church at Wallasey, opposite Liverpool, on the other side of the Mersey River, and after the services proceed to the golf links, have donated two handsome stained glass windows for St. Nicholas', and these will be dedicated next Sunday.

The windows depict three acts performed by the Saviour on the Sabbath: healing the sick, attending the synagogue, and walking in the corn fields. Interwoven with these are pictures of golf players on their way to the links, and a picture of the hospital at Wallasey, towards which the golfers subscribe largely at the Sunday morning services.

WOMEN INVADE WOODS.

Old Trapper Speaks With Bitterness of Their Arrival.

EDMONTON, Alta., March 3.—(Canadian Press).—The Journal says: The world may have been made safe for democracy, but the woods are no longer safe for men, if one is to believe the story of a trapper who has just returned from the north. Greenhorns are regarded as a natural visitation of providence, he said with a resigned air; but there was bitterness in his voice when he spoke of women invading the last stronghold of man—the outdoors.

On his rare visits to the city he had observed them in business and various other activites, but when he met a bobbed-haired lassie in riding breeches mushing a team of dogs along the trail, with a bunch of pelts in her toboggan in proof of her ability, he thought it was too much. "Me for Unava," he finished.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR FINAL GAME AGAINST RAVENS

At Least 500 Peterborough Fans Are Going To Toronto.

PARKER IS OUT.

Petes' Defence Man Will Hang Up His Stick For the Season.

Both London and Peterboro are running special trains to Toronto on Friday evening for the first game of the Senior O.H.A. play-offs and a crowd that will fill the Toronto Arena to capacity is assured. The Queen City fans are grabbing up all the pasteboards not reserved for the London and Peterboro fans and the clash is looked upon in Toronto as the feature event of the hockey season.

Louis Yeotes, who sponsored Monday night's excursion guaranteed the special train for Friday's game. The excursion train will leave the C.P.R. Station at 5.45 p.m. and, returning, leave Toronto at 12 o'clock. It is estimated that at least 500 Peterboro fans will be in Toronto for the big battle. Railway tickets and tickets for the Arena can be obtained at Yeote's Store while Arena tickets will also be on sale at Bert McLeod's Drug Store. Fans are advised to make their applications early.

Parker Out.

Harold Parker is out for the season. A further examination by Dr. Gallie in Toronto, yesterday revealed that in addition to the dislocation, several ligaments have been torn, and the popular defence man will have to hang up his stick for the year. The accident to Parker will be regretted by players and fans alike. The big rearguard player has always given his best, and he has been a source of great strength for many seasons.

His place will be taken by Ray Rose, who turned in a great game Monday and can be depended upon to repeat against London. Fortunately Rose was used frequently on the defence in the Petes' exhibition games, so that the position is not new to him and with Bert McLeod alongside him, he should fill the bill nicely. Cox will share the subbing duties with Bogardis.

The London team is moving to Toronto today and will work out at the Arena tomorrow. The Petes will complete their training for the final clash with a practice here tonight and will go to Toronto as usual on the afternoon train Friday, a system that has given the best results in the past.

As an illustration of the interest being shown in the final series, it may be mentioned that Charlie Cummer of the Peterboro executive received a wire yesterday from a London man asking him if there was a chance of securing four tickets for the game in London next Tuesday night, out of those reserved for the Peterboro contingent. There were none to be had in London, the plan being sold out early yesterday morning.

HELPFUL HINTS BY GOLFING STARS

By Special Arrangement With Colliers' Magazine.

If you want to keep your children's hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali. this dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can not possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will last for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsifed. Be ware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

SOUTHPAWS ERRATIC

What makes the southpaws wild? Major league managers would welcome the answer to that question.

Without a doubt the biggest disappointment of last season in the big show was "Lefty" Groves of the Athletics.

Lack of control made more or less of a "bust" out of Groves.

The previous season with the Baltimore club of the International League, Groves had been the sensation of the circuit. He won 26 and lost only 6. Incidentally he struck out 231 men in 236 innings, almost one an inning Some pitching.

When Groves got the ball over the plate in the American League he was almost as effective for he whiffed 116 men in 197 innings.

On the showing of Groves largely depends the chances of the Athletics to win this year.

"I wasn't so much wilder than usual last year," explains Groves, "it was the careful way the big league batters look over your stuff that made me seem so. They don't offer at many bad balls in the big show."

CASE OF HARPER

In connection with the experiences of "Lefty" Groves, I recall the case of Harry Harper who started his major league career with the Washington club.

I have called balls and strikes for Rube Waddell when he was in his prime, seen all of the great left-handers of the last 20 years in action and will say that few of them had more stuff than Harry Harper.

But Harper was wild and during his connection with the Washington club it was the exception for him to finish a ball game. When he pitched I was sorry I didn't have an inflated suit. Half of his heaves would strike the ground in front of the plate.

The Washington club finally decided control was one thing that Harper never would acquire, so he was passed on to the Minneapolis club of the American Association. Joe Cantillon, former Washington manager, owned that club and there was a working agreement between the two teams.

Harper gave players and scribes of the association much to talk and write about before he had been in the league a month.

UNUSUAL CAREER

Last spring while touring the training camps, I bumped into Joe Cantillon in Florida. He was doing some scouting for the Chicago White Sox. Harper was one of the topics we discussed.

"When Harry joined my club," said Cantillon, "he explained to me that he had been instructed to let up on his stuff if unable to get it over.

"I told him to forget about such instructions, that I wanted him to put something on every ball. I don't care if you give enough passes to make a parade of players from Minneapolis to Louisville, give 'em all you got.

"In his first game he lost 8-7 in 11 innings, striking out 16 and walking 9. He lasted four innings in his next start, whiffing 7 and passing 11. Must have thought he was rolling the dice instead of pitching a baseball.

"His wildest day was his third game. In eight innings of play he walked 20 and fanned 7. Of course he lost.

"That season he worked 133 innings and struck out 135 men, also walked 121. He averaged better than a strike-out an inning and almost a base on balls."

* * *

Unquestionably lack of control kept Harry Harper from being as much talked about as the late "Rube" Waddell.

ONE MORE GAME FOR BROWN CUP

De Laval and Brintons Must Reach Decision Tomorrow Night.

ARE WELL MATCHED.

Brintons and DeLaval will battle to a finish tomorrow night at Brock Street Arena, commencing at 8.15 o'clock. May the better team win. If necessary, overtime periods will be played until a verdict is reached.

All winter long The Examiner has been boosting the City Hockey League as a medium of developing players in the junior series and providing interesting hockey exhibitions for fandom. Last night's games attracted the biggest crowd of the season and there were no disappointments.

St. Peter's and St. Andrew's have on their lineups plenty of material for future O.H.A. teams. The problem of handling these young player's and instructing them in the fine points of the game is a big one.

The bulk of the players on the champion St. Peters' team are budding baseball players, and St. Andrew's also boasts several fine prospects. An athlete who is capable of performing creditably in the summer and winter pastimes is worth special attention.

Tomorrow night's game will be a handful for any referee. The fans should approve the work of any official who makes an honest effort to discourage rough work.

One enthusiastic Brinton's supporter remarked last night that Johnny Ward's footwork is marvelous. The DeLaval goaler refuses to slip a loose puck into the net, whether or no he is aware of the rubber's position. Luck or no luck Ward has shown mighty good form this winter, Lew LeBarr never looked better. There were many difficult shots turned aside last night.

FRENCH TAXES VOTE SATURDAY

Decisive Test Expected Today on Finance Committee's Report.

LEFT IS RESIGNED.

PARIS, March 3 (Canadian Press) — The Radical-Socialist coalition deputies in the Chamber are resigning themselves with difficulty to the adoption of the Senate amendments to the Chamber finance bills, though the general opinion in the lobbies is that the bills will pass practically as sent back from the Upper House.

The greatest resistance is to the stamp tax on business transactions, applicable to wholesalers and jobbers, at the rate of 1.2 per cent. The Chamber Finance Committee rejected the measure, then in the face of the firm stand taken in its favor by M. Doumer, the Finance Minister, asked that the rate be reduced to one-half of one per cent.

The decisive test between the Radical-Socialists and the Government will come on this point when the Finance Committee's report is up for consideration to-day. The committee will ask the Chamber to replace in the bills the provisions rejected by the Senate requiring a declaration of revenue made under oath.

With these exceptions the bills as adopted by the Senate have been approved by the Finance Committee with only minor changes. The debate in the Lower House is expected to be short, as Premier Briand is leaving at the end of the week for Geneva, and M. Doumer is proceeding on Monday to London to talk about the Franco-British debt settlement. It is likely that a vote will be reached by Saturday.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion.

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from ibdigestion, you have already tried pepsin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate, or milk, but the pure Bisurated Magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or three compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little Bisurated Magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow and moreover, the continued use of the Bisurated Magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion.

The mortal race is far too weak not to grow dizzy on unwonted heights.—Goethe.

CLOSE VICTORY FOR 'Y' SENIORS

"Y" Girls Defeat Normals 22-16, Causing Tie For Championship in Basketball.

A play-off game will be necessary to decide the championship of the Girls' Backetball League as a result of last evening's victory of the "Y" Seniors, 22 to 6, over the Normal School team on the "Y.W" floor. These two teams are now tied for honors, each having lost one game to the other. The Normals defeated the "Y" Seniors, 19 to 11, early in the season. The final game will take place early next week.

Last evening's game was the best of the year. The teams scored alternately and the result was uncertain until the final minute. Gertie Gimblett scored two before the Normals got started, but after that it was a teeter-totter battle. The score stood 8 to 7 for the "Y" at half time. The Normal took a slight lead in the beginning of the second half but the "Y" Seniors were never more than two or three points behind. With three minutes to play, the score stood 14-13 for the "Y" The last few minutes showed the fastest basketball of the evening Each team missed shots repeatedly, but the "Y" girls seemed stronger around the basket and increased their small lead to win the game 22 to 16.

Gertie Gimblett was the scoring ace for the winners. The guards of the "Y" Seniors showed clever checking ability and smothered many passes of the Normals.

C. Cook and M. Hopkins on the forward line for the Normals showed good form at starting and their supporting defence players fed them the ball.

The line-up:

"Y" Seniors.—Forwards, D. Graham and G. Gimblett; centre, F. Chambers; side centre, W. Francis; guards, H. Jackson and V. Graham. sub E. Outram.

Normals.—Forwards Enid Jones and M. Hopkins; centre, M. Breeze; side centre, K. Aikey; guards, I. Robbins and M. Baker; sub. C. Cook.

Referees—J. Batten and McCleish.

REDUCTION IN FINE.

$100 and Costs is the Penalty Imposed By Judge Crawford.

EDMONTON, Alta., March 3.—(Canadian Press).—Bringing an appeal against a conviction and fine of $350 by Magistrate Emily Murphy for illegal sale of liquor Mrs. G. Ogilvie was successful in obtaining a reduction of the fine to $100 and costs when she appeared before Judge Crawford in the district court. His Honor stated that he thought the fine imposed was excessive for a poor woman to pay.

According to Hansard

(Being extracts from the official record of the Canadian House of Commons now in session.)

Who'd Have Thought It?

MR. H. A. STEWART (Leeds): We all desire, Mr. Speaker, a united Canada. We desire that Canada shall be united in bonds of sympathy from one ocean to the other. We desire that goodwill shall prevail. We desire that there shall be a common understanding and a common undertaking. We all deplore the dangers of sectional policies and of sectional appeals, and there will he no restored confidence, there will be no improved conditions in Canada, until we return to the administration of our affairs on the principles of responsible government.

Now We Know Where Tommy Stands.

MR. T. L. CHURCH (Toronto, Northwest): I am a Tory of the old school; a Tory I was born and a Tory I will die. I am not a Tory here today and away tomorrow; I will be a Tory for the rest of my days, and I am endeavouring to do what I can for a good cause. I say to my hon. friends in the Progressive group that I, as one of the humble members from the Toronto district, stand by my principles whether in office or out of office.

MR. PETER McGIBBON (Muskoka, Ontario), discussing the work of the Government: If the hon. member (Mr. Woodsworth) will only vote with us and turn this Government out, we will put in a Government that will protect our workers against that cheap labour.

MR. WOODSWORTH: The hon. gentleman is not offering a bribe?

MR. McGIBBON: Well, if the hon. member considers any proposal to ensure feeding the wives and children of our workingmen a bribe, I say yes.

Where Parties Agree.

MR. H. A. STEWART (Leeds), discussing the Speech from the Throne: Some paragraphs of the Speech from the Throne are not open to any objection whatever. There is one referring to the death of Queen Alexandra, the bereavement in the royal family. The royal family occupy a very high, a very exalted place in the esteem and affection of the Canadian people and of the British people in all parts of the Empire, and it is perfectly fitting and proper that there should be a reference in the Speech to this bereavement.

The Speech refers to the growing prosperity of Canada, a subject upon which there has been a good deal of controversy, one in respect to which there is considerable difference of opinion. The Speech, however, does not, as is usual, express any thanksgiving to the Almighty for contributing to this increased prosperity. Perhaps that was deliberately omitted, perhaps it was intentional, because if proper credit is given in that direction there is very little credit left for any other source.

There is also a reference to the increased earnings of our railways. These, of course, are encouraging, and they are due in no small measure to the excellent crop to which reference has been made.

Radio News.

MR. NICHOLSON (on privilege, in discussion of the Rouyn railway): The statement I made was that under the terms of this agreement there was no obligation on the part of the Canadian National Railways to call for tenders and that the road was being built by a dummy company.

MR. CAHILL: It would not matter much whether it was being built by a dummy company or by a loud speaker company; that would neither help nor hinder the work. The fact is that the railway is necessary and that it is being built at the lowest possible cost.

Seize the Opportunity.

MR. FINLAY MacDONALD (Cape Breton, South), opening an address that covered eleven columns of Hansard: I believe the advice usually given to the younger members by older and more experienced parliamentarians is that during their first session at least they should preserve a discreet silence. That, I think, is very good advice, because naturally a new member coming to this House feels himself somewhat under restraint, feels himself sitting in the seats of the mighty for the first time, and naturally he should give himself an opportunity to get more or less acclimated to the somewhat rarified atmosphere of this chamber. That admonition I would be only too glad to heed; I would be only too well satisfied to preserve a silence during my first session in Parliament, but, unfortunately, possibly because there have been so many new members and all have evidently felt the urge to deliver their message to the House, the advice has been more or less disregarded; the new members, comprising probably half the membership of the House, have nearly all contributed to the current political literature of the country. That may have been partly due to the uncertainty prevailing in Government circles and to the uncertain future of this Parliament. Possibly they have felt that if they did not deliver their message at this session there might be no other opportunity of doing so.

Victor and vanquisher never unite in substantial agreement.—Tacitus.

AT THE CAPITOL.

KERRY IN WESTERN GARB IS SUPPORTED BY FAMOUS PEOPLE

Well Known Players in Coming Capitol Feature, "Under Western Skies"

A galaxy of famous screen stars twinkles through the many interesting scenes of "Under Western Skies," and Edward Sedgwick-Universal-Jewel production which comes to the Capitol theatre commencing tomorrow.

Norman Kerry is cast in the leading male role, and it is a most unusual role for him. He plays the blase son a wealthy banker. Kerry then changes to the role of a rancher, and rides with the best of the cowpunchers of the great Pendleton Round-up. Anne Cornwall plays the part of Ella Parkhurst, the character impersonated by Charles K. French. Parkhurst is an eastern Oregon rancher and Ella is a fitting representative of the girlhood of that State.

Ward Crane, as Otto Stern, banker of Pendleton, Oregon, is the "heavy" of the picture and puts into it all that finesse that has won for him the title of the screen's greatest villain. Kathleen Key has been cast in the part of Millie Lewis, who for a time is Stern's accomplice. Eddie Gribbon, movie fans' favorite burglar, makes the comedy along with Harry Todd. George Fawcett impersonates the character of James Erskine, wealthy New York banker, who head a group of bankers seeking to obtain control of the wheat fields of eastern Oregon but who eventually is frustrated by his son Robert. Others in the cast are William Steele, Frank Lanning and John Peters.

"Under Western Skies" was directed by Edward Sedgwick who also wrote the story, which tells of the efforts of the bankers to force the ranchers to sell them by withholding loans when money is needed for the harvesting of the wheat. Among the many big scenes are those showing the harvesting off of the Pendleton Round-up of 1925. In the Round-up, Kerry takes part in a thrilling steeplechase which also if different from the average picture horse race.

Proves Mother Is Your Closest Friend

Jersey City. Mr. J. Pault writes —"I awakened each morning with an unpleasant taste and was often reminded by my Mother that my breath was disagreeable. I tried perfumed tablets, mouth washes and other camouflages which gave temporary relief. After consulting my dentist and finding my teeth in good condition, a friend suggested my trouble was constipation. After taking a few doses of Carter's Little Liver Pills my stomach and bowels were relieved, foul and impure gases eliminated."

SUPPORTS DISCIPLINE.

East Pictou Local Council Upholds Teacher in Reprimanding Pupil.

NEW GLASGOW, N. S., March 3.—(Canadian Press).—The East Pictou Local Council of Women tried to help the situation in the high school here, requesting the School Board to reconsider its attitude in the best interests of the school, and give Miss Clara Murray more support in her disciplining of a pupil. Miss Murray is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Murray, New Glasgow, and a graduate in arts from Dalhousie University, where she was a member of the debating team. The boy, 18, according to Miss Murray's story, was isolent; the board suggested an apology, but Miss Murray insisted on some disciplining as well. Four other members of the high school staff, including the principal, also stated that this decision of the board was unsatisfactory to them, because of the detrimental effect on the discipline of the school should it be known that the School Board did not support the teachers. This, however, did not alter the decision of the board, and resignations of the teachers followed. Miss Murray writes in the Halifax Herald: "To me it seems an appaling thing that a town's education department should value so lightly the services of a handful of its citizens who are willing to sacrifice position and a half year's salary when principle, self-respect and dignity are at stake."

Stormy Session Ends Probe

INSPECTOR DUNCAN ACCUSED OF "DIRTY POLITICAL TRICK" IN PERMITTING HIS REPORT ON CONDITIONS IN CUSTOMS OFFICE TO REACH HON. H. H. STEVENS

Probe Adjourned Until March 16 After Turbulent Session in Which Hon. Mr. Boivin Confronted Duncan Before the Committee.

MINISTER SAID INSPECTOR TRIED TO GET EVIDENCE ON HON. JACQUES BUREAU

Duncan Did Not Regard Information From His Investigations in Montreal Office as Secret—Inspector Demanded Retraction By Boivin.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 4 (Canadian Press)—With Dugald Donaghy (Liberal) of North Vancouver protesting against what he called a "dirty political trick," Inspector Duncan gave evidence at the Customs probe late Wednesday afternoon of his differences with Hon. G. H. Boivin, Minister of Customs . It was Inspector Duncan who made the now famous report on the customs port of Montreal. He explained first how, in 1924, he had been loaned by the Department of Finance to the Commercial Protective Association to investigate smuggling. A memo that he had received notified him that he was not to take court action without authorization from Ottawa. He thought the thing "ridiculous" and protested to Premier King and to Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance.

"Ignore the whole thing," observed Premier King, "Put in jail any smugglers you get."

"So," Mr. Duncan informed the committee, "We started out with that intention."

Mr. Duncan then told that on Nov. 27, in the year following, Mr. Boivin instructed him to proceed to Montreal and report on whether there was sufficient evidence to justify the dismissal of J. E. A. Bisaillon, then chief custom's preventive officer at Montreal. In that conversation with Mr. Boivin, Mr. Duncan testified, there was mention of the house resolution of Hon. H. H. Stevens.

Information to Stevens

Mr. Duncan related a subsequent conversation with Mr. Boivin. In this conversation, he said, Mr. Boivin had charged him with giving information to Mr. Stevens. "He said he would expose me to his colleagues," added Mr. Duncan. Mr. Duncan informed the committee that he had told Mr. Boivin the charge was untrue.

Inspector Duncan read a series of telegrams between himself and Mr. Boivin in which Mr. Duncan protested strenuously against a statement reported to have been made in the house by Mr. Boivin.

"From this moment I withdraw from the investigation," wired Inspector Duncan. Mr. Boivin replied hoping Inspector Duncan would reconsider and asking for allowance for his own difficult situation.

"My decision is final unless retraction is made on the floor of the house," Inspector Duncan wired back. Is my reward for doing my duty to be slandered in the public press from coast to coast through a statement made by an hon. minister of the crown on the floor of the house?"

Three days later, Mr. Boivin wired back: "When I have seen you will endeavor at first opportunity to correct that portion of my remarks in the house to which you refer."

Dirty Political Trick

Mr. Donaghy warmly protested against production of the telegrams. He called it a "mare's nest" and a "dirty political trick."

There were angry interchanges in the committee. Mr. Boivin undertook to clear up the "grievance" which Inspector Duncan held against him.

"You accused me of trying to get evidence against a former colleague," declared the Inspector.

"I told you I wanted you to prepare your report before continuing to sit in the Windsor hotel trying to get evidence against Jacques Bureau," repled the minister, who added that he had accepted in the house Mr. Steven's statement that he had got none of his information from Duncan. The inspector said he had not seen a Hansard of the incident until yesterday.

The committee adjourned at 6:30 p.m., until Tuesday, March 16.

Chairman Mercier suggested that it would be advisable for the committee to adjourn during the period that the House of Commons was not sitting. He said that counsel needed time to prepare reports and cases for submission to the committee.

Duncan Called

Hon. H. H. Stevens asked that Inspector Duncan be called to the stand for a brief examination before adjournment. He wished the committee to have the facts in regard to the preparation and presentation of Inspector Duncan's report before adjourning.

D. Donaghy, one of the committeemen, objected to this proposal. The committee was now engaged in examining witnesses who figured in the report. The examination of Inspector Duncan was sure to be a lengthy matter. It should wait until the examination of these preliminary witnesses had been concluded.

C. W. Bell, another member of the committee said that he thought it would be of value if the committee could have the information which would be obtained in a brief examination of Inspector Duncan to consider during the recess.

Mr. Stevens moved that Inspector Duncan be called to the stand for a brief examination on the preparation and presentation of his report, and not on its contents.

Mr. Donaghy said that he failed to see the relevance of the motion. What would be the value of evidence on the preparation and presentation of a report. Probably its preparation had consisted in handing it to a stenographer to be typed.

A. J. Doucet said that the committee should know about the preparation of Inspector Duncan's report. The time of the committee had been taken up largely with a rehearsal of police court squabbles in Montreal, he said. The committee would be able to consider the report more intelligently during the recess if Inspector Duncan was called.

A discussion of Mr. Steven's motion followed for half an hour till Mr. Donaghy moved an amendment to the motion which would have Inspector Duncan called only after all the witnesses referred to in his report had been heard.

"A kind of six months' hoist," was Mr. Boivin's comment.

Mr. Stevens protested that it simply negatived the motion. It would mean that so long as one witness was kept away, Mr. Duncan could not be examined. "That's probably what was intended," said Mr Bell.

Had Four Assistants.

Inspector Duncan was finally called. Questioned by Mr. Bell, he gave the details of his first employment with the Commercial Protective Association in November, 1924, when he had been loaned by the Department of Finance. He had selected his four assistants at salaries of $2,500 a year.

On being made a Customs officer, Inspector Duncan was issued a memorandum of 1922, requiring him to have weekly reports to the department and not to take court action against smugglers unless instructed from Ottawa.

"I said it was ridiculous," We would spend most of our time making reports. They would have to arrest men and then wire Ottawa and ask if we could put them in jail," said the Inspector.

The situation was explained in a conference with Mr. Robb and the Prime Minister. Mr. King had said "Ignore the whole thing and put them in jail."

"So we started out with that intention." Mr. Wilson, chief of the preventive service, instructed the

REMOVAL OF GASOLINE PUMP FROM MARKET SQUARE WILL NOT BE REQUIRED AT PRESENT

Tenderers for Market Tolls To Be Asked for Two Prices.

COUNCIL MEETING

Many Deputations Heard by Aldermen—Paving Bylaw Passed.

Ex-Alderman Walter Stocker's gasoline pump on the market square was the cause of considerable commotion at the March meeting of the City Council last night, and caused some rather heated passages between the market clerk and some of the Aldermen. When the report of the Property committee was under consideration Mr. Stocker took exception to the clause requiring the removal of the tank. He said that it meant a loss to him, and said that the chairman of the committee kept a table at the market free of charge and had it carried out for him every Saturday.

In reply Alderman Hancock said that neither the market clerk nor his assistant had ever carried a table for him. He was opposed to the tank because it was in competition with the business men of the town who paid taxes and was also the cause of great congestion at the entry to the market.

Alderman Denne said that Mr. Stocker seemed to think that the Council had a grudge against him, and assured him that there was no personality concerned but that he wanted to see it a proper farmers' market, and not an opposition to the business men of the city.

Alderman Ackerman said that the council should bear some of the responsibility from last year and asked how much expense Mr. Stocker had incurred by the installation.

Alderman Denne: "$300.00."

Mr. Stocker: "$550.00 "

Alderman Denne: "We're not asking you. You're on the outside. We'll ask you when you're wanted."

Alderman Ackerman said that the tank should be allowed to stay until Mr. Stocker had been able to get a reasonable return. When Alderman Hancock said that Mr. Stocker might not get the market Alderman Ackerman said that it would then be up to him to arrange with the new clerk.

Alderman Phelan said that the Council should stand behind the action of last year's council, as Mr. Stocker had made a big investment. Alderman Hancock referred to a letter from the City Trust asking for rent for the property if the city were collecting any from the market clerk. Mayor Holloway said that he understood that the tanks were installed for a year on approval and could then be taken out.

Alderman Fife and Ackerman moved that the clause be stricken from the report and all the aldermen except Messrs. Hancock and Denne supported the motion.

Later Alderman Hancock moved that the Property committee be given authority to advertise for tenders for the market tolls and the discussion was all repeated. It was decided to stipulate in the advertisement that the tenders should quote prices with or without the pump Alerman Fife backed this clause, saying that some people would tender for the market who would not want the pump.

Fires Outside City.

A trip outside the city which was made by the Peterborough Fire Brigade was unprofitable as nobody can be found to pay the fee, and the advisability of allowing further trips was discussed. Most of the aldermen felt that the people of the city, who pay for the protection of the brigade, were entitled to first

A Wife May Be Sold— But Not More Than Once

LONDON, March 4 (United Press).—The sale of wives is a common practice in some parts of England. In Yorkshire, where the practice is followed, there are three unwritten laws:

1.—A wife shall not be sold more than once.

2.—Must not change hands for less than 25 cents.

3.—She must be taken away immediately.

A husband in the Leeds Police Court recently told the judge he had sold his wife for $50, a large price. The wives are usually agreeable to the change.

Manslaughter Charge Against Stepmother Of Young Dummer Boy Who Died Tuesday; New Charge Against His Father Tomorrow

Mrs. Mary Dwyer Brought To City By Constable Maker—George Dwyer Already in Custody—Permission Given Both To Attend Funeral, Which Has Not Yet Been Arranged—One Of Children Hit Another With Pail.

DR. CLARK REFUSED DEATH CERTIFICATE, THEN GAVE IT; CORONER DR. YOUNG MAINTAINS STAND THAT DUTY DONE

Accused Man Had Splendid War Record With 93rd Battalion, Rising To Position of Sergeant on Active Service — Wounded at Vimy Ridge — Meningitis May Be Caused By Blow or Injuries to Skull, Says Nelson's Encyclopedia.

CROWN ATTORNEY DEMANDED CLEAN-UP OF DUMMER "BAD LANDS" TEN YEARS AGO

Mr. Hatton Reported To Attorney General That Piggeries Are Inspected, But Homes of Poor, Defenceless Children, Subject To Father's Brutality, Are Completely Neglected—Grand Jury Urged Action in Effort to Raise Family Standards.

Mary Dwyer, step-mother of John Dwyer, the Dummer boy of 12, who died in Nicholls Hospital at an early hour Tuesday morning from causes ascribed to meningitis, was formally charged with manslaughter when she appeared in Police Court. After hearing the charge Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K.C., asked for a remand of one week. The preliminary investigation will take place at the Court House on Thursday, March 11, at 2.30 p.m.

Mrs. Dwyer seemed perfectly composed while the charge was being read. She is a woman of medium height, dark complexion with black bobbed hair. She was dressed entirely in black.

Magistrate O. A. Langley asked her if she had requested Mr. Kerr to appear for her. She said "Please," indicating that such was her desire. The magistrate replied that Mr. Kerr had sent a note saying that he was very busy and could not take the case and advising that she obtain the services of one of the younger lawyers in the city. Asked if she had any preference regarding legal advisers she stated that she knew none of the lawyers.

Following the reading of the charge and on being asked if she was prepared to proceed with the preliminary inquiry Mrs. Dwyer asked: "What does that mean."

The magistrate asked her if she knew that John Dwyer was dead. She replied "yes."

"Would you like to go to the funeral?" asked the magistrate.

"I surely would," responded the woman. The magistrate intimated that arrangements would be made whereby the father and stepmother might attend the boy's funeral.

Mrs. Dwyer was then escorted from the dock to the detective's office where impressions of her finger prints were taken. She was later photographed for the police records

Arrested Yesterday

The accused woman was brought into the city yesterday afternoon on the C.P.R. train by Provincial Constable N. F. Maker. With her were her three children, Arthur, Ruby and Norman, aged 4, 3 and two respectively. Kathleen, a daughter of George Dwyer by his first marriage who had been employed in a neighbor's home was also with her stepmother. The children were in charge of John Edgar, the representative of the Children's Aid Society.

Immediately on her arrival Mrs. Dwyer was taken to the Police Station and held pending her appearance this morning.

At Children's Shelter

Five children of George Dwyer of Dummer are at the Children's Shelter here. Two are children of his first wife,—Katherine, aged 16 years, who lived with her grandmother, and Nellie, aged 13, the little girl whose foot was injured by the horse. There are also three children by the second marriage—Arthur aged 5 years; Ruby, aged 4, and Norman, a baby of 2 years. George, aged 9 years, is still in the hospital.

The smaller children at the Shelter appear to be in good condition, with stout, strong little bodies, although Arthur, the 5-yearold, has his head plastered up in two places, where, he says, his older step-sister hit him with a pail.

Splendid War Record

George Dwyer, one of the principals in the Dummer case, who is at present in custody on a charge of neglect had a splendid war record. He enlisted as a private in the 93rd Battalion on January 21, 1916, in which unit his regimental number was 195,555.

He proceeded overseas with that unit in the fall of the same year. He was drafted to the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles in France and was wounded by shrapnel during the Vimy Ridge action on April 13, 1917. He was afterwards promoted to the rank of sergeant and served with that rank until February 17, 1919, when he was demobilized. His military history, the record of his conduct whilst a member of the overseas forces, is marked "Conduct very good."

He gave his occupation as a laborer at the time of his enlistment.

What Meningitis Is

The death certificate, said to be signed by three prominent doctors declares the death of John Dwyer was due to meningitis.

Dr. Young refused, because of his position as coroner, to comment on whether meningitis might be caused or favored by harsh treatment but Nelson's Encyclopedia, in Volume 8, at page 84, says:

Meningitis or inflammation of the membranes of the brain and spinal cord, may be due to a variety of causes. Blows, injuries to the skull, and specific infections extending from the nasal or ear cavities, are ordinary means of exciting meningeal inflammation which may be distinctly localized or widespread. Tubercular meningitis is a common form.

Extensive and severe meningitis may also follow sunstroke and the disease occasionally breaks out in an epidemic form known as epidemic cerebro-spiral meningitis. The chief symptoms are headache, vertigo, constipation, vomiting, squint, optic atrophy, inequality of the pupils, convulsions, and coma. The symptons de end on the situation and extent of the inflammatory process. The diagnosis is ofen extremely difficult and in all cases the prognosis is grave. Ice to the head or spine and counter-irration are sometimes useful. Absolute rest and maintenance of the patient's strength are es-

OTHER QUESTIONS.

TORONTO, March 4 (Canadian Press).—Questions as to the electric railways operated by the Ontario Hydro Commission are being asked in the Ontario Legislature by F. C. Biggs, former Minister of Public Works. In particular, the member for Wentworth North is asking about the Peterborough electric railway, what are its losses and what is going to be done with it.

Expenditures on Provincial highways in the County of Oxford are queried by D. M. Ross, Oxford North.

R. H. Kemp (Progressive, Lincoln) placed a question on the order paper, asking if the Lyons Supply Company supplied any materials for the Government barn at Hearst, Ontario.

As we advance in life, we learn the limits of our abilities.—Froude.

Everything that has a beginning comes to an end.—Quintilian.

NOW, HONESTLY

Remedy for snow and ice conditions.

It is the allotted function of the City Engineer to keep the sidewalks in a safe condition for pedestrians at all times and under all conditions.

This manifestly is an impossible task without the expenditure of several times the precents appropriation for such work.

Additional appropriation means increased taxes which will naturally be deplored by all.

We would like to see a spirit of co-operation engendered in the property owners, bringing them to the point where they will keep the sidewalk immediately in front of their own property in a safe condition. They owe this duty to themselves, their families and fellow citizens.

It would be a simple matter to keep streets in a safe condition if a force of 3,000 people were employed to do so and the equivalent of employing this number is secured by each property owner spending fifteen minutes on his own front walk every day. This benefit is without additional cost in the shape of added tax burdens.

Our streets should be made safe not only for the normal healthy person but especially for the young, the aged and the infirm.

It is a simple matter to criticise the inefficiency of our Civic Departments and in this case an effective remedy is just as simple to be found. The time spent in denouncing the Administration can be effectively used in co-operating with it thereby improving present bad street conditions.

Old Local Industry Expects To Have A Busy Season After Re-Organization

William Hamilton Company Has Been Put on Good Financial Footing—President Looks For Great Increase in Business in Near Future.

EXPECTS PLANT TO WORK FULL TIME.

It has just been announced that the William Hamilton Company, Limited, has been reorganized throughout and its financial position greatly strengthened by a new bond issue, a privately subscribed flotation of which the major portion has been absorbed in Montreal, Quebec, Winnipeg and Peterborough.

The re-organized company will operate under the name of William Hamilton, Limited, and headquarters will remain in this city.

According to reliable information the plant will soon be working at capacity and many more men will be employed than are at present engaged in the various operations in the big foundry. P. P. Westbye, president of the newly organized firm, stated today that while there were approximately 100 men working at present, if the plant were running to capacity, from 200 to 250 men could be given work. He was not able to state whether or not the present factory space would be expanded.

The William Hamilton Company is one of Peterborough's pioneer industries. Since it was established in 1856, it has steadily added to its prestige, until to-day the firm occupies a prominent position in civic industry. The products of the foundries are massive castings, and include machinery for the carrying out of power development work, mining and lumbering. In addition to the heavy work there is also a considerable field for steel plates, boilers and stacks.

Backed as it now is by moneyed interests, the firm should make great strides in future development. One person said that the change was a certain index of better times, and augured well for the future commercial prosperity of the city. It is believed that other industries will gain confidence, and that during the coming year a general revival of activity in many lines will occur.

In addition to its own specialized lines of hydraulic turbine machinery and all the branches of pulp and sawmill machinery, the company has also been manufacturing, under license, the products of such other well known firms as

James Leffel & Company, Springfield, Ohio — water turbines and hydraulic equipment.

Mine & Smelters' Supply Company, Denver, Colo.—mining machinery.

Shartle Brothers—pumps, Jordan engines, etc.

THE WEATHER.

This morning the thermometer was down to 4 degrees below zero. On March 5th last year zero made its last appearance. On March 1st the preceding year it did the same. Without being unduly sanguine it is to be hoped that zero weather is now nearing its finish. This is however the season for heavy falls of snow. The heaviest snowfalls of the winter usually occur during the first ten days of March. Many of our older readers well remember when all trains in this section would be completely blocked for several days to a week from snow storms. This never occurs now. Whether the railways are better equipped now to face such a contingency, or whether the snowfalls are less heavy and storms less severe, I am not sure, but the fact remains that railway traffic is little inconvenienced by winter storms. The truth probably is present day locomotives are more powerful and storms less severe. — W. P.

Armored Car To Be Hired By Newspaper Photographers In Order To Get Pictures Of Passaic Textile Strike

PASSAIC, N.J., March 4 (Canadian Press). — A move was under way by newspaper photographers here to hire an armored car to take photographs of scenes accompanying the strike of 7,000 workers in the wollen mill districts, which has assumed serious proportions.

Photographers who went to Chief of Police Zoder today were told that he could not guarantee them freedom from police interference. Newspaper reporters and photographers were the chief sufferers when the police bore down on a gathering of 3,000 strikers on the boundary line between Clifton and Passaic last night. Ten still and motion picture cameras valued at $4,000 were smashed by night clubs.

The strike leaders denounce the use of force, but announce they will continue picketing the mills.

NATIONAL ARMY ON DEFENSIVE ON WIDE FRONT

Defeats Are Reported in Two or Three Major Battles.

HOLD PEKING.

Feng's Army Claims Victory at Tientsin—Enemy Advancing.

PEKING, March 4 (Canadian Press).—The Kuominchun, or National Armies, which owe their origin to and still acknowledge the leadership of Marshal Feng Yu Hsiang, and which still control Peking and its surrounding province, Chihli, are on the defensive on three major fronts, and from two of these came reports of decisive Kuominchun defeats.

In Honan Province and south of Tientsin, victories for the Kuominchun foes were reported, while on the northern front, from Hsan Haikwan, the forces of Mukden have started an advance. The Kuominchun claimed success in limited engagements out of Tientsin.

On all three fronts the forces opposing each other are considered approximately equal and all are being reinforced. Heavy fighting is believed to be imminent all around, especially in the north and around Machang, south of Tientsin.

Destroyer Sent Out.

PEKING, March 4 (United Press) —The America Legation today ordered an American destroyer to Tientsin, where labor troubles threatened to develop into a general strike, with the possibility of anti-foreign activities.

Chinese laborers in Tientsin struck Monday and killed a Japanese foreman during the rioting.

The American destroyer ordered to Tientsin is the second such vessel sent on this errand in China this week. The other was sent to the Island of Hainan.

Government Will Select Deputy Speaker In Recess

OTTAWA, March 4 (Canadian Press).—The selection of the Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons will it is understood, occupy the attention of the Government during the recess of Parliament. The Deputy Speaker is never appointed until after the debate on the address is concluded. His chief duty is to preside when the House is in committee, but he also relieves the Speaker at times during the sitting of the House and in case of illness.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

REFUSAL TO AID EMPIRE DEFENCE IS CONDEMNED

Privy Council Has Studied Finances of Jersey and Guernsey.

LEGAL POWERS.

British Parliament Has Right To Impose Taxes on Channel Islands.

LONDON, March 4.—(Canadian Press.)— Severe condemnation of the Channel Islands' refusal to contribute annually towards the cost of Imperial defence is contained in the report of a special committee of the Privy Council which has looked into the question of Jersey and Guernsey contributing to the British Exchequer.

The British Parliament unquestionably has the legal power to pass legislation imposing financial obligations on the Channel Islands with or without their consent, according to the Privy Council committee.

Jersey and Guernsey, which are from 10 to 30 miles off the north-east coast of France, in the English Channel, formerly were parts of the Dukedom of Normandy.

In the reign of John of England (1167-1216) they became attached to the English Crown. Modern French is the official language in the islands.

ROBERT S. WHITE GIVES UP OFFICE

Member For Mount Royal Retires as Editor-in-Chief of Gazette.

NEARLY SEVENTY.

OTTAWA, March 4 (Canadian Press).—The mystic number "30" has been written upon the last sheet of copy of Robert S. White, editor-in-chief of the Montreal Gazette, and Conservative member of Parliament for Mount Royal. Mr. White, who will shortly attain his seventieth birthday, is retiring from active journalism. Announcement to this effect was made at a dinner tendered to Mr. White last night by his brother-in-law, Sir George Perley, former High Commissioner for Canada, and Conservative member for Argenteuil.

The political policy of the Gazette will be in the hands of Paul Bilkey, Mr. Bilkey, like Mr. White, is a former member of the Parliamentary press gallery.

HOMELESS CLERGY COME FROM MEXICO

Ten Priests, One Nun and Four Brothers Arrive in New York.

NEW YORK, March 4 (Canadian Press).—Penniless and homeless, ten priests, one nun and four Marist brothers, the first Roman Catholic clergy to reach this country after being expelled from Mexico, arrived last night on the Spanish mail liner.

They told of being seized in their homes, of being forced to leave without gathering any possessions, and of being quartered with pigs in the steerage on the vessel on which they sailed from Mexico.

"They did not give us time to take even our breviaries," said one. "We could gather together no clothes. We have no money. They made us come as they found us."

One young priest was marched along the streets with 14 guns pointed at him. A crowd of men and women near the jail hooted the police, who beat them with clubs and turned the fire hose on them.

BURNS LIKELY TO PROVE FATAL

Woman Was Trapped After Throwing Children Out Into Snow.

NARROW ESCAPE.

PORT ARTHUR, March 4 (Canadian Press).—Trapped by flames after she had thrown her two babies out of the window, Mrs. M. Hochkoski is in hospital in a critical condition with practically no hope of recovery from burns she received when she battled her way through a wall of fire. The woman was asleep with her two children and was aroused by heat and smoke. She broke a window in front of the home and threw them out onto the snow, but the rush of air drew the flames and prevented her escape and she was forced to fight her way to the rear of the home.

A neighbor picked up the children, one of them on the verandah, and flames were then licking at the night clothes of the babies.

Searching Lake For Party Which Tried Ice Crossing

LEAMINGTON, Ont., Mar. 4 (Canadian Press).—An organized search party today was preparing to ascertain the fate of Mr. and Mrs. James Phipps and their three young children, who are believed to have perished while crossing Lake Erie by automobile, on the ice, after visiting their parents on Pelee Island. Early Monday morning the family set out for the mainland, and not a trace of them has been found since.

ANOTHER RIDING IS TO BE OPENED

Return of Dunning By Acclamation Will Have This Result.

IN HOUSE SOON.

OTTAWA, March 4 (Canadian Press).—The announcement that the Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Railways, will not have Conservative opposition in Regina, is expected here to result in the opening of another constituency. There are now two vacancies in the House, Prince Albert and Regina. The Prime Minister will be able to take his seat when the House opens on March 15th.

Nomination day in Regina is March 16. If Mr. Dunning receives an acclamation, as now seems probable, the writ for his election should be received by the chief election officer two or three days later. Mr. Dunning's return would then be gazetted and he would take his seat within a few days of the opening of the House.

MOSCOW, March 4 (United Press).—War Commissioner Voroshlov observed the anniversary of the creation of the Red Army today with a prophecy of European war. "When the Europea bourgoisie talks disarmament," said Trotsky's heir. "I say, examine your guns and powder."

Their disarmament is a sharp warning of the coming of bloody clashes.

TOO MANY ENTERTAINMENTS.

Judging from the number of events scheduled to take place in Peterboro tomorrow night, there is need of some co-operation on the part of those responsible for planning entertainments for their respective organizations.

Here there are seven or eight public entertainments of one kind or another, all appealing for the support of the citizens, on the same night after a week during which there has been a dearth of such functions.

Manifestly the competition will react disadvantageously upon the patronage of some of tomorrow's entertainments, and equally obviously this competition could have been avoided by a little forethought and friendly negotiations by those planning the events.

Some years ago the Chamber of Commerce offered its services as a clearing house in this respect, and organizations planning to hold public meetings, concerts, etc., were invited to take advantage of the assistance of the Chamber in selecting dates when they could be reasonably sure of avoiding other attractions.

Doubtless this service is still available, and the crowding of seven or eight events into one night suggests that it should be utilized.

It is a mistake that could very easily be avoided.

THE DUMMER CASE.

If the death of twelve-year-old John Dwyer of Dummer Township does not justify investigation by a coroner's inquest, then all need for such a form of inquiry or for the maintenance of the office of coroner has disappeared.

If a coroner's jury is not needed in this distressing case, a coroner's jury will never be needed, and the whole machinery might as well be scrapped.

No case in years has caused so much indignation, and the Examiner believes that the people of this whole district are practically unanimous in demanding the fullest possible inquiry into the conditions existing in the Dwyer household and as to the cause of the death of this poor little youngster.

There is some talk about the cost of an inquest. That is the rankest nonsense; the question of expense should not be allowed to enter into the matter at all.

If children have been neglected, abused, half-starved, treated worse than animals, these facts must be established; the whole case must be probed to the bottom.

HOCKEY-MAD PETERBORO.

The postponing of a Council meeting in order to allow the city fathers a chance to go to Toronto on Monday night to see a hockey match is merely an indication of the extent to which Peterboro has been affected by the hockey germ.

With the Peterboro team scheduled to meet London in a series for the senior championship of Ontario, the city is hockey-mad.

The series is the one topic of conversation everywhere, and hundreds of local people will journey to Toronto tomorrow night to see the first game.

There are some worthy citizens who deprecate this sort of thing; they simply cannot understand why their neighbors should get so excited over the efforts of six men to place a small piece of rubber in one net, and of six other men to perform the same feat in another net.

Yet the enthusiasm that is engendered by a winning hockey team is not all wasted force.

There is nothing that awakens a spirit of civic pride so quickly, nothing that develops that desirable sense of a civic brotherhood more surely than the success of a team representing the home city.

It is Peterboro against the rest of the world, and the spark of loyalty to the home community jumps into a blaze in the esprit de corps occasioned by such an epic sporting event as the final series for the Ontario championship.

No, Peterboro will be none the worse for its hockey excitement.

THE LYONS CASE.

The Lyons case is important because it involves the historic question of the independence of Parliament, says the London Advertiser. Mr. Lyons and his family have a controlling interest in a wholesale and retail fuel and builders' supplies business with headquarters at Sault Ste. Marie, trading throughout Northern Ontario particularly. This firm has been selling supplies to Government engineers and persons holding contracts for Government work. Mr. Lyons' defence is that the sales were on a competitive basis, and that the transactions did not come before him in his department. He declares he would not have entered the Government if he had thought that such dealings were not within his legal rights. Rather than break up his long-existing business relations with the lumbering, mining, pulp and paper and contracting organizations of the North he preferred to give up his Ministerial post.

The Premier pointed to the provision of the law that a member of the House should not be disqualified by reason of being a shareholder in an incorporated company which has business relations with the Government, but drew a distinction between the position of a Cabinet Minister and head of a department, and that of a private member. He held that there was nothing legally improper in sales by the Lyons firm to independent contractors who had secured their contracts from the Government by public tender, but the opportunity to cast suspicion on such transactions made it desirable in the public interest that they should not take place.

The most desirable way of clearing the air would be to act on Mr. Lyons' own proposal that all the dealings of his firm that could be challenged on public grounds be investigated by the Public Accounts Committee.

GOOD SUGGESTIONS.

The Belleville Chamber of Commerce has taken the initiative in a campaign to inaugurate greater punctuality in the opening of public functions in the Quinte City, and also to secure a greater respect for the National Anthem by having it played at the beginning rather than at the end of the programme.

In regard to the latter J. O. Herity, the manager of the Chamber of Commerce, writes to the proprietors of Belleville theatres as follows:

"The National Anthem is not merely a prayer for the personal safety of the sovereign. It is a petition to Almighty God for the well-being of the British Empire, of which the King is the representative head. As such the anthem should be treated with due respect and reverence. Such unseemly disturbances as are witnessed almost nightly at various public gatherings when the anthem is being played or sung are quite as much out of place as if they occurred at the end of a church service while the benediction was being pronounced."

What is true of Belleville is also true of Peterboro.

We suffer considerably from a lack of promptness in commencing public entertainment, and in too many cases there is the same disrespect shown during the rendition of the National Anthem as is complained of by Mr. Herity.

A uniform hour for commencing theatrical performances, punctuality in beginning other programmes, and the playing of the National Anthem at the beginning—are all to be commended for adoption by local organizations which have not hitherto paid much attention to these points.

THE NEW TREND.

Securing a reduction in the size and number of legislative bodies in order to save expense and promote efficiency has always looked like such a hopeless task that few public men had the courage to attempt it.

Of late, however, there have been several rays of sunshine in this direction. Members of the Windsor Board of Education, for instance, have voiced the idea that it would be well to reduce the size of educational bodies, while Reeve F. J. Rocheleau, of Anderdon Township, has boldly championed similar action in the Essex County Council. In this connection it is interesting to note that the present membership of that body—the County Council—is 41! The absurdity of maintaining an organization of this size—in addition to all the Municipal Councils of which it is representative—must appeal to every reasonable person.

Out in Alberta a special committee of the Legislature has been working on a redistribution plan that would have the effect of reducing the Provincial Parliament from 60 to 48 members—a reduction of 12 or 20 per cent. This is noteworthy, and in the interests of good government, public economy and lower taxation the whole country will hope that the Alberta plan goes through. Perhaps the example thus set would not be lost on Ontario and other Provinces, to say nothing of the Federal authorities. Our own Province has 112 members in its Legislature—a number generally conceded to be far in excess of the requirements. If the House were cut to 60 members, or even 50, it would still be sufficiently large. And its efficiency would be greatly strengthened and its cost cut.

At Ottawa one finds a similarly distressing condition of affairs. There, no less than 246 members and 96 Senators are "required" to represent and transact the business of nine millions of population. If the American Congress ran along on a proportionate basis, the present Government Buildings in Washington would be quite inadequate to house Senators and Congressmen. The Canadian Parliament that was dissolved to bring on the general election of last October had a membership of 235. Now there are ten more—at $4,000 a year each, in addition to all the other expenses that go with the sending of members to Ottawa.

Why were steps not taken to reduce the size of the Federal House instead of increasing it? The Government will answer, of course, that it had no option under the law. Redistribution must take place every so many years and the units of population are so much. Therefore, there was nothing to do but add to the House membership.

Such an answer would not be at all satisfactory. A Government is all powerful. If it decides that the country's interests would be better served by reducing the membership of the House, it should not be difficult to put through legislation to this end.

Down in Nova Scotia, Premier Rhodes has announced his intention of abolishing the legislative Council—a sort of Provincial "House of Lords" that we do not have to contend with in this Province. Nova Scotia and Quebec are the only two Canadian Provinces retaining this obsolete and useless form of expense. The members of Nova Scotia's Upper Chamber announce that they will fight the Premier on the issue, but they may as well save themselves the trouble. Mr. Rhodes is in office with an overwhelming majority. He was put there by an electorate that had grown tired of old-fashioned, expensive political methods. The electors wanted Mr. Rhodes to do drastic things and they will not be satisfied unless he shows them something quite different from the record of his immediate predecessors. One of his first reforms is to be the abolition of the Upper House. He will succeed, of course, for public opinion in Nova Scotia, and everywhere else, demands reduction of government expenditures and consequent lowering of taxation.

Canada, Ontario, the Border Cities—all must cut down expenses and slash taxes. The politician who opposes this program is doomed to defeat.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The recess at Ottawa will be short, it is true. But there will at least be a few days' respite from wearisome speeches.

It is a dull day in the Legislature when nobody has a verbal brush with Mr. Raney.

An unusually large number of Peterboro people are likely to find they have business which calls them to Toronto tomorrow.

The closure was applied barely in time to save the Hansard staff from an epidemic of writers' cramp.

The membership of the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition is rapidly increasing, but there is plenty of room left yet. How about adding your name to the list?

Never put off until tomorrow something that may be done without breaking the law today.—Detroit News.

Fellowship of Prayer

THURSDAY—
The Light of the World.

Read Jn. 8:12-20. Text: 8:12. I am the Light of the World: he that followeth me shall not walk in the darkness, but shall have the light of life.

Meditation.—As the use of the symbol of the Living Water at this feast probably grew out of the ceremony with the golden bowl of water from the pool of Siloam, so the next symbol of His service to man may have been suggested by the illumination of the temple by night. At night men feel the darkness. The uncertainty of those in the streets intensified the appreciation of the lights by which they could find the way. Jesus called himself the Light of the World. In the light of his Way of life men realize true life and entire manhood.

"The simple record of these short years of active life has done more to regenerate and soften mankind than all the disquisitions of philosophers and all the exhortations of the moralists."

Prayer—O Infinite Light of Truth, dawn upon our darkened minds and lead us past all shams and shadows to Thyself. Forgive us for our shrinking from the light, forgive us for all fear of love. Amen.

(Copyright, 1926—F. L. Fagley.)

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Sir: Will you allow me to ask a question of the President of the W.C.T.U. formerly the W.C.T.U.? The O. T. A. matter is becoming acute and the experience we have had ought to have settled by this time our opinions one way or the other. The various phases of the problem have been fully discussed. We ought by this time to have discarded mere infantile emotions and to have reached some permanent basis of thought. Disease in a family is not cured by going into frenzies of good wishes. We must be like people who think sanely and act accordingly. Science is not founded on emotion, nor is anything else of permanent value, not even art. Having squared away, then let me put my question: "Do you believe in Providence and that God has made the best possible world out of this one?" If so, "Why do you attack alcohol and other forms of temptation when you know that God put them here?" "Do you believe that our sole refuge is Christ and that the fault is our own, or that we must provide our own salvation independent of Him?"

"Do you believe that the drinker-to-excess is a direct fruit of the facility afforded by God in the making of alcohol?"

"Do you believe that if a God had not made or provided for the making of alcohol it would not have have been necessary to invoke prohibition?"

I find that when driven to it very many of our prohibitionists acknowledge that they really believe that God does not appear to have much to do with us and that it is necessary for us to provide our own salvation. This proposition is of course, logical in them, if terrible, as one who dreads the supplanting of the Christian religion by prohibition and other forms of reliance upon man and rebuke of God. I submit that the sooner we know which side prohibitionists are on the better. It is of course useless for the prohibitionist, who condemns what God has done, to pretend that God prompts him to do and asks him to condemn His methods and works. His temptations and His demand that men shall be saved ony in one way. God has plainly adopted no method of prevention. Otherwise prohibitionists themselves would not have placed prohibition on the statute books as a law which God overlooked. The indirect injury done to the spirtual ideas of the rising generation by prohibition is beyond computation.

Does it matter in the eyes of prohibitionists?

The grand climax, then of the prohibition question is comprised in this query: "Christ or Prohibiton — Which?"

If the lady does not wish t... come involved in a newspaper controversy, I would gladly debate that question publicly with her at her convenience.

THE FUEL SITUATION

The Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—We are favored in the press with paragraphs, indeed long articles, telling us that the Promised Land is in sight, so far as fuel is concerned. That Alberta is going to dispense, same as the manna of old, but only for coin. The inexhaustible resources of the province are to be exploited for the benefit of Ontario. Exploited is right.

A lot of things have been written about this coming coal supply, but no one, so far as I have observed has been frankly and fairly informative. The propaganda seems to be all one-sided. They do not tell us of the hindrances and obstacles, of the throng of able and keen people just waiting "to get a piece of it." If the people of Ontario are solacing themselves with the thought that the domination of our provincial market for fuel by the American anthracite combination is to be broken, and is in fact just around the corner, then another think is coming and due.

Fuel is a necessity. In all my experience I have never known the selling price of any necessity to be allowed to fall. Human nature, cupidity, and anxiety to get all that the traffic will stand is against the consumer every time. It is not what the thing represents in value, but the utmost that can be got for it that rules the market. So if we must have, we must pay.

First shot out of the bag against getting Alberta coal comes in the recent demand of the railway employees of the Canadian National lines (which tap the coal fields) for an advance of 15 per cent. in wages. This, just at the time when the whole country is on its knees to get Sir Henry Thornton to make a more favorable rate for haulage of coal. No applications are made to the C.P.R. That institution is invulnerable. And with the prospect of a considerable coal haulage, the employees of the railway want to "get a piece of it." Quite right. Let the people pay. The demand has not been met, as yet, but is probably produced as a sort of notice of motion.

That the price of a necessity can and will be raised is seen in the instance of coke, a desirable fuel. Investigations carried on by the Government showed that coke, if manufactured in such way as to utilize the by-products could be produced from American soft coals and sold at $12.00 per ton. Indeed last summer it could be had at that price. Now it has been plugged up to $16.00 per ton, and said to be scarce at that. Who gets the extra $4.00? The consumer foots the bill.

Consider the repression of an attempt to extort, and which came about only this week. Following the arrival and marketing of a fairly large shipments of Alberta coal, received in Toronto, coke dropped in price from $17.00 to $15.00. A reduction of $2.00 per ton, hurriedly made and without consultation with other interests. Coke at the time was selling in Peterborough for $16.00 per ton, one dollar less than in Toronto, and having a longer freight haul to be paid for. This Toronto episode shows, glaringly, the speculative character of the whole business. The Alberta coal retailed for $13.50 per ton, delivered. The Pocahontos coal—a West Virginia product, from the open-worked mines—dropped $1.00 in price. This is a very good and rather free-burning fuel, useful and satisfactory in heaters and ranges. None better. It was the fuel specified for use by the U. S. Navy for generation of steam during the war years on the torpedo destroyers, being almost smokeless.

I anticipate that the current price for good anthracite coal, inside of two years, will be at $20.00 per ton. It will set the standard price, and all substitutes and make-shifts will be priced as near to $20.00 per ton as possible. There is no competition allowed in coal fuel—it is a necessity. Why should men compete to lower the price of a necessity? Things that can be done without are subject to the commercial law of take it or leave it. But coal, never.

Does anyone, reasonable in thought, believe that the anthracite

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, March 3.—The excess of receipts over sales show about 1,400 cattle on the market today. Export buyers were active this morning. Rogers and Maybee buying steers from $7.50 to $8.25, and heifers at $7.25 to $7.55 a cwt. Kennedy and Co. were operating in bulls at $5.25 to $5.75 a cwt. A small string of light handweight butchers sold at $7 a cwt., and choice steers brought $7.75 a cwt.

The market on butchers' cows was snappy at fully steady prices, and some more wanted. A number of bologna and butchers' bulls were bought from $4.50 to $5.25 a cwt. Good handyweight butchers were $7 to $7.25, and medium quality $6 to $6.60 a cwt. Some baby beeves sold from $8 to $8.50 a cwt.

For some calves the price was half a dollar a cwt. higher today, and one choice calf sold at 15 cents a pound. All the choice kind went at 14 to 14½ cents, and gool calves were 12½ to 13½ cents a pound. Medium calves in cases, made 12 cents. The market is now too high for Buffalo dealers to operate.

Lambs were firm and all the good bunches sold at 14 cents a pound. Bucks were 11 cents a pound. Good sheep were 7 to 7½ cents a pound.

Sellers of hogs were asking $13.25 a cwt. f.o.b. and buyers were standing on their bid of $13. Nothing was done during the morning, and it is expected that the 25 cents a cwt. advance will have to be paid.

EGG PRICES

OTTAWA, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Egg receipts continue to show an increase and markets are generally easy. American eggs are arriving on the Maritime markets.

Toronto — Wholesale fresh extras 39 to 40, firsts 35 to 36, seconds 30 to 3'.

Montreal—States eggs are arriving freely, with 11 cars having come this week to date. Wholesale fresh extras 42 to 43 firsts 37 to 38, seconds 31 to 32.

Winnipeg—Wholesale fresh extras 42 to 44, firsts 37 to 38, seconds 32.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, March 3 (Canadian Press).—There was no change in the local market for cash grain today and outside of a small demand for Canadian Western oats for local account very little business was done and prices were steady and unchanged.

There were no further developments in the market for spring wheat grades of flour, prices being about steady at the recent declines. There was some inquiry from foreign buyers at the lower level of the market and some business was done, but the volume on the whole was small.

Owing to the somewhat increased offerings of potatoes and the continued limited demand an easier feeling developed in the market and prices were reduced 10c to 15c per bag, with New Brunswick Green Mountains quoted at $2.90 to $3 per bag, and Quebec varieties at $2.60 to $2.65 per bag of 90 pounds, ex-track.

There was no change in the condition of the market for beans, prices being steady with a moderate demand for supplies of which the offerings were ample. Sales of choice hand-picked white grades were made at $2.45 per bushel in car lots, and at $2.65 per bushel in smaller quantities.

Trading on the cheese market was generally quiet with small sales of fancy Western white and colored at 25c per pound, and current receipts were quoted at 19 1-4 to 19 1-2c per pound. Receipts were 50 boxes.

STERLING RATES

MONTREAL, March 3 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here today as follows:
Sterling demand $4.88 1-4.
Sterling cables $4.88 3-4.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 3 (Canadian Press).—Active buying on the part of houses with eastern connections had much to do with price upturns in the wheat market today. Better export inquiry was also a stimulating factor. Wheat closed firm, 5-8 to 1 5-8c net higher May $1.39 3-4 to $1.60, and July $1.40 1-2 to $1.40 3-4, with corn unchanged to 3-8c up; oats a shade to 1-4c off, and provisions at the same as yesterday's finish to 7 cents down.

Most of the selling was ascribed to various Chicago speculators who have been antagonistic to higher prices and who were unmoved today by an advance in Liverpool quotations or by word that some export business had developed both in Canadian wheat and domestic, with more inquiry from Europe than for some time past.

"Bear" Drive Exceeds The Billion Dollar Squeeze

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET SALES BROKE ALL RECORDS WEDNESDAY WITH BIGGEST BREAK 33 POINTS

Railway Shares Suffered the Worst as Bears Drive Down Prices.

TICKER LAGS AGAIN.

Total Sales 3,785,700 Shares —Trading Floor a Mob Scene.

NEW YORK, March 4.—(Canadian Press.)— Another dramatic collapse in prices, in which all existing records for the volume and breadth of trading were broken, took place Wednesday on the New York stock exchange. Net declines in the active issues ranged from one to 33 points, with the stocks of railroad shares identified with pending merger plans bearing the brunt of the selling attacks, due to the Interstate Commerce Commission's rejection of the proposed "Nickel Plate" consolidation.

Total sales, as compiled by the Associated Press tabulators, were 3,785,700 shares, as compared with 3,015,700 Tuesday, and 3,340,600 in the previous record breaking session of November 10, 1925.

The number of industrial stocks dealt in was 653 as compared with the previous high of 625 established Tuesday.

Billion Dollar Shrinkage.

Despite the unprecedented and almost perpendicular decline of the past week, which is believed to have reduced the quoted value of the securities listed on the exchange by over $1,000,000,000, no uneasiness over the financial situation and credit standing of brokerage houses was apparent in leading banking circles last night.

Seldom in recent stock exchange history has there been a sustained decline as long and as extensive as the present one. This was attributed by many brokers to the fact that many professional bear traders, who started hammering the market over a week ago, had covered their commitments in the early part of the week. As a result, the tremendous volume of real liquidation by investors and small traders, arising from the unexpected action of the inter-state commerce commission, found the market without the steadying influence of short covering ordinarily in evidence after each drastic decline in quoted value.

Hectic Hours Trading.

The unprecedented volume of business yesterday again taxed the facilities of the stock exchange and the leading brokerage houses. The final quotation made its appearance on the ticker 39 minutes after the market closed, as against a delay of 54 minutes Tuesday, when the last hour's trading ran over 1,400,000 shares as compared with 1,075,000 yesterday.

Like Movie Scene.

Like the hurrying figures of a movie crowd scene that is flashed at twice its true speed, the brokers moved about the floor. Seen from the gallery, the thickly packed brokers in sober business suits alternated with darting pages in grey. Soft hats, derbies, reporters' caps and bald heads bobbed above the sea of faces. Overhead the huge black call board setting the jazzy rhythm of the floors motion, twinkled incessantly with hundreds of brokers' calls to the telephone booths. Although it may have been just a busy day to the veterans, it looked like a mob scene to the uninitiated.

Groups suddenly crystallized around one trading post for the sale of thousands of shares, as quickly dissolved to form elsewhere. Brokers waved orders in outstretched arms, held others, unsorted in their teeth.

Red-faced, perspiring freely, the brokers, clamoring around the rails and public utilities, whacked each other and shrieked in an effort to fill their orders. A man on crutches was hopelessly out of the play. Disgruntled, he retired to the sidelines and sent in a substitute.

Two brokers could be seen flipping a coin in honorable settlement of a simultaneous cry of "sold," after which one phone operator laconically transmitted "matched and lost."

Only old "Jake," carnation vendor, continued unperturbed to peddle his bright buttonholes on the edge of the floor. When the gong at three o'clock put the lid on the day's trading, the brokers let out a thunderous howl that carried all the pent up tension of the last five hours. The accelerated reel slowly faded out, leaving an empty floor littered with torn orders like confetti and serpentine ticker tape.

MUNICIPAL VOTE IN MONTREAL TO MARRIED WOMEN

Amendment Effective May 1st, 1926 Applies Only To Married Women.

LISTS PREPARED.

First Vote Not Until the Elections of 1928.

QUEBEC, March 4 (Canadian Press). — Married women owning property in Montreal may be given the municipal vote in virtue of an amendment put through by J. H. Dillon, M.L.A. for St. Anns, Montreal, when the bills came before the Private Bills Committee of the Legislative Assembly yesterday. Owing to the fact that the electoral lists are already drawn up for the coming elections next month, the women will not be able to vote until the elections of 1928, except in by-elections. The amendment takes effect May 1st, 1926.

"Is this a step towards getting the Provincial vote?" queried Premier Taschereau, when the committee had unanimously voted for the amendment.

"The matter of the Provincial vote is not on the order of the day," answered Mrs. Gerin-Lajoie, who with Mrs. John Scott and Mrs. S. E. Simpson, headed a delegation of women. The Premier brought out the fact that whereas at present the husband votes for his wife when the latter owns property, it will mean that, if the husband has no property in his own name and pays no rent, he will be disenfranchised.

C. Houde, Conservative of St. Mary's, Montreal, put up a fight to have an amendment inserted in the clause providing that the city may provide one-third of the cost of building the Montreal-Longueuil bridge, it being that the authorization to the city was conditional upon the contractors paying reasonable wages of the district.

"That is not a reasonable amendment," said the Premier. "The Harbor Commission is going to issue ten millions of bonds, but who will buy such bonds when the City of Montreal can draw out of its bargain?" Mr. Houde insisted, and a vote being taken, the amendment was killed and the clause as drawn approved of.

Wealthy Farmer and Sister Found Slain In Their Home

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio, Mar. 4 (Canadian Press). — Miss Nettie Herron, 55, and her brother, Robert, 62, wealthy farm residents, were found slain in their home yesterday, when a milkman, receiving no answer to knocks at the door, forced an entrance.

The place had been ransacked thoroughly. Miss Herron was hanging from a hook in the ceiling by a rope around her neck. Cats in the farm yard with bloody noses led to the discovery of the body of her brother, battered with an axe, lying in a barn stall about 200 feet from the house. The authorities think robbery was the motive for the slaying.

PARIS DRY CITY DURING STRIKE AGAINST TAXES

Gesture of Resentment By Tradesmen Closed Bars and Cafes.

STREETS DESERTED.

Bourgoisie Protest That Farmers Are Favored in Tax Measures.

PARIS, Mar. 4 (Canadian Press) —Paris felt the heavy hand of prohibition for two hours yesterday afternoon, and probably for the first time in the city's history it was impossible to buy a drink, the cafes and bars having obeyed the orders of the merchant syndicates to close down in protest against the financial measures instituted by Parliament, retroactive taxes and the taxing of city tradespeople more heavily than the farmer.

The cafes formed only a small percentage of the total places which closed, but the prompt shutting down of the restaurants at two o'clock probably caused more anguish in the breasts of the citizens than anything else in the day's proceedings. Paris had a Sunday-like appearance from noon until six o'clock, and it was almost a dead city from 2 to 4.

Observance of the strike was everywhere rigorous. A few of the great department stores remained open, from the fashionable shops in the Rue De La Paix and Faubourg Du St. Honore to the working class quarters in the outskirts of the city.

Butcher Shop Bombed

Extra police patrolled the streets but no incidents were reported except the bombardment of an intractable butcher shop with various missiles. An impromptu citizen strike was held in the Latin quarter, where all the restaurants closed before most of their customers had time to eat lunch.

The general strike ocacsioned a good deal of bitterness on the part of those accustomed to taking liquor and had the closure of the cafes lasted an hour longer Paris might have seen its first crop of bootleggers.

"Say, do you know a good bootlegger near here?" many visitors asked jestingly.

The tobacco shops being under Government license could not shut down, but solved the problem by screening off the bars from the tobacco counters with a barricade of chairs.

The strike was observed in a majority of the towns and cities throughout France, but with rather quiet results.

FORSAKES POLITICS.

Conservative Leader Going Into Business.

SASKATOON, Sask., March 4.—(Canadian Press). — Dr. J. T. M. Anderson, M.L.A. for Saskatoon City and leader of the Conservative party in this Province, announced on Tuesday that his resignation from the party leadership had been in the hands of the Executive of the Saskatchewan Conservative Association "for months." He was quitting the leadership to enter business, he said. He felt that the two would not mix, as the Conservative leader in Saskatchewan would need to give his entire time to the work. He had no intention of resigning his seat in the House nor of leaving Saskatoon, he added.

FARMERS MOVE TOWARD UNION

Saskatchewan Grain Growers and Farmers' Union Draw Nearer.

SECRET MEETINGS.

SASKATOON, Sask., March 4.—(Canadian Press).—Important progress toward merging the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association and the Farmers' Union of Canada was made at a meeting of the joint amalgamation committee here Tuesday night, Mrs. Violet McNaughton, secretary of the meeting, revealed yesterday.

At the meeting an official agreement between the two organizations setting forth the basis on which the merger negotiations are to be conducted was signed by President J. A. Stoneman and Secretary W. M. Thrasher, of the Farmers' Union, and by President G. F. Edwards and Mrs. A. L. Hollis for the S.G.G.A.

A resolution was passed setting forth that Manitoba and Alberta members of the Farmers' Union shall be considered to be members of the new United Farmers of Western Canada, Saskatchewan section, until such time as the other Provinces organize their own sections, which shall have complete autonomy.

To Hold Conventions.

It was decided that conventions to deal with constitution, etc., of the new organization, shall be held not later than the end of July, at a place to be named, and that a joint convention of both organizations, if negotiations continue successfully, shall be held not later than November 15 of this year, to ratify finally the entire deal.

At the separate conventions three-fourths' votes shall be required, while at the latter joint rally majority votes will be sufficient to carry the legislation.

Affairs Secret.

It was reaffirmed that all proceedings of the U. F. of W. C. shall be conducted behind closed doors, as were other resolutions approved at the January joint convention of the farmers' organizations in Saskatoon.

A resolution was passed urging that until union is completed the various locals and lodges of the two organizations show forbearance and good fellowship.

In an informal discussion the solicitors of the existing organizations were given instructions to proceed at once with drawing up the constitution.

consideration and that there was a risk of a serious fire breaking out while part of the apparatus was outside the limits. A motion was carried requiring the clerk to write to the underwriters inquiring about the status of any claims which might arise under such a condition and a conference will be held with authorities of the adjoining townships to arrange for payment for fire protection.

Many Deputations.

The gallery of the chamber was well filled, a number of organizations being represented. C. S. Thompson was the first respondent to the mayor's call for deputations and he asked for a grant of $150 for the Horticultural Society to help in financing the Gladiolus show to be held in the city in August. His remarks were supported by Dr. J. E. Middleton, and later in the meeting the amount was passed with only one objection. This came from Alderman Green who felt that the request should have been made before the estimates were struck for the year.

Fred Gandy was the next speaker and he asked for a like sum on behalf of the Male Voice Choir. This money is to help pay for broadcasting the concert at the end of the month. No action was taken on this grant, the Aldermen saying that a grant for the choir was provided in the $1,000 placed in the estimates for music.

Bruce Patterson and G. N. Graham were spokesmen for the men operating billiard tables in the city. They complained that the establishment of two clubs, which paid no license fees to the city, had seriously affected their business and asked that the tax be reduced. They were granted a reduction from $35.00 to $15.00 and the mayor promised that steps would be taken against the clubs if a definite case could be made.

On behalf of the milk vendors G. A. Gillespie asked what steps the city intended to take with regard to raising the license fees and licensing the producers. The milkmen will be notified of the next meeting of the Property Committee, to which the communication of the Board of Health was referred, so that they can attend.

Street Paving.

One of the many by-laws passed was to authorize an agreement with the Warren company for the paving of Stewart, Rubidge, and Reid streets, from Charlotte street north to the pavements now laid on Hunter street, and on Simcoe and Scott streets between Rubidge and Reid streets. Alderman MacDonald wanted to know if there had been any competitive bids on this pavement, for which $1.70 a yard was quoted. Ald. Fife said that there was only one company laying this type of pavement, which had been decided on as most suitable. Ald. MacDonald enquired about a petition against the construction on Stewart street, but Ald. Fife said that it had been received after some of the work had been started. Ald. MacDonald then questioned a difference in price between some work at Bowmanville and the same kind of work here, and Mr. Gordon, the company's representative, said that the job at Bowmanville had been a much larger one.

Street Railway.

At the request of the Hydro Electric Power Commission a meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council will be held, with representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and other bodies to consider a traffic solution for Peterborough. The Mayor said that the citizens should be asked for advice on the matter. He said that it would be of no use asking the Hydro for advice as all that would be forthcoming would be a recommendation to the council to purchase the railway and lose money on it. Alderman Fife said that the street car system was doomed and that it was up to the council to look into other means of transportation.

By-laws for the issue of debentures for the work done last year, and one consolidating all the market by-laws, were passed at the session. The city treasurer reported that 94.25 per cent of the 1925 taxes had been collected, as compared with 95.52 per cent at this time last year. The question of supporting Mayor Foster of Toronto in his appeal for a share of amusement and other taxes was left to the mayor. The suggestion of the City of Belleville that the Legislature be asked to permit the suburban road rate to be a special rate or else to permit of raising the general rate above twenty-five mills, was not complied with.

Miss Inkster and Miss Archer then served a dainty lunch.

SEYMOUR MAKES GRANT FOR FAIR

Increase of $50 Over the Amount Given Last Year.

COUNCIL MEETING.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 3. — Seymour Township Council, at its March meeting Tuesday, voted the Seymour Agricultural Society a grant of $200, an increase of $50 over that of last year. The amount asked for by the directors was $300.

The deputation from the Fair Board consisted of President W. Wynn, Secretary J. Nelson Stone and Directors Alex. Hume, W. M. Stephens, Henry Watters, T. J. Horkins and John Locke.

President Wynn said that the officials are anxious to enlarge the Fair, and in order to do this it is necessary to increase the capacity of the buildings. If this could be done the Board would get a larger Legislative grant. The Board on Monday evening had received a grant of $300 from the town, and felt justified in asking the township for a similar amount.

A Good Investment.

"We believe that any grant you may make is a good investment for the township," said Alex. Hume, who was the next speaker. "The field crop competition which we hold every year is worth hundreds of dollars to Seymour There is no denying the advantage of healthy rivalry among farmers in the production of crops. We are maintaining the Fair as an agricultural exhibition and are not running altogether to amusements.

"This district is known all over Canada as a producer of first-class stock and our Fair has helped to build up this reputation. I have in my pocket now enquiries from Manitoba for pure-bred animals, and this county has on two occasions won the herd prize in Toronto.

"There is a fight on now to eliminate some of the smaller fairs and we do not want to see the Campbellford Fair go down."

Secretary Stone went on record as opposed to the centralization of fairs. There are not too many of these at present, and owing to the location of Campbellford, this town should have the best fair in this district. As it is, it is equal to any held in a town of the same size between Ottawa and Toronto.

After the other directors present had spoken, the deputation withdrew and the Council decided to make a grant of $200.

Township Matters.

The Council re-appointed Ernest Brunton township road superintendent, his compensation to be at the rate of 40 cents an hour for the time he is actually employed. The pay for teams will be 50 cents an hour and for laborers 25 cents, the same schedule as was in force last season. Farmers' teams will be given the preference whenever these are available.

The report of School Attendance George Anderson showed that there is considerable sickness among the pupils of the township, and that the attendance at some of the schools has fallen off as a result. Mr. Anderson asked for advice as to what action should be taken in two or three cases where the parents keep young children out of school to help with the work at home. If these parents were brought before a magistrate and fined they could not pay a fine, and nothing would be accomplished by sending them to jail.

He was instructed to make another personal appeal to the parents referred to, and if they still failed to comply with the law, to report the cases to Superintendent Dailey of the Children's Shelter at Port Hope, and the neglected children would probably be taken to that institution.

In reply to a communication from Commissioner Sowton of Toronto, the Council made a grant of $5 to help the Salvation Army carry on its charitable work.

The Council will go in a body to Harold next Monday to discuss with the Rawdon Council the matter of the boundary line between the two townships.

The sum of $20 was voted to pay for cutting the brush on the 11th Concession, the work to be done under the supervision of Road Superintendent Brunton.

All the members of the Council were present: Reeve Grills, Deputy-Reeve Peake and Councillors Allan, Innis and Lynn.

DISARMAMENT AGREEMENT BY NATIONS IS HOPE OF GERMANY

Lessen Military Burdens of Europe To Meet Industrial Competition From Other Countries, Minister of Defence Advocates.

REFERS TO STRENGTH OF U. S. ARMY.

BERLIN, March 4 (Canadian Press) — Designating the United States army as the best in the world in respect to technical and scientific equipment, Dr. Otto Gessler, minister of defense, told Reichstag yesterday that the German Government would enter the disarmament conference firmly resolved to make the conference productive of concrete results.

"We shall advocate disarmament and insist upon equality of rights for Germany," he said. "Europe and Germany have every reason to expect and work for positive results, as only through the lessening of these military burdens will European economics be in a position to take up competition with foreign industries."

A Democratic Army

Dr. Gessler spoke in defense of the military budget and asserted that the present system of a twelve year voluntary service in the German army was untenable; he favored a democratic army based on a system whereby the political conflicts in the ranks of the men would be more completely balanced than is now the case.

"The German army budget," said the minister, "Conforms in all details to the provisions of the Treaty of Versailles, and we have every interest in meeting those conditions, as we are then in a strong strategic position to get an unhampered discussion of the disarmament problem at the forthcoming conference."

Dr. Gessler reiterated his faith in the endurance of the German republic.

PERCY PEOPLE ASK MORE TIME

Wish To Consider Township Trustee Plan Before Action is Taken.

KEAR DISCUSSION.

NORHAM, March 3.—The school trustees and rate payers of Percy township, to the number of about 100 strong, gathered in the Town Hall, Warkworth, on Friday afternoon, to hear D. B. MacPherson of Port Stanley, Representative of the Provincial Educational Department, discuss and explain the proposed new school act for the Province.

"Until very recent years scarcely anyone except Teachers and Inspectors attended the Ontario Educational Association meetings held in Toronto, from year to year," he said. Through the dropping of hints by the Department the general public has been led to consider the subject of a Township Trustee Board.

"There are today problems in the majority of Public School sections, which the three Trustee Board system cannot handle; while at one time this was the only way the school situation could be met, the old system seems to have outgrown its usefulness in many places. There might be some sections that would receive little or no benefit from the new system, for a few Trustees are giving the school question earnest and serious consideration, but the majority have not the necessary time to study it.

"The inequality of taxation is one question which the old system cannot deal with. The intricate way in which the education of today is paid for, presents a problem and often results in unfairness to the rate payer. In comparative school sections one man pays twice as much as another, even where schools are about the same. People in large sections get off easy, while those in small sections are pinched a little harder. This inadequacy could be straightened out," he declared.

"The Three Trustee Board system cannot long be carried out in Continuation schools. All the Trustees of a township rarely ever get together. We should strive for equality of opportunity in erecting schools. All over Ontario too many children are being shut out from an education beyond entrance to High School. With Township Boards schools would be where they should be. Co-operation should be a great advantage. The work is done too much by individuals paying board, train fair, keeping a horse and rig just for the children to drive to school and such like expense.

"Cities now demand 100 per cent of the cost of sending children to city schools, while the rural folk have no say in what shall be taught in those schools. Something more is needed than to fit rural children for the professions or getting through universities. Rural children should know how to make a living on the farm, but they should also be trained in how to get the most out of rural life. City folk have found that the ward system did not take care of the whole situation for them. The time has come when the Three Trustee system will have to go, just as the pathmaster system has had to go for taking care of road repair. Our present system leaves each pair of parents to work out the child's education, after passing entrance, when the whole community should help shoulder this responsibility.

"The small school question should be considered. There are schools too small to be economically sound. Passing examinations is only a part of what we should expect from these small schools. Taxes are high. We must adopt some heroic means to help Canada pay off her debts.

"Dr. Carr of the Educational Department, whose work it is to get a line on the schools, and see what they are doing states that there are in Ontario 454 schools with ten or less than ten pupils. Some of these are so situated that they must be continued, others could be closed and the children transported to a larger centre. There is one school in the Province with just one pupil, but which incurs the full expense of carrying on the work; but the department has no authority to say that that one must go to some other school.

"Higher institutions of learning are insisting that larger grants be given them and the time is not far distant when the rural and smaller schools will find their grants cut down.

"The idea in the new act is to have all the schools, in a township, under the supervision of from ten to sixteen trustees, who will take a keen interest in meeting every month or two and receiving renumeration for their services similar to that received by the township councillors. There is nothing in the act working toward consolidated schools although there are 25 such schools in the Province."

A resolution was moved by James Sykes and seconded by Peter Firman and George Bowen, an unanimously carried, that more time be given for considering the movement before any action is taken by the legislature.

U. E. Wartman acted as chairman and Sloan Ewing as secretary.

OBITUARY.

WALTER GOVAN

CAMPBELLFORD, March 4.—Walter Govan a native of Seymour township, died Tuesday at his home, Indian Head, Sask., after a long illness. The funeral will be held at that place today. When news of his serious illness reached here a short time ago, Andrew, a brother, left at once for the West, and was with his brother when he passed away.

The late Mr. Govan was born in Seymour Township about 65 years ago, the son of the late Walter and Mrs. Govan, who were among the original settlers in this district, living on the farm that is now occupied by W. Hooper. At the age of 21 he went West, and took up land at Saltoon, Sask., and from the beginning was successful in his new venture. He carried on the business of farming for a number of years and still owned a large block of land although he had given up active work and had gone to live at Indian Head some time ago.

At various times in his career the late Mr. Govan had been in the employ of the Government of Saskkatchewan in various capacities and was a member of the Soldiers' Settlement Board helping to select land and to look after the interests of the veterans who were given grants. Since giving up active work on his farm, the deceased had been engaged as inspector in the hail insurance business, his duties being to estimate the amount of damage caused to the crops of the farmers by the hail storms that at times play havoc with the wheat fields in he West.

The late Mr. Govan some time acting for the Government, looked after the settlement of about 30 farmers, and the post office which was established there was named Govan in his honor. That place is now a flourishing town and is a station on the C.P.R. system.

About 25 years ago the deceased returned to Campbellford for a visit with relatives and was married to Nettie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dinwoodie of this town. The widow and one daughter, Lillian, survive. Mrs. Govan's brother, Fred, is engaged in the hardware business in Govan, and another brother, Roland is farmin in the same district.

The Govan family, of which deceased was one of the most popular members, is among the oldest in this district. The parents were pioneers of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and four of their children are now regular attendants at that place of worship. The first Presbyterian services ever held in this imlate Rev. Dr. Robert Neil of Burnmediate district were conducted in the original Govan homestead by the brae.

The deceased is survived by three brothers, John of Toronto; Rev. Arpad, who is Unionist minister at Williamstown in Glegarry County; and Andrew, who lives on a farm in Seymour West. Another brother, James, died about four years ago. The sisters are Misses Lillian and Agnes, who reside with their brother Andrew, and Mrs. William Hume of Campbellford.

MRS. WM. PIGGOTT.

DOWNEYVILE, March 4.— The funeral of the lat. Mrs. William Piggott took place from her late residence Monday morning to St. Luke's church, where the requiem high mass was chanted by Rev. Father Galvin and Rev. Gerald Maher, nephew of the deceased preached the funeral sermon, who paid a very fitting tribute to her memory and spoke words of comfort to the bereaved family. The casket was covered with many beautiful spiritual offerings and flowers. The pallbearers were all life-long neighbors of the deceased, Messrs. Thos. Lucas, Michael Harrington, Timothy Morrissey, Bernard Murray, Richard Fox and Patrick Harrington.

The deceased lady, who was known as Agnes Maher, was born in Ops 62 years ago, and passed away after a short illness, was of cheerful disposition, and her helpful life, her devotion to her family and her kindness to everybody long linger in the home which death has now darkened.

She is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Michael O'Neill, of Emily, Delphine of Lakeport, Bertella and Agnes of Buffalo and Mary at home, also two sons, Joseph and Aloysius at home, two brothers, Thos. and Daniel of Wisconsin, a niece Sister M. Juliana of Pembroke.

Her funeral was one of the largest seen in Downeyville, and was attended by the following from a distance, Dr. J. A. and Miss Marian Duck and Michael Maher, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Clancy and Joseph Mahar, Peterborough.

OMEMEE MAN HURT AT WORK

Irvine Corneill Was Struck on Nose by Flying Chip of Wood.

OMEMEE NEWS

OMEMEE, March 4.—Irvine Corneill suffered a very painful accident last week which came very close to affecting his sight. While chopping wood a large chip flew off the block and struck him on the bridge of the nose, inflicting a nasty cut, which required three stitches to close.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold McConnell was operated on last week by Dr. Buchannan of Peterboro. At present the child is progressing favorably.

A.Y.P.A. Meeting.

The feature of the A.Y.P.A. meeting on Monday evening, March 1, in Christ Church basement, was a set of lantern views on "Signs and Symbols of the Christian Religion." The pictures were excellent and showed the origin of many artistic features found in the churches today. Some Greek symbols were portrayed which were made doubly interesting by Mr. Weir's explanations concerning them. Following these was another set on "Martyrs of the Early Church," which gave glimpses of great men who nobly stood for the church and her principles in the days of persecution and trial. The entire evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

OLD OTTAWA MAN CLAIMS EARLDOM

William Legge Plans To Prove His Claim.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 4.—(Canadian Press).—Claiming that he is heir to the title of the Earl of Dartmouth, and armed with a gold ring bearing an inscription which he claims is proof of his connection, William Legge, 84 years old, living in Ottawa, is seeking legal aid to bring him the famous English title.

Mr. Legge has been hampered by lack of funds in advancing his claims. He states that he is the only surviving son of the late Jemima Legge, daughter of the late Hon. Julianna Hartopp, whose husband, Hon. William Legge, was the son of the Earl of Dartmouth. Hon. Julianna, according to the inscription on Mr. Legge's ring, was born in 1807, May 20, and died in 1847. His mother, Jemima Legge, died in 1885. He was born at Bath, England, in 1842, in which year his grandfather, whom he claims was the son of the Earl, died.

INSOMNIA is not only distressing but dangerous. It prevents the essential nightly rebuilding of body and brain tissue which is carried on only when mind and body are at rest. We must have sleep—and restful sleep. Fitful dozing will not do.

When we retire with brain over-active or nerves over-wrought—hungry or with digestion over-taxed, sleeplessness results. Morning finds us dull and faggy, loathe to tackle the day's work simply because our bodies have been robbed of the energy which would have been provided had we slept properly.

"Ovaltine", the delicious and easily digested tonic food beverage, promotes the natural healthful restoration of brain and nerve cells. A cup taken before retiring ensures natural refreshing sleep throughout the night.

"Ovaltine" contains in concentrated form and in correct proportions all the elements for building up and maintaining health and strength. The YELLOW STUB

by Ernest Lynn

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JANET RAND, his daughter, breaks her engagement with BARRY COLVIN, because of the "disgrace." JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Chicago, where the theater is. The stub is traced to a political boss, THOMAS FOGARTY, who says he gave it to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing police want her for murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warnings to leave Chicago, and later is attacked by two men but escapes.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Jimmy thinks she is marrying for money.

That night Jimmy and Olga see, in an auto, a man they both recognize—he as one of his assailants, she as the man who got the stub. The man and a companion escape. Later they identify him by his police picture as IKE JENSEN.

Church, out driving with Mary, runs over a dog. His heartlessness kindles hatred in her and she breaks their engagement.

LIEUTENANT O'DAY, a policeman, warns Jimmy that Olga is in love with him. He invites Jimmy to his home for supper. The next day Jimmy, who, short of funds, had taken a job driving a laundry truck, is fired. He accuses his employer of lying as to the reasons for his discharge.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXI.

The two men stood eyeing each other wordlessly, anger written on both faces. Finally Porter dropped his eyes from Rands. He shrugged, and turned away toward the door.

There was a hysterical titter from Miss Caton, who instantly covered her confusion by busying herself with some bills.

Jimmy said, as Porter's hand clutched the door knob: "You disappoint me, Porter."

The other's face crimsoned under the taunt. This young man had flung down the gauntlet to him and he had let it lie. . . He avoided Jimmy's eyes as he walked out of the door. . . .

Mary Lowell, leaving her office a little later than usual, stopped at the street door to buy a newspaper.

She looked up, after replacing her change in her bag, and stopped to stare. Coming toward her in the crowd of home-bound office workers, was a figure about whom there was something vaguely familiar.

It was a girl, a slender girl with very light hair and dark eyebrows and lashes—a rare type and one not easy to forget. Instantly Mary remembered. It was the girl whom she had seen in Jimmy Rand's arms that night in front of the Mayfair Hotel.

She was a very pretty girl, Mary thought—a beautiful girl. Yet the sight of her struck a hostile chord somewhere inside her. This was the woman that had come between her and Jimmy; she was the cause—however innocent—of the misunderstanding that had led to their estrangement.

What was there between this girl and Jimmy? What secret did they share? Jimmy had said: "You don't know how important it was that I find that girl." Why was it important? He had never told her. And yet, it occurred to her then, he had offered to, only something Mary herself had said had stopped him.

A burning jealousy laid hold of her She hated this blond creature, with her delicate, arched eyebrows and her violet-gray eyes.

"I'll ask her," she said, half aloud, and stepped partly into Olga Maynard's path.

Olga saw her, too, and a light of recognition was in her eyes. She eyed Mary coolly, then turned her head away.

Mary could have touched her with her hand. She took an involuntary step toward the other girl and opened her mouth irresolutely to speak. But she hesitated too long, and Olga was gone. The proper moment had passed.

Mary stood where she was, turning to follow Olga with her eyes. Perhaps twenty yards away the other girl turned for a backward look and her glance met Mary's again. Then she turned and was lost in the crowd.

Sam Church had described this girl as a cheap hanger-on in the cabarets, a wanton. . . . Well, it wasn't true. Mary forced herself to admit, although she found herself wanting to believe it. But there had been a certain refinement about those features. . . . After all, Sam Church was a liar.

And Olga hurrying homeward. . . . The sight of Mary Lowell was only another bitter reminder that Jimmy Rand had promised to come to see her again and hadn't.

When she reached her apartment she tore off her hat and studied her reflection in the glass of her dressing table. The light from the wall shone through her hair and wreathed her head like a halo. But there were tears in her eyes.

"Is he seeing her?" she asked herself in the mirror. She turned toward the phone on the table and then swung away from it, resolutely. She flung herself on the bed and lay face down on the pillow.

"I'll call him. I've got to," she said, springing suddenly to her feet. She ran to the phone and called Jimmy Rand's number.

The landlady, answering, said he was out. . . . a dinner engagement, he had said.

Lieutenant O'Day answered the door when Jimmy rang.

"Come in, come in. You'll have to excuse the uniform." He was still arrayed in the police blue, with its gold trimmings. "Fact is, I've been busy this afternoon. A conference with the chief, and some courtroom work."

He took Jimmy's coat and hat. "Mother, this is Mr. Rand, the lad I've been tellin' you about."

Mrs. O'Day, fat and motherly, kissed him on the cheek by way of making him feel at home.

"I've heard about your trouble," said she. "You poor boy. Sit right down. Dinner, such as it is, will be ready in two shakes."

"I want you to meet the boys, Mr. Rand." O'Day indicated his two sons, who had come silently into the living room.

"This is Francis. Francis is fourteen. An' this is Timothy. Tim's eleven."

Francis, shy and silent, admitted to Jimmy during dinner that he was in high school, and Timothy volunteered the information that he was in the sixth grade.

"Tim," supplemented their father, "wants to be a lawyer. I don't know about Francis. He hasn't the gift of gab like his brother. Maybe a doctor or an engineer."

"What are you going to be, Mr. Rand?" asked Timothy.

"Be still, Tim," admonished Mrs. O'Day. "He'll be worryin' the life out of you with his questions, Mr. Rand," she explained to Jimmy.

"Well, I don't know, Tim," Jimmy smiled, answering his youthful questioner. "You see, the war came along and interrupted my college career—I was just taking a general course in arts and sciences—and since leaving the army I've been selling automobiles."

"Gee! Were you in the army?" Rand laughed at Tim's eagerness.

"Sure."

"Didja go over to France?"

"Yep."

Francis, the silent one, asked: "What branch were you in—the infantry?"

"No, Francis, I was in the air service."

Rapt admiration held the boys speechless and spellbound for a moment. Tim broke the silence, and there was downright awe in his next question.

"Didja shoot any Germans?"

Jimmy looked apologetically at Mrs. O'Day and her husband, smiling.

"Go on, answer the boy's question," urged O'Day. To his wife he said, with a nod toward Jimmy: "A brave lad, and he won't talk about himself unless Tim makes him."

"Well," began Jimmy, reddening and turning to O'Day's sons, "I did happen to be with a squadron that saw some action, and was lucky enough to bring down a couple of planes. But they got even. They brought me down, too, and I was in a German prison camp for four months."

"Gee!" from Timothy. "I'm studying the history of the World War in school." And he continued with his barrage of questions.

Under them Jimmy had to go into all the details of his adventures with that picturesque band that made up the air service during the late war. Tim's eyes popped as he heard about the machine gun bullet that had punctured the gasoline tank on Jimmy's plane. He wanted even to see the scar left by the one that had plowed through Jimmy's shoulder.

Jimmy had to explain for the more technical-minded Francis how the fixed gun that operated from the pilot's seat was synchronized with the motor, so the bullets could pass between the revolving propellor blades, instead of going through [illegible] and splintering them.

"It was [illegible] motor's cam shaft," he explained to the attentive Francis. "In the two-seater planes, the observer in the rear operated a movable gun that he could swing all the way around."

"I've always thought," remarked Lieutenant O'Day, "that it took a lot of nerve to fly one of them planes. Now I know it. I know what a soldier's life is like. I saw a bit of action in Cuba. But excuse me from flyin'. I'll keep my feet on good old Mother Earth."

"Not at all," laughed Jimmy. "You've got the wrong slant entirely. You take the infantry for example. Now, during the war, when those fellows were ordered to go over the top, they had to do it. In the air service it was a cinch. If we went up and saw an enemy airplane and didn't feel like fighting we could come down and blame it on engine trouble. There was no engine trouble in the infantry."

O'Day laughed boisterously. "You boys," he said, turning to Francis and Tim, "had better pack off to your room. There's a lot of studyin' to do." . . . .

* * *

"I got the sack today," said Jimmy. He and O'Day were still at the table, smoking, while Mrs. O'Day cleared off the dishes. He told O'Day how he had been fired for the second time for no apparent reason.

"I don't know whether it's hard luck or whether somebody's hounding me. I got the same reason in both places. Do you suppose there's some kind of a conspiracy against me?"

O'Day shook his head. "Darned if I can make it out, lad." He leaned back, puffing at his cigar, and eyed Rand with a peculiar look.

"There's something on my mind, Rand. Your father's name was Henry Rand, wasn't it?"

"Yes."

O'Day studied his cigar. "Did he come from a place named Durbin, in New York state?"

"Why yes, he did." Jimmy leaned forward eagerly. "That's where he was raised as a boy."

"Was his father named Thaddeus Rand?"

"Thaddeus Rand was my grandfather. I never saw him, though. Say, what do you know about my father?"

EVENING SKY IN MARCH

This map shows the heavens as they appear at 9 p.m. March 1, 8 p.m. March 15 and 7 p.m. March 31 in latitude 35 degrees north. As a change of a few degrees in latitude makes little difference in the appearance of the heavens it is practicable for any part of the United States or southern Canada. To view the stars as they appear in the heavens hold the map over the head with the top to the north.

At the time mentioned the constellations of winter with their many brilliant stars of first and second magnitude will be found in the western part of the heavens. Orion, the finest of all the contellations, is now far over in the southwest.

To the northwest of Orion and now low in the west may be seen the Hyades, in Taurus, containing the ruddy, first magnitude star Aldebaran, the Bull's Eye, while not far away to the northwest of the Hyades will be found the far-famed group of the Pleiades, the Seven Sisters, Auriga, the Charioteer, with its brilliant, yellow Capella, the She-Goat, is still high in the western sky. Close to Capella on the southwest is the little triangular group of stars known as Haedi, or the Kids.

Twins and Dog Star.

Castor and Pollux, the twins, in Gemini will be found due south of the zenith at this time, while still further south and on the meridan at 8 p.m. on March 14 is the Little Dog-Star, Procyon.

Sirius, the brightest star in the heavens, known familiarly as the Dog-Star, is the constellation of Canis Major, the Greater Dog, lies to the southwest of Procyon forming with this star and the reddish, first magnitude star Betelgeuse in Orion to the northwest a large triangle with sides nearly equal in length.

High in the eastern sky at this time will be seen the zodiacal constellation of Leo, one of the spring groups, easily identified by its familiar Sickle with the first magnitude star, Regulus, at the end of the handle. Ursa Major, the Greater Bear, which contains the Big Dipper with its Pointers to the North Star, is now swinging high into the northeastern heavens as the W of Casiopeia sinks to the northwest below the North Pole.

Mercury.

No planets are now visible in the evening sky, with the exception of Mercury which will reach its greatest distance east of the sun on March 14 and which may possibly be seen for about a week before and after that date low in the west in the evening twilight.

Venus is now a magnificent object in the southeastern sky before sunrise and attains its greatest brilliancy on the 14th. Jupiter also is in the morning sky in Capricornus not far distant from Venus.

On March 22 the two planets will be in conjunction, Vensus passing to the north of Jupiter. The ruddy planets Mars passes from Sagittarius to be found in the morning sky before sunrise some distance southwest of Jupiter and Venus. Saturn is now in Libra far to the west of the other planets and will be due at 5 a.m. March 1.

QUARTERLY BOARD ADDS TWO ELDERS

Havelock United Church Fixes Stipend of Minister—Other Business.

HAVELOCK, March 4— The regular meeting of the Quarterly Board of the United Church of Canada was held in the basement of the church on Monday evening. Members present:

Mrs. A. Anderson, Mrs. C. H. Roberts, Messrs. D. R. Fletcher, R. E. Campney, C. H. Roberts, W. S. Davidson, C. W. Coon, A. C. Denike, James Barlow, G. W. Chiles, Ernest Spencer, David Burgess, E. Fennell. Representatives from Trent River congregation: Mrs. G. Vanvolkenberg, Messrs. W. W. Redden, Isaac Lawson, G. Spencer and George Vanvolkenburg.

On ballot E. Fennell was appointed to the position of secretary of the Quarterly Board.

On motion of A. C. Denike and James Barlow it was decided to increase the number of elders from eight to ten, taking the candidates standing as number nine and ten.

Owing to the work the elders were undertaking in way of visiting an increased number would make a more convenient division of the work.

Moved B. I. Lawson and G. Vanvolkenburg that one more elder be elected at Trent River. Carried.

On motion the Board of Management will be requested to supply a new Hymn Board, large enough to show the psalm selected and an extra hymn.

Moved by Ernest Spencer and seconded by Isaac Lawson that the minister's stipend be $1,800 per annum, apportioned as follows: Havelock, 1,200; Trent River, $600.

It was explained to the Quarterly Board by the pastor, Rev. E. O. Seymour, that under the constitution of the United church the tenure of its ministers is more often the custom of the Presbyterian church, in that there is no stated period of limitation and allowance for a permanent occupancy of a charge.

GRANULATION and inflammation of the eyelids is soon relieved by the application of Dr. Chase's Ointment to the lids at night before retiring. OTTAWA BANS DAILY MIRROR

New York Tabloid Excluded As Indecent By Customs Department.

OTHERS MENTIONED.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 4.—(Canadian Press).—The Daily Mirror is being banned from Canada under orders issued by the Department of Customs and Excise. Hon. G. H. Boivin, Minister of Customs and Excise, made this announcement in the House of Commons.

The matter was brought up on a question by Gen. Newburn. Gen. Newburn stated that he had received a communication asking if the Daily Mirror, the Evening Graphic and the Detroit Times could not be banned from Canada on account of the nature of their articles.

Mr. Boivin replied that he had received several complaints concerning the Daily Mirror and investigation had been made following these complaints with the result that orders were being issued by the department this afternoon banning the Daily Mirror from Canada. The complaints in reference to the Graphic and Detroit Times would be investigated, added Mr. Boivin. If the censor considered the complaints justified, similar action to that taken in the case of the Daily Mirror would be taken.

The Daily Mirror, which is being banned from Canada, is published in New York.

It was intimated at the Department of Customs that the Daily Mirror of New York was being banned on the ground of its being an indecent publication. The complaint, it was stated, does not apply to any particular article alone.

Voice Of The People.

operators of Pennsylvania are going to put up with the enormous sums lost, temporarily, through cessation of mining operations during the recent prolonged strike? Not on your life. Every last dollar of that sum will be extracted from the public. Minds the most ingenious, resolves the most determined, are now settling down to the problem to mulct the public, for if the public can afford to run 2,300,000 pleasure motor cars, the owners of those cars can afford to fork over, if they be shown the way to do the forking. Operators, miners, railroads, brokers, are all of one mind to get it back. The local dealer will have little to say, for he must pay as provided, or have his source of supply cut off. Coal is a necessity.

The Ontario market for hard coal has always been the most stable and to be relied on for the American hard coal operators. The quantity sold and the money value has been enormous. These people will, and are now planning, to regain and hold that market, and to enhance the prices in the holding. The very essence of tatics will be made use of. We may expect, so soon as the flow of Alberta coal comes to us, to find that the hard-coal men have subsidized the miners in the West to go on strike, and so lessen the output. In the meantime finding the money to cover the cost of strike pay. Not all the mines, but in those where the most desirable seams are exploited.

With the trial shipment of 25,000 tons, ordered last summer, to test the haulage expense, and the value of the fuel, five mines were restricted and included in sources of supply. Manitoba was careful to send the very best she had. Wanted to put the best goods in the show window, as it were. It proved fairly satisfactory. Stood transportation fairly well, with no transshipment worries to bother. Largely the handling of coal from many of the Alberta mines results in a form of slack, unfit for any use except that of steam coal. But now this careful reservation as to those selected mines is to be set aside, in the interest of the mines that so far have not had a chance.

The news comes from Edmonton that Premier J. E. Brownlee, Alberta, agrees for his Provincial Government to pay one-third of the excess cost of freightage from the mines to Ontario, as a special favor, "provided that there is a thorough distribution of the coal orders with the Alberta mines, and also provides that the arrangement is a strictly out-of-pocket expense of moving the coal." This means, if carried out, that all mines will "get a piece of it," whether the product of the mine is fit for domestic fuel, after transportation, or not. Fuel is a winter necessity, in Ontario, and the people must take what they can get, or what is forwarded. The product of many of these mines, we are told by those from the West, who have experienced the usage of such coals, is utterly unfit for domestic use. It is now proposed to bring forward 200,000 tons, as a further experiment, pending decision of the Railway Board as to a rate sufficient to recoup the railways and ensure a flow of the fuel. The cost of returning coal cars to the mines figures as a large item. And then there is that additional fifteen per cent. advance railroad in wages to be reckoned with.

No, the prospect of an adequate supply of domestic fuel is not to be taken lightly and as settled. There are too many contingencies to be reckoned with, and in the end everyone concerned has to "get a piece of it."

HEDDA HOYT TALKS ABOUT THE THINGS THAT INTEREST THE BUSY WOMAN OF 1926.

FASHION NOTES.

(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, March 4.—(United Press)—Bracelet trimming on smart frocks is new and really very effective. A band of tiny rhinestone beading and one of sapphires is sewed about the tight-fitting sleeve of a flesh-colored crepe afternoon frock to resemble a diamond and sapphire bracelet. Hosiery also comes with rhinestone bands about the ankle to represent the diamond anklet and proves an attraction with the evening gown. The vogue for wearing diamond anklets began some months ago in Paris but recently we have seen several smart girls wearing evening hosiery with rhinestone anklet trim.

'Sign on the dotted line' will have a meaning in fashions this Spring since polka dots of all sizes and colors are to be popular. The return of navy blue is probably responsible for the return of polka dot since no other shade lends itself so well to dotted effects. Among the recent imports are many navy foulards dotted in white or red in all over design or in border designs. Where the all-over dotted pattern is used the dress is usually trimmed in plain blue material to add a contrast.

One of the most stunning stage costumes appearing on Broadway at present is worn by one of the principals of 'No, No Nanette.' It is an afternoon gown combining bright green velvet with silver cloth and it would be enhancing on almost any beautiful woman. Therefore, we describe it. The bodice of velvet has a semi-bolero effect blouse in front. Bodice is semi-fitted and with the hip waist line. A band of gorgeous green and silver embroidery extends about the neck and down the fronts of the bolero and is repeated again as a belt. An overskirt of silver cloth extends below the knees and beneath this the green velvet underskirt appears. While the slender underskirt appears to be entirely made of velvet it is merely a wide band of velvet attached to a georgette upper portion to reduce the weight of the skirt and to lessen the bulk. At the front of the waistline a rhinestone buckle appears. Sleeves of velvet are long and slender.

HER OWN WAY

A GIRL of TODAY

AND A JOB

"Don't do that, Sellers," said the manager sharply.

"Then you don't want me to hold the dame?" asked the detective in surprise.

"Not against her will," said Clement Sterns more suavely than he had before spoken, and he gave me a smile that made my flesh creep.

"Young woman, your story doesn't seem plausible to me, but I'm going to give you a chance. I won't telephone the Blackstone. That's their worry. You tell me you have no training in business but you look to me like a girl who has plenty of nerve and pep. A girl must be very innocent or very sophisticated to start out as you have in a strange city to learn to earn her living. But you probably know you're easy to look at and that will help you. You're in luck tonight anyway. We need a check girl right now. You can stay here and check for your dinner tonight and if you suit, you're on."

I did not understand what he said. I supposed "check girl" meant checking the orders or something like that, but the phrase 'you re on I was perfectly familiar with and I decided that I really was lucky to get a job so soon, for I determined to keep the place if possible.

"I shall be glad to work for my dinner, but shall have to have some money to pay for my lodging at the hotel.

"Oh, don't worry about that, you'll get it in tips."

"I don't think I quite understand," I said.

"Don't get uppish right off the bat, my girl. You're in a bad way and it's up to you to make good at something or you're liable to starve to death.

"Not that a beauty like you need to be hungry long. You'll be a meal hound if you stay around here long enough. You won't be able to eat all the meals the Johnnies will offer to blow you to."

For a moment I had a strange feeling in my heart just like the one I had when I blacked Chuck's eye. Everything else was forgotten in my desire to strike this man. I fairly trembled in my helplessness, but my anger gave me courage and I accepted his offer to work, thinking if it proved too distasteful when I paid for my dinner, I could quit. So, without any more trouble, I raised my hand to take off my hat.

"You're a game little sport, aren't you"? said the man and a note of admiration I hadn't noticed before crept into his voice. "I believe I'm strong for you even if you are lying."

Dinner—Tomato bisque, cheese fondue, prune and almond salad, creamed asparagus, whole wheat bread, rice and date souffle, bran rolls, milk, coffee.

This is a suggestion for the Lenten season. No meat is served but the menus are well balanced and interesting.

The dinner salad is nourishing and sufficiently bulky in as much as hearts of lettuce are combined with the nuts and fruit and the whole then served on leaves of lettuce.

Vegetable Chowder.

Three slices bacon, 3 medium-sized onions, 1 turnip, 3 carrots, 2 potatoes, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon pepper, boiling water, 1 cup canned lima beans.

Try out fat from bacon and remove bacon. Add onions cut in thin slices and cook five minutes. Add turnip sliced or cut in small dice, carrots sliced or diced, potatoes sliced or diced and parsley. Add boiling water barely to cover, cover kettle and cook about one hour, until vegetables are done. Add salt and pepper. Stir flour to a smooth paste with a little cold milk. Stir into vegetables and cook three minutes. Add milk previously heated to the boiling point. Serve at once with toasted crackers.

Fireplace Fixtures

By Annette Bradshaw

Is there anything in the world that affords more solid comfort, or gives such an air of cheeriness as a fireplace? Even though it may be perfectly bare, without any fittings or fixtures whatsoever, there is a something in the dancing flames of an open fire that makes for the real home atmosphere. For the cool March days a fireplace is particularly cheering. Of course, this feeling is enhanced when the fireplace is "dressed-up" with charming fixtures. And there is such a variety to chose from that one hardly knows where to begin.

One's thoughts inevitably turn to brass when thinking of fittings, but there are such truly lovely things in wrought iron, and combinations of iron and brass, or copper and iron, that the selection is wide.

A few charming fixtures are shown above which may give an idea of what to use. If the fireplace is of brick, the andirons in the upper centre are most effective. The bases are wrought iron, and the rosettes are worked in brass. The fender is also in wrought iron, with a brass rail around the top. The tongs are also iron with brass handles. This is a charming combination, and one can have the hearth-brush and shovel and poker, together with the tongs in a graceful holder matching the fittings.

If a grate is used in the fireplace with coal instead of logs, the two buckets illustrated will be found useful as well as ornamental. The one on the left is copper, and the one on the right is of brass, heavily studded at the seams and all around the bottom.

The andirons in the centre are of colonial design in solid brass. But in buying brass remember it takes a lot of work to keep it shiny.

And who wouldn't love having the copper fire lighter which is shown in the upper right hand corner? These come down to us from early American days and are really a convenience, for they save burning one's fingers in attempting to light the fire with matches.

The fireplace should at all times be well kept and attractive, for it is invariably the centre of social life. With a cozy chair each side of the fire, or a comfortable davenport drawn before it, people are naturally attracted to its warmth and cheeriness and it may truly be called "the heart of the home."

UPON MY WORD!

Peter Piper stole a peck of pickled peppers—which is nothing to the mess in which baby Peter Salm, son of the erstwhile Millicent Rogers, daughter of the oil magnate, and the Count Ludwig Salm Von Hoogstraeten, finds himself! Detectives standing guard while his dad jiggles him on his knee, his mother crying while waiting for him to come back from the daddy-jiggling, his countess-grandmother bawling, too!

It's trite to remark that all the gold in the world cannot buy a child its birthright to happiness, but trite remarks are oft true!

THE PRECIOUS CHE-ILD!

More beautiful toys for children, even if their clothes are less luxurious and they are stinted on nursemaids, is the slogan of a museum curator in charge of an exhibition of ideal toys displayed by the Art Alliance of America!

Childhood ideals of beauty persist for life, explain the artists. A grotesque doll may pervert the aesthetic sense whereas a Noah's Ark of chaste animal design may foster the love o' beauty! Not a bad idea at all, I opine!

ABOUT BOOKS

Young Martha Ostenso, author of the prize-winning novel, "Wild Geese," which abounds with English at its best, could not speak a word of English until five or six. She speaks of "lovely words" then found by her, like "pail" and "alone," and ugly words like "scratch" and "cake." Is your ear that sensitive to word differences?

"WONDER WOMEN"

"Sacred Cows" in the flesh are the hobby of Miss Armel Keeran of Texas, who raises pure-bred Brahma cattle on her ranch. Her sacred cows sell for $300 to $500. Now the grizzled old ranchmen raising scrub cows who laughed at her are trying to raise the Brahmas, too. Hindus will not eat the Brahma cow flesh. But American butchers cry for Miss Keeran's cows.

Navy Kasha Costume Is Trimmed With Black Cire Braid and Has a Plaid Tie.

Navy blue has been pronounced one of the smartest of colors for the Spring season.

It is never more effective than when interpreted in kasha, and with some contrasting note for accent. The smart suit shown above, with three-quarter-length coat, answers all these requirements.

Shining black cire braid outlines the coat and finishes the hem. The pleated vestee inset in the frock is navy satin, and the tie is of gay colored plaid.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble.

Although a lively and eventful day is forecast from the important planetary movements, yet there are certain powerful figures enjoining unusual care in tumbling into new situations. There may be a radical change, completely upsetting prevailing conditions and circumstances, yet the benefits looked for, especially those of a financial nature, are likely to be deferred. Those in the employment of others are under fine auspices for promotion or advancement, but these also may find promises postponed.

Those whose birthday it is may look for an eventful and interesting year, but one that may carry its perplexities. While many good prospects are in view, all opportunities should be well deliberated and there should be the equanimity to accept postponed financial returns. It is most encouraging for those in employment. A child born on this day may have many excellent qualities to fit it for an interesting career and one of success in the long run.

The ORACLE

This day we fashion Destiny, our web of Fate we spin —Whittier.

Fixed fate, free will, foreknowledge absolute. —Milton.

Francisco.—You have naturally a strong, active nature, but are not overly inclined to like hard work. You must learn that success comes to him who puts his shoulder to the wheel and goes forward. You are of a type that will succeed in life if you try, because you have a good deal of cleverness, both of head and hands. You will not gain anything, however, by trying to sidestep responsibility. Although the reading of books is an excellent thing, it will not bring you as much as the doing of real hard work. Do not disregard the rights of others and remember that cleverness, rather than force, will get you what you want in this life. You have a quick temper, but do not harbor resentment. You are possessed of excellent health and will live to a good old age. Remember that the truth will prevail and do not evade your responsibilities by excuses for yourself and your conduct. Always maintain your own individuality, but do not be satisfied with a policy of life that slides around difficulties, rather than facing them squarely. You are the type that is capable of great things, but may not realize them because of an innate dislike to take the trouble to achieve success. Understand yourself, try to conquer your faults, which will not be apparent to you at the first glance, and then try to do better. You were born on Thursday. Your color is flame.

F. E. N.—You have a great deal of ability, both with head and hands, and belong to that class which is destined for leadership, once you learn to control your temper and a tendency to domineer and find out that the mind is the real master and the body is only its servant. You have a reposeful, confident nature, and will find your greatest happiness in service to others. You are a good nurse. You have a kind heart which often leads you to assume the burdens of others to too great an extent. You are inclined at times to pay too much attention to showy things and people, who are not always the most worth while. You will not reach the heights of your ambition in life until your spiritual nature is fully developed and will only be happy and contented in the married state when both you and your husband reach out for spiritual development. You should be careful in the selection of food, so as to avoid stomach and intestinal trouble. You do not like housework, and should study every means to make it as little trouble as possible to you. Cleverness rather than force, should be your habit, and you should use diplomacy in striving to gain what you wish. You were born on Monday. The day you ask about is past. Your colors are grey and heliotrope.

Bunty.—You were given a reading some time ago.

I. L. P.—You have a great deal of ability, and a kind heart. You are peace loving and gentle, but there is a certain element of change and uncertainty in your life that does not always make for real happiness for yourself and for those about you. You like arranging parties and good times and are a loyal friend as long as you are permitted to have your own way. As an enemy you are bitter and relentless and do not put too strong a hold on your tongue when speaking of those who have offended you. Physical enjoyment of any sort has a great appeal for you and you should strive always for the development of the spiritual side of your nature. You have original ideas and can plan as well as execute very fine artistic decorations. Fine sewing also comes naturally to you, and you are much fonder of this than of house work, which does not appeal to you very much. You are apt to have stomach trouble and should be very careful in your choice of food. Learn to profit by listening to the reasoning of others and try to acquire the habit of tolerance of others' opinions. You were born on Thursday. The day you ask about is past. Your colors are gold and violet.

CURRIE'S BILL FOR SALE OF BEER AND LIQUOR UNDER LOCAL OPTION INTRODUCED IN THE LEGISLATURE

Wine and Beer in Hotels, Clubs and Trains, Proposed.

FIRST READING.

Commission of Three Members—Two Liquor Bills Before House.

TORONTO, March 4. — Colonel J. A. Currie (Con., Southeast Toronto) introduced his bill providing for the government control and sale of beer, wines and liquors where the government deems fit in those places which voted in favor of such control at the plebiscite in 1923 or by a vote for government control at a subsequent vote to be taken at time of the municipal election. Such local option vote to be taken once every four years.

The bill also provides for the sale of beer and native Ontario wines in standard hotels, clubs, railway trains and boats where it was sold previous to 1919. Another bill introduced by Col. Currie simply amends the Ontario Temperance Act to bring it into conformity with the government control bill should the latter pass the House.

This brings two liquor bills before the Legislature. J. A. Pinard having secured first reading of a bill which would increase the beer allowed to be legally sold in Ontario from 4.4 to 10 per cent.

It is quite likely that both bills will be subject to a decision by the Speaker as to whether a private member can introduce such legislation.

They will not be further discussed however until the second reading.

Special Commission of Three.

The administration will be in the hands of a commission of three members, the chairman to spend all his time in the management. The commission will be permitted to buy and sell liquor, buy, lease, erect buildings or land for the operation of the Act, grant permits for the purchase of liquor, hire and appoint officers, inspectors, clerks and employees, determine the municipalities in which government stores are to be established, subject to the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor and not inconsistent with the Act.

The commission will deal with the furnishing of liquor to government stores, the management of the stores, prescribing the brands to be sold, the hours in which stores shall be kept open, the issuing of price lists, official labels, and forms prescribing the amount which may be purchased under permit by any one person within a specified period of time.

Sale of Beer and Wine.

Breweries and persons licensed or permitted by the government of Canada to manufacture beer or wine and which secure a permit may sell and deliver beer or wine to any person to whom a permit has been granted. Persons who live outside the limit of the municipality where there is a liquor store and where there is no convenient facility for delivery at his residence may receive delivery in person at any government store.

A. C. Lewis (Con., Toronto) introduced a bill giving the Ontario Church Property Commission, appointed under the United Church Act power to give congregations another vote on the question of union when they have decided that a previous vote was illegal or irregular.

The act would also give the commission power to make orders regarding the disposition of church property rather than the recommendations.

ASSOCIATION NAMES OFFICERS FOR YEAR

Mrs. George Worboy President of Prince of Wales Branch.

The annual meeting of the Prince of Wales Home and School Association was held yesterday evening in the school with a very good attendance. The president, Mrs. George Warboy, was in the chair. The reports of the secretary and treasurer showed that the association had had a very good season.

Mr. Miller presided for the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

President, Mrs. George Worboy; first vice-president, Mrs. Jack Freeman, second vice-president, Mrs. G. Kirkwood; secretary, Mrs. Geo. Davis; treasurer, Mrs. Harold Wilson; convenors of committees: programme, Miss Olga Johnston; relief, Miss M. Huffman; social, Mrs. Arthur Jones; membership, Miss B. Tilcock.

The feature of the programme was a debate between two boys from Mr. Kerr's room and two from Mr. Mattice's room. The subject was: "Resolved,—That it is more beneficial to read books than to travel."

Wilbert Ward and Fred Parsons of Mr. Kerr's class upheld the affirmative while the negative was taken by Willie Barry and Arnold Noftall. Miss Richardson, Miss Tomlinson and Mr. Miller were the judges, and their choice was difficult because of the excellent delivery and splendid points on both sides. They finally decided in favor of the affirmative.

Other items on the programme were a piano duet by Tom and Bob Allen, a vocal solo by Miss Elma Coones, readings by Miss Marian Dryland and M. N. Clark, and piano solos by Miss Muriel Wilson and Tom Allen. Refreshments were served at the close.

SOCIALISTS LOSE CAPITAL LEVY FIGHT

Financial Measures Under Discussion in Chamber of Deputies.

PARIS, March 4 (Canadian Press).—The Socialists yesterday lost their fight for the capital levy as a substitute for the Government financial measures in the Chamber of Deputies, after which the Lower House began a discussion of the bills as sent back from the Senate.

The Communist offensive against direct taxes brought M. Doumer, Finance Minister, to the speaker's platform to declare that fifty per cent. of the new revenue demanded by the Government would be provided by increases in the income tax.

The Chamber of Deputies, by a vote of 302 to 195, adopted the Left cartel's amendment to the finance bill, extending the obligatory declaration of incomes to a larger number of taxpayers.

LINDSAY LADY IS HONORED ON HER 90TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. J. Staples, Born in Peterboro, is Still in Good Health.

MANY DESCENDANTS

Large Number of Relatives and Friends Gather to Honor Anniversary.

LINDSAY, March 4.—(Special.)—Ninety years ago Friday, Feb. 26th, Mrs. Jessie Staples (Bessie Swinton) was born at Smithtown, Peterboro. The anniversary of her birth was celebrated by her relatives and friends from far and near at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. Tucker, 120 Angeline street, when a large gathering assembled to do her honor on this memorable occasion.

Five generations were represented at the party. A little great granddaughter, Doris Boughner, presented on behalf of one of the daughters (Mrs. Worling) and her descendants, a large bouquet of ninety carnations. Other handsome floral gifts were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Neile McFadyen, Mrs. Thackeray, Kathleen Thackeray, Cecil Thackeray and Margaret Wooll, of Peterborough. Many other pretty gifts were presented by relatives and friends.

A large birthday cake four stories high, with nine lighted candles, each candle representing ten years, occupied the centre of the table.

The descendants of Mrs. Staples were: Mrs. Tucker, Lindsay, and Mrs. Wooll, Peterborough, daughters; one son, Thos. Staples, and the following nieces, grandchildren, great grandchildren, grand nieces, nephews and great grandchildren: Mrs. A. Tedford, Indian River; Mrs. William Thackeray, Mrs. A. Aekinson, Miss Medda Swinton, Jean and Margaret Wooll, Leta Staples, Kathleen Thackeray, Frank Ackinson, Doris Boughner, Peterboro; Mr. and Mrs. Fredenburg, Toronto; Fred Mann, Lindsay; Jack Mann, Toronto; Violet Ackinson, Fraserville. Other friends present were: Rev. F. H. McIntosh, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Rea, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Staples, of Lindsay. Owing to illness, Mr. and Mrs. Neil McFadyen were unable to be present.

The sad news of the death of a grand child, Jessie, the beloved wife of O. H. C. Barton, Victoria, B.C., tended to sadden the otherwise happy occasion.

Mrs. Jessie Staples and her husband, John Staples, were among the early pioneers of Peterborough district, and were the parents of eleven stalwart children, four boys and seven girls. Mr. Staples died on March 13th, 1887. Mrs. Staples, despite her advanced age, is still hale and hearty and in perfect possession of all her faculties. In her own interesting way she related to those present at the birthday party the story of her long life and the mode of living which she believes is accountable for her advanced years. She is a firm believer in Wordsworth's philosophy of life—

Grow old with me,
The best is yet to be—
The last of life for which the first was made.
Our times are in His hand
Who saith "A whole I planned;
Youth shows but half,
Trust God, see all, nor be afraid."

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

No. 2—THE MARCH HARE IN SCRUB-UP LAND

"What can we do to help you, Mister Rubadub?" asked Nick when the fairyman of Scrub-Up Land had finished telling the Twins all about everything.

"Oh, lots of things," said Mister Rubadub brightly. "I certainly have my hands full. You have no idea how stubborn some of the woodfolk get when I go to give them a good scrubbing to make them presentable."

"Oh, do you scrub them?" asked Nancy.

"Do I scrub them?" asked Rubadub shaking with laughter. "Oh, no! Not at all! I just put them into my washing tub and lather them all over with my soap called 'Fairyland Special' and then I take my big brush here and finish the job right. Their ears! Oh, their ears, my dears! And their paws! Oh, their paws, my dears! And their tails and everything! All caked with mud after a whole winter in their hiding-holes, I mean, in Dreamland."

Just then who should come around the corner but a large rabbit with spectacles and a big book, saying over and over to himself, "This one next and that one after that, then that one next and the other one to follow. This one next and that one after that, then that one next and the other one to follow."

"It's the March Hare!" cried Nick recognizing the rabbit at once. "Hello, Mister Hare, don't you remember us?"

The March Hare looked at them over his glasses for an instant, and then snapping his book shut, he hurried over, grinning from ear to ear.

"Well, if it isn't Nancy and Nick!" he almost shouted with joy. "Do I remember you? I should say I do. How could I ever forget the way you helped me one time to waken up all the spring people?"

"The spring people? Who were they?" asked Mister Rubadub curiously. Fairymen are like other people, you know. They hate to be left out of things and he wanted to know all about it.

"Don't you know!" said the March Hare in an astonished voice. "The Rag Man and the Hurdy Gurdy Man and the Scissor Grinder and the Circus people and the Easter Bunny and—"

"Oh, those," said Mister Rubadub. "Sure, I know them all. They're old friends of mine."

"I started out a bit early this year," said the March Hare. "I rang all their doorbells a week or two ahead of time to warn them they would soon be needed. That's why I didn't need much help, my dears. As you will learn when you are older, foresight is better than hindsight, or a stitch in time saves nine. That's quite sensible. They say I am mad, but you see I am not. Now to business!"

"Did you get the addresses?" asked Mister Rubadub, peering over the March Hare's shoulder as he opened the big book again.

"Some," said the March Hare. "But you have no idea how hard it is to find some of the rascals."

"What rascals?" asked Nick.

"Why, the Squirrel boys and the Bunny children, and the Coons and Mister Toad and, oh, just everybody! You see they don't LIKE to be spring cleaned and they WOULD like to slip right off to the Land-Where-Spring-Is-Coming as dirty as tramps. A nice thing that would be for us, wouldn't it, Rubadub, with the Fairy Queen depending on us to have everything all spick and span!"

"I should think so," agreed Mister Rubadub. "I should think so. But time is flying. Who comes first, Mister Hare?"

"My second cousin, Cutie Cottontail," said the March Hare.

TRAIN WRECKED.

Two Killed and Several Hurt in Crash Near Altoona.

ALTOONA, Pa., March 4. Canadian Press. — Two persons were killed and a number slightly injured, last night, when a passenger train bound from Cumberland, Md., to Altoona, was wrecked at Kladder station, four miles south of Hollidaysburg.

FIRST ONES.

It happens just once in a lifetime, of course, but it gives kids a thrill in full measure. The first pair of long pants is always the source of real manly feeling, and pleasure.

I guess it's just part of a boy's life to start and dream, from the day he is born, of growin' up big to the time when he'll part with the short ones—then long ones are worn.

Most any good mother is dreadin' the day when her son will grow out of his teens. But fathers, of course, never take it that way, for they've grown up and know what it means.

To step out where all of the world takes its slants! Imagine the thrill, if you can. To youngsters, the first pair of grown-up long pants, is the jump between boyhood and man.

Easy to Gain With Yeast and Iron

New Combination of Yeast with Vegetable Iron Quick Way to Build Up Weight

This new combination of yeast vitamines with vegetable iron, renews the action of sluggish blood cells, drives out dangerous body poisons, increases energy and endurance and supplies the system with vitamines that build up weight.

For years yeast has been known as a rich vitamine food, but not until we perfected "ironized yeast"—which comes in concentrated tablet form, was it possible to take yeast and iron in the right proportions to build up weight.

Vegetable "Iron when combined with yeast is quite easy to digest, therefore better for the system. And "yeast" when ironized, becomes twice as beneficial as ordinary fresh or cake yeast.

Ironized Yeast Tablets are composed of concentrated food elements, therefore, they are pleasant to take and free from drug-like effects. If you are under weight, do not enjoy good health, lacking in energy and force, "ironized yeast" tablets will pick you right up, and if they fail, you get your money back.

Sold by druggists, at $1.00 for a large 60-tablet package. Harold F. Ritchie & Co., Ltd., Toronto, Canada.

A Great Canadian Industry Contributing to Canada's Prosperity

[General Motors, manufacturing CADILLAC, CHEVROLET, OLDSMOBILE, OAKLAND, McLAUGHLIN-BUICK and PONTIAC cars at Oshawa for Canadian and foreign trade, spent more money in Canada during the year 1925 than Canadians paid General Motors Dealers for their cars.]

FACTS

Money paid by General Motors of Canada Limited to Canadian manufacturers for parts and materials	$9,942,369
Canadian employees of General Motors of Canada, Limited, were paid	5,187,859
Gross Revenue to dealers from which they paid their employees, rent, taxes, and all other operating expenses	8,289,243
The Government received for duty on imported parts, sales and excise tax and other taxes	5,498,463
The Canadian railroads and transportation companies were paid	2,664,204
Canadian makers of tools, drills, jigs, dies, etc., received	1,201,244
Operation of service parts distributing depots, branches, expenses of wholesaling, including moneys paid for advertising and printing, resulted in an additional expenditure of	1,864,544
1243 Canadian stockholders of General Motors received dividends amounting to	1,085,464
Total money put into Canada directly through General Motors	$35,733,390
During the same year the people of Canada invested in General Motors' cars	34,044,048

The contribution, therefore, of this industry to Canada's prosperity in 1925 consists in the employment of many thousands of Canadian workmen; of the payment of many millions to Canadians for material and labor; a tremendous revenue to our Federal Government, assisting our tax burden; a mammoth amount of revenue to our railroads and leaves in Canada more money than it collects.

LONDON PAPER COMPARES TEAMS AND EXPECTS A CLOSE DECISION

Refer To Petes' Pre-Season Game With Preston as Basis.

RESPECT PETES.

(From London Advertiser.)

The London Miners will leave over the C.N.R. at 9 o'clock Thursday morning. They will work-out in the afternoon at the Toronto Arena and they'll even steer clear of the excitements of wild west movies until game time Friday night. The crew is full of confidence though they realize how formidable the Petes are.

The Toronto Arena was jammed for the playoff between Parkdale and Petes, but there will be a bigger crush than ever for Friday night's tilt between London and the Lock City outfit. Petes are popular in Toronto, where they've been playing all their games this season, but the Londoners, which include Moore and Shrimp MacPherson, formerly of Aura Lee, and are coached by Bill Marsden, who gave the Queen City more championships than any other hockey mentor, will probably cut deeply into the Peterboro following. In view of this and the fact that London was again lucky in winning the toss which gives them the last game at home, the Miners look to be sitting pretty for a team which must give some edge to its opponents in the matter of years and experience.

Londoners who witnessed the Petes triumph over Parkdale were not a bit downcast when they arrived home. They freely admit that the winners of Monday night's game have all the needed championship qualities. They are well-balanced, make a finely co-ordinated combination machine, and possess speed that against Parkdale's appeared to match that that dash and action which has made the locals outstanding in Big Six circles.

Preston Gives Line.

Preston's games against the Petes in the S.P.A. series before the regular O.H.A. grind opened, give the dopesters the only straight line they will get on the two teams. What Peterboro did against Kitchener recently contrasted with the memories of the Kitchener team's play in the Big Six last year, is too roundabout a way of deducing the strength of the two teams who meet Friday night, and not nearly so satisfactory as comparing the Petes, Preston and London. Preston has played both, and allowing for early season factors which were present when Riversides met Petes in the S.P.A. series, there should be a lot of evidence which the lads who toy with the dope sheets should find admissible and weighable.

Preston put Peterboro out of the S.P.A. by a 4—3 count in overtime. Petes were given credit for outplaying their conquerors, but could not beat Schmalz or crowd Gunner Arnott away from their nets. Arnott got the tieing and winning goals. The Preston sharpshooters was always a threat to the London defence but they kept him pretty well shackled in league games afterwards. Ashley usually the backbone of the Preston team failed to get going under the careful watching of the Petes' checks in this S.P.A. game, but the big boy did quite a bit of roaming in all four games against London. So here is conflicting dope all ready for the dopesters. Moreover, it was claimed for the Petes that they hadn't enough time on the ice. Preston probably did have more condition.

London probably has a scoring edge on the Petes. They will be giving away a little weight on the front line, but nothing else, for it is doubtful if the Pete forwards will be able to show any edge in backchecking, especially after the display the Londoners gave against Galt in both games. The Lock City sharpshooters probably play more polished and more consistent combination, but several teams in the Big Six had this surface bulge over the, Miners but not enough of it to offset the latter's ability to combine at crucial moments nor to take advantage of the slightest breaks when within range of the opposing goal.

Defence Good.

Peterboro's defence has come in for more attention than the scoring end. McLeod and Parker are both big huskies who block thoroughly and effectively on the defensive, and with their speed and stickhandling are constant scoring threats. McLeod and Starkings use much the same style of rushing and over the direct route.

McLeod, however, isn't figured as good a stickhandler as the Londoner. Offensively, the London pair should have a slight margin of superiority. Defensively, the Londoners won't be trailing much, and moreover it Graham picks on the biggest as he did against Galt, the Petes defence men will run into some effective bumping on their sallies toward the London goal. What Graham lacks in distributed weight is more than made up in compactness, spirit and instinct for timing impact. Figuring Rose on his showing as he jumped into Parker's place, almost the peer of the regular, London has nothing to fear.

In goal it's an even-Stephen choice more or less, for a championship series. Dwyer has long been rated one of the best net guardians in the O.H.A. and he proved it when Petes were shoved into Senior company. He is the same Joe Dwyer who played with Sarnia when they won the championship in 1916 against Belleville, after one of the most hectic series ever pulled off in intermediate O.H.A. history. London fans saw Dwyer in goal here last year. London had no trouble in beating him for five goals, though the defence in front of him was nothing to boast about, and were just filling in for the night.

Those who know Moore best claim that it is while keyed up that he is at his best. He has the edge of the spirit of youth, which rises to unusual heights under stress over the veteran if he knows less about the poised mechanics of goal-tending.

However, the dope even if it's right, may go wrong for a night, and that is what makes hockey championships among the champion uncertainties of sport.

An Epic in Sight

The forthcoming series between Petes and London Miners will probably rank with any, which, during the past has decided the championship of the O.H.A.

Speed is the big asset of the two teams, and the fans should see two games which are wide open and full of eye-filling action. The teamwork of the Petes has been a noticeable feature of their climb to the championship of No. 1 group, and if the Londoners happen to be at the top of their form, this other series is sure to be a memorable one, even though other struggles for the O.H.A. title has produced hockey epics.

The experts and ordinary fans who have seen both teams in action, believe that O.H.A. history has not produced two more evenly matched machines or opposing crews whose style of hockey more closely coincide and they predict combats which, for highly polished technique and sheer speed will make them a basis of comparison in future for the fans fortunate enough to glimpse them.

Individually, the teams may not aspire to the greatness of Granites in the days of their world dominance, and this is contestible, nor to the Falcons and other great machines which have won the Allan Cup, but opposed to each other, the results might conceivably rank higher in all that goes to make superlative hockey than the high-lights those other superb teams etched into the game.

HELPFUL HINTS BY GOLFING STARS

By Special Arrangement With Colliers' Magazine.

JOHN G. ANDERSON—MASHIE IS FAVORITE.

It seems pertinent to say that good players need not load down their bags with extra clubs whose grips never see the light of day.

Now the reason is not in the extra flight of the ball, which distance, it is true, has been of exceeding yardage the past few years. Much comes in the power of the club and the successful search for a club whose beautiful balance gives an extra ten yards or more. If you will look over the precious clubs of star players you will find that their mashies are the best liked of all the clubs in the bag. Large-bladed affairs most of them and ely tuned to the stiff shaft. Without a mashie of parts I doubt ry much if the present-day amateurs pros would be able to beat par. It doesn't seem, so very long ago en we figured on the use of the shie from a distance of not over 5 yards. Nowadays it is the exception when first-class player does not look for that club when he has a shot of up to 175 yards to make. A brassie plus a mashie gives all the way up to 430 yards.

LINDSAY CURLERS' DEATHS LAMENTED

Club Receives Pictures of Flavelle and Little.

LINDSAY, March 4. — The spectre of death figured prominently in a presentation at the curling rink on Tuesday night. Rev. Canon Marsh, president of the curling club, had accepted a gift of two enlarged photographs of J. D. Flavelle and G. A. Little, two stalwart Tankard skips, who had passed out during the past year. He then dwelt upon the loss the club had sustained in the death of two other Tankard players during the past few days—W. A. McLennan and "Billy" Williams — and had just finished his eulogy, when a message was received at the rink that another member of a Lindsay Tankard rink (Matt. Kennedy) had passed away at St. Louis. The news of Mr. Kennedy's death was not given out until the close of the presentation, and it made a deep impression on the gathering. Mr. Kennedy figured in two championship Tankard rinks, the members of which have all passed away, save Mr. J. C. Edwards.

One minute's silence was observed by the curlers assembled at the rink last night as a mark of respect to those who had passed out during the past few months.

Master Minds In Baseball Sometimes Make Mistakes

Even the greatest of baseball managers make mistakes.

Several years ago, when Manager Rickey and Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Nationals had a battle in the clubhouse, it was rumored the Cardinal star would be placed on the market.

Report had it that he was to go to New York. Manager McGraw freely admitted that he was after Hornsby and expected to land him. McGraw, it is said, offered $200,000 for Hornsby.

St. Louis wanted a player to fill the vacancy and suggested Frankie Frisch with some cash to boot. That year Frisch was going great and McGraw said he wouldn't trade him even for Hornsby.

Last year Hornsby finished on top of the National League for the sixth consecutive year, batting over .400 for the third time.

Looks as if McGraw would have been wise if he traded even the great Frisch for him.

GERMAN WOMAN TENNIS VICTIM

Frau Neppach Defeated By Helen Wills in Two Sets.

APPEAR FRIENDLY.

MENTONE, France, March 4. — Canadian Press. — Miss Helen Wills won another victory yesterday when she defeated Frau Neppach, the German champion, in the third round of the women's singles of the Mentone tennis tournament, 6-0, 6-3.

Frau Neppach was the only remaining plaeyr of prominence that Miss Wills had not yet met and defeated.

The match attracted keen interest but the little erman woman was unable to give the United States champion a semblance of a battle except in the second set.

Paired with J. H. Van Alen of Brooklyn, N. Y., Miss Wills also reached the quarter finale in the mixed doubles for the Cup of Nations, in which she at first did not intend to play.

The first round was easy for the United States pair, who defeated David and Mary Ge ward 6-1, 6-1. Miss E. H. Harvey and D. A. Hodges gave them a harder fight, the score being 6-4, 6-2.

Frau Neppach was pleased at taking three games from Miss Wills. "That is one more than I scored against Mlle. Lenglen." she said.

When she was asked to choose between the abilities of the French and the United States champions, she replied diplomatically: "They are both wonderful players."

The match between Miss Wills and Frau Neppach was a fierce driving battle, both possessing extraordinarily powerful strokes, both forehand and back hand, but Helen's superior steadiness won, the German doing a olt of netting in the second set.

Miss Wills shook hands more warmly over the net with Frau Neppach after her victory than with any other player whom she had met and defeated thus far in Europe. The two players walked off the courts together.

HASTINGS CUP WON BY TWEED

Defeated Stirling 4-2 in Final Game of League Play-off.

FAST CONTEST.

TWEED, Mar. 4 — The largest crowd of the season witnessed a fast game of hockey here last night in the last home and home game of the Hastings County League when Tweed defeated their opponents, Stirling, 4 goals to 2. The game was delayed until ten o'clock waiting for Referee Barrett, who got stuck in the snow enroute from Belleville. A little excitement was caused while waiting for the referee when a fiery cross was burned on the public school hill just west of the rink. Owing to the late hour and the fans becoming restless, Thomas N. Beatty, president of the league, refereed the game through the first period when Barrett was ready to take the last periods.

The first period was fast with numerous shots at each goal. Quinn, Tweed's defence, picked up the puck, circled around the Stirling defence and scored. This put the visitors on edge.

The second period again opened fast with both teams playing hard. Max Geraldi got the puck from a pass from Houston and scored for the second counter. This goal made the visitors work hard but the old veteran Whitty got the puck and scored a nice one past Wagar. This left the score 2-1 for Tweed. Combination was well played on both teams. Max Geraldi was always in his position and again taking the puck ent through the Stirling defence and another goal was counted. Alex Geraldi made several nice rushes but was stopped. Houston played his usual snappy game at centre, back checking hard. Wallace, Acks and Whitty broke away in nice combination play but were broken up at the defence by Geraldi who carried the puck to centre, passed to Houston and Houston to M. Geraldi who scored again making the score 4-1.

Third period opened with tSirling pressing hard for a goal. McGee got the rubber and made a great lone rush, tricked around Tweed defence and scored their second and last goal. Tweed needed two goals lead in order to hold the cup.

The game was very clean only three penalties being handed out. Immediately after the game S. B. Rollins, reeve of Tweed, presented the cup to Tweed players. The score ended 4-2 for Tweed.

INSPECTOR DUNCAN

new officers to get the men in jail and then report.

"We started out to get some smugglers and we got quite a few," said the Inspector. He gave an instance of silk smugglers from New York who were caught in Montreal after a shooting afray. This case was ten months in courts and ended in a sentence of nine days in jail and a fine of $200.

Bisaillon Case.

In November, 1925, Inspector Duncan had seen Mr. Boivin, the new Minister of Customs, who instructed him to investigate the Bisaillon case and report as soon as there was sufficient evidence.

"Sufficient evidence for what?" asked Mr. Bell.

"To dismiss Bisaillon, I presume?" replied Mr. Duncan. Something had been said in that conversation about the resolutions which Mr. Stevens' had had placed upon the Order Paper of the House of Commons concerning Bisaillon.

In answer to questions by Mr. Elliott, Inspector Duncan said that he had gone to Montreal accompanied by Mr. Wilson, head of the customs preventive service. Together they had interviewed Bisaillon, informed him that the minister had instructed Inspector Duncan to conduct an investigation into his conduct and that it was proposed to call most of the members of his staff as witnesses. The witnesses had been called to the Windsor Hotel, where Inspector Duncan had taken rooms. All the witnesses had been sworn save one, who was under arrest.

After four days of this examination, he decided that he had obtained sufficient evidence to justify the minister in dealing with Bisaillon, said Inspector Duncan. Thereupon he had returned to Ottawa and made an interim report to Mr. Boivin. Mr. Boivin had told him and Mr. Wilson that council had taken action in the Bisaillon case and to return to Montreal and continue the investigation. They had gone back to Montreal presented Bisaillon with an order of dismissal from the minister and taken possession of his office and papers. The investigation was continued until February 1.

"Then what occurred?"

"I was called back to Ottawa by a telegram from Mr. Farrow, deputy minister of Customs," Mr. Duncan read the telegram which said that the minister instructed him to return to Ottawa.

"What happened then?" asked Mr. Elliott.

Didn't Report to Stevens.

The minister said that he didn't know anything about the telegram, said the Inspector. "He then said, 'You have not been fair to me, Duncan. You are handing all your information over to Mr. Stevens and not to me.' He said he would expose me to his colleague.'

"And what did you say?"

"I told him that I had turned over nothing to Mr. Stevens—that I did not know him, and hadn't seen him. And I never did until I saw him here."

Inspector Duncan then read a telegram which he had sent to Mr. Boivin from Montreal, in which he announced his withdrawal from the investigation because of remarks made about him by the minister on the floor of the House of Commons.

The minister replied by wire that he had received Inspector Duncan's telegram with regret. "You must realize the difficulty of my position without evidence," said the telegram in part.

Inspector Duncan replied by the telegram that his decision to withdraw from the investigation was final unless there was a retraction of the statements made by Mr. Boivin on the floor of the House.

Chairman Mercier interjected that if Inspector Duncan would read the speech of Hon. H. H. Stevens in regard to the customs administration, he would come to the same conclusion that Mr. Boivin had reached, namely that he (Duncan) had handed over information to Mr. Stevens.

Finally, Inspector Duncan wired that he was forwarding his official report, and received in return a telegram of thanks from the Minister of Customs.

When the Inspector had been summoned to Ottawa by the deputy he was told that he was exceeding his powers, and that he was to confine his efforts to the preventive service. The Minister had "started out on this thing alright."

Mr. Boivin came in at this point to say, "When Mr. Duncan says I knew of the Stevens' resolution in November, he does not tell the truth."

This brought the inspector to his feet.

"It's your clear dirty politics," shouted Mr. Donaghy (North Vancouver). "I protest against the committee being carried on in this way. If it continues, I'm going to leave it," he declared.

How Did Stevens Know?

"I'm not a politician and never was," retorted Duncan. Calm was restored again and Mr. Elliott asked "Don't you know how Mr. Stevens got his information?"

"I believe Sparks got information from Knox, who was working for me?" replied the inspector.

"Did he have any directions from you to keep secret?"

"I don't think so."

"Why didn't he" pressed Mr. Elliott.

"I don't think there was anything very secret about it."

Mr. Boivin took up the examination at this moment. "You think I started off alright. Will you tell me when I stopped going right?" he asked.

"I think it was that day the deputy sent for me."

"Wasn't my grievance that the interim report had been given to Mr. Stevens?"

"That's what the deputy said. I denied it, and offered to withdraw. But I went back satisfied."

The next interview took place between the inspector and the minister while the House was in session. Mr. Boivin had objected at having had no report. "Yes, you could have been heard on Sparks Street," commented the inspector, and the minister replied that he thought Mr. Duncan's voice would have carried nearly that far.

"You accused me of giving evidence to Mr. Stevens and blamed me for getting evidence against a former colleague," added Mr. Duncan.

Mr. Boivin pointed out to Mr. Duncan that in the House of Commons he had accepted Mr. Stevens' statement that Duncan had not given him information as to his work. This, apparently was the grievance which the inspector held against him.

Mr. Duncan admitted he had got a copy of Hansard containing this incident only yesterday.

At the conclusion of Inspector Duncan's preliminary evidence, R. P. Sparks, head of the Commercial Protective Association, asked leave to make a brief statement. It would take less than five minutes, he said. Chairman Mercier, however, ruled that the statement must wait. The hour was then 6.30 and the session had been prolonged for the express purpose of hearing Inspector Duncan. Other statements could not be admitted.

Trophies.

The City championship trophy is made up of individual cups for each player of the team. These cups, presented to the League by G. N. Gordon, are on exhibition in the window of Warne Bros.' jewellery store.

The District trophy is a shield, donated to the League by Mayor Holloway, which is on exhibition in Tully's jewellery store, Charlotte Street. The presentation will take place in the Chamber of Commerce on Monday, March 15, at 8 o'clock.

AT THE REGENT

JUNE MARLOWE IN "CLASH OF WOLVES" WITH RIN-TIN-TIN.

Rin-Tin-Tin, the wonder dog of the screen, who is coming to the Regent Theatre to-day, has a brilliant supporting cast of humans for his new Warner Bros. picture, "The Clash of the Wolves."

June Marlowe, who appeared with Rinty in "Tracked in the Snow Country" and "Below the Line," plays the lovely heroine of this dramatic story of the cattle country of the Sierras. Miss Marlowe was recently seen in support of Irene Rich in Warners' production of "The Pleasure Buyers" and is popularly known as "the girl with the soulful eyes."

The hero, a young prospector, is played by Charles Farrell, a handsome newcomer, to the screen, who plays his first leading role. The Warners look upon him as a "find." Mr. Farrell was seen in a prominent role of "The Love Hour," a Vitagraph picture.

Pat Hartigan, one of the foremost heavies of the screen, plays Horton, the villain of the story, who tries to steal Farrel's claim and win Miss Marlowe from him. Hartigan was prominently cast with Rinty in "Below the Line."

Heinie Conklin, also a Rin-Tin-Tin supporter in "Below the Line," plays a ranch cook in this production and is said to be even funnier than his usual self, which assures audiences of genuine entertainment.

RECORD RUSH IS ON FOR TICKETS FOR BIG GAME

All Attendance Marks Will Be Shattered To-morrow Night.

PASTE BOARDS GONE.

Fans All Over the Province Anxious To See Classic.

All records for attendance will be broken at the London-Peterboro game in Toronto To-morrow night. The Arena plan was completely sold out yesterday and today an advertisement in the Toronto papers announced that 2000 bleacher seats will go on sale tomorrow night at 7.30, at the same time suggesting to the bleacher fans that they stand throughout the game in order to make room for more people. Close to 9000 fans will see the Ravens and Petes clash in the blue ribbon hockey event of the year.

Locally the rush for tickets is just as bad as in Toronto. A block of 500 pasteboards was sold out in a few hours yesterday and when the local management succeeded in getting about 200 more they disappeared this morning like magic. No more tickets are to be had. Although the Petes executive are at their wits' ends from the pressure both locally and from outside fans.

The rush for tickets overshadows the game itself just at present, but the Petes are looking forward with quiet confidence to the series. The blue and white are in good shape, everybody but Parker coming through the Parkdale series unhurt and they expect to make the Ravens travel all the way tomorrow night.

The Globe says:

Arena officials are at their wits' ends to satisfy all those who wish to see the O.H.A. senior final between Peterboro' and London here tomorrow night. It is now thought likely that all attendance records will be smashed to pieces. The high mark, incidentally, was made several years ago, when it was estimated that 8,500 people jammed their way into Arena to see the Dentals and the Tigers in action. It is now possible to surpass that record, as the seating accommodation has been enlarged.

Indications are that neither team will be installed as a favorite. Even those fans who have seen both teams in several games this season are unable to decide which is the better aggregation. Both are strong. This opinion is unanimous. The London players are speed merchants and they are reckless on the attack, but the Petes can travel, too, and no one ever saw them back up an inch under the heaviest fire.

Irvin Bailey is the fastest man on the Peterboro' team, and the man he will oppose in the battle along the rail, "Butch" Keeling of Owen Sound, can show his heel to any other man on the London team. The struggle between this pair will alone be worth the price of admission. Each player is strong in checking, stick-handling and scoring goals.

In Centre Ice

At centre the hard-working Frank Collins will oppose that methodical and cool worker, "Sandy" Somerville, while Coach Marsden will also make life miserable for Collins by sending in the tricky "Shrimp" McPherson whenever Somervlle weakens. "Babe" Bogardis, however, is at the top of his form, and he will undoubtedly be able to come to the rescue of Collins.

The impetuous Wilfred Ranger, at left wing for Peterboro', will attempt to hold elusive Jerry Lowery in subjection, and he will find that he has tackled a heavy task. Lowery, who shoots from the left side, has been London's leading scorer all season, and he will require considerable attention.

D'Arcy Leamy of London and Cox of Peterboro' are the other forwards, and each is clever. Leamy can relieve in any front-line position, but Cox does his best work in centre ice. In the early part of the race Leamy went great guns, but he slumped, and only recently showed a return to form.

Dwyer vs. Moore

In goal ,the most of the critics give Joe Dwyer of Peterboro' the better of it when comparing him with Alf Moore, former Aura Lee net guardian, but just the same Moore has been a star all season, and he may upset the "dope" in large basketfuls. Moore does not play the puck as neatly as do some of the goalkeepers, but he stops them and he uses fine judgment. Dwyer, of course, is a veteran who has been through the mill many a time. He will hardly falter in the final series.

The injury to Harold Parker may give London the advantage in defense work, but Ray Rose, who will partner Bert McLeod on the Peterboro defense, is experienced and resourceful. He may prove to be the hero of the finals. Rose lacks the speed he showed in years that are gone, but he is thoughtful and cool and many will miss their guess if he does not turn out to be the most dangerous attacker in the series.

McLeod and Rose should be just as effectively defensively as Teddy Graham and Bill Starkings, but Starkings will likely lead all the defense men in goal-getting. He is a wizard on the attack, while Graham hits them hard with bodychecks and makes it possible for his partner to lead many of the attacks. McLeod is also an attacker of ability, and the Peterboro' fans think that he will be just as effective as Starkings.

On Trail of Stars

Professional club scouts will attend the series and will take keen interest in the work of Bailey and Collins of Peterboro' and Lowery, Starkings and Keeling of London. These are the men the scouts think would fit in best in the pro League. Bailey is on the reserve list of the Montreal Club, and Keeling is on the reserve list of the St. Patrick's Club.

Peterboro's players have become so used to the ice surface here that they prefer it to their own rink and will therefore not be handicapped but Moore,Somerville, Keeling, McPherson and Graham of the London team have also performed in Toronto so often that it looks like old home week to them.

This should be a gripping, thrilling battle, and neutral Toronto's most ardent wish is that the better team will win.

MARK STREET WON FINAL MIDGET GAME

Decisive Defeat of Murray Street Gives Winners Church Championship.

At Brock Street Rink on Monday evening, March 1, the final game in the Midget Church League was played between Murray Street and Mark Street teams. The final score was 2 to 1 in favor of Mark Street, and as they had won the first game by 4 to 0, the round was theirs by 6 to 1. The line-ups were as follows:

Murray Street—Goal, Irwin; defence, Ellis and Smith; wings, Roszel and Cheu; centre, Muir; subs., Reid and Naish.

Mark Street—Goal, Willshaw; defence, Milliken and Merrett; wings, Wright and M. Hunter; centre, J. Hunter; subs., Ferguson and Lipsett.

J. Hall refereed the game to the satisfaction of both teams.

After the game the members of the winning team were entertained for supper at Hoopers by K. Throop who has taken a very active interest in the team during the season.

Inquiry Into Death Of Boy Should Be Held. Say Several Prominent Clergymen in the City

Five Believe That Some Steps Should Be Taken To Investigate Matter—Others Say That Officials Have Full Information To Decide Course.

In order to ascertain the feeling as to whether or not there should be an inquest for the purpose of investigating the circumstances which caused the death of John Dwyer nine ministers were asked for their opinions on the case. Five agreed that there should be some form of inquiry, two assumed a neutral attitude, and the remaining two were averse to criticising the authorities.

Rev. Dr. C. W. Rose said: "The more thorough the investigation which could be held, so much the better. The circumstances appear to be exceptional."

Rev. J. C. Todd declared that it seemed too bad to allow the matter to drop. He said it seemed cold-blooded if a halt were called now. "I am certainly in favor of an investigation of some kind," he stated.

Rev. A. J. Langford said: "There certainly should be an inquest I believe that the matter should be subjected to a most thorough attempt to discover the facts."

"It would help to clear the air if an inquest or investigation of some kind were held," Rev. R. T. Richards declared. "I don't see that they will get to the bottom of the affair otherwise."

Rev. M. C. Mackinnon said that according to the opinion he had formed, the case warranted a thorough investigation.

Rev. William Allan and Rev. J. W. Gordon said, that not being in possession of all the facts, they would not venture a statement

Rev. J. D. Paterson said that the people did not know every angle of the case, nor did they know all the facts, so that any interference which they might cause would be to the discredit of the Crown Attorny and others who were handling the matter.

Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave declared that the doctors who had attended the patient should have authority to say whether or not the affair merited an investigation. He said they would be more able to judge than others who were not fully informed.

Reaction In Stock Market Does Not Affect Country

The undernoted message was received late this afternoon over Stobie Forlong's private wire at their Peterboro office:

"WASHINGTON, March 4.—Reaction in the stock market does not affect fundamental business conditions of the country, Secretary Mellon states. He believes that reaction is the result of expanding speculation and should have a helpful and beneficial effect. Secretary is understood to believe a favorable decision by the I.C.C. on the Nickel Plate merger would have a steadying influence on the market, but he does not believe the adverse decision was responsible for the reaction."

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE AGAINST STEPMOTHER

sential hile any condition such as aural disease, which has been the source of the mischief, must be treated in the most energetic manner.

Dummer's Reputation.

Dummer has been noted for its cases of cruelty and sub-normal crime. In fact, the word "notorious" is usually mentioned in connection with Dummer's ninth line. Not that the evils complained of are all on the ninth line, for they extend through sections of Belmont, Methuen and Dummer, where there is a sterile, rocky territory, practically unfit for cultivation. The ninth line and the district around it, have contributed a great many of the most vicious cases that have occupied the police courts of the county, and it is from the twelfth line, three miles away, that the preesnt unparalleled case comes.

The character of this country was mirrored in a Grand Jury report on April 26, 1916, in which action to clean up the "bad lands" of Peterboro county was urged. Mr. Justice Mulock had commissioned the Grand Jury to investigate the conditions existing in the "no man's land" that stretches across the country from Stoney Lake to the northern fringe of Havelock.

Incest, murder, cattle rustling, cattle poisoning, and similar offences are among the crimes that have been charged with more or less frequency from Dummer. There was the notorious Sandford Lindsay case, in which a man and a woman were charged with carrying out an illegal operation and the death of a child. Incest was proven. Then there was the Hill case which ran through several sensations from 1916 to 1922, when cattle stealing and poisoning were tre charges And in 1922 Abraham Filion and Mrs. Edwards were charged with murder, but acquitted. The last sensation on Dummer's ninth line was the disappearance in 1924 of an aged man named Hughes, of whom no trace has ever been found.

Environment Blamed.

The Grand Jury, in its 1916 report said:

"The lands in this district are not suitable to adequately support a population in reasonable comfort nor to afford the necessary municipal expenditure to provide what is necessary for the life of the people. All this makes for a careless if not degenerate, people, when all the refinements of civilized life are absent and cannot be provided."

Among other things, the Grand Jury recommended the institution of a police patrol, after the style of the Northwest Mounted, to search out and expose every case of low life and low living conditions, and with some power to act, and thus avoid delays. The suggestion was also made that periodical inspections be made with a view to removing to other parts of the province any who appeared likely to benefit by the change of environment, and who would advance under decent living conditions. This it was maintained, would break up the habit of squatting now so frequent. Increased support to schools, and more school facilities, were also urged as a corrective measure to the ignorance that was believed to be at the root of much of the immorality. "The view is held by those conversant with the situation," the formal presentment declared, "that there are some who would not mend their ways and mode of life and circumstances under any set of conditions. The only practical thing would be to place them under strict surveillance for the future, and so gradually guide the district into a better state of living."

Crown Attorney's View.

Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton reported to the Attorney General in January 1916, on the number of cases of incest emanating from this district, declaring them "hardly credible." He urged a system of inspection to "give as much notoriety to the mode of life of these people as possible" and pointed out emphatically the dire results of the immorality he declared was prevalent in the "bad lands."

Mr. Hatton went farther. He checked off the organizations for the inspection of piggeries and barns and declared that the "homes of these poor, defenceless children, subjected to the brutal lust of their fathers and brothers, are as completely neglected as if they did not exist." The entire family and visitors nearly always occupy one sleeping room, he continued, urging inspection and action to eradicate a fruitful source of immorality. "Separate bedrooms, especially for female children as soon as they can be trusted to sleep alone with proper locks must be insisted on If the people are too poor to make these improvements the government should take charge and lend the money."

In concluding Mr. Hatton gave as his reason for the report "the many cases of young children who have been criminally assaulted."

52 Children Rescued.

George Cochrane, at that time agent of the Children's Aid Society, said he had taken 52 children from such surroundings, and drew attention to the fact that in twenty years there had been five murders committed in the "bad lands." He defined the worst area as extending between Havelock and Stoney Lake. The isolation, the absence of friendly and social intercourse, and the difficult situations of life were provocative of the immorality that existed in this section of Dummer, Mr. Cochrane said. He found the settlers in and around Apsley, Anstruther and the north end of Cavendish doing well, but declared two thirds of Belmont should never have been settled by farmers.

Baffles Him.

Robert Patterson of Dummer, one of the Grand Jurors, told Mr. Justice Mulock: "I think this state of affairs exists, but the remedy is too much for me. His Lordship called them farmers. These people don't grow their own potatoes. A number live on pasture lots owned by someone else but all could have plenty of potatoes if they would plant and care for them."

"No Man's Land."

These, the considered opinions of the Grand Jury and Crown Attorney and others, given after investigation and personal knowledge, present a picture of Dummer as it was in 1916. And, The Examiner is told, conditions have not changed much since then. In 1921, five years after the report, there occurred the sensational poisoning case, in which it was said Hill poisoned eleven head of cattle owned by a Dummer farmer who gave evidence against two Hill boys in a previous trial. In 1922 the notorious Filion - Edwards murder charge was heard, resulting in acquittal. And in 1924, from the same wild district, cames James Newall, charged with perjury.

A sample of the conditions prevailing in Dummer is afforded by the report of the raid on Robert Hill's house on Saturday, June 25, 1921, in which it was said that the men were found sleeping on their rifles and only surrendered to the police when held up at the point of revolvers.

Dr. Young's Viewpoint.

Dr. Young said he thought the action of the lawyer in giving The Examiner an interview yesterday urging the necessity of holding an inquest was very injudicious, in view of the fact that two people are facing indictment on charges of manslaughter. This interview, coming from a "prominent lawyer" might possibly influence a jury. It is very apparent to me," Dr. Young continued, "that his knowledge of law on this subject is very limited. I would advise him to read the Act relating to Coroners and Coroners' Inquests, which he will find on page 1104 of the Revised Statutes of Ontario, Chapter 92, section 7. If there should be anything he does not understand in this Act, I have no doubt that Mr. Hatton, K.C., County Crown Attorney, will construe the law for him.

"My reasons for not holding an inquest have been filed in the office of the County Crown Attorney, according to the Act. One is, that a death certificate issued by the attending physician declared the cause of death was meningitis."

Certificate Issued.

Although Dr. Clark, the attending physician, wrote to the County Crown Attorney on the day of the boy's death stating that he was not in a position to issue a death certificate, he did issue the certificate yesterday.

In spite of this, no arrangements had been made for interment at press time, The Examiner was informed.

Sweetheart His Sister Romance Ruined By News

NEW YORK, March 4 (United Press).—The romance of Herbert Clark, actor, was blasted to-day—for he had learned that the girl he was planning to marry was his sister.

Clark met Katherine Clark, who came here from Lebanon, Pa., to work as a stenographer a few months ago. They commented on the familiarity of names. Each said there were no brothers or sisters. When Clark wrote to his parents, who live in Pittsburgh, of the coming marriage, he received a telegram from his father saying:

"Katherine Clark is your sister. Am mailing letter containing full description."

To-day Clark learned the whole truth. His father had divorced his first wife, and as the marriage was an unhappy one, never told his son about it. He had, however, corresponded with his daughter, and they had always exchanged presents.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Child's Hair With

If you want to keep your children's hair in good condition be careful what you wash it with.

Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is purely and entirely greaseless) is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can not possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive and a few ounces will last for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

A SURPRISING FIGURE.
Old country people express surprise at the extent to which Canadians rely upon the telephone. At that, they usually are thinking in terms of purely local service. They would be astonished to hear that in Ontario and Quebec alone the average daily use of the Long Distance telephone in 1925 was 46,727 messages. These remarkable figures are found in the Bell Telephone Company's Annual Report. They indicate the present-day demand for quick communication regardless of distance. 1d-54-560

JOSEPH GRIERSON HONORED BY STAFF

Has Been Transferred To Niagara Falls By C.N.R.

The staff of the Canadian National Telegraph and Ticket Offices gathered at the home of Frank Sherwood, Rubidge street, last night, to bid farewell to one of their companions, Joseph Grierson, who leaves on Monday next for Niagara Falls, Ont., having been transferred to that city by the company. The evening was spent in playing cards and listening to an enjoyable radio concert.
A very dainty lunch was served by the hostess during which Carl Lang presented Mr. Grierson with a Parker Duofold pen with his initials engraved thereon on condition he did not wear it out the first month writing home to the "only Girl."
About eleven thirty, the party broke up after wishing Joe good luck and singing that good old song "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

POULTRY EXPERT WILL SPEAK HERE

Incubation and Care of Baby Chicks Will Be Subject of Address.

A well attended meeting of the directors of the local Poultry Association was held last evening. It was one of the liveliest and most enthusiastic meetings held for some time and discussions took place outlining the nature of the different meetings which would be held throughout the year 1926. A large number of the local poultry men are now seeing the advantage of joining the association and realizing the benefits that are derived therefrom.
Poultry raising in Peterborough is becoming quite popular and is a fascinating hobby as well as a profitable one, and the local association looks forward to having a very interesting and prosperous year. W. Stewart, president of the association, occupied the chair and announced that F. P. Gleane, poultry specialist from London, England, would address the poultry men of Peterborough next Wednesday, 10th March, in the Woodmen of the World hall on George street, on incubation, hatching and rearing of chicks. The address is to be illustrated by lantern slides. This is a timely subject and everyone who owns poultry or is interested, is cordially invited to be in attendance at this meeting.

GEORGE DWYER CHARGED WITH MURDER

Attorney-General of the Province Intervenes Ordering Inquest and Post-Mortem on Body Preliminary Hearing Set for Next Thursday

Long Distance Call This Morning From Department Orders That Charge Be Enlarged To Murder—Father Takes Accusation Calmly at Hearing—Will Be Brought Up at Same Time as Wife.

COUNSEL FOR DEFENCE ASKS FOR DELAY TO CONSULT WITH FRIENDS OF THE ACCUSED COUPLE

Plans For Funeral of Boy, Planned For Saturday, Had To Be Abandoned Because of Order—Court Room Packed To-day By Interested Spectators — Many of Them Forced To Stand—Delay in Starting Hearing.

Owing to the orders of the Attorney-General, Hon. W. F. Nickle, K.C., George Dwyer, father of the Dummer boy who died in Nicholls Hospital on Tuesday morning, was charged with murder when he confronted Magistrate O. A. Langley in police court this morning.

Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton received a phone call at 9.30 from E. Bailey, acting deputy for the Attorney-General. Mr. Bailey stated that the Attorney-General was interested in the case, and advised that the charge be raised to murder, and that both an inquest and a post mortem be held.

Plans had been under way for the funeral of the boy. He was to be buried at 9.00 to-morrow morning after services in St. Peter's Cathedral. The father and step-mother of the deceased were to have attended under escort. The word received this morning from the Attorney-General necessitated a change in these plans.

George Dwyer appeared in court last Saturday when a charge of neglect was read against him. When it was learned that the boy had died a charge of manslaughter was prepared, and if the developments of the morning had not occurred that charge would probably have been allowed to stand.

While court was formally opened shortly after 10:00 o'clock there was a considerable delay owing to the fact that the Crown Attorney had been detained by his communication from the Attorney-General. Dwyer was conducted to the box and listened imperturbably while the charge was read.

It stated that "In the Township of Dummer, in the county of Peterborough, during the months of December, 1925, and January and February, 1926, being then and there the parent of John Dwyer, a child under the age of 16 years, who was then and there a member of the said George Dwyer's household and he, the said George Dwyer being as such parent under legal duty and bound by law to provide sufficient food, clothing and lodging and all other necessaries for the said John Dwyer did, in disregard of his duty in that behalf, then and there, refuse, neglect and omit without lawful excuse, to provide necessaries for the said John Dwyer, and did thereby murder the said John Dwyer contrary to Section 263 of the Criminal Code.

B. Park who is defending Dwyer, said that he was not yet ready to go on with the preliminary investigation, and asked for a week's remand. He stated that the man had no means, and he wished time to consult with his friends.

The Crown agreed, and the preliminary hearing will be held in the court house on Thursday, March 11, at 2.30.

The court room was crowded this morning, many electing to stand and wait for more than an hour.

Dwyer was clad in loosely fitting clothes and wore a frayed white scarf. The lapel of his coat bore an army service button. He betrayed no sign of emotion while the charge was being read.

It is probable that Mrs. Dwyer will also be charged with murder when she appears on remand on Thursday.

Inquest Time Not Set

Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young was approached at 2.30 this afternoon and questioned as to the time of the inquest which is to be held for the purpose of discovering what caused the death of John Dwyer. He said that he did not know.

"Can you say when it is likely to be held?"

"It will be held when I make up my mind," Dr. Young replied. He added that a Toronto authority was coming to Peterborough to assist in the post mortem.

From other sources it is learned that the inquest will be held tomorrow night. At present the body of the 12-year-old Dummer boy is reposing in the funeral parlors of Lane and Eano.

Pathologist to Assist.

A pathologist was sent by the Attorney-General, but it is understood he desires to make his examination of the body by daylight, and this may postpone the inquest until Saturday night.

Chief's Experience.

That the statement of conditions published by The Examiner yesterday was not exaggerated is confirmed today by Chief Constable S. Newhall. The chief recalled that during the course of the investigation a few years ago he made the statement that "the country is reeking in crime." He was challenged, he said, by The Norwood Register, which denied there was immorality or crime in Dummer on the border of which it is published. Chief Newhall replied by pointing out thirty-nine specific cases of immoral living and crime. He and George Powell, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, listed these, and immediately afterward a few cases were actually brought to trial, the Chief said.

Chief Newhall knows the section like a book, he says, and has done as much as lay within his power to eradicate the lamentable conditions existing there.

NOW, HONESTLY—

How often have you met a friend and said—

"What's the matter—have you been sick? You look all fagged out."

That's a poor habit—that has a bad effect.

Most people are human enough to be affected. By golly, if they look sick, they must be sick. And they keep on thinking that until they actually get to feeling bad.

On the other hand, it's just as easy to make a really ill person feel better, by saying something like—

"Well, you certainly are looking better."

If you must do one or the other—do the latter.

'NO COALITION WITH LIBERALS' DECLARE PROGRESSIVE LEADERS IN FORMAL STATEMENT TO PRESS

Will Co-operate Openly on Legislative Basis—Consultation is Necessary.

SIGNED BY FORKE

Unprecedented Political Situation Requires New Methods at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, March 5.—(Canadian Press).—"Coalition or fusion" of the Liberal and Progressive parties "is not contemplated."

This declaration was made in a signed statement issued last night by Robert Forke, Progressive leader, and H. E. Spencer, chief Progressive whip, respecting the position of the Progressive group, in the House of Commons, and its relation to the King Government.

The intention of the Progressive party is "to co-operate openly" with the Government on a "legislative" basis, it is stated, for which "in order to be effective consultation is essential."

The statement reads as follows:

"To prevent any misunderstanding and speculation by the press, it has been thought advisable to issue a statement regarding the position of the Progressive group and its relation to the Government.

"After the general election held on October 29, it transpired that Parliament contained a number of groups, none of which had a majority over all. This is a situation unknown in the history of Canada, and presented obvious difficulties requiring new methods for their solution if the best interests of the country are to be served and parliament allowed to function.

"That this can be best accomplished by co-operation between the various groups in parliament or by co-operation between some of the groups is apparent, and steps were taken to establish a basis for co-operation.

"It is accepted by the co-operating groups that the basis must be legislative, and that in order to be effective consultation is essential. It is therefore the intention of the Progressive group to co-operate openly with the Government on this basis.

Coalition or fusion of the groups participating is not contemplated.

"ROBERT FORKE,
"HENRY E. SPENCER."

People Of Northland Are Deriving Great Benefits By Creation Of Special Secretariat By Government

TORONTO March 5 (Canadian Press).—The people of Northern and New Ontario have received better attention and more rapid action on their various requests through the newly-created secretaryship for Northern Ontario in the Ontario Government, so states Frank H. Keefer, member for Port Arthur and the first Secretary for Northen Ontario in an Ontario Cabinet, in his first report, which was issued today.

Mr. Keefer, in his report, states he has acted as an agent of the Government for hundreds of people and many conterns, and thus has saved considerable expense for those persons living 800 to 1,200 miles from the Provincial capital. He speaks favorably of the colonization scheme of the Dutch and Finnish settlers in Northwestern Ontario, and he also reports on school matters in the north. Mr. Keefer gives attention also to his "watching brief" at Washington, on the waterways developments, on behalf of the Ontario Government.

SAM CLARKE OF NORTHUMBERLAND ACCUSES PREMIER FERGUSON OF STRADDLING THE LIQUOR FENCE

GAIN FOR TORONTO

As Many Toronto Seats as in All Eastern Ontario.

TORONTO, March 5.— (Canadian Press.)— When the Legislature opened Thursday, W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader, again asked the Premier what steps were being taken to appoint a Minister of Lands and Forests to succeed Hon. Jas. Lyons, who resigned. The Premier replied that he would take his time. "I think I am entitled to take reasonable time. Delay is justified because it is an important matter."

Mr. Sinclair—"I don't like this answer. The Prime Minister has three jobs now, and he is sworn in as Minister of this department, and is not acting Minister. I submitted it is not fair to the business of the province for the Prime Minister to take a dual position. Names have been mentioned for members of the House who are fully qualified to hold this postion and the appointment should not be postponed."

Can't "Act."

Mr. Ferguson—"The vacancy has only been caused for three days or so and surely the Prime Minister should have a few days to consider the matter. The Department of Education has not suffered under my regime ;at least, I have not heard of any complaints except that the honorable member makes."

He pointed out that he could not be acting Minister of Lands and Forests, as an acting minister could only act in the temporary absence of the minister. Any delay in appointment was justified, as was shown by the type of men who had been appointed Minister of the Crown He intended to take his time about an appointment, and in the meantime the Department would not suffer.

A Rebuke.

"My honorable friend has mentioned that I was at one time Minister of Lands and Forests," he proceeded. "I held that position for four years, and those opposed to me personally and politically spent money and left no stone unturned to discredit my administration of that Department. The result of their energies is seen by this House, and that is the answer to their attempts. I think my honorable friend had little to do to make any reference to that."

Budget on March 11.

It was announced that Hon. W. Price, provincial treasurer, would bring down his budget on March 11 and that the public accounts committee would meet on March 12 to proceed immediately into investigation of the business of the Lyons Fuel and Supply Company, which Hon. Mr. Lyons desires made as soon as possible. The bill amending the elections act so that members of Parliament taken into cabinets need not seek re-election in their constituencies was referred to a special committee of the house with another bill amending the voters' list act.

Sam Clarke, dean of the House and Liberal member for Northumberland, continued the debate on the reply to the speech from the throne. He criticized the previous speaker, M. M. MacBride (Con., Brantford) for "having much ammunition but no target and thus shooting in the air." He declared that it was a rule of British representative constitution that every riding should be represented and that the real reason the government had not had elections in the seven vacant ridings was that it was afraid to open them up for fear of defeat. The redistribution bill, passed last session, Mr. Clarke described as "highway robbery." Representation, he continued, had been deliberately taken away from rural ridings for the cities, and Toronto had as many members as the country between Toronto and Ottawa. He declared that on the redistribution committee never a suggestion, never a reason, never a motion had been accepted by the Conservative members, who had the horse power to put the bill through.

Mr. Clarke said the most lively question in Ontario to-day was the Ontario Temperance Act. He declared that ever since he had been in the Legislature (for 28 years) the liquor question had caused trouble. He denied that the Conservative party had always been the true friend of temperance.

"They say they built the foundation. If they did they never put any more on it nor a roof over it to keep the wet out," said Mr. Clarke. "The Premier had found fault with the leaders of the prohibition union because they were Grits, and his cry is that they are not honest but out to beat Ferguson. Why should the liquor people vote for the Liberals or the Progressives? They know they can't expect anything and therefore they vote for the Conservatives."

Ferguson on Fence.

Mr. Clarke said that if the abolish the bar system proposed by the Liberals had carried Ontario would have solved the problem. Not one Conservative member had voted for that measure, and yet they called themselves friends of temperance. He accused the Premier of being under the fence on the liquor question "with his head sticking out the wet side and his feet dragging out on the dry side." "Let him be frank. Let him get to one side of the fence or the other. Let him get up and shake himself. I say that under the O.T.A. the townships and the villages are better than they ever were. Local option would not be a good method in these days of cars. But I say this—that after the last election the people expected something from the Ferguson government and if he had given them real beer at home he would have saved himself a lot of trouble now. If I had been elected like he was and on the understanding that he was, I would have voted for beer for those who supported me to get it."

Mr. Clarke said he did not represent his personal view. He was putting himself in the position of the Premier, and contended in such a position he would have been more honest than Mr. Ferguson.

CANADA MUST TAKE IMMEDIATE STEPS TO PROTEST DIVERSION AT CHICAGO, SAYS COMMISSIONER

Critics of Hydro Should First Obtain Facts, Adds C. A. Maguire.

AT KIWANIS CLUB.

Criticism of Local Commission Due To Ignorance, Says Speaker.

C. Alfred Maguire, ex-Mayor of Toronto, and present Hydro-Electric Power Commissioner, told Kiwanis Club to-day that immediate and energetic steps must be taken by Canada to protest United States allowing the treaty of 1909 referring to water diversion being treated like a scrap of paper. In the course of his address, which occupied more than an hour, he also denounced people who criticize Hydro, and pointed out the benefits and advantages of Hydro. People who wish to criticize should first obtain the facts, which will be gladly given by Hydro, and they should then have something to propose as an alternative to the condition they denounced.

Jack Marshall presided, on invitation of President John J. Craig, and the usual festivities were forsworn for the day on account of the special nature of the address, even fines being taboo. Guests included members of the City Council, Engineering Institute, Utilities Commission, Chamber of Commerce, and others.

Mr. Maguire stated that some four years ago he was sent by the late Chairman Sir Adam Beck to go to Milwaukee as part of a deputation to combat the Chicago water steal. The men at that conference were of different stripes of politics, but they were all imbued with one spirit. The situation as they found it was that in 1880 Chicago was faced with the problem of disposing of its sewage, and, according to the most eminent engineers, it undertook to build what is one of the most gigantic engineering blunders that has ever been perpetrated. The United States Government attempted to stop Chicago—it was six years before the case was heard. An appeal was made by Chicago, and the matter taken to the Supreme Court of the United States. Between 1898 and the time the case was entered in the courts, Chicago received a temporary permit from the Secretary for War, and they have been taking since as much water as flows over Niagara Falls.

"We had serious opposition to contend with — 80 per cent. of the members of the State Legislature were on the payroll of the sanitary district of Chicago. We proved that all Chicago required was 900 second cubic feet of water.

"We turned from sanitation," said Mr. Maguire, "to navigation, and we proved that 1,400 second cubic feet of water was all that was required.

"When you decrease the levels of the lakes it means that the freight carriers must reduce their tonnage accordingly. It was proven that Chicago was responsible for the lowering of the water. The damage done," said Mr. Maguire, "on a modest estimate, would amount to $150,000,000.

"We say to the people of Canada that Chicago, in consideration of the treaty of 1909, whereby no diversion may take place without the

ACTIVITIES IN ALBERTA OIL AND GAS FIELDS TO REACH PEAK THIS SEASON WITH PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Four Wells Obtain Oil in Commercial Quantities Last Year.

SUMMARY OF WORK

24 Drilling to Completion — 22 New Wells in Sight.

MONTREAL, Que., March 5th.—Canadian Press. — 'estern Canada during the past few years has seen a marked campaign of development of oil and gas resources, the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy as to'l in a paper read Thursday by Charles C. Ross, senior mining inspector, Department of the Interior, Calgary, dealing with the province of Alberta in detail he gave the following conclusion to an extensive review.

"A general survey of the results obtained from approximately 326 wells, which have been 'spudded in' from the commencement of the search for oil and gas in the province of Alberta' until the end of the year 1925, shows that of 326 wells, 137 obtained gas and 10 obtained oil in commercial quantities, while from 25 to 65 obtained shows of oil or gas, or both oil and gas. All of the remainder, some 120 wells, should not be placed in the 'duster' class as many of these wells were never completed owing to lack of finances and incompent drilling. Again a number of these old wells will in the near future be repaired and deepened to penetrate the dolomitic limestone horizon discovered by Royalite No. 4.

Results Last Year.

"During 1925 the results obtained from drilling are most encouraging, and a summary of the 33 wells in operation shows:

"Three wells abandoned.

"Four wells obtained oil in commercial quantities.

"Six wells obtained gas in commercial quantities.

"Fourteen wells obtained shows of oil or gas or both oil and gas.

"Six wells are completed.

"There are nine wells abandoned and completed; the remainder (24) are still drilling.

"It is difficult at this date to estimate the extent of the drilling programme for 1926. This will depend largely on developments in the next few months at the wells nearing completion in the Turner valley. If one more well equal to Royalite No. 4 is brought in, it is doubtful that anyone could prophesy the development that might follow.

Active Year Ahead.

"At present Alberta is assured of the following new wells for 1926: — Ten in Turner valley, 5 about 30 miles west of Calgary, known as the Moose Mountain and Bow River areas; 4 in Wainwright area, and 3 in Southern Alberta.

"Even if the drilling programme goes no farther than outlined (22 new wells and 24 drilling to completion) the drilling activity in Alberta, will reach its highest peak during the coming year.

"Considering what has occurred in the past in the producing gas fields, a few words of caution are possibly in order:

Gas fields should be produced to show a gradually declining rock pressure and should never be drawn upon to a larger extent than 40 per cent. of their open-flow capacity.

"To open one or two wells wide open and keep the balance of wells in this same field shut in is not good practice, because water is thereby drawn into bays underground, and wherever bays are formed islands of gas are left which have no outlet, and the total amount of gas recovered is necessarily very much reduced.

"It is essential that all parts of any gas field be drawn upon evenly so that the water line will gradually advance from all sides at an even rate and thus drive out all gas."

SONS OF SCOTLAND HAD GOOD MEETING

Rev. W. S. Edgar Spoke On Coventanters—Splendid Address.

Under the auspices of Clan Alpine Camp No. 36, Rev. W. S. Edgar delivered an address on "The Scottish Covenanters last night in the Sons of England Hall. Coupled with the fact that he has spent many years in the covenanting country, Mr. Edgar's rare insight into the motives of the covenanters makes him peculiarly adapted for his subject.

Bro. T. Hendry occupied the chair. During the evening solos were rendered by Bros. Clark and Greives. A trio "Willie Brewed a Peck o' Maut" by Bros. Greives, Milne and Clark was enjoyed. Later the same trio gave "Annie Laurie." Mr. Greive, senior, recited "The Child Martyr," a poem having reference to one of the heroines referred to by Mr. Edgar. Miss Thomson gave a clever and graceful interpretation of Highland dancing. Bro. Milne supplied the pipe music. Mr. S. Thomson, by special request, recited a humorous poem, "The Goalkeeper's Ghost."

Bro. Shaw moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Edgar and the singer. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

CROWD WITNESSES NEGRO'S EXECUTION

Nearby Garage Offers Standing Room To Curious For $2 Per Head.

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 5. — (United Press).—Ed. Harris, the negro who was saved from a mob a few weeks ago, only by the calling out of troops to guard the courtroom where his 23 minutes' trial for murderous assault was held, was hanged here to-day.

Fifteen minutes after the trap was sprung to-day, Harris was pronounced dead, and his body was cut down.

When the execution took place today, so great was the curiosity of the people that standing room on a garage roof from which the execution could be seen, was sold for $2 per head.

When one that holds communion with the skies
Has fill'd his urn where these pure waters rise,
And once more mingles with us meaner things,
'Tis e'en as if an angel shook his wings. —Cowper.

CAMPBELLFORD CITIZEN LEAVES TOWN FOR IMPORTANT POSITION

S. J. Moore Appointed Manager of O'Brien Woollen Mill, Renfrew.

IN TOWN 21 YEARS.

Has Been Living Retired For Two or Three Years —Popular Citizen.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 5.— S. J. Moore, one of Campbellford's best known residents, has been appointed manager of the O'Brien woolen factories in Renfrew, and has left for that town to take over the duties of his new position in which his friends are convinced he will be as successful as he was when he held a similar post here.

It is 21 years since Mr. Moore came from Montreal to Campbellford to become manager of what was then the Trent Woolen Mills, but what is now known as the Campbellford Cloth Company. He held that position for 8 years, being forced to retire nearly three years ago on account of his health, which had been undermined by a too close application to business. Since giving up active work he has built a residence on Second street, one of the handsome homes of the many of that class in town. The long rest which he enjoyed has had its effect and he now finds himself as fit as he was 20 years ago.

Mr. Moore's reputation as a successful manager of the industry in which he has been so long engaged is one of the highest with the leading manufacturers of the country and he has for some time been offered desirable positions which he did not feel justified in accepting until he was assured that his health would permit him to carry on with his old time energy.

While he had charge of the local mill Mr. Moore had not only the confidence of the company but the esteem of the employees as well. The concern prospered under his management and during the war, when the capacity of the plant was taxed to the utmost even while running night and day, Mr. Moore was on duty at all hours, and it was at that time that his health began to fail. No matter how great the volume of the orders received, Mr. Moore was always able to maintain the working force up to full strength and to make deliveries on time. Handling as he did so large a force it is to his credit to say that during the 18 years of his management he was never involved in any serious disputes with his workmen.

His New Position.

The position to which Mr. Moore has just been called is an important one. He is to have the oversight of two large cloth factories, in Renfrew, both of which are owned by Senator M. J. O'Brien, the multi-millionaire miner and manufacturer of that town and who, it is understood, holds the controlling interest in the huge smelting plant at Deloro. One of these factories has been the property of Senator O'Brien for years and the second was acquired recently. There is at least one astute business man in this country who is convinced that there is a future for the woolen industry in Canada. When running at capacity these two factories give employment to over 500 hands. It is expected that a large number of Mr. Moore's former employees here will follow him to Renfrew.

Mr. Moore during his long residence here devoted himself to business and took little part in public life although he could have held any office in the gift of the town had he cared to accept it. He did serve as a member of the town council last year, but refused a renomination at the end of his term. His favorite recreations are bowling and curling and he is an expert at both pastimes.

Goes To Quebec.

Another long-time resident of Campbellford has accepted a good position elsewhere. Sergeant George T. Salter received a telegram on Thursday, calling him to Maniwaki, Que., where he will act as storekeeper for the International Paper Company, whose headquarters are at that place. The Sergeant's immeditae superior will be B. D. Poiser, who was here when the Hydro Commission built number 9 power house two years ago, and Sergeant Salter held the position of storekeeper at that time.

The Sergeant is one of the old-time members of the Northumberland Regiment Band and has a distinguished military record, both in the Great War and in the Philippines, and two years ago he was awarded a long service medal. His favorite band instrument is the euphonium and he was always in demand as a solist at local entertainments. He is also a prominent member of the I.O.O.F.

Sergeant Salter left for Maniwaki Friday morning.

Will Locate in Cleveland.

Roland Dunk, who has been learning the new process of electric welding in the shop of Joshua Hariden, will go to Cleveland, where he has an uncle engaged in that line of industry. All the official documents required to secure entry to the United States have been obtained from the authorities.

LEGS BROKEN

Painful Accident to Indian River Man—Fault of Horses.

DOURO, March 5.—A painful accident occurred at Indian River on Saturday when J. Miller had his two legs broken just below the knees. He was employed by Chas. Elmhirst and was engaged in loading logs on a car at the station. The horses started and crushed the unfortunate man between the load and the car. He was taken to a Peterboro hospital on the 3.20 train, which was due a few minutes after the accident.

McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets Fine For Thin Under Developed Kids

Children Love Them Because They Are Sugar Coated and as Easy to Take as Candy.

It's your duty, Mother, to see that the frail, peaked, sickly youngster grows up to be strong in body, keen in mind and robust in health.

Extracted from the livers of the lowly codfish are the health, weight and strength producing vitamines that are found in McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets, which are sold by pharmacists all over North and South America.

Doctors know about them and so does McDermid and Jury, Jas. Lynch and Bond's drug stores, and if your children need building up ask for these tablets to-day if you want to give your loved ones a good appetite and put pounds of good healthy flesh on their bones.

But be sure and get McCoy's.

They are not expensive—60 tablets 60 cents—and if you are not pleased with the improvement after 30 days, your money back.

A very sickly child, age 9, gained 12 pounds in seven months and is strong and healthy.

One skinny woman gained 9 pounds in 24 days.

YOUNG PEOPLE HELD SPLENDID MEETING

Interest Increasing in Work of Society—Warsaw News.

WARSAW, March 5.—More general interest in the Warsaw Young Peoples' Society is being shown. Tuesday evening last was the Literary meeting, led by Miss Quinn. Her subject was "Wordsworth." Mrs. Digweed read a paper on "Wordsworth's early life." Mrs. W. Selkirk read "We are Seven," and Mr. Herrington read "The Beggars."

While Lent seems to have stopped the big dances in the hall, there are still many dancing parties, no matter what else goes on.

The Ladies' Aid met at the parsonage on Tuesday afternoon. The number attending is increasing. There were twenty-two members present, and one visitor, Mrs. Alec Darling from Zion.

It was decided to close the membership contest and the results will be known later. Much interest was shown in the work of the Aid.

Some of the men of the community wish to put on some different form of entertainment in the Town Hall shortly, and offered the proceeds to the ladies if they would supply refreshments. The Aid very gladly accepted their offer and will also do the decorating. About the end of this month members of the Aid, and their husbands will hold a little social evening, for which there will be no charge.

Members were asked to make calls, especially on shut-ins, and report the number made.

Mesdames Sneider and George Taylor led in prayer. Mesdames J. Hawthorne and A. Edwards sang "Search me oh God, and know my heart." This was the February meeting, postponed on account of the classes.

Mr. and Mrs. Colville spent a few days with Mrs. Colville's sister, Mrs. Arthur Edwards, and family, before returning to their home in the West.

Mr. Edward Kidd, who has spent the winter with friends and relatives near Warsaw, left for his home on Tuesday.

Mrs. Wallace Andreson returned from her visit to Oklahoma Sunday. She was about fourteen hours later reaching Peterboro than she had expected. This side of Fort Wayne, a freight train had been derailed, and the passenger track was torn up too. Instead of reaching Detroit about eight in the evening it was two o'clock in the morning. Mrs. Anderson was delighted with her trip, and though she left gardens with sweet peas up about two inches, plum trees in bloom, and other spring-like things, she was glad to be back, and Monday's snow storm seemed quite natural.

The Woman's Institute will hold its regular meeting on Thursday afternoon, March 11. Subject: "House-cleaning and gardening," to be taken as a question drawer.

FRIDAY, MARCH 5, 1926.

A WELCOME ANNOUNCEMENT.

A welcome announcement was that made in the news columns of the Examiner yesterday of the re-organization of the William Hamilton Company, which has been placed on a good financial footing through a new bond issue.

The William Hamilton Company has been in operation in Peterboro since 1856, and is one of the city's oldest industries.

It is, therefore, particularly pleasing to learn of the re-organization because of the prospects it offers of operation on a much larger scale, and of a development that promises employment for a considerably larger staff than at present engaged.

The indications that work will be found eventually for some 250 men will be marked by citizens generally with satisfaction, as a forerunner of a general industrial revival.

It is a very hopeful sign, indeed, and the announcement from this pioneer industry may be followed by further evidence of expansion and progress in other local plants.

A NOVEL COMPETITION.

The Ontario Motor League in announcing a competition among the hotelmen of the Province indicates that the league is well aware of the fact that hotel accommodation is one of the key factors in the tourist traffic question.

It is obvious that to persuade an army of visitors to come to Ontario only to have carry away ill-reports in regard to hotel service would be fatal to the success of any scheme of promoting tourist traffic.

The Province has many fine hotels—but it also has too many that cannot be so described, and an improvement in the general condition of those in this class would be of widespread benefit, not only to visitors from outside of Ontario, but also to the people of the Province.

The competition announced by the Motor League will be decided according to the voluntary reports of legitimate guests, the prizes to be awarded to those hotels which on the basis of these reports have shown the greatest improvement in cuisine, sleeping accommodation and actual business done during the period from May 1st to November 1st, 1926.

THE HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Although Ald. Greene's objection that the request should have been made before the estimates were drawn up was reasonable, the Examiner believes that the action of the Council in making a grant to the Horticultural Society of $150 to help finance the Gladiolus Show here in August will be generally approved.

The effect of such a show in this city should be long-lived.

The exhibition of many beautiful specimens will undoubtedly lead to a greater interest in the cultivation of these flowers in Peterboro, with results that will add to the already greatly admired appearance of the city's gardens.

The Horticulral Society should have a record season this year, with the Gladiolus Show as the crowning feature.

Membership in the organization, in view of the long list of splendid options that has been announced, will undoubtedly show a big increase, particularly as a membership campaign is to be vigorously pushed by the society.

Peterboro has to thank the Horticultural Society for effecting improvements in many parts of the city, and the grant to assist the coming show is, after all, merely paying for value received.

AUTOMOBILE FATALITIES.

Substantial improvement in the traffic accident situation in the United States is seen by the Committee on Statistics of the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety. This is a well-considered opinion, despite an increase in the total number of fatalities during 1925 over the total of the preceding year. But the rate of increase is declining, a significant fact because of the rapid rise in motor vehicle registration. The preliminary statement for last year, recently issued, states that the fatality ratio has been somewhat checked, and that the question may now be asked whether traffic accidents are permanently on the increase, or whether a sufficient slackening has been shown to warrant the hope that an actual downward trend may soon make its appearance. The committee finds that the number of fatalities charged against automobile operation by the Department of Commerce has risen steadily since 1917. The rate of increase in each successive year over the next preceding year is given as follows: 1918 over 1917, 4 per cent.; 1919 over 1918, 3.9 per cent.; 1920 over 1919, 12.7 per cent.; 1921 over 1920, 11.7 per cent.; 1922 over 1921, 10.6 per cent.; 1923 over 1922, 20.3 per cent.; 1924 over 1923, 6.8 per cent.

Twenty-seven cities showed a decline in the number of automobile fatalities in 1925 as compared with 1924, three cities reporting the same number in both years. The reduction in fatalities ranged as high as 41.4 per cent. in Washington, Del., and 37 per cent. in Springfield, Mass. The largest cities in the country, New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia, showed increases, but the list of decreases includes such large cities as San Francisco, 21.2 per cent.; Washington, 18.5 per cent.; Los Angeles, 13.1 per cent.; Pittsburg, 5.4 per cent.; Newark, 2.9 per cent.; Detroit, 2.6 per cent., and St. Louis, 1 per cent. The returns from seventy-eight cities, the committee states, indicate a drop to 2.5 per cent. in the increased number of fatalities in 1925 as compared with 1924, which was 6.8 per cent. over 1924. In spite of the increase in the total number of fatalities, the committee is of the opinion that this decline in the rate of increase, especially in view of the rapid increase in motor vehicle registrations, indicate substantial improvement in the traffic accident situation.

Hon. Chas. Dunning is to have no opposition in Regina. Evidently there is no Captain Burgess there to lead a forlorn hope.

THEY MAY HIRE A HALL.

(From the Stratford Beacon-Herald.)

J. L. Stansell, M.P. for Norfolk-Elgin, has been challenged to a public debate by Genevieve Lipsett-Skinner, the first and only woman to jimmy her way into the Press Gallery at Ottawa.

The lady journalist, in an address delivered in Mr. Stansell's district, charged that members of Parliament were not nearly as busy at Ottawa as when they were getting elected. Some of them even played the odd game of cards, and it was reported that others often put their feet on desks as though they were sitting by the kitchen range at home.

Naturally Mr. Stansell took up the cudgels—whatever they may be—on behalf of the men in Parliament, and in a kindly but firm way told sweet Genevieve that she was talking through her new spring bonnet.

But Genevieve Lipsett-Skinner is not to be denied, and she has challenged Mr. Stansell to debate the matter. The people of the country would no doubt be willing that the debate take place in the Commons, but the lady, not being a member, would not be allowed even to tip-toe across the sacred chamber, so that chances are they'll have to hire a hall.

Like Elijah of old, Mr. Stansell has aroused the anger of a woman. He has not to flee before a wicked Jezebel, but rather to flow before an outraged member of the Fourth Estate.

Members of all parties should flock to the support of Mr. Stansell and fortify him with reams of evidence concerning their good works, their devotion to party standards and the zeal with which they bend their necks to the common and joyous purpose of saving the nation.

TO STOP CHICAGO'S STEAL.

Definite legal proceedings at length have been begun in the United States to put a stop to the theft by Chicago of water from the Great Lakes. Bills of complaint already have been filed in the Supreme Court by five States possessing extensive littorals with numerous ports and harbors on these great inland seas, and two other States will at once take similar action to protest against the present abstraction of water to the detriment and damage of navigation. The bills thus filed, after representing the enormous injury which navigation has suffered as a consequence of the reduction of the lake levels through the diversion and abstraction of water at Chicago, ask for an injunction to restrain any further larceny by that city. It is argued in support of these pleas that neither the Congress of the United States nor the Secretary of War, nor any agency, Federal or State, possesses the power to authorize the abstraction from the Great Lakes basin of any water to be diverted into any watershed other than that in which it naturally flows. It is further contended that power does not lie constitutionally even in the Government of the United States to authorize any such diversion; that the power vested in the United States Government by the Constitution is that of regulation, not of destruction, and that under international treaty the rights of Canada in these great waterways must not be violated.

The enormous interests of Canada in the protection and continuance of the navigability and navigable capacity of these waterways are immediately and intimately associated with these legal proceedings in the United States, and the progress of the cases thus instituted in the Supreme Court at Washington will be followed in this country with attention and concern. The welfare of Canada and of the seven States appealing for protection against the predatory activities of Chicago is identical in maintaining the natural level of the lakes, and their efforts at redress and relief may well be pursued simultaneously.

It is, accordingly, incumbent on the Canadian Government to act in sympathy with whatever steps are taken in the United States to stop the artificial flow to another watershed of the water of these lakes. On the success of these steps—on the prevention of this abstraction, which has now been in progress for many years—rest the prosperity of our shipping, the very existence of many of our ports and harbors, the development of our trade and commerce, and the feasibility of constructing the lake-to-ocean seaway by the St. Lawrence and developing hydro-electric power for the benefit and advantage of both nations bordering the shores of that great stream.

But the Government of Canada will be called upon to play another and important part in helping to realize the object which is sought to be attained by the petition of the seven States now protesting against the abstraction of water by Chicago. It is notorious that the interests which are concerned with continuing this abstraction of water at Chicago are determined, if possible, to make the present diversion not only secure, but perpetual. Without scruple or conscience, they will adopt every trick, every device, to defeat the efforts of those who are striving to preserve the normal level of the lakes and make these waterways secure for navigation. Already overtures of one kind or another have been made by them which might create a situation imperilling any judgment of the United States courts or any understanding by Canada with the Government of the United States adverse to their predatory aims. They have proposed an enlargement of the volume of water diverted at Niagara for power purposes, and it is manifest they have done so with the subtle design that if such proposals should be accepted they would be able to lay claim to a sufficient portion of the volume thus awarded to the United States to continue the flow at Chicago. In harboring this design they ignore the fact that the water utilized for power purposes at Niagara is not lost to the lakes. After being used to create electric power it is returned to the lakes, and in no sense affects the level of these bodies of water. But the water which Chicago uses is no so diverted to a mere temporary use; it is abstracted; it is deflected into a channel through which it passes to the Mississippi River and is forever lost to the Great Lakes watershed. Accordingly, precaution must be taken to give these unscrupulous interests at Chicago no opportunity even to raise any point which might endanger the prompt and effectual suppression of their theft from the Great Lakes. The extension of the volume of water for power purposes at Niagara can wait until the need for it becomes more pressing. The immediate need is for power development on the St. Lawrence River.—The Globe.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Peterboro is solidly behind its hockey team in tonight's game in Toronto. All the supporters can't see the game, but they're all pulling for a Peterboro victory.

The sorriest citizen today is the fellow who kept on saying there was lots of time to get tickets for tonight's game until the plan was sold out.

Speaking of tickets, how about your membership in the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition.

Fellowship of Prayer

FRIDAY—
The Light of Truth.

Read Jn. 8:31-41. Text: 8:32. And the truth shall make you free.

Meditation—Dare we believe him in his promise that the truth and tsth alone can make us free? By carelessness or wrong doing we get into a tight place and imagine a lie will get us out. Jesus dared to speak and act the truth and was free, though he died for truth. The Pharisees were indignant at his suggestion that they were bondmen, did they not have Abraham for Father? Every man must make his own liberty, no matter how free hi forebears. "Every one that committeth sin is bond-servant of sin. If a man abide in Christ—he shall know what is true and obeying shall be free.

"I ascended the mountains, and went down the valleys, I visited the manufactories, the commercial markets and emporiums of trade. I entered their judicial courts and legislative halls, but I sought everywhere in vain until I entered the church. It was there as I listened to the soul equalizing and soul elevating principles of the Gospel of Christ as they fell from Sabbath to Sabbath upon the masses of the people that I learned why America was great and free."

Prayer—O Thou who art the Truth, we would dare to believe in truth no matter how promising falsehood may seem. O Thou who didst bring our exiled fathers across the seas, may we keep intact our inherited liberties, let us never, we pray Thee, endanger them by tolerated lies. Amen.

TUXIS BOYS TOOK CHARGE OF SERVICE

Regent Street Church Was Filled to Doors Last Sunday.

LAKEFIELD, March 4.—On Sunday evening the Tuxis boys were in charge of the service in the Regent Street Church, which was filled to the doors, and even the gallery was used. Rarely, if ever, has there been such a large congregation, and, judging from the opinions expressed, the service was successful in every way in a measure even greater than the leaders anticipated. The boys did credit to their training, as each took his part reverently and efficiently, and in the addresses put clearly before the congregation, the aims of the C.S.E.T. and Tuxis movement and its four square programme and unconsciously demonstrating how valuable it is in training the youth in taking an active part in the work of Church and State.

Mr. G. G. Connell presided at the organ, and the choir was composed of men, while on the platform sat A. B. Burrows, mentor of the Tuxis Square of the church, and Norman Lemay, Frank Madill, Ivan Madill, S. Nixon, Harry Sherin, Stanley Darling, Kenneth Kemp, Sam Spence and Ted Leonard.

The ushers were Harry Stabler, Jack Brown, Sandy Millage and Gerald Sherin, while four of the Trail Rangers collected the offering.

The following is the order of service:

Doxology.

Short prayer—Norman Lemay.

Hymn 562—Announced by Norman Lemay.

Long prayer—Mr. A. B. Burrows.

Bible reading, St. Luke's gospel, chapter 2, verses 40-52, read by Ivan Madill.

Announcements and offering—Frank Madill.

Hymn 332, announced by Frank Madill.

Introuctory Speech, Outline of Tuxis and C.S.E.T. work—Solon Nixon.

Explanatory addreses on each of the four sides of the Tuxis program.

Intellectual side—Harry Sherin.

Physical side—Stanley Darling.

Religious side—Kenneth Kemp.

Social side—Sam Spence.

Trail Rangers' Department for boys 12 to 14 years—Ted Leonard.

Hymn 237, announce by Norman Lemay.

Benediction—Rev. S. A. Kemp.

This is the first service of the kind held in the church but one is assured that it will become an annual institution recognizing the importance and value of ths effort to cope with the great youth movement so much desired in the world today.

Peterborough Guests.

On Friday evening the Tuxis boys and C.G.I.T. girls of St. Paul's, Peterborough, were guests of the Katchewanooka Square of the Regent street church at a skating party and a social evening following in the basement of the church. The boys of the Star square of the United (Presbyterian) church and the C.G.I.T. group of the Regent street church were also guests of the Katchewanooka square

The young people spent a pleasure evening, which will long remain a very happy memory.

A car of Alberta coal arrived in the village lats week which is the first for Lakefield. It was consigned to W. J. Charlton, the local dealer.

Mr. James Dutton of Peterboro was in charge of the services of the Presbyterian church held on Sunday afternoon in the Baptist church. Mr. Dutton made the trip in a "snowmobile."

A by-law will be submitted to the ratepayers of the village on March 15th regarding the building and maintenance of power transmission lines upon the thoroughfares of the village by the Canada Cement Co. It will be remembered that in August 1924 the power belonging to the Dickson Co. was purchased by the Cement Co. who propose to develop it for use in connection with the plant.

Monday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock the boys and girls of the Public school are guests of the rink company and are allowed free skating. This has been an innovation this winter but has been highly successful, the privilege being much appreciated by the youngsters.

With the district league schedule completed and the O.H.A. games a memory the hockey fans are looking forward to what are popularly known as "funny matches," such as the professional or business men vs the girls' team, the married men vs the single men, or fat vs lean, etc.

To provide a real match before the season closes rumor is persistent in affirming that the Peterboro juniors and Lakefield juniors will play the game announced earlier in the season and postponed.

The final game of the vice skips' bonspiel will be played Tuesday evening and will be fourteen ends. The competition is keen and has awakened a very considerable local interest

The annual Kentucky vs Blowhard games will probably be next on the schedule.

Last year a Mercantile bonspiel was held when a new draw of rinks was made and the prizes were a barrel of apples and two bags of potatoes. Owing to the small excess potato crop this competition may be postponed.

You will never fi ' a man with a sound stomach among the pessimists.

She Coughed Night and Day Until She Used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Mrs. S. E. Little, 103 Inkerman St., London, Ont., writes:—"I got a very severe cold which settled in my bronchial tubes.

I coughed night and day, and although I tried several different remedies I could get no relief until a friend advised me to take Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. This I did, and I must say that it gave me almost immediate relief as I got rid of my cough very quickly. I hope this testimonial will be the means of helping others."

STERLING RATES

MONTREAL, March 4 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here today as follows:

Sterling demand $4.88.

Sterling cables $4.88 1-2.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 4 (Canadian Press). — With eastern buying strongly in evidence during the late dealings, wheat prices made a good recovery today after dripping to the lowest level touched in some time. Much of the buying was attributed to a New York speculator said to have been a recent heavy seller. Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 1 1-4c lower, May (new) $1.58 3-4 to $1.58 7-8, and July $1.39 7-8 to $1.40 1-8. Corn closed 1 1-4 to 2c net higher; oats 1-4c off to 1-4c up, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to 7 to 10c advance.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, March 4 (Canadian Press).—The export trade in grain was again dull in the local market, foreign importers not being disposed to operate at the recent decline, as most of the cables received only asked exporters to make offers. The local demand was also restricted, sales being confined chiefly to car lots. Prices for oats were unchanged.

A weaker feeling developed in the market for fresh firsts eggs and prices were reduced 1c per dozen. There was no change in the condition of the market for other grades, prices being steady. The demand continues good and an active business was done with sales of extras at 42, firsts at 36, and seconds at 32c per dozen. The market for storage was steady under a moderate demand for small lots and prices were unchanged. Receipts today were 1,361 cases.

The trade in spot supplies in the butter market was again quiet but the undertone was firm and prices were fully maintained. It was reported, however, that jobbing houses in some cases had marked up their prices 1c per pound, but as this move was not general finest creamery butter was quoted at 46c to 47c per pound, and at 47 to 48c per pound in one pound blocks. Receipts were 14 packages.

There was no change in the condition of the cheese market today and prices were unchanged. Receipts were 61 boxes.

FIRST PASSENGER OUT OF RED LAKE

Plane Service Makes Successful Start—Air Mail Service.

TORONTO, March 5—(Canadian Press).—The first airplane passenger from Red Lake, the new gold mining field, to Hudson, the nearest railway point, was carried safely yesterday. Hon. Charles McCrea Minister of Mines, received a wire from Jack Hamel that he left the camp and flew to Hudson by plane, perfect landings being made. The journey of about 150 miles took an hour and forty minutes.

Hamel was brought by Jack Elliott, who has instituted a commercial airplane passenger service.

The Minister of Mines was informed by Elliott in a letter that he had been appointed temporary postmaster at Red Lake and he forwarded to the Minister 100 air mail stamps for use in sending mail by plane. These are available to the general public.

Hamel, in the wire announcing the successful flight, states that the recorders office at Red Lake is working day and night.

Lift out Corn—root and all

Cutting corns, or using a so-called corn solvent is useless. You have probably tried and know yourself how the corns comes back again painful as ever in a week or less. The only satisfactory way to deal with an obstinate corn is to take a Radox Foot Bath once or twice; you can lift the whole corn out with your fingers.

How Radox Bath Salts Remove Corns

When you put your feet into a foot bath containing Radox the salts soften the hard outer layers of the corn and the oxygen which Radox liberates enters the pores, opens them, and penetrates further and further, carrying the corn-softening salts right to the root of the corn, which is thus loosened so that it can be lifted out bodily. This life-giving oxygen leaves the feet clean and healthy. Because it is the oxygen which carries the corn solvents to the root of the corn, and because Radox liberates, by test, more oxygen than any other salts, it is obvious that Radox is more efficient in removing corns than any other salts.

The Radox Bath Salt does not attack the living skin; it softens and refreshes this; it cannot dissolve it. It is only the dead skin—the corn—which it dissolves.

There is nothing left to ache; the corn is bodily removed. A Radox enthusiast writes:—

"My wife tried plasters, salves salts and soda to try and move her corn, which has nearly driven her mad the last three months; but they moved neither the corn nor the pain. We saw an advertisement showing a corn being pulled out We sent for the Radox Bath Salts at 6 o'clock, and at twenty minutes to seven my wife was pulling the corn out, after years of agony. It is worth $20 a package." Buy a package of Radox Bath Salts at the druggist's. 60c. Half pound Pink package

CHAMBERLAIN GIVEN FREE HAND AT MEETING OF LEAGUE COUNCIL MONDAY FOR GERMAN ADMISSION

Anxious to Avoid Political Division in Britain Over League Affairs.

COMMONS DEBATE

Ramsay MacDonald and Lloyd George Not Convinced by Speech.

LONDON, March 5.—(Canadian Press).—The net result of Thursday's debate in the House of Commons on the Geneva meeting of the League of Nations March 8 was to leave matter much as they were, inasmuch as Sir Austen Chamberlain, secretary for foreign affairs, will go to Geneva with a free hand. He announced himself, however, in agreement with the policy of the Government and the nation to do nothing to hurt Germany's chance of becoming a members of the League.

Sir Austen made a long statement in the House, but his speech left the Oppostion critics unsatisfied. Former Premier Lloyd George, with his aptness of phrase, put the matter thus: "The wine of Locarno is already badly corked, due to this unfortunate series of incidents."

The foreign secretary set his keynote at the start of his speech—"It is a wish very close to my heart that in my tenure of office as foreign secretary I might carry the general sentiment of the nation with me and that nothing in my language or attitude might make this an issue between the parties in this country."

Supported by Premier.

Sir Austen was loyally supported by Premier Baldwin, who in his speech winding up the debate ventured to predict that when the secretary returned from Geneva those who now distrusted him would be the first to acknoweldge that he had built still another stone in the temple of European peace.

Both the prime minister and the foreign secretary strongly emphasized that Great Britain as only a single nation at Geneva, and therefore could neither be arbiter of the agenda nor avoid consideration of the desires and ambitions of other countries.

Sir Austen insisted on the impossibility of any single nation seeking to lay down in advance a plan of action for the League Council and assembly. The right of Germany, the United States and Russia to permanent seats when they sought them was unquestioned, but similar claims of other nations was a matter for an interchange of ideas and free play of thought within the body of the assembly.

To one thing the British Government would never lend itself—trying to re-create in the League Council camps of opposing forces, which were the curse of Europe before the war.

Opposition Criticism.

The former Labor minister, Ramsay MacDonald, and Mr. Lloyd George, with many other opposition speakers, expressed dissatisfaction with the secretary's speech, mainly on the ground of absence of any peldge to vote against the claims of Poland, Spain and Brazil, should be submitted, and, as seemed likely, supported by France, Italy and other powers.

Mr. Lloyd George, however, obtained from Sir Austen an explicit denial that he had discussed this topic with the Italian premier, Mussolini, and also a statement that he had not pledged himself or the Government with Premier Briand of France. On the latter point, however, Mr. Lloyd George remarked that on his own recent admissions the foreign secretary must have communicated to M. Briand his sympathies with the aspirations of Poland, Spain and Brazil and, Mr. Lloyd George added, alluding to an Anglo-German incident at the last Guildhall banquet when Germans and British drank together: "The loving cup is being poisoned with suspicion."

INVENTOR OF HOBBY HORSE DIES AT 104

Thought Longevity Due to the Use of Tobacco.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 5. — Benjamin Crandall, who devoted 88 of the 104 years of his full life to the invention and manufacture of toys for children, is dead at the home of relatives in this city.

Crandall was perhaps best known as the inventor of the hobby horse, which is today being ridden by millions of children throughout the world.

Crandall's health began to fall several months ago, when he suffered a stroke of paralysis and was forced to remain in bed. He was born at Wesley, R. I., but early in life moved to New York, where, as a young mechanic, he developed the hobby horse and later manufactured other articles generally used on park amusement machines.

He grew wealthy in the manufacture of his creations, but failed in business 20 years ago, after he had assumed the financial obligations of a friend.

Crandall ascribed his longevity to a sane mode of living and the consistent use of tobacco. The body will be taken to New York for burial.

Montreal Man Held As Smuggler Of Aliens To U.S.

MONTREAL, March 5 (Canadian Press).—M. M. Campbell, consul in Montreal for the principality of Monaco, is out on $800 bail, following arrest here Thursday by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police on a charge of conspiring with others to secure money for passing people into the United States as citizens of Monaco, knowing them to be Serbs and Jugo-Slays. Preliminary "enquete" into the charge will take place March 11.

Two specific amounts of $150 and $130 are mentioned in the complaint on which the arraignment was made today before Judge Perreault.

GERMANS EXPECT STORMY SCENES AT CONFERENCE

Delegation Left Today for Geneva to Enter Council of League.

IN EASIER MOOD

Resentment Partly Allayed by Briand's Recent Plea for Peace.

BERLIN, March 5.— (Canadian Press.)—The German delegation to the meetings of the League of Nations Assembly and Council, left for Geneva to-day with a feeling of uneasiness. The Germans, however, are looking forward to fair play, though expecting stormy scenes.

The Government leaders are extremely gratified to notice a decline in the opposition to Germany's entry into the League among some of the nationalists, it was said yesterday in foreign office circles, with last minute indications that the parties of the Right will be inclined to work with the League powers for world peace after the admission of Germany.

This change in sentiment is due, it is said, to the oppostion in the French chamber to ratification of the Locarno pact where M. Briand uttered the most remarkable plea for peace, which, from German point of view, has been heard in the chamber since 1870.

Impressed Germans.

M. Briand's sincerity is thought to have impressed the German Government to the extent of alleviating the feeling of resentment caused by the failure of M. Briand and Sir Austen Chamberlain to notify Germany that other nations had applied for permanent seats in the League Council.

The Council's size is regarded as fundamentally unimportant, so long as the League members objectively work for peace without alliances, even to the abandonment of the use of the term allies in referring to the world war. The attitude of the Government, nevertheless, with respect to the expansion of the council, is unchanged, the only compromise acceptable being the appointment of a league committee to investigate the applications for permanent seats and report at the next session of the assembly.

Completed on Monday.

It is expected that the discussions regarding Germany's entry will be competed on the opening day of the meeting, Monday. Chancellor Luther and Gustav Stresemann will insist on the exclusion of all discussion relative to the admission to the council of other powers at the present time, or promises or compromises for admission at the fall session.

BRAZIL TO APPLY.

GENEVA, March 5.—(Canadian Press.)—Even if the Council of the League of Nations decides at the forthcoming session to elect no nations to permanent seats at the present time except Germany, Brazil will, nevertheless, request the right to fill the permanent chair held for the United States until such time as the United States decides to occupy it.

Alfranio Mello Franco, head of the Brazilian delegation, informed the Associated Press to this effect last night.

Trout Revives In Train: Passengers All Excited

LONDON, March 5.—(United Press).—A trout came to life in a subway train underneath Piccadilly Circus Wednesday while a woman screamed and fainted. Passengers on the train saw a small bundle in a man's lap begin to wriggle, and finally to leap. When it jumped from the man's lap into the lap of a woman opposite, the head of a trout emerged from the paper. The woman swooned but the trout continued leaping, making its way toward the door, encumbered by its wrapping. It was learned that the trout was caught early in the morning and presumably was revived by the unusually fine spring like weather.

HUNGARIANS IN HOLLAND COURT FORGED FRANCS

Thirty Billion Francs Counterfeit Scandal Approaches Final Stage.

THREE ON TRIAL

Long Prison Terms Urged by the Public Prosecutor.

THE HAGUE, Holland, March 5. —(Canadian Press).—Three Hungarians, Colonel Von Jankovitch, Dr. Marschovsky and George Mankovics, whose arrest here last December disclosed to the public the now notorious thirty billion franc counterfeiting scandal, were placed on trial here yesterday, charged with circulating forged French banknotes. The scandal has involved the aristocracy and high Hungarian officials.

Colonel Von Jankovitch admitted he was brought into the affair by Prince Ludwig Von Windisch-Graetz in the autumn of 1925 and that he was entrusted with the conveyance abroad of parcels of banknotes to which the seals of the Hungarian Foreign Office were affixed. He further testified that he was provided with an authentic passport by Prince Windisch-Graetz.

The public prosecutor asked a sentence of nine years' imprisonment for Jankovitch and seven years each for Marschovsky and Mankovics.

MUMTAZ BEGUM IS WIFE OF MERCHANT

Nautch Dancing Girl Involved in Indian Scandal.

AMRITSAR, British India, March 5.—(Canadian Press.) — Mumtaz Begum, dancing girl and central figure in the sensational scandal culminating in the abdication of the Maharajah of Indore last Saturday, was married here Thursday to Abdur Rahman, a wealthy skin dealer and municipal commissioner.

She expresed delight and no surprise at the news of the Maharajah's downfall.

Mumtaz Begum, nautch dancing girl, once the favorite of the powerful Maharajah of Indore, ran away from him after, she alleged, he had cast her aside.

She sought the protection of Abdul Bawla, wealthy merchant in Bombay, who paid with his life for protecting her. She herself, young and beautiful, had her face badly mutilated by one of the assailants. They were arrested and convicted. Three of them were sentenced to death and the other four deported. The Early of Reading, viceroy of India, keeping faith with his inaugural proclamation to do justice to all, brought about the voluntary abdicatino of the Maharajah of Indore, in favor of his 18 year old son.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief for Acid Indigestion

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomachache and inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of Bisurated Magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antiacid, such as Bisurated Magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestants. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisurated Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purposes.

STOCKS REGAIN MANY POINTS IN SOARING RALLY

Rears Retreated Thursday Before Sensational Recovery After Collapse.

LOSSES COVERED

Financiers Bought on the Dip —Rails Show Net Gain.

NEW YORK, March 5.—(Canadian Press).—The swollen streams of liquidation which have been pouring into the New York Stock Exchange from all sections of the country for over a week dried up overnight and a sensational rally of five to 25 points took place yesterday in scores of issues when strong financial interests stepped forward and began rebuilding the shattered market structure.

Judged by the averages, the recovery was even more extensive than any single day's reaction which had preceded it. The average of twenty leading industrial issues showed a net gain of 5.50 points on the day, or more than the combined net losses of 2.42 points on Wednesday and 3.00 points on Tuesday when the selling movement was in full swing. The average of twenty leading railroad issues recorded a net gain of 3.61 points, as against a loss of 2.99 points on Wednesday when hundreds of thousands of railroad shares were thrown overboard as a result of the adverse "Nickel Plate" merger decision, and a loss of 1.33 points on Tuesday.

The buying movement, being under the control of cool headed financiers, was more orderly than the reckless selling of distressed pools and small traders which preceded it, with the result that trading was in substantially reduced volume. Total sales Thursday, as compiled by Associated Press tabulators, were 2,626 400 shares, as compared with 3,785,700 in Wednesday's record-breaking session.

CREW RESCUED FROM DERELICT

Skipper and Five Men Were Several Weeks on Vessel.

TWO MESSAGES

NEW YORK, March 5 (Canadian Press). — Two wireless messages from the Holland-American liner Volendam were put together last night to make the probable story that the skipper and five men of the schooner General Smuts had been rescued in mid-Atlantic after spending several weeks on their derelict vessel. In one respect, that of dates, the informations received at Halifax and New York, did not jibe.

While the Halifax radio said that the General Smuts had been abandoned and set on fire in latitude 44.05 north, longitude 38.27 west, the New York message read: "Notify Associated Press captain rescued midnight skipper and five men afloat since December 17 on sailless sinking schooner on way Spain-Newfoundland." Shipping records showed that the British schooner left Spain on December 18 bound for St. John's, Newfoundland.

The Halifax message was received by the Department of Marine and Fisheries. The New York radio was sent by Ossian Lang, a passenger on the Volendam, to Robert J. Kenworthy, grand secretary of the Masonic Order.

Officials of the Holland-American Line said they had received no report of the rescue from Captain De Koning of the Volendam. Attempts will be made by wireless to reach the boat, which is due to arrive at Plymouth, England, on Monday.

The YELLOW STUB

by Ernest Lynn

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Crafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JANET RAND, his daughter, breaks her engagement with BARRY COLVIN because of the "disgrace." JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Chicago, where the theater is. The stub is traced to a political boss, THOMAS FOGARTY, who says he gave it to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing police want her for murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who had "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warnings to leave Chicago, and later is attacked by two men but escapes.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Jimmy accuses her of marrying for money.

That night Jimmy and Olga see a man they both recognize, she as the man who had got the stub, he as one of his assailants. The man escapes. They identify him by his police picture as IKE JENSEN.

Church, motoring with Mary, runs over a dog. His heartlessness kindles hatred in her and she breaks their engagement.

LIEUTENANT O'DAY, a policeman, warns Jimmy that Olga is in love with him. He invites Jimmy to his home for dinner and there he asks him if Henry Rand came from Durbin, in New York state, and if he was the son of Thaddeus Rand.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXII.

O'Day waved Jimmy Rand's question aside. "Tell me all you know about your grandfather and we'll see how the stories fit."

"Very little," Jimmy answered. "Dad never mentioned him around the house. My father never said much about his past, but he hinted that he had run away from home as a boy."

"He never talked about Thaddeus Rand at all?"

"I know nothing about my grandfather whatever. I've never even seen a picture of him. I'm sure Dad was a little bitter about him. There was some kind of estrangement and Dad left him."

"And you don't know anything about your father's past?"

"Not a thing. For the last thirty years he had worked in the same place and lived in the same town. That's about all any of the family knows about him. Once in a while, when he'd be correcting my sister or me for something we had done, he'd say that we were being dealt with a great deal more leniently than he had been as a boy.

"That's about as far as he'd go. I've always imagined, from that, that Thaddeus Rand was a pretty stern parent."

"A hard man." O'Day nodded his head gravely.

"You knew him" Jimmy asked.

"Yes, an' I knew your father after a fashion, although he was a lad of sixteen when he ran away an' I a little shaver just startin' school."

O'Day chewed reflectively on his cigar. "It's funny, the tricks a man's memory will play on him. I wonder now that I didn't connect your father with this Henry Rand that I knew nearly forty years ago, when I first heard your story. Now I know what it is about you that's had me wonderin' where I'd seen you before. It's your resemblance to old Thaddeus Rand.

"Yes, I know the story, all right. 'Twill take a bit of tellin' for it's been many a year since it all happened an' it's no compliment exactly to your grandfather, but I guess you can stand to hear it."

"Just so it's the truth, Lieutenant. I want to hear it all." Jimmy laid his hand on the other's arm. "Go on," he urged.

"I'll try to give the truth, mind now, I was a kid of seven or thereabouts—it happened back in 1886 or 1887—an' some of it might not come back to me just right. But the story was gossip in our little town for years, long after your father and grandfather had left.

"Thaddeus Rand was a widower when he came to Durbin to live, an' Henry Rand was his only son—Harry we called him in those days. He was a proud man, a cold man. I recall my father saying that Thaddeus Rand had come from Virginia an' that he boasted that his ancestors had been among the original settlers of Virginia.

"At any rate, we all knew that he was proud of his name an' his Cavalier forefathers." O'Day got up from his chair. "I want another cigar. Let's go in the living room where it's more comfortable."

He installed Jimmy in an easy chair and sat heavily in a rocker. Mrs. O'Day, finished with the dinner dishes, produced a sewing basket and sat in the dining room, knitting.

O'Day, after lighting a fresh cigar, went on with his story. "It's important that you know what a proud sort of man your grandfather was, Rand, so you'll understand the things he did. I can see his reason now, although at the time there didn't seem to be any excuse at all for what he did.

"Thaddeus Rand ran the only drug store in town. If he'd had any competition he wouldn't have got much business, for it wasn't a pleasure to deal with him. He was never a mixer, like most small town business men, but kept to himself as much as possible. When you went in his drug store you told him what you wanted and you got it. That's all there was to it. He was polite enough, but strictly business. I used to drink sodas in his store when I was a little shaver. That's one reason why I remember him so well.

"I don't know how old your father—Harry Rand—was when Thaddeus came to Durbin, but he was just a little kid and he grew up with the rest of the boys an' went to school with 'em. Unlike his father, he was a real popular lad. He was just a regular boy—into every sort of mischief that red-blooded boys get into, an' fond of playin' pranks. He was a ring leader in all the sports an' he was generally looked up to by all the other village boys. People used to wonder how Thaddeus Rand, with his cold, proud ways, could have such a son."

"It's hard," said Jimmy, blinking, for he was pretty close to crying. "It's hard for me to imagine anyone calling my father Harry. As we knew him, Henry was about the only thing that suited him. A quiet little man, you know, in his gray suits and his derby hat—and his unfailing punctuality."

"No doubt," said O'Day, "there was enough happened to him in his early years to change him an' make a different man of him. But I'll go on.

"Well, the years sort of moved along, an' Thaddeus Rand still kept his drug store, makin' a fair livin' out of it, as proud as ever. He was as strict as sin with your father. Made him work in the drug store after school hours an' never let him out at night. It's a wonder the lad ever found time to play at all, but that he did, somehow, as I was tellin' you.

"Thaddeus Rand didn't want his son mixin' so free with the other boys. He had a notion that a Rand was too good for the rest of us. But Harry couldn't see it that way. He made many friends.

"I guess he was in his second or third year of high school—about sixteen years old—when he got in this scrape. He fell in love, an' he fell hard. One of these schoolboy infatuations, you understand, taht we older folks always laugh at, but which are no laughin' matter at all when you've got one. It just about swept Harry Rand off his feet."

"God! It's hard to realize that," exclaimed Jimmy softly. "My father in a school boy love affair."

"We've all had them, Rand, some of them mild cases and some of them pretty violent. Your father was no exception. You didn't know your dad very well."

"No, I didn't, and I'm sorry."

"Well, this thing had been growing for about a year. She was a year or so younger than Harry a year behind him in school. . . . A beauty. . . . One of these Latin types, you know—the kind that are full blown at fifteen.

"Her name was Marie Real, an' she was the daughter of the town shoemaker, Angelo Real. Nobody realized, I guess, how serious it was with those two kids. He used to walk to school with her, an' home again in the afternoon. They were together all the time that he wasn't home or workin' in his father's store.

"Finally the thing got to be gossip; it spread all the faster, I guess, because she was the shoemaker's daughter an' he the son of proud old Thaddeus Rand. Thaddeus, when he heard about it, shut his mouth tight an' had one of his silent fits. He laid down the law to Harry, absolutely forbid him to speak to the girl again.

"Then he marches down to Angelo Real's shop an' lets off steam. 'You keep your daughter away from my son,' he says. 'I'll do my part; now you do yours.'

"Old Angelo gets mad himself. He didn't like Thaddeus' attitude, for which I don't blame him. 'You think my daughter's not good enough for your boy, eh' he says to Thaddeus. 'You listen to me, I don't like it any more than you do, you hear? You think I like it, eh?

"'I'll talk to Marie,' he says. 'You keep watch on your son. Marie's a good girl; she'll do what I say. Now you get out,' an' he chases old Thaddeus out of his shop with a hammer.

"Well, it got to be talked about the village that Thaddeus an' Angelo had had a fallin' out over their kids an' Marie an' Harry were not to speak to each other again. The kids tried hard, I guess, to be obedient children, an' for a while it looked like the thing was goin' to blow over.

"Thaddeus kept a close watch on Harry, an' kept him in the drug store every minute of the day that he wasn't in school. As for Angelo, he made his son Louis walk to school an' back with Marie every day.

"The kids stood it for a while, but the thing went a lot keeper than anybody thought. Gradually they got to stealin' a few minutes together in school, an' then it got to the note writin' stage. There were plenty of kids, girls mostly, who were willin' to carry notes between them.

"Then that was found out, an' Harry an' Marie had another talkin' to from their parents. Thaddeus, they say, even went so far as to threaten to cast Harry off if he didn't cut out his foolishness an' do it right away. The boy came to school the next mornin', lookin' pale as a ghost, with his jaw stuck out, an' said never a word.

"Mind you, I was too young at the time to know the whole story. I'm repeatin' it as it was told to me later on by my older brother, who was a classmate of Harry's.

"Marie was cryin' when she came to school the next day. Some say that old Angelo had given her a lickin,' which I wouldn't put past him."

O'Day lit a fresh cigar, then settled back in his chair. He continued, looking straight at Jimmy: "They didn't treat those kids right, Rand. I hope I'm never guilty of such cruelty to my own. They didn't say a word to anybody in school that mornin', but at lunch time they had disappeared.

"They didn't show up all afternoon. When evenin' came, old Angelo an' Thaddeus went to the constable. They almost had a fight right in front of him, each blamin' the other, you see. They organized a searchin' party, but the kids had lit out, or killed themselves—nobody knew which. They didn't come back that night, an' the next day the whole town was lookin' for them.

"Finally they found 'em—late the next afternoon. They had run away together—eloped—an' they were arrested by the police in a town about thirty miles away.

"They landed back in Durbin that night. Someone drove 'em home in a surrey. An' when they got back, Rand, there was hell to pay.

(To be continued.)

SHOT BROTHERS IN PETTY COAL THEFT

Detective Imprisoned on First Charge of Manslaughter.

JERSEY CITY, N.J. March 5.—Dock Lee Stone was sentenced to a maximum of ten years' imprisonment and a $1,000 fine for killing Joseph Iskra in a $1.20 coke robbery. Yesterday he faced the prospect of another trial for the slaying of Iskra's brother, Andrew, at the same time.

Stone, who was a detective for the Lehigh Valley Railroad company, pleaded self defense, saying that when he challenged the brothers last October they advanced upon him, making threats. They were, he said, stealing coke from a car in the railroad yards.

The shooting aroused indignation among several thousand Slavs of the vicinity. A benefit performance for the families of the two men was staged in Bayonne.

WEDDING BELLS.

MANLEY—BENSON

COBOURG, March 5.—At the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Benson, near Bewdley in Hamilton township, was solemnized on Saturday evening, February 27, the marriage of their daughter, Margaret Agnes Gertrude, to Clifford Manley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Manley, Hamilton township. Rev. Thomas McCord, Harwood, conducted the ceremony, which took place in the presence of the near relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The bride wore a charming gown of new blue canton crepe, and carried Ophelia roses. The bride and groom received congratulations from their many friends after which all sat down to a sumptuous wedding supper.

The bride and groom are very popular young people and sincere wishes are expressed for their future happiness.

GILLSON—BRACKENRIDGE

The marriage took place quietly on Monday, the first day of March, at half past eleven, at the Manse, Keene, Ont., of Marion K., younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Brackenridge of Westwood, to Lawrence Edward Gillson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Gillson of 973 Logan avenue, Toronto. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Archibald.

Witnesses to the signing of the register were Miss Lydia Brackenridge and Mr. G. F. Gillson.

The bride wore a gown of roseleaf satin-faced canton crepe with trimmings of gold lace. Her coat was of oakwood charmaine trimmed with mink fur and hat to match.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gillson left for London and Detroit. They will reside in Toronto.

OBITUARY.

MRS. JOHN ROGERS.

NORWOOD, March 5.—The death occurred on Tuesday, March 2, at her home in Dummer, near Stoney Lake, of Mrs. John Rogers. The deceased was a sister of Chief of Police Isaac Puffer of Norwood. The funeral will be held from the family residence on Friday and interment will be made in the Norwood cemetery.

WILLIAM CLARK.

APSLEY, March 5.— William Clark, whose dead body was discovered in the woods on Sunday, was laid to rest in the cemetery at Apsley on Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. C. A. G. Spence performing the funeral ceermony, which was attended by Reeve Brown and Councillors Windsor and Tucker.

The deceased was somewat of a recluse and lived alone (his wife having predeceased him two years ago) in a house about half a mile from the main road, his only company being three cows, a horse and a dog. When William and Tom McCaffley called at his house on Sunday, and found him absent, they at once commenced a search, and followed his tracks for two or three miles which at last led them to where he sank down to his last long rest. He was coated with ice and snow, so he must have been dead before Thursday's storm of snow and rain. They had no means of conveying him out o fthe woods, but returned in the big storm on Monday, with assistance and brought the body to Haultain. Had he not been found on Sunday it is doubtful whether his fate would ever have been known, as his tracks would have been obliterated after the deep fall of snow on Sunday night and Monday. So far as it known the deceased had no relatives, and had lived in the woods nearly twenty years.

ENTERTAINMENT HELD

Zion Adult Bible Class Visited Welcome Parsonage.

WELCOME, March 5.—On Monday night the Adult Bible class from Zion appointment was at Welcome parsonage for a social evening.

Mr. Smith, teacher of the class, acted as chairman and there was an interesting programme of music readings and contests.

During the evening a discussion contest was put on. Each group had a subject for discussion. Then a member of each group spoke on the subject for two minutes. The subjects discussed were: Four point four, Advantages and disadvantages of bobbed hair, Fashions of fifty years ago compared to today, and the telephone.

After lunch a vote of thanks to Rev. and Mrs. Clare was moved by Mr. Arthur Walker and the gathering dispersed.

On Wednesday, a bright little play was put on in Welcome church under the auspices of the League.

The musical programme and play was put on by members of Port Hope choir, under the direction of its efficient leader, Mr. Unitt.

The first part of the programme consisted of vocal duets and solos by Mrs. Crowhurst and Mr. Unitt and instrumental duets by Miss Kerman and Mr. Unitt.

The play put on was called "Poor Pillicuddy" and each character acted the part well.

The attendance wasn't as large as desired.

Mrs. Ben White and little son spent a few days in Toronto this week.

Mr. J. Staples is on the sick list.

PETITION FOR PLEBISCITE.

Germans Sign For Vote on Confiscation of Ex-Ruler's Property.

BERLIN, March 5.—(Canadian Press)—Referendum lists were opened yesterday on the question of confiscating the property of former German rulers. If, between today and March 17th, four million German men and women over twenty years of age sign the lists, a plebiscite of the entire nation will be held to decide whether the property of the former rulers and their families shall be confiscated without indemnification.

There seems little doubt that the four million names will be easily forthcoming.

DISCUSS HATCHERIES.

Plea Made To Ontario House To Take Over Dominion Plants.

TORONTO, March 5—(Canadian Press).—The fish and game committee of the Legislature yesterday heard pleas for taking over by the Province of nine fish hatcheries now being operated by the Federal Government. The Federal Government has given notice that after May 1, 1926, it will not operate these hatcheries and has offered them to the Provincial Government free if it will take over the expense of operation which is about $90,000 a year.

An inspector is making a survey of all the hatcheries in the Province and the committee decided to withhold the recommendation, until such time as they received his report.

LINDSAY CREAMERY COMPANY'S ENTERTAINMENT AT MILLBROOK

Banquet Followed By Address on Dairy Business and Methods.

NEW GRADING ACT.

MILLBROOK, Mar. 5—An event which combined instruction with enjoyment, and which was unique because of its initial character in the community, took place in the Town Hall on Wednesday evening when the Lindsay Creamery Company, through its local manager, Mr. A. A. Birchard, entertained its patrons at a banquet.

About two hundred invitations had been issued and at least one hundred and fifty guests, from a radius of many miles around, sat down to the attractively-laid tables at 6.30 p.m., an excellent showing considering the very cold and stormy evening.

At the head of the table were seated Mr. H. S. Johnston, President of the Creamery Company, Mr. Stewart Flavelle, secretary-treasurer, Mr. J. H. Scott, of the Department of Agriculture, Toronto, Mr. Alex Horn, President of the Horn Woollen Mills, Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Buchard.

Mr. W. Owen, of Lindsay, led in community singing, and Miss Ethel Richardson presided at the piano while the banquet was in progress.

Mr. Buchard, who has been eight years in his present position, extended a warm welcome to the guests of the evening, on behalf of the Lindsay Creamery Company, and after a duet, "Somewhere a Voice is Calling," by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston, with Miss Ella Elson as accompanist, the President of the Company, Mr. H. S. Johnston, delivered the chairman's address.

"I believe we are losing the art of calling unannounced on our neighbors because we are going through this century on high gear, and this presents also a difficulty in making the acquaintance of the people with whom we are doing business. We largely have to leave this to our local manager and we appreciate his popularity in this section, and the confidence you have manifested in him."

Growth of Company

A few facts of interest, relative to his company were presented by Mr. Johnston who stated that the present management took over the business in 1912, making that year, 75,000 pounds of butter; last year, 872,000 pounds were produced. In 1912 $13,000 was paid out for cream; last year the amount was $254,000. In 1919, 190 cream cheques were made out, 6,330 were made out in 1925.

That the dairying industry in increasing all over Canada is proved by the fact that in 1901 36,000,000 pounds of creamery butter were produced, while last year the figures were 190,000,000 pounds. "So we may well feel proud of being connected with the dairy business for which conditions are continually being improved, and ofr the products of whch Canada is gaining an ever increasing market."

"There is no fear of over-production so long as we make the proper quality of butter. The government advertising campaign is adding to our prestige in Great Britain, and while dairying is on the increase in the United States, consumption is increasing also, so more butter is imported each year. The 12 cent duty will raise the price of butter, but the duty on cream remains the same so more of the latter will be exported."

The growing market in the Orient for Canadian dairy products and the need of producing a first-class article for successful competition with New Zealand on the British market, were stressed in the chairman's concluding remarks. "More than two per cent of salt will put our butter in second grade."

Grading of Cream

Mr. J. E. Scott, chief butter grader for the Province, chief instructor for creameries with ten or twelve travelling instructors under his charge, and chief sanitary inspector for all the creameries in Ontario was then introduced by Mr. Johnston, his subject being, "The Caring for, and Grading of Cream."

"The Act to make compulsory the purchase of all cream by grade has already passed the Agricultural Committee, and will probably become effective about April 1st," stated Mr. Scott, the entire object of his address being to make clear to the produced the changes the Act will effect when it becomes law.

"If cream were all of first quality there would be no need of grading, but the aim is to improve the quality. In 1912, 78 per cent of the butter which we graded was of first quality: in 1925 only 61 per cent was first grade, and if this rate of depletion continues I prophesy that in twenty years' time there will be no first-grade creamery butter produced in this province.

"Last year New Zealand butter rated 2.65 cents per pound higher on the English market than Canadian butter. Taking Ontario's production at 60,000,000 pounds that meant a loss of approximately $1,600,000, or $16 per farm to the 100,000 producers. Inferior quality was the reason. New Zealand has adopted the system of uniformity for its butter and this is a tremendous factor which we should recognize and adopt also."

"Paying for cream on a flat rate breeds carelessness, for then poor cream is helped to a sale by the better quality, and this is manifestly unfair. In 1926 we are coming to the parting of the ways, leaving the old road we have been on so long and blazing a new path for the whole province.

Four Grades Under Act.

"Under the Act there will be four grades: Special, which must be clean in flavor, comparatively sweet in acidity, and smooth in texture; 1st fairly clean in flavor, an acidity not exceeding six-tenths (quite sour to the taste), of smooth texture; 2nd, lumpy, slightly metallic flavor, or turnipy, etc., no limit to acidity; 3rd, off grade, will not make butter fit for table use, should have coloring matter added, and be returned to the producer."

"The Special grade will be paid one cent a pound more than the 1st grade; 1st, three cents a pound more than 2nd. You will have four markets to cater to and will be paid according to quality. Get ready now to produce cream of the finest quality. See that you have plenty of ice, or water supply in abundance. Wash the separator twice a day; the residuum in the bowl, if left standing overnight is the best seed for unfavorable bacteria production. It may cool down in winter to a temperature where the bacteria will not develop so fast, but this is not true in the summer time. Most of you know a lot better than you are putting into practice."

"To produce cream of the first standing it is necessary to cool to a temperature of 60 degrees immediately after separating, and before it is mixed with a previous skimming. Keep it where there is no danger of absorbing bad odors. As cream sours, it simply means that the rotting process has begun and probably not all of you know that you can make better butter, and just as much, from sweet cream than from sour. The butter which wins the big scores at the Exhibition is all made from sweet cream."

"The actual enforcement of this Act comes under me, through my travelling instructors. You may be disappointed in your cream cheques but remember, the grader knows more than you do, because he is grading from hundreds of patrons, and you are only seeing your own. Play the game fair and make the system a success otherwise the government will put an official inspector in every creamery, and his salary will really come off the cream cheques."

wered Questions

A number of questions were asked Mr. Scott at the close of his address eliciting the information that cream should be collected twice a week in summer; that if properly cooled to say 40 degrees before loading "bumping round on the truck all day "will not cause it to sour; that sweet clover has no injurious effect on the flavor that the butter for which the Lindsay Company has for two successive years received first prize at the Eastern Dairymen's Convention is made from cream shipped from Burk's Falls, which changes at Orillia and Blackwater ,is overnight on the road, yet arrives at the creamery quite sweet, and would be graded Speical.

Canvass covers will protect their trucks this season, the president said, and cream will not be mixed on the road. Trucks will meet all trains, and cream received at night will be in butter, and stored by 2 a.m.

Musical numbers which interspersed the programme included a song by little May Birchard, "Dainty Butterflies are Flying,"; a duet, "At Twilight," by Mr. and Mrs. Johnston; a solo, "Room 202," by Mr. Owen and a recitation "How We Thrashed the Teacher," by Mr. A. Horn.

Several of the men expressed themselves as being particularly pleased with the information given, the formal vote of thanks being moved by Hubert Gardiner, of Mount Pleasant, and seconded by J. H. Earle, of Fairmount.

V. C. Lambert catered for the supper, the menu being quite satisfying.

Glory drags all men along, low as well as high, bound captive at the wheels of her glittering car.—Horace.

FIGHT FOR THIRD LEAGUE PLACE IS STILL CLOSE

Boston and Pittsburgh Both Win, Leaving Standing Unchanged.

STREAK BROKEN.

Tommy Gorman's Dream of New York Victories Shattered By Ottawa.

PITTSBURGH, March 5 (Canadian Press).—The Pittsburgh hockey team easily defeated St. Pats of Toronto here last night in a listless game, 7 to 2. The visitors were weakened by the absence of Corbeau and Neville, and had only two substitutes.

The Pirates sewed up the contest as early as the second period when they opened an attack which netted them four markers.

Ottawa 1, New York 0.

NEW YORK, March 5 (Canadian Press).—The final lap drive of the New York Americans in the National Hockey League race was halted by the Ottawa Senators here last night when the League leaders sent the home setxette down to its first defeat in five starts by a score of 1 to 0. The Ottawa victory also shattered the adage that "dreams come true," for Manager Tommy Gorman two weeks ago reported a dream in which he saw his club going through the remainder of the season without a defeat.

Boston 3, Maroons 2.

MONTREAL, March 4 (Canadian Press).—Boston kept very much in the running for the play-off right in the National Hockey League when they nosed out Montreal Maroons here last night 3 to 2.

Sailor Herberts, the aggressive centre of the Bruins, clinched the game for the visitors when he rushed in between the Maroons' defence pair and beat Benedict with the goal which broke a deadlock and enabled Boston to keep ahead of Pittsburgh in the race for third place.

HYDRO PLANS TO STOP SHORTAGE

Hon. J. R. Cooke Says That Future Development Will Be in East.

AFTER HOME BREW.

TORONTO, March 5 (Canadian Press).—The debate on the reply to the Speech from the Throne was carried on by three speakers last night. Hon. J. R. Cooke, Minister without portfolio, and member of the Ontario Hydro Commission, spoke at some length on Hydro, stating that plans were under way to prevent any power shortage in this province. These plans, he said, would be announced later. Mr. Cooke stated that future industrial development of Ontario lay in Eastern Ontario because the greatest source of undeveloped power was there.

J. F. B. Belford (Conservative, East Northumberland), speaking of the liquor question, declared that the granting of Federal permits for home brewing should be abolished, as they were undermining temperance in the province. He also protested against the "mercenary" advocates of temperance who were ruining their own cause. J. W. Freeborn (Progressive, East Middlesex) declared that the weakness of agriculture was in its marketing end, and not in production.

SPEECH MADE TO SAVE FACE

German Paper Says Chamberlain Yielded To Public Opinion.

BERLIN, March 5.— (Canadian Press.) — The Taeglische Rundschau, which often reflects the views of the German Foreign Office, characterizes Sir Austen Chamberlain's speech regarding the make up of the League of Nations' Council as an attempt to save his face and cover retreat.

"It is evident," the paper says, "that he yielded to the pressure of public opinion throughout the world and has given up his attempt to help the Polish-French claims to success."

SPY AT AMSTERDAM.

Ignatius Lincoln Will Not Be Permitted To Land in England.

LONDON, March 5 (Canadian Press).—According to the Daily Express, Ignatius Tribach Lincoln, notorious war-time spy on behalf of Germany, will arrive at Amsterdam to-morrow on board the steamer Coblenz, on which he made the journey from Ceylon in an endeavor to see his son, Ignatius, alias John Lincoln, before he was hanged last Tuesday morning in Shepton Mallet Prison for murder.

Lack of money, says the newspaper, prevented the father from travelling overland from a Mediterranean port in time to reach London before the execution. It adds that Lincoln will not now be allowed to land in England.

SEARCHING LAKE FOR FIVE PEOPLE

Dozens of Men Out on Lake Erie Looking For Family.

MISSING FOUR DAYS.

LEAMINGTON, Ont., March 5.—(Canadian Press.)—Two dozen farmers with ice sleds and sleighs to-day began a systematic search of the 18 mile ice road between Leamington and Pelee Island, in Lake Erie, for James Phipps, his wife and their three children, Paul, 9, Hazel, 5, and Elmer, 3, missing since Monday, when they started from the island for the mainland in their automobile.

Although hope has been abandoned that the family has survived the days of exposure, the searchers hope to find some evidence as to the fate of the five.

There is a large stretch of open water near the ice road ten miles from the island and this was being dragged to-day.

LENTEN SERVICE HELD BY A.Y.P.A.

Rev. G. L. Burgess-Brown Special Speaker at St. George's.

GOOD ATTENDANCE.

The Peterboro Local Council of the A.Y.P.A. held a Lenten service in St. George's Church last evening with a good percentage of the members present, in spite of the very cold weather. Miss Flowers played the organ, and a choir of young people led the singing. The service opened with a hymn, and Spencer Hope of All Saints' took the opening prayers. Rev. Mr. Hughes of St. George's absolution, and Mr. Bert Graham, St. John's, the first lesson, Mr. Morris Gray, Millbrook, the second, followed by a hymn.

Rev. G. L. Burgess-Brown, rector of St. Barnabus Church, Toronto, was the special speaker, and chose for his text the 12th verse of the 1st chapter of St. Mark, "And straightway the spirit driveth Him into the wilderness." Christ, he said, was tempted in the wilderness as a result of His environment, not because He was sent there to be tempted, and the young people of to-day are driven into the wilderness of their thoughts and are tempted in the same way. He pointed out the advantages and opportunities of youth —sports, vitality, reading, enthusiasm and romance. Young people are now seeking their life vocation, not choosing it, but each trying to find the special work God has put them here to do. The speaker said the people present were at an age when they must take the responsibilities on themselves honorably and earnestly, so they can pass them on to the generation coming after, and to make the best of all their advantages.

He impressed upon them the importance of sticking to one motive, not being deceitful, but trying to develop self-will, and setting an example by leading a blameless life and attending Divine communion. He compared these with the four-fold purpose of the A.Y.P.A. work, edification, worship and fellowship; also with Christ's temptation in the wilderness.

In closing, he urged all the young people to enter into the spirit of the organization and develop into enthusiastic young men and women.

"For My Sake and the Gospel's, Go," was sung, and Rev. Mr. Hughes read the closing prayers. The service ended by singing "Onward Christian Soldiers."

The members then adjourned to the basement for the business meeting, at which Rev. Mr. Hughes welcomed the visitors.

Mr. Hollingsworth, publicity secretary of the Dominion A.Y.P.A., paid a surprise visit and spoke on the new "A.Y.P.A. Monthly" paper which promises to be a wonderful success. The roll call showed members from Millbrook and Lakefield, St. George's, St. Luke's, All Saints' and St. John's, Peterboro.

Miss Adams moved a vote of thanks to Rev. Burgess-Brown, and the members showed their hearty approval.

Refreshments were served to the out-of-town guests, and the meeting closed with prayer.

"Made in Canada"

(and what it means)

The Underwood is not manufactured in Canada. It is manufactured in Hartford, Connecticut, in the largest typewriter factory in the world.

MONTREAL COLLEGE AWARDED TO THE CONTINUING PRESBYTERIANS

Quebec Legislature Passes Church Union Bill After Compromises.

SUPPORT PROMISED.

QUEBEC, March 5 (Canadian Press).—The private bills committee of the Quebec house of assembly disposed of the church union bill yesterday after promises and agreements had been reached between the interested parties. Premier Taschereau told the committee that in case the "moral authority" of the special commission on disposition of outstanding matters were not respected in a reasonable manner he would agree to legislation to give effect to such moral recommendations. This was after Presbyterian counsel had asked for greater power for the Quebec commission than was possessed by the Ontario body. Montreal Presbyterian College goes to the continuing Presbyterians in the bill. The endowments will be temporarily turned over, but will finally be disposed of by the federal commission. The charter goes with the college.

Eugene Lafleur, K.C., and G. A. Campbell, K.C. fought hard to have the commission named given more powers, but the Premier held it would not be wise to do so. The argument for the antis was that in Ontario the commission cannot give a Presbyterian minority any church other than one which had belonged to the parent Presbyterian Church. Mr. Campbell suggested that while he preferred to worship in a Presbyterian church building, he would prefer that the commission grant a Methodist church building if nothing else offered, rather than that a minority should be out in the cold. He drew up the clauses creating the commision in this sense, but was unable to persuade the committee.

"You are asking this Legislature to deal with Methodist property," contended C. Oliver, M.L.A., for Brome. Aime Geoffrion, K.C., who with E. C. Place, K.C. represented the Unionist forces, argued at length that to give the commission the powers asked for by Mr. Campbell would be to constitute a breach of the contract under which union had been brought about.

Moral Authority.

Mr. Campbell said that the Ontario Commission had the right, in addition to its powers, to make recommendations to the unionists of that province in case of special hardship, but that such recommendations did not carry anything beyond moral authority.

It was then that Premier Taschereau said if the moral authority was not respected in a reasonable manner he would agree to legislation to give practical effect to such moral recommendations. E. Thieriault, M.L.A., for L'Islet, expressed the same opinion and there was some applause.

"I hope that our friends, the unionists, have clearely understood the statement made by the Premier," said Mr. Campbell.

Mr. Campbell had another suggestion. There were special circumstances in Westmount and Lachine, as well as in Lachute, Ormstown, Richmond, and he suggested an amendment affecting Melville Presbyterian Church in Westmount and the Lachine Presbyterian Church whereby they would remain the property of the continuing minorities. The Premier admitted the hardship to the minorities in the cases mentioned, and said that he hoped the commission would be able to adjust such cases. This ended the matter of the commission, except that there remains to be inserted the names of the three members of the commission. It is understood that there will be no difficulty in this matter.

Charter of College

There was disagreement in regard to the charter of the College. Aime Geoffrion held that this should be retained by the United Churches because the contention of his clients was the Phesbyterian church now existetd with the United church. It might be said that the matter was one only of sentiment, but he felt the charter should be held by the Presbyterians who have gone into the Union. Mr. Campbell and Mr. Lafleur argued that the matter was one of sentiment for the Unionists but of vital importance to the continuing Presbyterians. The charter, said Mr. Campbell gave the power of conferring degrees and it was too late this session to get another charter, and his clients wished to undertake immediately the task of educating men for the ministry, since there were many vacant pulpits to be filled. It also happened that there was a Theological Union in Montreal, comprising the Anglicans, the Methodists, the Congregationalists and the Presbyterians, and if the Unionist Presbyterians were to take the charter with them it would mean that they would have three out of the four votes in the joint university. In any case they would have two out of four. Mr. Geoffrion suggested that the matter of the charter be left to arbitration of the commission to be named, and was also willing to concede the charter of the anti-for a period of a year should the commission decide the charter should go with the college.

A SUCCESSFUL HOMESTEADER

At the lower right is Mr. Dunning's Regina home.

Slightly over twenty years ago a young British country hand came to Canada to seek employment on a Saskatchewan farm. The youth, Charles Avery Dunning, rose to become prime minister of that province and as Minister of Railways in the Canadian cabinet. At the upper right is shown his daughter Katherine; and below, his son, Charles Avery Dunning, Jr. In the centre, at the top, Hon. Mr. Dunning is shown shaking hands with his former foreman in a Croft, Leicestershire, foundry. The picture was taken on Mr. Dunning's last visit to the old land. At the upper right is Mrs. Dunning, wife of the new railway minister. In the centre, below, are Sam and Catherine Dunning, parents of Hon. Mr. Dunning, on the old original homestead at Beaverdale, Sask., where Mr. Dunning started his career as a farmer. The photo was taken in front of the old log farmhouse after it had been modernized.

RECREATION CLUB REGULAR MEETING

Membership Campaign Has Been Making Good Progress at Havelock.

HAVELOCK, March 5. — The third regular meeting of the Havelock C. P. R. Recreation Club was held on Tuesday evening with 15 members present.

The president, H. W. Roche, occupied the chair.

Mr. C. Jamieson spoke in connection with some employees not wishing to become members of the club. He stated that in some instances where some employees had been approached to take out membership cards they did not wish to do so, and that some of them had already been appointed on active committees.

This matter was discussed and it was the opinion of the meeting that at the present time no employee should be strongly pressed to take out a membership card if he did not care to do so. It was felt that as the club became better known and its benefits more widely recognized, that it would have the hearty support of almost every employee.

At the last meeting the secretary was instructed to communicate with the superintendent, Mr. Main, as regards the prospect of obtaining the stretch of ground between the station and the freight shed and having alterations made to fit it for recreation purposes. Mr. Main made an official visit to Havelock shortly after this meeting and President Roche and Vice-Presidents Pincombe Crawford and Evans took the matter up with personally. With Mr. Frost they surveyed the ground and Mr. Main assured them he would do everything necessary to put it in proper shape and also everything else in his power to help the club.

Mr. J. Evans spoke in regards to the campaign for members. While no complete returns have been made it was estimated that the club at the present time had a membership of about one hundred.

An account for the printing of membership tickets and stationery was presented, and on motion of Messrs. Hitchins and Pincombe the treasurer was instructed to pay it.

Mr. Pincombe gave a short talk in regards to the activities of the membership. He stated that any employees with whom he came in contact, appeared to be quite enthusiastic with the progress being made and he understood that several of the standing committees were already functioning.

Mr. Roche spoke in connection with the club presenting complimentary membership cards to pensioners and the families of deceased employees. No action was taken but the matter was placed before the membership for their consideration, and will be taken up at a later date.

The meeting then adjourned.

A four act western drama entitled Tennessee's Partner, will be presented by Knox Presbyterian choir, in the town hall on Thursday evening, March 11th.

Rev. John Lennox of Knox church, announced on Sunday that he had accepted a call from Beamsville and providing it met with the approval of the Presbytery he would preach his farewel sermon on March 14.

Miss E. Hooper has returned after spending several weeks in Toronto.

REDUCTION IS MADE IN U.S. INCOME TAX

Table Shows What Married Man Pays at Varying Incomes.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—President Coolidge recently signed the tax reduction bill, under which it is estimated that the tax burden will be reduced to the extent of about $387,000,000.

The taxes payable by a married man without dependents, under the last four tax laws are shown in the following table, the personal exemption of $3,500 plus a 25 per cent. reduction on earned income to be made:

SUIT FOR DAMAGES.

Former Morgantic Wife Sues Prince Carol For Ten Million Francs.

PARIS, Mar. 5 (Canadian Press). —Mme. Zizi Lambrino, the former morganatic wife of Crown Prince Carol of Rumania, has served papers on Carol in suit for ten million francs damages.

Damages are alleged to have been due to injury caused her by dissolving of morganatic marriage and expense to which she had been put suitably to rear the six-year-old son, named Mircea, of Carol and herself.

The ORACLE

This day we fashion Destiny, our web of Fate we spin. —Whittier.

Fixed fate, free will, foreknowledge absolute. —Milton.

Ter.—You are the type that is said to have a double nature, and must watch constantly to see that the higher and better side of your character is in power, in order to achieve success. You are quite strong and tenacious, but your natural good health is spoiled by the restless chance and nervous uncertainty with which you are ruled. You are always wishing that you could do something else rather than what you are doing, and that you could be up and away in other places. Distant fields are ever green to you and you hurt yourself and those around you by this characteristic. You are very kind to others who are in trouble and your happiness in life will come only from a striving to bring joy and content to the lives of those about you. You could do this to a great extent by cutting out that habit of whining and scolding. It keeps you sick and certainly doesn't benefit your household to any great extent.

You were born on Saturday. You do not ask about any particular day, just "June, 1926," which is too wide a range to cover.

Your colors are green and silver.

Ark.—You have a kind-hearted, generous nature, with emotional qualities and strong intuitions, which you should follow at the times when your temper is not in the ascendant. Things of the mind appeal to you very much, and it is strange that you did not in earlier life decide to follow out some career in which your bent for business life would have served you better. However, no matter what you are engaged in, you must always associate yourself with others and do not try to stand alone. You will not succeed by playing the lone wolf and you must never attempt to control the affairs of those about you. You have a jovial, sympathetic, friendly disposition and like to entertain your friends. As you are mainly guided by your emotions, it would be well for you to keep a firm hold on your temper, on your tendency to criticise and on that faculty which makes you take strong dislikes to people without apparent cause. You are not careful enough of what you eat. Guard also against undue excitement and hard climbing.

You were born on Thursday. Your colors are the opal shades of blue and gold, also tan and buff.

Ace.—You have a strong character, and a cool, calm, confident bearing. You are quite natural in your bearing, are usually self-possessed and understand yourself quite thoroughly. In effort of any sort, you never give up hope. You are well adapted to a professional or business career of any type and would make an excellent teacher. You have remarkable powers of observation and very keen eyesight. You are apt to make very fine distinctions in your language and insist on clean, tidy surroundings. Discordant conditions affect your appetite and general health. You are inclined to selfishness and self-gratification, are secretive, and a great believer in blue blood. You are sometimes inclined to pick people to pieces and should guard against this trait. You are sometimes also apt to be intemperate in your eating and drinking. When you are tired, get out of doors.

Marry a man born in March, May or August. Your colors are red and brown. You were born on Tuesday. The day you ask about is past.

Dal.—You have an ardent nature, but are considered somewhatcold by those who know you, as you have a reserved, conservative nature, inclined to be mysterious at times and unfavorable to new enterprises of any sort. You will have to fight against this tendency at all times, as your success in life depends on cultivating a diplomatic attitude to those about you. Tact and cleverness will get you what you want in life, if you can foster them in your makeup. As you are very strong n your likes and dislikes, and thrive best when surrounded by those you care for, you will have to do some spade work on your disposition, won't you? You are sensitive to slights, and should always seek the company of pleasant people and things, realizing that the world is pretty much what you make it. You are fond of hoarding money. Guard your throat, lungs and kidneys. Marry a man born in November, March or January.

You were born on Monday. Your colors are purple and brick shades.

R. M. A.—You have a good deal of physical vigor, which, if not cultivated, is apt to give your nature a coarse tinge. Circumstances of your life point to a great deal of rather harsh experience at times, and you will probably have an existence that has a good deal of change and uncertainty in it. Life will present some problems to you. However, you are kind-hearted, generous and magnetic and have noble ideals. Your intuitions can usually be relied on, but you have a habit of taking a strong dislike to others without a real reason. You want to do things in your own way and are fond of home and home comforts. You will have a long life but must be careful of what you eat. Do not eat too much of the rich, highly seasoned foods of which you are fond. You are inclined to criticise and have also rather a fiery temper which you should try to control. Try to find out just what talent you possess and then develop it.

You were born on Wednesday. You do not specify what date you ask for. "March, 1926" is on your slip. Your lucky months are October and January and Sunday is your good day. Your colors are blue and cream.

W. H. Y.—You have a good deal of creative power and pugnacious forces which may incline you at times toward the quarrelsome side. But this must be kept down, as the care of others and responsibility are your watchwords in life, and through them, you will work out your destiny. The service inspired by love should be your motto. You like a good home and its comforts and will go through fire and water for your wife, when you marry, although you may appear cold to strangers. You make a true and honorable friend but an unforgiving enemy. You should take great care of your lower legs and ankles, to avoid rheumatic tendencies. You have a good memory and try to be agreeable on all occasions. You should guard against a tendency to indolence and materialism and remember that perfect honesty and truthfulness are necessary to the characters of great men and women. Learn self-reliance and study how to concentrate, think carefully over your future, select a path along the line of your outstanding talent, then stick to it. Study yourself, for within you lie the seeds of success. You would make a good lawyer or doctor, but whatever you do in life, you will have to fight laziness and indifference. Strive for perfect independence of all outside influences. Marry a girl born in October, January or June, begin important undertakings in April or August and preferably on Saturday. Read good books. You were born on Sunday. Your colors are green and silver.

Wiggy.—Naturally, you have a great deal of self-satisfaction and poise, which is manifest even in your youth. You like delving into the mysteries of religion and the occult sciences, and should not carry this to too great an extent, as it will not make for your ultimate happiness or success in life. You will never be a pioneer, as conservatism is your habit and you will not look with a favorable eye on new enterprises. In your future career, you must learn to associate yourself at all times with others. Do not try to stand alone and never attempt to control the affairs of anyone else. You will fail lamentably. You would make a good teacher, agent, merchant, superintendent or engineer of big works. You will be a good worker and have an active life which may be turned to an immense source of good if you strive to conquer your faults. Do not give way to moodiness, remember that in yourself lie elements of success, look away from self and up to the good in others, learn that there is something higher than the intellect, and do not try to sidestep responsibility, for which you are fitted. Demand a good business education. Marry young someone born in May, July, February or November. You were born on Thursday. Your colors are steel and brick. The day you ask about, a Wednesday, is one for safely undertaking any new enterprise.

Charlie, My Boy.—You are quite well satisfied with yourself and with your way of doing things. You are not particularly favorable to new enterprises of any type, and prefer to study matters relating to religion and mysticism. Do not indulge too much in enquiry into spiritualistic things. Your success in life will not lie in these ways, but in trying to bring joy and happiness both to yourself and to those around you. Although this course of action may not appeal particularly to you, and it may take you some years to learn your lesson, you will find that the sort of service embodied in the life of Christ, the type of service to others that forgets self absolutely, is the only thing that will bring you lasting happiness and peace of mind. In this stage of your existence, you will probably regard this as foolish advice. Wisdom comes with years. You are easily annoyed and have a quick temper but do not harbor resentment for long. You are very honest and truth with you is paramount. Other people have not this strong regard for truth. Do not expect it of them or you will often be disappointed. You should cultivate repose and strive against worry tendencies. Do not point out the faults of your friends. They will not like it. Develop your talents along one special line. Do not worry, do not give way to anger, or jealousy or hate. Envy no man, because you have within yourself wonderful powers of success, if you develop them properly. Always maintain your own individuality, for in this, as with Sampson's hair, lies the secret of your strength. Marry a man born in April, August or November.

You were born on Friday. Your colors are steel and purple shades. The day you ask about, a Saturday, is one on which to be patient and agreeable, and to make no important purchases.

A rational reaction against irrational excesses and vagaries of skepticisim my readily degenerate into the rival folly of credulity.

What do you want in a soap?

Do you like a soap that smells good?... Clean, delicately perfumed. Do you like a soap that looks good?...With that soft green tint of Eastern jade. Do you like a soap that feels good?...With a rich creamy lather that streams off into the warm water in a string of suds and bubbles.

Far more—do you like a soap that cleanses but doesn't irritate—that leaves your face cool and white and faintly tingling—that reduces the size of your pores as you use it day by day—that freshens and clears your complexion?—A soap that is the basis of the world's most famous beauty treatment?

Then you'll like Plantol—made of plant, fruit and flower oils, without a bit of animal fat...and you'll marvel at Plantol's price—ten cents.

ART STUDY CLUB.

Westminster Abbey Subject of Interesting Paper by Mrs. Sutton.

A meeting of the Art Study Club of the Women's Art Association was held this week at the home of Mrs. J. E. R. Munro, when an interesting paper on Westminster Abbey was given by Mrs. N. H. Sutton. The response to the roll call was a reference to one of the great cathedrals of the world.

The next meeting of the Club will be held on Tuesday, March 16th, at the home of Miss B. Beatty, Weller Street, when Mrs. H. W. Morphet will give a paper on "Sargent," and the response to the roll-call will be a quotation from Longfellow's works.

The subject, "Westminster Abbey," was dealt with in excellent style, Mrs. Sutton giving a bird's eye view sketch of the great Abbey, considering it from the historical, religious and architectural aspects, with a description of the tombs and monuments contained in the Abbey.

The speaker had visited the great cathedral in the spring of 1917, and gave an interesting account of her visit to it at that time. Stanley has said that "the history of the Royal Tombs is the history of the Abbey itself." The kings to whom the Abbey owes most are Edward the Confessor, son of Ethelred the Unready, Henry Third, son of King John, Henry Seventh, first of the Tudors, and Henry Eighth, the latter from an entirely different angle of course, to his predecessors. Kings and queens, monks and clergy, priests and laymen, prince and commoner,—poet and statesman—workman and craftsman—all have added their share to its composition."

The early history of the Abbey, or the Church of St. Peter of Westminster, was on the Island of Thorns, outside of the city of London. The first building here, according to tradition, was a Roman temple, erected to Apollo, destroyed in 154 A.D. Then twelve monks of the Benedictine Order settled here, to be eventually overrun by the Danes, followed by the building of a Saxon church, supposed to have been dedicated by St. Peter himself. When Edward returned from his long exile in Normandy, where he was forced to fly with his Norman mother from the Danes, he built a church there, distinguished by the beauty of its architecture. It was the first church to be built in England in the cruciform style of construction, and was built not only as a church but as the burial place of Edward and all the future kings of England, also as the perpetual home of the monks of St. Benedictine, and to be under no rule but that of the king. So it remains to the present day, at least in the latter aspect of the kingly rule, "A Royal Peculiar," as it is called.

On St. Innocent's Day, 1065, the church was finished and was to be dedicated with great rejoicing, but the king, on account of ill-health, could not be present, sending his queen to represent him. The king was greatly disappointed over this, having waited for fifteen years to see the completion of his project. Within a few days after its dedication, its royal founder died and was buried within its walls.

Henry Third, son of King John, unlike his father, was deeply religious in character. He undertook to re-build the Abbey, and in 1245, the church was destroyed, the body of Edward the Confessor being removed to the Palace nearby. Then, the church, as we see it to-day, was begun, and to Henry it owes its design of Early English Gothic architecture. Henry bore the expense of the work himself, making the church his gift to the nation, although, to do this, he taxed the people right and left. His extravagant way of living, added to the extravagance of his wife, caused a great outcry in the nation, and brought on the establishment of the House of Commons, another great link between the nation and the Abbey.

The new structure was built on the old foundations, but the transepts were lengthened and the east end of the church extended to add the Confessor's chapel, where the body of King Edward was taken with great ceremony on St. Edward's Day, 1237, twenty-two years after the commencement of the building.

King Henry died before the completion of the church and his son, King Edward First, was prevented from carrying out his father's wishes as to its completion by internal wars in his kingdom. Later on, in the reign of the third Edward, the great Plague of the City of London also interfered with the work, which was finally taken up by the Monastery itself. Two Abbots, Langhan and Littlington, completed a great portion of the structure, then the kings took up the work again. Richard Second, Henry Fifth and Henry Sixth carried it on, and several later Abbots were responsible for parts of the construction. Abbot Islip completing the West Tower, of which Sir Chrisfopher Wreen was the architect. Then Henry Seventh added the beautiful Lady Chapel, living in the Palace nearby, so that the Palace and the church grew together, this Palace being the nucleus of the present Parliament Buildings.

Mrs. Sutton then passed from the consideration of the building itself to give a glimpse of the life that flowed around the stately building, speaking of several of the coronation ceremonies, the life and burial of Elizabeth of York, with a peep into the ancient Monastery, the cloister of the past and present, the organ and sanctuary, the Gatehouse, and the exterior of the church and chapel, concluding with a reference to the words of Dean Stanley regarding the great Abbey of Westminster.

A Famous Man

The originator of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the blood, as well as the "Favorite Prescription" for women, was Dr. Ray V. Pierce, a practising physician in Western Pennsylvania. He early moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and established The Invalids' Hotel, then he put up his home remedies in the World's Dispensary, where they were carefully prepared from roots, barks and herbs, and placed them with druggists all over the U. S. and Canada.

For over half a century, Dr. Pierce's Discovery, for the blood, has been sold in larger quantities by druggists than any other medicine. It is a tonic in its effect on the stomach and digestive apparatus; an alterative in its action on the blood, liver and skin. It increases the appetite, stimulates the digestion, enriches the blood, clears the skin of eruptions and blemishes, and makes both men and women feel as they did when they were young and care free.

Ask your nearest druggist for Doctor Pierce's family medicines, in tablet or liquid form, or send 10 cents for a trial package of tablets to Doctor Pierce's Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont.

LEAGUE COUNCIL MEMBERSHIP IS ANXIETY CAUSE

London Press Agitated and Do Not Conceal Bitter Disappointment.

COMMONS SQUABBLE.

Express Deduces That Spain Will Be Made a Permanent Member.

LONDON, March 5. Canadian Press. — With only one or two exceptions the London morning newspapers express uneasiness over the Ministerial statements made in the House of Commons yesterday regarding the squabble over the membership f the League of Nations Council.

The anti-government papers are bitter, as might be expected, but the moderates also do not conceal their disappointment.

The Times regrets that Sir Austen Chamberlain, foreign secretary was not more explicit on essentials, and points out that no clear answer was given regarding the time and occasion for a possible increase in the permanent membership of the council.

"Next week's proceedings at Geneva will still be scrutinized with some anxiety. It is not yet clear what is going to happen."

The Daily Express declares that one clear fact to be deduced from Sir Austen's "elaborate cloud of words" is that "Spain will be made a permanent member of the council next Monday."

TEXTILE WORKERS PLANNING STRIKE

Fifty Thousand People May Walk Out—Dislike Speed System.

PASSAIC, N.J., March 5 (Canadian Press).—Plans for a strike of textile workers in Paterson and in Lawrence, Mass., were announced to-day by Albert Weisbrod, chairman of the United Front Committee, who said that within a month or six weeks, a total of 50,000 workers would be out.

Weisbrod said that in the event that woo'len mills in the Passaic district shut down completely, organizers and leaders engaged here would be transferred to Lawrence, Mass., and to Paterson.

The Associated Silk Workers of Paterson, in conference with him yesterday, he averred, indicated a willingness to co-onerate. The chief grievances of the Paterson workers, according to Weisbrod, were the "anarchy of working hours" and an aggravated form of the speed-up system.

Six other members of the household were forced to the street in night attire, with the temperature at zero. An overheated furnace is believed to have been the cause of the fire.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL OF THE PROVINCE INTERVENES ORDERING INQUEST

ed woman, was a principal on one occasion when an armed posse was out hunting one of the notorious Hill brothers. It was discovered that Mrs. Lytle was harboring Hill and when he was surrounded and captured, Mrs. Lytle seized an axe and with it attempted to attack the police.

The body of John Dwyer was removed from Comstocks' Undertaking Parlor to-day to Lane and Eano's Undertaking Parlor, where the inquest will probably be held.

The face of the boy is like a skull, with a skin stretched over it, but Mr. Eano said he had seen children who had died from disease in much worse state of emaciation. This boy was four feet tall, but only weighed 27 or 30 pounds.

The boy was brought into the hospital on the 24th of February in an unconscious condition. Until he died in the early hours of Tuesday he never regained consciousness. He was twelve years of age at that age his normal weight should have been 80 pounds the worn frame that lies awaiting burial weighs 27 pounds.

"I never saw a body so thin in my life," said Dr. Clarke. "It was a skeleton, nothing but bone with the skin drawn over it. His little ankle was only 4¾ in circumference, his abdogen was so flat that you could see his backbone. His little face was like that of a very old man, wrinkled and drawn, cheeks sunken, bones protruding and eyes set away back in his head. There were five nurses around me at the hospital, and I tell you there was not a dry eye in the place as they gazed on that poor form from which the last spark of life was flickering."

Marks on Bodies.

On both John's head and the head of George, the nine-year-old boy who still lies in hospital, there are numerous bald spots, which medical opinions agree may have been fractures. Although the boys have been lying at home sick for the past month, and presumably have not been beaten during that time, there are still marks of bruises on their bodies.

Dr. Clarke maintains that these circumstances ought to be investigated, and it is for these, as well as for other reasons, that he and many others think that an investigation ought to be held prior to the "clean-up," which citizens say must come this time. A similar movement was under way about six years ago as the result of some particularly nauseating crime that had come to light, but public memory being very short, the righteous indignation which flared up then soon died down, and nothing was done to apply a cure to this plague-infested spot.

Had To Grab Food.

While little Jack passed away to a haven of rest without being able to tell to the world the monstrous cruelty and hardship he had suffered in his short life, George is able to speak, and in the few words he has said he has revealed enough to make the angels weep. The first word he said to his aunt when she visited him at the hospital, was that he had had a nice dinner, and detailed to her the different things he had eaten, what a contrast to the food he had been getting and the manner in which he got it. The only way he and his brother John could get anything to eat, he says, was to grab it off the table like dogs, when their stepmother wasn t looking, although at the same time, the stepmother s own three children were seated at the table while the others stood around and watched.

George Dwyer, the father, had six children by his first wife, and two by his second wife, and there is a five-year-old child which the second Mrs. Dwyer had given birth to before she married Dwyer. The first Mrs. Dwyer, the mother of the children found so emaciated, died at childbirth in 1919. The eldest of the first wife's children, a girl, is married the next, a boy about 17 years, has been living with his mother's relatives in Peterboro' the third child, Kasleen, 15 years old, who was brought into the Children's Aid shelter the other day by a provincial constable who went out to arrest her stepmother, had been living with her stepmother's parents, on the same farm but in another house about half a mile away. The other three children, Nellie, aged 13 John, aged 12, and George, aged 7, lived in the two roomed shack with their father, stepmother and three stepbrothers and sisters, aged 5, 3 and 2.

Marked Contrast.

These three younger children, the children of the second marriage, have also been brought into the Children's Aid shelter, but their condition is in marked contrast to that of the three children by the first marriage. While the latter were clothed in rags and were starved and worn to an indescribable degree, resembling nothing more than the photographs one has seen of children of eastern countries after a famine, the children of the second marriage were well clothed, and looked robust and healthy.

This, the mother explains, is due to the fact that her children were in the habit of going to their grandparents for their meals, their clothing emanating from the same source, while her husband would not permit his children to go near the home of his father- and mother-in-law, Matt and Mrs. Lytle. It is suggested that this may have been due to the fact that Dwyer, the prisoner, is a Roman Catholic, while his wife and her parents are Protestants, but it is questionable whether religion entered into the disputes of this couple. Whe Dwyer married his second wife, five years ago, he turned Protestant, it is said, with the result that he was excommunicated by the priest at any rate, they are not known to have attended any church. The explanation given by Mrs. Dwyer for her husband's attitude is that he was afraid that the children would carry tales to their grandparents of the assaults he made on his wife. As a matter of fact, it was as the result of a complaint lodged by the ather of the young wife, that the police made investigation and found the deplorable state of affairs.

Eight in Shack.

The shack in which the Dwyers lievd lies 29 miles northeast of Peterboro', in the midst of as rough a country as anyone could expect at a much greater distance from the centres of population and civilization. It is a two-roomed house, one on top of the other. The rooms measure about 14 by 16 feet, and the eight members of the family at home sleep in the upper room, the lower room being used for eating, when there was anything to eat. The home is comparatively comfortably furnished as homes go in these parts. The house was heated by a wood-burning stove. The house is built of plain boards covered, in parts, with tar paper. When the children were taken out of the home, one unconscious, another on a stretcher, and the girl in the arms of the policeman, there was no food in the house but bread and oatmeal.

Of live animals, there were three horses, seven chickens, one cow and a dog. The three horses were bought by Dwyer quite recently, and his wife charges that it was the payments he was making on the purchase price of these that has made him unable to provide proper food for the household. She avows that he has not spent more than $40 on food and clothing for the family of eight the whole winter long, that she had to be ready to gather the eggs immediately they were laid, otherwise the hens ate them up. Again, the milk from the cow, according to little George, was reserved for the children of the second marriage, George and Jack having to sup their porridge dry.

Toe Fell Off.

Both boys became sick nigh unto death more than a month ago. One of George's great toes was frozen and it fell off by the second joint last Christmas. The heel of his other foot is frozen, and all his fingers are frozen, some of them being black. He tells of an incident that happened to John when the latter became so sick that he was not able to walk. George says that the stepmother ordered Jack out to do the chores, but Jack was unable to move, yet he says the stepmother knocked him down and kicked him out into the cold.

George was asked if he was allowed to lay up when his feet were frozen, and poor George seemed to think that he was given more kindly treatment by having only to do the chores in and around the house, and not having to go to the woods.

One day, in the woods, the mother lit a fire at which they could warm themselves, while their father was hauling logs to Norwood. As a result, less wood was sawn that day than usual, and next morning, when the father saw that they had been "loafing" on the job, he beat them. This according to the mother's story, who, by the way, is not allowed to see anyone but her lawyer by instructions of the police.

Other Side of Story.

The same instructions apply to the father, who is held in custody at the jail, and to the children at the Children's Aid shelter.

On the other side of the story it is stated on behalf of the husband that two years ago he took his children by his first wife away from the house and went with them into the backwoods because of the treatment they were receiving at the hands of his second wife. He was away for quite a time when she sued him for non-support. On that occasion he told the story of her ill-treatment to the children by the first marriage to Magistrate Langley, who advised him to return home.

They speak of him being a great worker, anxious and willing to oblige.

Hero in Great War.

The manner in which he earned his sergeant's stripes is a story in itself which reflects the utmost credit on Dwyer when he faced the rigors of war. Dwyer was in the front line trenches when a shell landed in the midst of a group of his comrades several were killed and one man had a terrible gash in his neck from which the blood was gushing. Dwyer stemmed the flow of blood and was getting the comrade on his back when a sergeant halted him and told him to put the man down as he was "through." Dwyer refused and carried the man behind the lines. On the way he met a major who ordered him to put the fellow down as he was as good as dead. Refusing again he was told that he could be shot for refusing orders, but Dwyer carried the man back to the dressing station, was complimented by the doctor on the first aid given and then court-martialled. He saved that comrade's life and on the evidence of the doctor he was complimented and promoted by the colonel instead of being shot, while the major was demoted.

SCHOONER CREW RESCUED AFTER MONTHS ADRIFT

Set Sail on December 18 From Bonanza, Spain, With Cargo of Salt.

AT WILL OF STORMS.

Boat Crew of Volendam Effects Rescue in Choppy Seas.

ABOARD S. S. VOLENDAM, bound for Plymouth, England, Mar. 5th. Canadian Press. — The Dutch liner Volendam, which left New York on Feb. 27th, is steaming eastward to-day, with Captain Charles Rose and his crew of five men, rescued from the sinking schooner, General Smuts, safely aboard.

The General Smuts' men were taken off their vessel yesterday, when they had almost given up hope after ten weeks of hardship at sea.

The rescue was effected in choppy seas by a boat crew consisting of the Volendam's chief officer, and five men. The schooner was in such bad condition, her captain reports that she could not have lasted another 36 hours. Four of her men are in the liner's hospital.

The General Smuts, a three masted schooner, of 193 tons, sailed from Bonanza, Spain, for St. John's on Dec. 18th, with a cargo of salt for which codfiish had been exchanged. The schooner soon ran into fierce westerly gales, which early in January blew away her sails. Her spare sails also went by the board early in February, and about the same time her mizzen boom and life boat were smashed.

The schooner began to leak and in spite of continuous pumping filled steadily, spoiling the cargo of salt, and most of the crew's rations. The men were reduced to three biscuits of hard tack and suffered terribly from the lack of water.

When the drifting sailing vessel sighted the Volendam Capt. Ros improvised a signal, making a torch of rags soaked in turpentine, which he hoisted on the top mast. The flying sparks attracted the attention of the officer on the liner's bridge, and Capt. De Koning changed his course for the rescue.

CANADA MUST TAKE IMMEDIATE

consent of both countries, must be respected.

"We find that Chicago is again pressing the point that they cannot immediately cut the water supply off as it would result in a danger to its inhabitants.

For Power Purposes.

"It is not for navigation or sanitary purposes," said Mr. Maguire, "that they want the water. It is for power purposes, and what they have done is to build a power plant at Lockport, Ill. It is high time for Canada to put her finger on the spot and tell Chicago that the steal must stop. The Hydro has been accused of doing what Chicago has been doing, but is returning the water to the stream from whence it was taken.

"How many people realize the seriousness of this diversion? The position created by Chicago to-day is the greatest menace we have to the development of the great waterway we all dream of.

"We lack men who can see the big things and the need of protection for the things that we have."

Mr. Maguire stated that a few months ago 15 boats could not get through the Welland Canal on account of the lowering of the water.

"Three times as much freight," he said, "passes through the Great Lakes as passes through the Panama Canal. Don't make any mistake, if this is allowed to go on you will see the great waterway greatly impaired as a result.

"These are questions that are paramount to the citizens of Peterborough. If they do not stamp out the critics of the great public utility the people on the other side would give millions to destroy it."

The Chippawa development today is running to full capacity, and at the estimate made by the engineers at that time was the striking statement made by Mr. Maguire.

Referring to the Hydro Electric Power Commission, Mr. Maguire said that there was not an organization in the world that could show the same results in the same time. It is developing 970 000 horse power, and seventy-eight municipalities have paid off their entire indebtedness and not one dollar of the taxpayers' money has been contributed directly. "You know what you are paying—what your Commission is doing. I say this in defence of the one man who permeates the whole organization, the late Sir Adam Beck. If there are any critics let them come up to the Provincial office and we will show them everything. The constructive critics we admire, but the destructive critic is a menace to the community."

Put Down To Ignorance.

Mr. Maguire stated that he saw where the Peterborough Commissioners were being criticized severely through the press. "I want to pay tribute to them for what they have accomplished," said Mr. Maguire. "I put it down to ignorance when they say to you, 'the commission is buying power for 15 and 20 and selling it for 16." It proves that the man who wrote that article does not know what he is talking about. It's good business, said Mr. Maguire, "as they are selling it over and over again. Due to the efforts of your commission, instead of paying 7 cents a kilowat hour it has been reduced to 2 1-2 cents. I welcome candid criticism," said Mr. Maguire, "but in Peterborough there is no room for it. The Ontario Power Commissioners are only trustees for the people and Central Ontario to-day stands with a surplus and you in Peterborough enjoy the reduction of rates. He stated that the persons who are knocking the Hyro are the persons with the private power rights. He cited a case of where a man bought right for $1,800 and wanted to sell it to the Hydro for $4,250,000.

"In concusion," said Mr. Maguire, "I say that he who is not aware of his ignorance will only be misled by his knowledge." He stated that there was nothing personal in his attitude, but if they must criticize, first let them go and get first hand information. "Peterboro has been playing the part with the other municipalities, and then to think that it is being criticized—I never heard anything more ridiculous."

Street Railway.

Referring to street railways, Mr. Maguire said: "We had to take over street railways and some of them were not paying. Just as soon as Peterboro realizes its transportation difficulties and takes over that road—and don't make any mistake, it is an investment—they will show a real spirit. Assume your responsibilities of transportation or tell us you don't want it." said Mr. Maguire.

"Don't get local when it comes down to assuming your responsibilities," Mr. Maguire said. "We ask co-operation—we ask the real spirit of criticism—we ask you to come up—everything is open for your inspection. Beware of two men - the man that is interested in private interests and the man who is spreading the Gospel "Look out for Hydro."

"The Hydro is the only institution that did not raise the price of its commodity during the war, and where Canada is paying eight and nine dollars a month to light Niagara Falls it is costing the United States $32.

"Let us co-operate to the fullest extent in this enterprise—there is not a better or more efficient organization in the word," said Mr. Maguire in conclusion.

Chicago opening figures, 3-4c to 1 7-8c lower, May (new) 157 to 157 7-8, and July 138 3-4 to 139 1-8, were followed by numerous fluctuations within a range of about one cent.

Corn and oats sympathized with wheat's weakness. After opening 3-4 to 1 1-8c lower, May 78 1-2 to 78 5-8; corn rallied and then sagged.

Oats started unchanged to 1-4c higher, May 40 to 40 1-8 and later eased back somewhat.

Drop In Wheat at Liverpool Gives Market Fresh Jolt Here

CHICAGO, Ills., Mar. 5 (Canadian Press)—Pronounced weakness of wheat at Liverpool gave a new jolt early today to wheat prices here. The Liverpool declines were accompanied by word that many British flour mills were working short time or closed down altogether and that virtually no consumer demand for wheat was in evidence either for immediate or future delivery. Favorable crop conditions for domestic winter wheat tended also to promote selling and to depress values.

Traction and Smelters Lead On To-day's Stock Exchange

TORONTO, March 5.— (Canadian Press.)—Strong recovery was shown on the Toronto stock exchange this morning, and led by Tractions, list generally advanced sharply. Smelters again the leader, climbed to a high of 217, 17 above yesterday's close, but receded again to close morning at 206 1-2, six point advance. Brazilian touched 93 3-4, but like Smelters receded, closing at 92 1-2, for half a point gain. Canada Steamships Lines preferred advanced 2 1-2 at 66, and Twin City in active trading climbed 1 3-4 at 76 1-4. C.P.R. advanced three at 155, F. N. Burt one at 61, Brompton 1 1-4 at 31 1-4, British Columbia Fishing one at 72 and Atlantic Sugar two at 25 3-4. Steel of Canada, common and preferred, each advanced a point to 101 5-8 and 117 respectively, and Industrial Alcohol strengthened 5-8 at 17 5-8.

Mines also shared in general upturn and Teck Hughes regained 35 cents at 3.25.

Stocks Take Strong Advance Standard Mining Exchange

TORONTO, March 5 (Canadian Press).—The market was uniformly strong on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning, and in line with other exchanges, stocks scored good advances. Outstanding were Teck Hughes' gain of seven at 322, Kirkland Lake three at 111, Keora two at 12¾, Dome 25 at 18.15, and Argonaut 1¼ at 33¾ in the golds. The strong silver stocks were Beaver, gaining eight at 76, Canadian Lorrain three at 74½, Mining Corporation six at 396, and Keeley's gain of four at 151.

Market Gains Higher Prices Powerful Financial Backing

NEW YORK, Mar. 5 (Canadian Press)—Powerful financial forces working for higher prices, encouraged by rapid recovery yesterday, started to bid up prices again today, but encountered strong resistance from bear traders, who made sporadic assaults on supposedly vulnerable issues. As a result, the market presented alternating periods of heaviness and strength. Unusually heavy buying of the railroad shares started prices upward again in the early afternoon.

Several high grade shares yielded a point or two below last night's final quotation while U. S. Cast Iron Pipe was driven down 9 1-2 points. Trading was not in as large volume as either yesterday or the day before.

The two-piece mode—the classic of the season. If your wish is for a sports suit that reflects unmistakably the mode, you will find it in the model pictured here. The jumper blouse is in the new fingertip length, with collar fastening to one side under the chin, or turned back to form revers. A slight fulness is introduced over the bust by gathers, and set-on bands are button trimmed. The belt, coming from the sides of the trimming-bands, ties at the center of the plain back. The skirt is joined to a bodice top and is distinguished by two inverted plaits either side of the front. The diagram pictures the partly finished costume, and No. 1243 is in sizes 16, 18 and 20 years (34, 36 and 38 inches bust only). Size 18 years (36 bust) requires 4⅛ yards of 36-inch, or 2⅝ yards of 54-inch material. The bodice top alone requires 1¼ yards of 36-inch material, or with ribbon straps over the shoulders ⅞ yard. Menus for the Family

By Sister Mary.

Breakfast—Grape fruit, toasted whole wheat biscuit with hot milk, liver and bacon, reheated potatoes, corn bread, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Cream of pea soup, croutons, cottage cheese salad, whole wheat bread, ring of apples, milk, tea.

Dinner—Swiss steak with brown gravy, mashed potatoes, creamed onions, cabbage salad, raspberry trifle, crisp cookies, bran bread, milk, coffee.

If canned fruit is drained from its juice and the juice made into jelly by the use of gelatine and then the fruit and the stiffening jelly are combined and allowed to chill and become firm, the addition of a garniture of whipped cream and the sherbet or parfait glasses makes a tempting "trifle."

Ring of Apples.

Eight medium sized tart apples, 1 1-2 cups sugar, 3-4 cup boiling water, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatine, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1 cup currant jelly, 1-2 cup shredded almonds, 1 cup whipping cream, 4 tablespoons powdered sugar, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla.

Combine water and sugar and bring to the boiling point. Pare and core apples and cut in thin slices. When the water and sugar are boiled to the crack stage add apples and cook to a thick marmalade. Add cinnamon. Soften gelatine in cold water for ten minutes. Stir into apples and remove from fire. Turn into a ring mold first dipped in cold water. Let stand until chilled and firm. Unmold on to a large serving plat. Whip cream until solid, adding powdered sugar and vanilla when almost whipped. Fill center of mold with whipped cream and pour over jelly melted over hot water. Spread almonds on a shallow pan and brown in a hot oven. Sprinkle nuts over mold and serve. The nuts of course are prepared while the apples are cooking and are thoroughly cooled when needed.

The "crack stage" of syrup is reached when a little dropped into cold water hardens at once and the threads formed in the water break with a snap between the fingers.

This is an excellent dessert for the women on a farm to keep in mind.

WISE WORDS.

HER OWN WAY

by A GIRL of TODAY

MAMIE

"Here, Sellers, take her back to her station," said the manager of the restaurant with almost a note of respect in his voice.

"Pardon me, I'll find it myself," I answered.

The detective eyed me sullenly but the manager caught on to the fact immediately that I was afraid of creating a sensation again and said: "I'll show you the way myself."

I meekly followed him but stopped and must have looked my amazement when he said to a girl at the hat-checking station:

"Here's a pal for you, Mamie. Now quit yelling for help. I'll bet she'll beat you out on tips before the week is over. Every man will want her to check his hat."

The girl turned quickly and I liked her at a glance. Her lovely Irish face and ready smile gave me comfort immediately and I thought, at last I had found someone who would believe my story.

"This is Julie Kean, Mamie."

I gave a sigh of relief as I realized the man had misunderstood my name.

"Hang your hat and coat here," she said with a smile and then the manager was called away.

For a while I stood watching her with admiration and wonder as she gave each man the right hat, scarcely glancing at the check. I had an added respect even for her occupation as I saw it would take a long while before I even would be able to do what she was doing with any surety at all. Right then and there, from that girl, I began to get an idea of what service meant if given loyally. I did not put it that way to myself, however. I just said.

"I knew you were a good egg."

I knew it would be some time before I could hope to be a sproficient as she and I despaired of ever being able to give a bright smile or quick-witted sally to everyone.

Between the rushes of business I was conscious of her furtive looks at me.

"Can I help you?" I ventured. "'Im afraid I shall be rather stupid at first."

"You've never checked before? How come Sterns wished this job on you? There! Don't try to tell me now,"—as I began to stutter out my story—"because it's awfully busy and you'd better try your luck with the hats. Just take them as they come in and lay them all on this shelf, handing each man a check and putting his hat on the same number. It won't be hard for as good-looking a girl as you are to make good and you may like it if you haven't any corns. The girl showed all her white teeth in a smile.

TOMORROW: Some Advice.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

PRACTICAL APRONS FOR ALL USES.

We may decide it is old fashioned to wear aprons but women who keep house, with or often without help, in kitchenettes or kitchens, realize their necessity.

Let us speak of the "cover-all" aprons. The model that has a close-fitted front, gored side breadths, and straps that run over the shoulder to button onto the band at the waist, is an good one. The gored sides run far enough back to protect the gown underneath, while the shoulder straps are held in place by a six-inch bib so they do not fall off the shoulders. The apron also boasts two commodious pockets.

The organdy apron, with knife pleated ruffle and butterfly bib, is a dainty affair, but not, of course, terribly practical. It also comes in the high-necked and long-sleeved model with white collars and cuffs in one of the dainty pastel colors, though pumpkin yellow is first favorite. Among the aprons made of heavier materials is that of unbleached muslin trimmed with gaily patterned calico. The aprons are also trimmed with linen appliqued flower motifs, some cut from plain linen, others cut from large flowered cretonnes. New heavy aprons are made of Russian linen trimmed with peasant embroidery. These aprons are frequently seen worn over a Russian blouse, trimmed with embroidery and a plain blue, yellow or white linen shirt.

The popular rubber aprons have become very attractive in cut and in trimming. The white or light colors are effectively trimmed with darker shades, or to match the lining colors. They are also hand-painted in most novel ways.

White pongee aprons are a fad just now. These aprons are made with deep hems and have a buttoned band that fits the waist. Two pointed pockets are generally added, also an old-fashioned square bib is added to those intended for practical use. The pongee, of course, washes well and it wears indefinitely, so it is not an extravagant fad.

Ten years ago the policewoman was an innovation and the idea had been introduced in only a few cities. Now, nearly one hundred cities scattered throughout the country employ women on regular patrol duty or in other departments of police work.

CAPES ADORN NEW SPRING FROCKS AND COATS

This Graceful Treatment Enhances the Charm of the Spring Wardrobe.

By ANNETTE BRADSHAW.

Capes are seen now in garments for all times of day and evening. The cape fashion is so youthful and of such universal appeal that it bids fair to outrival all others for the spring season.

Its effectiveness is ably demonstrated in the two models shown here.

At the left we have a chic little coat developed in the new rough-surfaced tweed that is appearing in smart sports garments. The coat is straight, with a narrow band of the tweed applied at the bottom to give the tunic effect. The little shaped cape is cut to fit snugly over the shoulder line, and is very short, reaching barely to the centre of the back. The fur is one of the effective novelty furs in a dark brown, accenting the smart brown and tan tones of the tweed.

The frock shown in the sketch is a copy of one of the smartest of the new imports. It is done in kasha of a natural tint, and this material has gained the greatest fashion prestige, because it is soft and becoming and adapts itself readily to the pleats and tucks which are so much used today. The back and front are cut in one, a rather intricate treatment that gives the greatest simplicity of effect when completed. It is for designs of the type that the Parisian creators are famous. Fine line embroidery in bright red adorns the collar and the edges of the cape, and the skirt is box-pleated at the sides and front.

Other cape treatments appear in sheer chiffon dance frocks.

IN THE NEWS

Poor but proud young blades of Moslem Russia protest against "selling brides like cattle." They cite marriage market costs of 100 pounds of sugar, 35 pounds of butter, four pounds of tea, 35 of honey, two pairs of shoes, and a wallet of gold for a bride. One wonders if the social phases of the question trouble the swains so much as the stab in the pocketbook!

"It will not be long before divorce is the normal termination of every marriage rather than death," says a judge in Ohio, commenting on the fact that divorce in his county increased 50 per cent last year and marriages but one and a half per cent. He blames divorce on the modern vogue for "four-flushing" and the economic disaster into which the modern home falls because of inflated standards of living.

Parenthood is a profession which must have higher educational qualifications before one enters it, according to the Child Study Association which complains that anyone can be a parent whether equipped for the job or not. A good field to work in! We've been fed too much sentimental bosh about the respect and love children owe even the most criminally negligent of parents!

AN IDEA

"The kitchen was cross.
I wished I could put it all in the chopping bowl and chop!
But when the juices of the parsley
Started seeping out,
Pungent,
Green,
It was so cheerful that I too had to feel green.
Fresh-leaved;
And the kitchen began to smile."

IT'S BEING DONE

An unmarried woman signs her name with the "Miss" in parenthesis—thus, (Miss) Mary Blank. A married woman signs herself in business letters and everything but the most informal notes with both her married and personal title. Thus, Mary Brown Smith, and in parenthesis in the line below slightly to the left, (Mrs. John Smith).

WHAT EVERY WOMAN KNOWS!

Famous wife losers of history include the husband who bought HER clothes, the husband who demanded porterhouse and mushrooms and gave her a soupbone household budget, the husband who kept all the evening paper all evening, the husband who never took her to a movie, and the husband who compares your folks and my folks.

HAVE YOU READ?

"Wives," by Gamaliel Bradford? The author discusses seven famous woman made famous only by famous husbands. The women are Mrs. Abraham Lincoln, Mrs. Benedict Arnold, Theodosia Burr, Mrs. James Blaine, Mrs. Jefferson Davis, Mrs. Benjamin Butler, Mrs. James Madison. The author contends that each of these wives was the intellectual superior of her husband. What's the answer? Women prefer to submerge self in mate even if they can outshine him?

HEDDA HOYT TALKS ABOUT THE THINGS THAT INTEREST THE BUSY WOMAN OF 1926.

SMOCKS.

(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, March 5.—(United Press).—It is interesting to trace the origin of some fashions! Take, for instance, the smock. Up in the garrets of the artists' quarters it was originated as a cover-all for working purposes. During the late war factories used this loose garment for their female workers. Today many women find the smock an admirable housedress since it completely covers one and has the faculty of looking smart without being too 'housewifey.'

Since many women of means are dabbling into things artistic such as painting, sculpturing, gownmaking and shopkeeping they find that a pretty smock is the only artistic garment that can be worn for such purposes. Recently I called at a shop which is run by a wealthy society woman and found her in the rear of the shop garbed in a black satin smock appliqued with a huge colorful peacock of cretonne. Beneath this she wore an afternoon gown of pastel chiffon with the idea of being prepared for callers at a moment's notice.

A little housewife next door to me wears plain blue smocks in the mornings while doing her household chores. At the smartest tearoom in New York the waitresses are all dressed in blue smocks. And so it goes! Wherever we find women working we find smocks. There are smocks of velvet worn at teatime in one's home. Smocks worn as loungeing robes and as smoking jackets. And how much smarter women look in them than in garments that suggest the scrubing brush and the dish rag.

Some of the smartest smocks are made in the Mandarin jacquette effect with up-standing collar and side opening. The usual model, of course, has turn-back lapels and buttons down the front. Pockets at the sides of the skirt are often trimmed in contrasting color or appliqued with cretonne flowers. If one dislikes the full lines of the smock a belt can be worn about the hips. One can do much with the dressier type of smock that is worn about the home. For instance, the entire full sleeve may be of cretonne in flowred effect on an otherwise plain smock.

THE SECRETS OF CHARM

By Lucrezia Bori.

"What wouldn't I do to have thin ankles!"

How often I have heard girls and women make this statement.

Now, the point I want to make is that they make it with apparently all sincerity, yet I wonder. I wonder how many of them would do just what they think they would if this meant sticking to some apparently insignificant exercise day in and day out.

Now, one peculiar aspect I have noticed among beauty-seekers is that so many of them become enthusiastic over some suggested remedy when this remedy must be procured at the hands of a highly-trained specialist and costs a bit of money into the bargain.

But the simple home treatments that one must carry on from day to day without the help and stimulation of another are the treatments that often prove too much for the woman who is enthusiastic at the beginning.

This Exercise Will Help the Ankles.

If I could only impress on these women the necessity of an inflexible will in the carrying out of these little "home treatments!" It may be harder to keep your enthusiasm keen when you have to carry the work along all by yourself, especially when, perhaps, you meet with a certain amount of ridicule from other members of your family.

But don't let this bother you. Enthusiasm is worth all the more when it doesn't have to be fanned by the help of others.

To get back to ankles, which is really my subject in hand, I hope I have prepared the seekers after slim ankles to feel really determined to stick to this exercise below if they want results. It's a simple little exercise to be done at home, and it's easy, but it must be persevered in.

You must be barefooted or in your stocking feet.

Place your hands on your hips and stand erect.

Now raise slowly on your toes, then slowly lower your heels to the floor again.

Repeat this thirty times, counting the upward and downward movement together as one.

Go through this exercise three times a day. It is well to take it in the morning when you get up, then once during the day and the third time before you go to bed at night.

I advise you to measure your ankles before you begin. Keep it up steadily for a month or so, then measure again. The tape line should tell you a very encouraging story.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

No. 3.—THE MARCH HARE PLAYS A TRICK

"Who is the first one on your list to be spring-cleaned, Mister Hare?" asked the fairyman who ran Scrub-Up Land.

"My second cousin, Cutie Cottontail," said the March Hare looking in his book again. "He should be thinking about going to the Land-Where-Spring Is Coming, and do you think I can get him to move? No sir! He's down in the nice warm spare bedroom of the Cottontails' underground house and there he says he's going to stay."

"That's funny," spoke up Nick. "I've seen rabbits about all winter. They don't go to sleep like the ground-hogs. I often see their tracks in the snow."

"I know! I know!" said the March Hare hastily. "They do come out on days that are not too cold. They come out to lunch off bark and twigs and things to keep them alive. But they don't stay long at a time. They'd rather sleep. Much rather! And along about the end of February or the first of March, they get lazier than ever. They want to sleep most of the time."

"Yes, that's right," laughed Mister Rubadub. "And when they do wake up in March and find that spring is on the way, they go crazy with delight. That's why they say 'As mad as a March Ha—' I beg your pardon, Mister Hare. I BEG your pardon!"

"No harm! No harm!" said the March Hare hastily. "It's all very true. But now about this Cottontail fellow. What are we going to do about him?"

"There's a road from Scrub-Up land to their house," said Rubadub.

"Then let's go and see what we can do," said the Hare.

So the Twins and the March Hare went along the path to the Cottontails' winter house under the ground and rang the bell.

Nobody came.

Then they rang again.

Nobody came.

"Didn't I tell you?" whispered the March Hare to the Twins. "The lazy little rascal would rather sleep than get his ears washed. But I know a way. I know a way. Now don't be surprised at anything I may say or do. I'll have to fool him, so I will."

Thereupon the March Hare began to laugh and laugh and laugh as loudly as ever he knew how. And then in a full strong voice he said, "Oh, thank you, Mr. Bunny. I'd just love to go to that lovely garden you were speaking about. Did you say that the lettuce was particularly fine and sweet and tender, was it the lettuce that was sweet and juicy or the new peas you mentioned. I forget which—you spoke of so many delicious things to eat.

"And what was that you said about carrots, Mister Bunny?" the March Hare went on with a wink at the Twins. "Three inches long already! My! My! Let's go right away. I can hardly wait until we—"

Just then Cutie Cottontail stuck out his head and blinked sleepily. But his nose was wiggling.

"Can I go 'long, Uncle Ben?" he said. Then he said quickly, "Where's Uncle Ben and where's that garden?"

"The garden is in the Land-Where-Spring-Is-Coming," said the March Hare quickly grabbing him. "And just as soon as you are scrubbed up you may go to."

If you see Cutie Cottontail around, my dears, looking as though he had just come from the barbers, you'll know that he has. Or at least, that Mister Rubadub, the fairyman, has given him a good scrubbing much against his will.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,

Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

I wonder, sometimes, if everything we believe today will be overthrown in time. Almost every day some long believed, commonly held view is cast aside as "unscientific."

What makes me speak this way is because of some reports I have just read on the subject of ventilation. The popular idea is that the air in a public building becomes contaminated and that, in consequence, breathing it makes us feel weak or ill.

The element in the air which is believed to make it harmful is carbonic acid gas, as it is popularly named, or carbon dioxide, as the scientists call it. Prof. Flugge and others carried on a series of experiments to determine the effects of "bad air" on the persons who breathed it.

Men were shut up in a tight cabinet for a period of time, as long as four hours. Breathing and rebreathing the air it soon became impregnated with carbon dioxide. Strange to say, no particular discomfort was felt. Neither was the mental efficiency lowered. So long as the temperature and moisture of the air inside the cabinet were kept low, the prisoners were comfortable.

In another experiment the temperature and moisture inside the cabinet were permitted to increase and at the same time the carbon dioxide content had grown high. The men became very uncomfortable. Then they were permitted to take into their lungs through a tube cool, fresh air from outside the chamber. This gave no relief whatever.

But when a fan inside the chamber was set in motion and the vitiated air was cooled, the prisoners became comfortable.

In still another experiment, while the men inside the chamber were very comfortable, men outside were made to breathe through a tube and to depend on the air drawn from inside the chamber. The men in the cool air outside did not suffer at all.

The discomfort of a public gathering is not due one-tenth as much to the chemical contents of the air as it is to the overheating of the air from the temperature of many human bodies. You get some idea of how the temperature of a room is raised by going into a public hall early, it seems cold then but after it has filled with people it gets warm and even hot.

You see body temperature is just under 100 degrees. A room feels warm when heated to 75 degrees. Let a multitude of persons crowd into a room and the temperature will soon go above the degree of comfort. Everybody will be gasping for breath, imagining that the "poisoned air" is responsible.

In the open, the puffy winds give your body a spray of cool air now and then. This stimulates and refreshes you. On this account for most purposes properly controlled open window ventilation will always be preferable to any artificial system, excellent as some of them are.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

F. T. Q.—Is whooping cough contagious?

A.—Yes, it is contagious.

* * *

MRS. E. L. Q.—I am troubled with gases and have been taking mineral oil but it has not entirely cleared up the trouble. Is it harmful to continue taking the oil?

2.—What do you advise for a knee which causes a crunching sound whenever it is bent. The trouble may be due to a fall.

A.—Proper attention to the diet and regular intestinal elimination should correct your trouble to a great extent. Mineral oil is not habit forming and may be taken over a long period of time without harmful effect. It is merely a lubricant, not a laxative.

2.—This condition is probably due to a lack of synovial fluid around the joint. Massaging with warm cod liver oil before retiring at night should be helpful. Bandaging during the day until the parts become stronger should also be of benefit.

* * *

MRS. N. D. R. Q.—What should a woman of nineteen, 5 feet 6¼ inches tall, weigh?

2.—Are reducing soaps harmful?

A.—She should weigh about 132 pounds.

2.—If you restrict your diet and take plenty of outdoor exercise it should not be necessary to resort to other means to reduce. For further particulars send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and repeat your question.

E. B. Q.—Will olive oil improve the growth of eyelashes?

A.—No. Castor oil will promote the growth.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver

THE ENVIOUS LITTLE SQUIRREL

Fluffy Tail Squirrel sat on the lowest branch of the beechnut tree watching his cousin, Chatty Chipmunk.

"Oh, dear," he growled, "I don t see why I can t live down on the ground like Chatty Chipmunk does. I hate this living in trees all the time.

"What s that you hate? questioned Chatty Chipmunk, stopping cram another beechnut in his cheek pockets. "What s that you re growling about again today? It seems to me you do nothing but find fault with yourself, Fluffy. What s wrong now?

"Everything, replied Fluffy Tail Squirrel. "I hate to live in trees. I d like to have an underground home like yours.

"Get busy and build yourself one, then, chattered his cousin. "That s what I had to do. Better still, come over and live in mine for a while and see if you like it. Then, if you decide that you like it better than a tree home, you can soon build one under the roots of the tree or under the stone wall next to mine.

The idea seemed to please Fluffy Tail Squirrel. He ran down the tree and followed Chatty Chipmunk to his house.

When he saw Chatty Chipmunk

"I Hate Living in Trees."

empty the nuts from his inside cheek pockets he grew cross again.

"Why, the pockets in your cheeks? I haven t any! he grumbled. "I don t see why I don t have pockets in my cheeks like yours.

"Well, you see living in the trees the way you do, you don t need them, laughed Chatty Chipmunk. "Watch out for that tail of yours or someone will see it sticking out the entrance way and grab it.

But the warning came too late. Something from the outside caught hold of Fluffy Squirrel s tail and yanked him out of Chatty Chipmunk s house.

It was old Sly Fox. Fluffy Squirrel gave a wild shriek and Chatty Chipmunk gave him a shake.

"Wake up, Fluffy, he laughed. "You must have had a terrible dream.

"Where s Sly Fox? Where s my pretty tail? he cried excitedly. "Oh, Chatty Chipmunk! I ve had an awful dream. Was Sly Fox here?'

"Goodness, no," laughed his cousin. "Did you think he had your tail? That's one thing that would be against your living on the ground, your lovely long tail. You'd have to change it for one like mine."

"Not on your life," chuckled Fluffy Squirrel. "I'd rather have my tail than yours. I guess you're right, I was made to live in the trees and not have pockets. Thanks for letting me try the underground house. I like the trees better. Good-by," and then, before Chatty Chipmunk knew what had happened, his guest was gone. That was the last time any one ever heard Fluffy Squirrel complain of his tree house and he never again wished for pockets in his cheeks.

FAMOUS FORTUNES

By Barbara Bayne

CALIFORNIA'S "BIG FOUR" RAILROAD MAGNATES.

Never was there a great enterprise which meant so much to the nation, that had so much opposition as the Central Pacific Railroad of California. In the 50's there was a popular demand for a transcontinental railroad. Not many thought it practicable, but the idea thrilled them and they liked to talk about it, anyway.

An engineer named Judah declared it could be done, but everybody considered him a crack-brained enthusiast—except a group of four men in Sacramento who later became known as "The Big Four." This matchless group was composed of Collis P. Huntington, Leland Stanford, Charles Crocker and Mark Hopkins, each man remarkable in a different way and each essential to the combination.

An Engineer Named Judah Convinced the "Big Four."

Stanford, who was a lawyer as well as a dealer in groceries, went into politics, got himself nominated for Governor of California and ten days later, June 28, 1861, the Central Pacific Railroad was organized. Crocker was elected to the State Legislature in 1861 before construction work began. He had charge of that. From the counter of a small dry goods store to the superintendency of a great railway building contract was a change in his life made almost overnight.

Hopkins was commandant of office details. Huntington displayed his genius for high finance when he went to Congress and secured what was essential for the life of the undertaking also the backing of the New York International banking firm of Speyer & Co. Huntington's telegram, "We have drawn the elephant, now let us see if we can harness him," announced his success to his associates.

The coast town, feeling slighted, strongly opposed the project at first and placed obstacles in the way, but later did her part to help make her port the gateway to the Orient. Crocker had trekked overland in 1850 with a wagon-train. In 1869 his private car passed eastward along almost the samer oute. He died in 1888, in Monterey, Cal., leaving a fortune estimated at $40,000,000.

Stanford, Governor of California, United States Senator, founder of Leland Stanford University to which was given about $30,000,000, died in 1893, leaving a vast estate to his widow.

Mark Hopkins came from New York in the early days and later formed a partnership with Huntington in the hardware business. They prospered and were perhaps the strongest men in California in the early days. Hopkins died in 1876 and his magnificent home on Knob Hill in San Francisco became the Mark Hopkins University of Art, which, with all its priceless treasures was destroyed by the earthquake. A $2,000,000 mansion at Great Barrington, Mass., is a monument to the memory of "Uncle Mark."

Collis P. Huntington began his business life in New York at a salary of $7 a month. He went to California, via the Cape, in 1849. At his death in 1900 he was president of the great Southern Pacific system which his genius had created. His vast holdings were estimated at $60,000,000.

If the "Big Four" amassed colossal fortunes for themselves, they at least were big factors in the development of the West.

CLASSES CLOSE

Instruction in Agriculture and Sewing Was Much Appreciated.

WARSAW, Mar. 5.—The agricultural and sewing classes closed in Warsaw on Thursday afternoon. The last barn the boys visited was George Garbutt's on Wednesday afternoon. In the forenoon there were lessons on feeding beef cattle. On Tuesday they were at Thomas Miller's horse stable to examine his thoroughbred Clydes. At the end, the class numbered eleven, and fully half of them came from a distance.

Mr. McCrae, district agricultural representative at Norwood, would like the farmers to make more use of the office at Norwood.

Mr. Saeger was very much interested in the work of the class, and was capable of holding the boys' interest.

In the sewing class the greater part of Wednesday and Thursday was taken up in demonstrations of finishings, trimmings, ornaments and flowers. The instructress showed that trimmings were practically ornamental necessities. It was interesting to learn why certain materials remain in vogue for a long time and others apparently beautiful and good, may, perhaps, barely last out one season. If a student simply went to the classes and took notes, and watched the demonstrations, it was time well spent, though they had neither a pattern nor a garment cut.

As a rule, sewing teachers refuse to take more than twenty-five pupils, but Miss Collins decided, as there were many more who showed interest, she would do the best she could with the double number.

Her idea was not to make the dresses for the girls, but to give lessons on how to do so, and then the girls do all the work themselves.

On Friday a number from both classes went to Peterboro', both boys and girls, with Messrs. McCrae and Saeger, visiting the Quaker Oats building. All had a banquet at the King's hotel, and in the afternoon the boys went to the Peterboro' Milk Products' depot, and the girls, with Miss Collins, visited some of the department stores.

Notice has been received by some of the farmers that a seed-cleaning demonstration and lecture train will be in Peterboro' on April 5.

Before the Christmas holidays, Mr. Currie gave the pupils of the Upper school the subject, "Resolved, that Canada should open her doors to the foreigners," to study, and the debaters were to be: Affirmatives, Elsie Moore and Gerald Payne; negatives, Mary Rose and Ivan Drain. The debate came off recently. Mr. Currie was judge, and the affirmaitve side won.

On Wednesday evening the Cottesloe young people held a box social in the school-house. The proceeds, over $38, go to the extension fund of the church. There was a good programme, and a lot of fun auctioning the boxes. The highest price paidwas $3.60.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'E CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

SATURDAY, MARCH 6.

Active business and professional conditions are the presage for this day, owing to the auspicious rule of Mercury in trine with Luna. This figure encourages pushing all mercantile transactions and is also read as a propitious aspect for making new arrangements and signing new contracts. It is likewise a time for attending to correspondence and for all manner of literary pursuits, dealing with publishers, publicity, etc.

Those whose birthday it is should push all affairs of a commercial and literary nature, making new agreements, signing new contracts and transacting deals with publishers and advertising agents. A child born on this day should be talented, versatile and lively. It should succeed in business as well as in literary occupations, especially advertising or publicity, and also as a commercial traveler.

EASY GOIN'

I know a man who's mighty wise;
who's sorta opened up my eyes, until
I think I realize he lives the proper way.
He has his time for plenty fun. In work he's on no wildlike run, and yet he gets some real things done through judgment, day by day.
He doesn't tear and rip and roar.
He knows what each good minute's

A World-wide Business the careful Housewife helped to build

ALL over the world, Sunlight Soap, once known only in Great Britain, is now a universal favourite.

This is a tribute to purity—for Sunlight has always been kept pure, regardless of manufacturing costs—and to the demand of the careful housewife for soap that would cleanse quickly, with little work and in safety.

Any expert laundress will tell you that Sunlight Soap is faithful to fabrics, but ruinous to dirt. There are soaps that appear to work faster, but Sunlight Soap is her choice because she respects the life of the fabrics entrusted to her care. There is no substitute for pure soap.

Your clothes will last longer when your laundress uses Sunlight, the largest selling laundry soap in the world.

"To me, the $5000 guarantee of purity means clean clothes, and a clear conscience, because I know Sunlight won't hurt fabrics."

DELAVAL WIN CHAMPIONSHIP OF CITY HOCKEY LEAGUE

DE LAVAL CITY LEAGUE WINNERS; BEAT BRINTONS 5-3 IN ODD GAME; TEAMS TIED ON THE FIRST TWO Speed on the Forward Line Counted for the Breyfogle Factory.

BOTH TEAMS GOOD

Final Encounter Provided One of Season's Best Games.

After twice tieing the score in their game with the De Lavals, the Brinton Carpet team faded before the speed of the Separator crew, who won the third game of the Peterborough City League finals, 5 to 3, last night, and will hold as a result the Brown Cup.

The speed of the winning forwards was in evidence all through the game and nullified the superior experience of the losers. Williams, Dundas, and McDougall outfooted their opponents all the way and laid down such a barrage of back-checking that they had the Brintons hog tied. At that, carelessness around the nets almost cost them the game as Rose was left uncovered in front when he scored two of the three Brinton goals. Lackey and Wood were th. only other members of the losing team to display anything like the same game as the winners.

First Period

Each team scored a goal in the first period. The De Laval deserved several goals; good stops by LeBarr robbing them and a tendency to go in too close giving them difficulty, but their only counter was a fluke. Dundas shot past the end of the net and LeBarr, in attempting to clear the rebound, stepped on the rubber, shoving it into the nets. The Brinton goal was better earned. White passed out from the corner to Rose, who was uncovered in front of the net, and made no mistake. Both teams played fast hockey, especially in clearing loose pucks in front of the nets. Two penalties to Marchen and one each to Rose and White, all for trips, were issued.

Second Period

The period had barely started when McDougall and Williams combined and the latter beat LeBarr. From then on play ranged from end to end with one, two and three-man rushes by both teams. The Brinton defence stopped most of the De Laval rushes, while the sweeping poke-check of the DeLaval forwards brought most Brinton sallies to a halt. Both goal-keepers had plenty to do in the 19 minutes that elapsed before Wood evened the count again on a bullet-like drive that went through Ward's fingers. Penalties were served by White and McDougall for body-checking in centre ice.

Third Period.

In the third period the Brintons wilted before the persistent checking and greater speed of the De Laval team. Dick Evans scored the first goal on a pretty rush. He came down the side, swung across in front of the defence rounded it and shot one past LeBarr from an acute angle as he passed. A couple minutes later, Eddie Williams captured the puck at centre ice with the Brinton defence well forward, and broke away for an interrupted rush right in on LeBarr, who came out, but was unable to intercept the shot. Rose, who had been hurt, then returned to the ice and the Brinton attack took on new life. Marchen tried to cross in front of the net and Rose took the puck away from him and fired a hot one past Ward from close range.

Dundas and Evans quickly raised the lead to two goals again. Ira rushed down and passed to Dick about five feet in front of the net. LeBarr was over at one corner to stop Dundas and was unable to get back in time for Evans' shot. McMartin served the only penalty of the period.

Summary.

HELPFUL HINTS BY GOLFING STARS

By Special Arrangement With Colliers' Magazine.

JIM BARNES—PRACTICE FIRST WITH MASHIE

The best results will be obtained by the beginner if he will start with a mashie, playing short chip shots first, and maybe doing a little practice with the puttet. Lessons along this line ought to be kept up two or three times a week for at least two months

My belief is that in this way the player acquires a better sense of distance and hence better control. Also he is more likely to acquire a smooth swing than he would if he starts trying to play full shots from the first. I have noticed that players who begin by trying to play full shots may acquire some skill in hitting the ball with wooden clubs, but they are almost invariably bad when it comes to anything like control, and this applies both as to distance and direction. There is another angle. In spite of the important part ohe short game plays, the average golfer takes a much keener pride in his long game, and if he neglects the shorter shots in starting, he will find it harder and harder to concentrate on the shorter shots. The ball may often run up to the hole very prettily—and stop outside.

Joe Bush and Johnny Tobin Obtained by Trade.

JOE BUSH, ABOVE, AND JOHNNY TOBIN.

These two American League veterans will be on the Washington roster this season. They were recently traded to the Senators by the St. Louis Browns in exchange for Pitchers Tom Zachary and Win Ballou. Bush has been in the majors since 1912 and played with the Athletics, Red Sox and Yankees before going to the Browns a year ago. Tobin has been with the Browns continuously since 1918. He's one of the best bunters and one of the hardest men to pitch to in the circuit; also great lead-off man. Bush had his best season in 1922, when he won 26 games and lost but seven.

OUTLAWS TIED TOWN LEAGUE

Defeated Menie 5 To 1 in Campbellford League Wednesday.

EVEN WITH CLERKS.

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 5—The Outlaws pulled up on even terms with the Clerks at the top of the town hockey league by handing Menie a 5 to 1 trimming in a double header staged at Covert's Arena Wednesday night.

The Junior Colts won the decision over the weakened Cloth Co. team 3 goals to 1. The Cloth boys, without Rouselle and Zvisky, were just a shadow of the once smart checking team, and the bulk of the burden fell to Ayrhart, Cochrane and Ted Owens in goal. The rest of the mill boys appearing shy. They seem to wait for a team mate to relieve the pressure, instead of boring in and checking hard and close. With a little more confidence they should improve their play. Line-up:

Junior Colts 3		Cloth Co. 1
Irwin	goal	Owens
Davidson	r. defence	Cochrane
Ingram	l. defence	Reynolds
Newsome	centre	Wilks
Bland	r. wing	A. Ayrhart
Reynolds	l. wing	Reid
McAvoy	subs	Nicholson
		H. Ayrhart

Officials—Sounders and Cowell.

The Outlaws had too much speed for the Menie boys, they backchecked like fiends and smothered any attempts at combination or individual rushes the Menie boys tried before they got nicely started.

McArthur was the most useful boy for the Outlaws. He checked back all the way, and when in possession of the rubber, always took the short cut to the goal. Sarginson played a useful game on the defence and he also took the short route home. Blue, Brown and Copperthwaite were flashy in spots but all do too much circling around, before starting on a rush.

Hume was the best of the Menie brigade, breaking up rush after rush of the Outlaws but like the rest of his team mates, he couldn't break away from the close checking.

Menie		Outlaws
Rev. Clarke	goal	Stewart
Hay	r. defence	Sarginson
Shillinglow	l. defence	Brown
Hume	centre	Blue
Rannie	r. wing	Copperthwaite
Lynn	l. wing	McArthur
Rev. Daniel	subs	Coulter
Anderson

Officials—Cowell and Saunders.

One of the best games of the season should result when the Hydro tackle the fast travelling Outlaws tonight at Covert's Arena. The Clerks and Junior Colts furnish the other half of the twin bill.

The league will stage another double attraction Saturday afternoon.

THREE LONDON TEAMS IN PLAY

Soccer Fans of Metropolis Depending on Arsenal in Cup Finals.

SATURDAY GAMES

LONDON, March 5 (Canadian Press Cable).—With three metropolitan clubs contesting the sixth round of the English football association cup which is scheduled for play-off on Saturday, interest in soccer in the London district has been transferred from league prospects to those offered by the annual competition. It is felt that for the first time since 1923 when West Ham were defeated in the final by Bolton Wanderers at Wembley, London stands an excellent chance of getting somewhere near the trophy. The metropolitan representation is not particularly inspiring with respect to two-thirds of it, for neither Clapton Orient nor Fulham have played this season up to anything like cup-final standard. But Arsenal, on whom the fans pin their faith, are capable of big things, and it is to Arsenal they are looking.

Lancashire furnishes exactly the same number of sixth round contestants and two of the three are from Manchester. Both the City and the United are still in the running, while Bolton Wanderers complete the trio of clubs. The Midlands have Nottingham Forest as their representatives, while Wales is once again in the picture with Swansea upholding the honors of the principality. The pairings for Saturday are:

Clapton Orient vs. Manchester City; Notts Forest vs. Bolton Wanderers; Swansea vs. Arsenal, and Fulham vs. Manchester United.

Two Divisions Opposed

It is thus seen that of the eight surviving teams, four belong to the First Division, and four to the second; and in every case it is a second string team that confronts a first. Addition to that that is the further remarkable fact that the play takes place on the grounds of the second division clubs.

Clapton Orient have had a hard row to hoe in order to attain their present position, for, with the exception of Chesterfield, whom they put out in the third round they have had to combat powerful teams. It was they who were responsible for the dismissal of Newcastle United in the last frame, and prior to that they had administered a sound defeat to Middlesborough. The team against which they are drawn on Saturday, however, Manchester City, have also been heavily engaged. They still have the scalps of Huddersfield Town hanging at their belt, their defeat of the league-leaders being one of the sensations of the competition. The third round saw them draw with the Corinthians before they finally subdued the amateurs in a replay.

Notts and Bolton

Notts Forest have had things rather easy. At no stage did they find serious opposition, Swindon Town and Bradford City being their victims. The same is to be said of Bolton Wanderers, and it is recalled that Bolton in the fourth round were held to a drew by Bournemouth, while in the third round they could defeat Accrington Stanley by only one goal. Bolton Wanderers, however, have prestige on their side. They are the cup-winners of three years ago, and that is sufficiently inspiring to see them through this stage.

Swansea Town occupy the position that Cardiff City held last year as being the only Welsh representative to get thus far. It remains to be seen whether they will be able to duplicate Cardiff's performance for the latter went as far as Wembley before they were subdued by Sheffield United. Swansea have a hard proposition in the Arsenal. The latter are fighting hard both in league and cup encounters and having downed such teams as Aston Villa, Blackburn Rovers and Wolverhampton Wanderers in their progress, they are not likely to be put off by Swansea.

Fulham have done well to get so far in the competition, and they have defeated several notable teams—Notts County, Liverpool Everton, all of them first string clubs. Their task against Manchester United is particularly hard, for the United are responsible for the downfall of such teams as Sunderland and Tottenham Hotspurs.

HALL WELL FILLED AT LEAGUE MEETING

Debate Was Main Item of Programme by Zion Young People.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, Mar. 4.—A most enjoyable evening was spent in Sentinel Hall on Friday evening last when the Peoples' League of Zion church met for a social evening. Despite the inclement weather and the bad condition of the roads the hall was filled to its seating capacity. The meeting was in chrge of Mrs Jennie Fry, the vice-president of the Social Department, and was of a high educational character.

The chief tem of the programme was a debate, "Resolved that the woman of fifty years ago did more for her country than the woman of today.' The affirmative was taken by Mrs. John Simpson and Mr. Earl Fairman, the negative being ably upheld by Mr. Lindsay Anderson and Mr. Morley Petherick.

A very hot argument was given by both sides, the negative succeeding in winning by one point.

The judges were: Mrs. Charles Turner, Mr. Thomas Craighead and Mr. Steven Maguire, all of Campbellford.

Time-keeper—Mr. Thomas Weatherill.

A reading was then given by Miss Gladys Simpson, entitled "The Pilot"

The comic item on the programme was "A Mock Sermon" entitle was a "mock sermon" entitled "Old Mother Hubbard" which was dealt with carefully by a reverend-looking gentleman in the person of Mr. Fred Barnum, the president of the league, who never fails to fill in the programme with entertaining numbers.

After the programme a very pleasant hour was spent in games, contests, stump speeches, etc.

Last but by no means least came the lunch, to which everyone did full justice.

Among those who attended from Campbellford League were: Mrs. Charles Turner, Misses Nellie Hoover, Stella Keir, Alma Simpson, Mabel Mitchell, Clyta Abernethy, Nettie Forde, Verna Sanders, Eva Sanders, Messrs. Steven Maguire, Howard Fairman, Thomas Craighead and Herbert Stott.

There was also a large crowd that came in a sleigh-load from Stanwood. The Zion league is to be congratulated upon the success which it has attained for the last two years.

At the present time the attendance averages about seventy members, all of whom take deep interest in the welfare of their community and provide programmes which are second to none in this district.

WORTH IN SPORT KNOWING

Ray Schalk, famous White Sox catcher, made his major league debut in the latter portion of the 1913 season. He took part in 23 games.

In the following spring he started on a sensational string in which he caught 100 games for over 11 straight years. His busiest campaign was in 1920. He was in 151 frays. Close behind came 142 battles in 1922.

Schalk's great record came to a halt in 1924. He only appeared in 57 games. Last year he came back, catching 125, ranking third among the American League backstops in that respect.

SCOTTISH CUP FOURTH ROUND

Celtics Confident of Defeating Dumbarton—Rangers Battle at Greenock.

FORECAST OF GAMES

GLASGOW, March 5 (Canadian Press Cable).—The fourth round of the Scottish Cup that will be played off on Saturday sees the competition practically confined to the West of Scotland having been wiped out Aberdeen, the clubs concerned are from Lanark, Renfrew and Dumbartonshire, the East and South of Sclotland having been wiped out with respect to cup activities.

The cup-holders, Celtic, are down to play second string combination, Dumbarton, at Celtic Park, and judging from their present season's form, the fate of Celtic is safe. Their fans do not consider Dumbarton an obstacle at all, and confidently expect the Irishmen to walk into the semi-finals. In their progress towards the fourth round, Celtic have in succession overwhelmed Kilmarnock Hamilton Academicals and Heart of Midlothian, and in no case have they won by anything less than four goals. This does not augur well for Dumbarton who have nothing better to show than a 3 to 0 defeat of Clyde. In the first round they defeated an amateur team, Buckie, after a drawn game, and repeated this performance with Forfar Athletic.

Paisley St. Mirren play the hard-fighting Airdrieonians, and it is believed that on their own ground the St. Mirren will be difficult to hold. Their best effort was in beating Partick Thistle in the last stage, for prior to that they were not tested to any extent by either Mid-Annandale or Arbroah, although the latter held them to a scoreless draw before the Saints put them under in the replay.

In their march towards the fourth round, Airdrieonians have defeated Queen of the South, Hibernians and Bathgate—none of which offered much of an obstacle, although Queen of the South made it a scoreless draw in the first stage at Dumfries. They will have a real test at Paisley the day after tomorrow, and their supporters do not by any means discount St. Mirren.

Third Lanark vs. Aberdeen.

Third Lanark should furnish a good struggle for Aberdeen, although the "Volunteers" have had easy going so far. Moor Park in the first round were blanked by seven goals; Leith Athletics suffered a reverse from the Third Lanark in the second by 6 to 1, while Brechin were their next victims, by 4 to 1. Aberdeen have to their credit the elimination of St. Bernard's, Dundee and St. Johnstone, the last two teams going down after drawn games.

Glasgow Rangers visit Greenock, where they will have to play hard in order to get the better of Morton. The Rangers sternest battle was in the last round, when they defeated Falkirk at Falkirk. Previously they had extinguished Stenhousemuir and the modest aspirants, Lochgelly. Morton's outstanding win was over Raith Rovers, their other two games being scarcely in the nature of real tests. Dykehead they defeated after a draw, and in the third round, they obtained a narrow victory over Albion Rovers. Morton are always bad to beat on their own ground, and having got this far in the cup competition, they may be expected to play strong football in order to feed their ambitions.

The tabulated pairings follow:

Morton vs. Rangers; St. Mirren vs. Airdieonians; Third Lanark vs. Aberdeen; Celtic vs. Dumbarton.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

Is the power of psychology almost as great an asset for success in sport as natural ability?

The passing of Southpaw Dave Danforth from the St. Louis Browns to the minors brings up that question.

For years Dave Danforth has been the stormy petrel of the American League. Rival clubs insisted Dave doctored the ball, while Danforth said it was all imagination on their part.

Concentration in sport is most essential. The good batsman must have a keen eye, the ability to follow the ball. Incidentally he must have his mind on the making of base hits.

Whenever Dave Danforth was announced as the pitcher, the opposition, instead of playing its usual role turned detective. Instead of trying to hit the ball that Danforth was pitching, they attempted to discover what Danforth was doing to the ball.

* * *

As a result when Danforth pitched the opposition lacked much of the poise that was usually a part of its baseball repertoire.

TRICK DELIVERIES.

"If a ball club thinks you are doctoring the ball, make them feel sure of it by resorting to unusual mannerisms that savor of trickery," was a remark Danforth once made to me.

"You can't make base hits arguing that the pitcher is cheating, the batter must swing at the ball. The belief on the part of the opposition that I doctor the ball means much.

"Instead of tending to their knitting the hitting of the ball, the batter play right into my hands by fussing about my delivery."

There you have Danforth's side of the question. Players and umpires in rebuttal would probably offer a much different version.

* * *

Of one thing I am positive, Dave Danforth could get an even more deceptive break to his fast ball than Walter Johnson, even though some of Walter's terrific speed was lacking.

WHITE SOX SYSTEM.

While scores of solutions have been offered to explain how Danforth got the break on his fast one, none of them has as yet received the official O. K. of the pitcher himself.

It is a rather interesting fact that the Chicago White Sox took more liberties with Danforth last year than any other team in the American League. In this connection it is well to recall that Eddie Collins was a teammate of Danforth at both Philadelphia and Chicago.

Danforth had his troubles beating Chicago, something invariably came up that called for his removal before the close of the game. Usually it was an abundance of base hits or a streak of wildness.

"Don't take any good ones, whale away at every ball that is close to the plate, keep him on the defensive." That's the way Eddie Collins explained the success of his club in fathoming Danforth's delivery.

"Forget about the trick stuff and don't bother the umpire was another rule of our club."

Looks as if Collins had the right system.

* * *

In addition to his trick deliveries, Danforth had a move to first that caused as many disputes as his pitching. It was always a balk, according to the opposition.

Rene Lacoste Takes Indoor Honors From Teammate

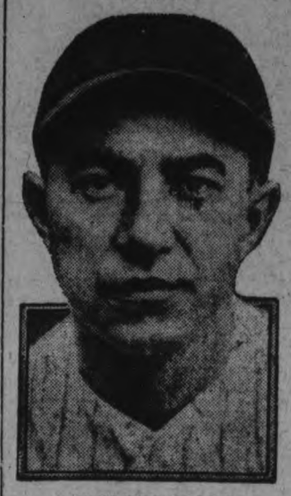
RENE LACOSTE

Here's the new indoor champ. He won the honors after sweeping through a field of such famous stars as Bill Tilden and Vincent Richards, finally whipping the defending titleholder, Jean Borotra, in a hectic struggle. Lacoste looms as a most threatening menace to America's regime in the court pastime.

SOUGHT CANADIAN TITLE

Raymond Murray of New York, a junior champion, who competed in the Canadian championships held in Toronto.

Everett Scott on White Sox Roster This Season



EVERETT SCOTT

Baseball's famous "iron man" will not be missing from major league environs this season, as has been taken for granted, following announcement that he had retired. Instead the fellow that hung up an unthought-of record by playing in 1307 consecutive games will cavort in a Chicago White Sox suit in 1926. Scott was recently taken on by Manager Eddie Collins and may take the shortstop's position in the battlefront at various times.

I.O.D.E. MEETING

Regent Resigns on Account of Illness at Home.

MADOC, March 5.—The annual meeting of the I.O.D.E. took place on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Maybee.

Two very interesting talks were given, one by Miss Jean MacIntosh on the aims and objects of the Order, and the other by Mrs. F. Dafoe, who took as her theme the beauties of nature and how lives may be enriched and inspired by the beauty of sky and field. She quoted in conclusion:

"God knew that some would never look inside a book
To know His will—
And so, He threw a varied hue
On dale and hill.

He knew that some would read words wrong,
And so He gave the birds their song.
He put the gold in the sunset sky,
To show us that a day may die
With greater glory than it's born,
And so may we
Move calmy forward to our west,
Serene and blest."

Two charming little piano solos were skillfully played by Master George Maybee.

To the great regret and disappointment of the members Miss Jennie Aylesworth, who has been a most successful Regent for the past four years, felt it imperative to resign from office. In a graceful speech Miss Aylesworth expressed the pleasure she had experienced during her years of Regency, an thanked the members for the encouragement and co-operation they had given her during that time. She urged the ladies to rally around the in-coming Regent and to redouble their efforts in the good work they were doing. Owing to illness at home, Miss Aylesworth felt she could no longer assume a position of such responsibility in the Order.

The election of officers then took place and resulted as follows:

Regent—Mrs. F. Jenkins.

1st Vice Regent—Miss J.. Aylesworth.

2nd Vice Regent—Mrs. F. A. Harrison.

Secretary-Miss Jean McIntosh.

Echo Secretary—Mrs. G. Maybee.

Treasurer—Mrs. F. Curry.

Standard Bearer—Mrs. E. T. Nayler.

Councillors—Mesdames J. Robertson, T. Blue, G. West, G. Wright, G. Foote, W. McBain, W. Wyper, H. Watson, J. McKenzie and F. Dafoe.

Entertainment Committee—Mrs. G. Wright, Miss Jean McIntosh and Mrs. G. Maybee.

At the close of the meeting afternoon tea was served by Mrs. Maybee an a pleasant social hour was spent.

Belleville C.N.E.'s visited Madoc last evening and were defeated 4-0 by the Madoc High school team. The game was well contested but the Belleville boys were outskated and outplayed by the Madoc team during the entire game. The home boys are playing a good fast game this year.

Rev. Mr. Strother of St. John's church took the eLnten services in Marmora in St. Thomas' church, Belleville, last week, and this week goes to Bancroft for service on Friday.

Theatre

AT THE CAPITOL.

"UNDER WESTERN SKIES"

Norman Kerry is the hero of another of the Western dramas which always have a strong appeal, although there is a certain amount of similarity in "Under Western Skies" in some of its episodes, at least, to the "Calgary Stampede" picture shown here recently. The different portions of the round-up programme would be more interesting of they had not been witnessed last week in another picture. However, they have a different setting, this time in Oregon, and the rider of the hurdle race is an Eastern tenderfoot, who catches a wild horse and trains him to do hurdle-jumping stunts in a very short time. The race is exciting and the interest is well sustained, the girl bestows her affections on the winner, all is lovely at the conclusion of a picture which delineates the conflict of temperament and strength between an Eastern magnate and his son, in sympathy with the Western wheat growers whom his father is trying to squeeze out of business. There is a bad man, a rival for the girl's hand, who also happens to be the father's secretary, and there is a variety of incident depicting both eastern and western life.

A very noticeable element in this picture is the dressed up condition of its men. The gentlemen in the picture with their colorful and variegated shirts, quite outshine the ladies in apparel. The hero wears a truly extraordinary costume when he rides in the race, with a pair of extremely peculiar piebald trousers and an eye-filling shirt.

There is the usual good comedy and the series of excellent short reels to round out the programme.

AT THE REGENT

RIN-TIN-TIN'S NEW PICTURE THE BEST IN A FINE SERIES.

"The Clash of the Wolves" Is Entertainment For All Screen Lovers.

"The Clash of the Wolves," which opened at the Regent Theatre yetserday for a run of 3 days, is the latest of the series of pictures that Warner Brothers have turned out with the dog, Rin-Tin-Tin, in the star role. If you liked any of the other pictures, you will be sure to like this one. And you probably will like it better than any of the others.

It shows Rin-Tin-Tin as Lobo, the leader of a pack of wolves who are driven from the forests of the high Sierras down into the cattle country by a tremendous fire, which, by the way, makes an amazing and thrilling screen spectacle. Lobo gets befriended by a young borax prospector (Charles Farrell), who takes a leaf from the book of Androcles and extracts a thorn from the beast's paw. The story concerns the clash of the wolf's protector with the hunters who are on the animal's trail.

June Marlowe, who played with Rin-Tin-Tin in "Tracked in the Snow Country" and "Below the Line," again plays the heroine.

CHASED CHAMPION.

Billy Everaire, Ottawa youngster, who made a fine showing in the Canadian speed skating championships, forcing Fowler of St. John to the limit to beat him for the junior title.

Autopsy on Body of John Dwyer And Arrival of Two Provincial Police Precede Death Enquiry

Post-Mortem Examination Performed By Dr. Erb, of Toronto—Report Will Not Be Ready For Several Days —Declined to Make Statement.

F. D. KERR, K.C., TOOK CHARGE OF THE DEFENSE OF MRS. DWYER ON FRIDAY

Inspector Boyd, of Toronto, Says Press Reports of Conditions in Part of Dummer Township Are Not Exaggerated.

CHIEF CORONER TO ACT PERSONALLY.

The autopsy on the body of John Dwyer, twelve-year-old Dummer boy who died in Nicholls Hospital on Tuesday, was performed last night by Dr. I. H. Erb, pathologist attached to the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto. And that the case is being vigorously taken up by Attorney General W. F. Nickle is indicated by the arrival last night of Provincial Police Inspector A. B. Boyd, of headquarters, Toronto, and Inspector E. C. Gurnett, of Belleville.

John Dwyer was to have been buried without an inquest on decision of the Peterborough authorities that none was necessary, but an order yesterday morning from the Attorney General's department instructed Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton to hold both post-mortem examination and inquest, and to prefer charges of murder against George Dwyer and Mrs. Mary Dwyer, father and stepmother of the child, respectively. George Dwyer was arraigned on the charge yesterday, and the police say Mrs. Dwyer will be similarly charged on her appearance in County Court next Thursday afternoon, when the preliminary hearing will be opened.

Chief Coroner George W. Graham will come to Peterborough and personally preside over the inquest, under instructions from the Attorney General.

The funeral of the boy was postponed this morning, and may now take place on Monday.

Dr. Erb commenced the autopsy at seven o'clock last night, and concluded at half past ten. He was not in a position, he said, to make any statement. He had further examinations to make in his laboratory, and his final report would not be presented for several days. He returned to Toronto today.

Dr. King Called

A few minutes after Dr. Erb commenced the autopsy, which was carried out in Lane and Eano's Undertaking Parlors, a request was made by F. D. Kerr, K.C., to have another doctor present during the examination. Permission was granted by the Crown Attorney and Dr. De Courcy King was admitted. Mr. Kerr informed The Examiner that he will defend Mrs. Dwyer. Inspector Gurnett and Provincial Constable N. F. Maker assisted Dr. Erb, and on his arrival at 8.15 Inspector Boyd also visited the scene of the autopsy with Detective Sergeant William Meigher.

At 10.30 Dr. Erb and Dr. King went to call on Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young.

Not Exaggerated

Asked whether the reports of the conditions existing in Dummer township were exaggerated in the press reports, Inspector Boyd declared "not a bit." He has had considerable experience in this district, and expected to go into the "bad lands" to collect evidence for the prsent prosecution.

Inspector Boyd was reticent as to the plans of the police for a clean-up of Dummer. He expected to remain in Peterborough over the week-end, but would not give any statement as to his plans or the plans of the Attorney-General's department.

Rush Order

Dr. Erb told The Examiner he had been summoned by a message from the Attorney General while engaged in another post mortem examination at Toronto morgue, seeking the cause of death of Charles Barclay, who was found dead in a bath at the Ontario Club yesterday. He telephoned to his home for a suitcase with travelling requisites, and succeeded in catching the C.N.R. train.

Good Workmen

According to a statement made yesterday by John R. MacDonald, George Dwyer, the father of the youth who died in Nicholls hospital, has been a most satisfactory workman. Mr. MacDonald said that the man had been a more or less steady employee of the Mac-Donald Lumber Company since 1906, and produced time books to show that he had been working for the firm from 1910 to 1914 inclusive. Last winter he had been engaged in cutting cordwood on a farm in Cavan. He said that the family had lived there and Mr. Dwyer had cut more than 100 cords of wood.

Mr. MacDonald stated that Dwyer could do the work of two men and that he had always been conscientious in the performance of his duties. While he was just a laborer he was characterized by his energy and desire to learn everything which concerned the operation of the mill. It was generally considered that he could replace any man about the saw mill effectively.

"Dwyer's first wife was a good woman," said Mr. MacDonald. "She exerted a strong influence over him. When he worked for us he usually started early in the spring and was one of the last men to quit when the season's cut was finished."

ORDERS INQUEST.

HON. W. F. NICKLE, K.C.
Atttorney-General of Ontario, who ordered the Peterborough authorities to hold an inquest into the death of John Dwyer.

PREMIER SWORN IN FOR PRINCE ALBERT

Oath Administered By Clerk of Commons—To Be "Introduced."

OTTAWA, March 6 (Canadian Press).—Premier W. L. Mackenzie King was sworn in late yesterday as member of Parliament for Prince Albert, Sask. The oath was administered in the Prime Minister's office by the clerk of the House of Commons, upon receipt of official notification from the chief electoral officer of Premier King's election. The Prime Minister will be "introduced" when the House of Commons re-assembles on the afternoon of March 15, following the present adjournment.

THE WEATHER.

Last night wa again cold, in fact the coldest night of the present cold dip. Sixteen degrees below the zero mark was reached, although by daybreak the temperature had risen a couple of degrees. More sno is now on the ground than at any time during the winter, and probably most of that which first 'ell is still here. Dan Whetung of the Indian Reserve informs me that in the woods where there has been no drifting and the sun has had little effect, there is about 3½ feet on the level. He also wished to remind me that in November last he prophesied much snow, and a steady cold winter. He was right in his forecast. He desired the following in the Examiner: "I am very, very sorry to say that the government don't regulate the waters as they should be. If they intend to preserve the fish and game, the water should be kept up level all winter, after the lakes are all frozen over, but they pull up the stoplogs at the dams, and drain the water off the lakes, so when the water goes down the ice will surely go down with it to the mud. Then every living thing will smother and die. The water has gone down about 5 feet since the lakes got frozen."—W. P.

STRIKE LEADER DASHES HOPES

Refuses Intervention of Arbitration and Predicts Increase in Movement.

WANTS BIG UNION.

PASSAIC, N.J., March 6 (Canadian Press).—Hopes for the settlement of the textile strike waging in this district, at present affecting only 7,000 workers, were dashed today, after Governor Moore had offered his services as arbitrator.

Albet Weisbord the leader of the strikers said his men were unwilling to turn the decision over to a third party. He expressed a hope that 1,000,000 textile workers would soon be involved and that one big union would eventuate from the conflict.

FORMER OFFICER TO VISIT CITADEL

Ensign A. Uden To Address Campbellford S. A. Corps.

Campbellford, March 6. — Ensign A. Uden of Toronto, will speak at the local Salvation Army Citadel on Sunday. The Ensign was stationed here in 1918, the year of the first flu epidemic and the good work which he did among the victims of that scourge will never be forgotten. He should be greeted by a large audience at all the Sunday services.

Staff Captain H. Cameron, who had charge of the Campbellford branch away back in the eighties, will deliver an address in the citadel on Wednesday evening of next week. He is a veteran in the work, but his messages lack none of their old time vigor.

New Members Enrolled.

At the last meeting of L.O.L. No. 36, 6 new members were initiated. J. R. Wilkinson is the W. M. of this society and the prosperity which it enjoys is in no small measure due to the active service which he has always taken in its welfare.

Work on Streets.

The road grader, with Street Superintendent Fox at the wheel, was working on the streets on Friday levelling the snow that had accumulated along the curb as it was shovelled off the sidewalks by the property owners. In some places these banks were over two feet high and the merchants complained that customers who came in autos were unable to get their cars close to the different stores.

At St. Andrew's Church.

Twenty-one new members have been enrolled at St. Andrew's church at the present communion season — six by certificate and 15 on profession of faith. This makes a total of 48 new names added to the roll during the past six months.

PRINCE CAROL OF RUMANIA SUED IN PARIS FOR TEN MILLION FRANCS BY FORMER WIFE ZIZI LAMBRINO

Morganatic Wife Says She Never Consented to Annulment of Their Marriage.

PROTECTING SON.

Rumanian Government Facilitated Her Journey—Was Detained in Bucharest.

PARIS, March 6. — (Canadian Press.)—An unexpected episode developed Friday in the drama growing out of the love affairs of Prince Carol and his recent renunciation of his rights as heir to the Rumanian throne. His former morganatic wife, Mme. Zizi Lambrino, has instituted suit against him for damages amounting to ten million francs, claiming she is entitled to this sum inasmuch as the conditions under which she agreed to annulment of their marriage have disappeared through Carol's acts in abandoning his royal wife, the former Princess Helen of Greece, and giving up his position as crown prince.

"I do this for the sake of my child," Mme. Lambrino declared in describing the suit, but persons friendly to the prince see their little six year old son Micrea as a new obstacle designed to make it more difficult than ever for Carol to regain his succession rights he abandoned in favor of Prince Michael, his son by his royal wife.

Rumanian Passport.

It is commented upon here that Mme. Lambrino received a passport, long denied her, at the exact moment when her coming to Paris would be most calculated to injure the prince's prestige and embarrass any efforts he might be considering toward ultimately regaining his throne rights.

She has been virtually detained by force at Bucharest the past few months. The Rumanian government, it is learned, in addition to refusing her a passport, forbade her to enter any railway train in Rumania and warned chauffeurs not to take her anywhere near the frontiers.

Persons close to Mme. Lambrino explain that she fled from Bucharest to France in order to maintain before the courts her contention that she is absolutely and legally the wife of Carol—not merely his morganatic wife— under the civil relationship code. According to these friends she never gave her consent, but was forced to accept, annulment for dynastic reasons, which automatically ceased to exist since Carol renounced his rights. Carol's consent, she contends, was no more given to the annulment than hers, he continuing to regard her as his legitimate wife. This she will attempt to prove to the court with numerous documents in her possession.

Received Annuity.

Hme. Lambrino's suit followed a request that Carol take her back and resume marital relations. Zizi made a personal appeal to the prince at Bucharest, where she has been for the past year. He refused, whereupon she asked damages in the form of a money settlement, and, according to her attendants, the prince failed to respond. She admits in her complaint that she received an annuity from Carol of 110,000 francs, but contends that this has greatly depreciated in value and she is unable to support herself and educate her child.

Both Mme. Lambrino and her advisers emphasized that the demand for settlement was for the sake of Micrae.

"You understand," she said, "that I do not even know under what name I can place him in school here. When my boy is twenty years old how will I be able to face him if I have not done everything possible to protect him when he was a helpless child?"

Bailiff Visits Prince.

One of Mme. Lambrino's friends who assisted in the serving of the legal papers, says that the bailiff, accompanied by a police officer, proceeded to Carol's hotel, handing the papers to a hotel official, who took them to the prince's apartment. He refused to accept them, however, because they were made out in the name of "Charles De Hohenzollern." The prince claimed he was not known by such title, and the papers had to be changed to read: "Prince Charles of Rumania."

It is expected that Carol will defend the suit in open court, but it is not known whom he has chosen as counsel. According to the advisers of his former morganatic wife, the whole family history of Rumanian royalties, from the origin of the present reigning family to the prince's recent amours, will be aired, and, they insist, the case will be carried to the court of appeals if the first court decides against Mme. Lambrino.

It has been more wittily than charitably said that hell is paved paved with good intentions; they have their place in heaven, too.—Southey.

Apprehensions are greater in proportion as things are unknown.—Livy.

Meeting Admired Modern Flapper Despite Indictment

BELFAST, Ireland, March 6 (Canadian Press).—A new indictment of the modern girl has been drawn as follows: Her skirts are too short. Her low-cut neck is a disgrace. She is never in style. It is difficult to tell whether she is 20 or 40. She suffers from swelled head.

John Bryce drew the indictment before a meeting in Willowfield Hall. The meeting voted approval of the modern girl.

MARKET COLD THIS MORNING

Pipes of One Stove Fell Down and Two Remaining Units Were Inadequate.

SLENDER OFFERINGS.

The ladies who came in from the country this morning to sell their wares on the farmers' market, had a chilly time of it. The upper hall was very cold and most of the women had a blue look as they sat with hands tucked up their sleeves. A certain amount of heat emanated from the stove at the entrance and the one at the south end of the hall, but the the stove pipes at the north end fell down some time during the morning, and that section of the hall lacked the necessary warmth to keep the vendors in comfortable condition.

Butter and eggs were plentiful in the basket section, the former selling at 45c and 48c a pound, the latter from 35c to 40c a dozen. Chickens were 35c a lb., hens 28c.

On the open market there were slender offerings. A few vegetables, including potatoes, which were scarce at sold at $3 a bag, were commodities interspersed by the usual meat carcases. Pork sold at 20 and 22c for front and hind quarters, beef at 10 and 12c a lb.

Hay was $12 and $13 a load, and wood was not as plentiful as usual. Hardwood in stove lengths was $11 and $12 a load, and $10 in cordwood lengths. Cordwood lengths in birch was $7 and soft mixed wood, cut in stove sizes, $6.

NEW ORGANIST AT KNOX CHURCH

Mr. R. J. Devey Has Been Selected as Choir Leader.

R. J. Devey, who a few weeks ago was selected by the elders and managers of Knox Church to succeed Charles Peaker as organist and choir leader, takes charge tomorrow.

The management at Knox Church is satisfied that the church has in Mr. Devey a very capable choir leader, and that the service of praise will achieve even greater things in the future than in the past.

ART STUDIOS LOOTED.

Two Daring Robberies of the Works of English Paints.

LONDON, March 6 (Canadian Press).—Two sensational Art robberies have taken place this week. Small pictures by the English artist, Birket Foster, were stolen from the Guild Hall Art Gallery when it was discovered yesterday that four oil studies by John Constable were stolen from the Royal Academy. Stolen studies with many other similar works which were screwed to the wall, and there is considerable mystery as to how the thief escaped with the pictures.

Margot Asquith May Take Part In Moving Picture

LONDON, March 6 (Canadian Press).—Lady Oxford, who is better known as Margot Asquith, is considering an offer to play the leading part in an English-made film, it was revealed here on Friday night. The proposal was made to her by by Widgley R. Newman, a young English producer, who has asked her to play the lead in a picture to be called, "Studies in Psychology."

Newman said he hoped Lady Oxford will accept, although she has not yet given him a definite reply.

SUGGESTIONS FOR AGRICULTURAL EXHIBITIONS TO FAIR BOARD BY DIRECTOR OF GOVERNMENT FARM

District Fairs Might Be Held Later Than the Township Shows.

DINNER LAST NIGHT.

Attendance Affected By Sporting Feature—Roland Denne Presided.

What was termed by many of its hearers to be the most instructive address ever heard in connection with agricultural exhibition work, and general farm problems, was that presented last night by E. S. Archibald of Ottawa, on the occasion of a banquet under the auspices of the officers and directors of the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition and the Peterborough County Ploughmen's Association.

While the banquet was not patronized to the extent expected, due to several counter attractions, it was evident from those who did attend that the spirit of progress, which has resulted in the exhibition of to-day, is retained, and will achieve its purpose in the further extension and expansion which coming years promise.

Members of the Exhibition Board present last night were representative of the association, there being a number from the rural sections and many of the younger men who could readily appreciate the significance of the addresses which dealt largely with Canada's foremost industry, that of agriculture.

Prominent among the speakers were J. J. Duffus, president of the Provincial Plowmen's Association, C. E. Moore and C. A. Maguire, ex-Mayor of Toronto, and present Hydro-Electric Power Commissioner.

Roland Denne in his capacity as chairman welcomed those present and deplored the fact that the banquet date had coincided with that of the Peterboro-Loudon hockey match. He proposed the toast to the King.

Thos. McIndoo proposed the toast to "Our Legislative Bodies," to which E. A. Peck, M.P., responded. W. H. Bradburn was also to have replied to this toast but a communication from him stated that he had been detained in Toronto.

Maurice Park and G. D. Carlisle, accompanied by John Crane, sang a number of very acceptable selections.

Hartshorn's six-piece orchestra rendered several numbers during the banquet hour which were greatly appreciated.

E. S. Archibald.

E. S. Archibald is director of Experimental Farms at Ottawa, and has been for several years connected with the Department of Agriculture, devoting his energies to the promotion of better expedients in farm operations. As Mr. Denne said at the conclusion of the address he presented a number of new thoughts for the consideration of directors, his final questions regarding fair dates and the systems of classification presenting new angles to what have in many ways become institutional features in the management of fall fairs.

He declared that the smaller fairs might well precede the larger district event so that the latter exhibition might become the testing place in a logical sequence. At present the district exhibition precedes most of the village fairs. He also thought that the prize money should be awarded with greater regard to the utility purposes served by the various interests in the classified groups. He illustrated this by referring to the beef cattle class. Shorthorns, he said, combined all the best features of a beef grade and were numerically stronger, yet the prize money for Angus and Hereford cattle equalledd the Shorthorn awards.

The farmers have seen strenuous times, he said, but they have succeeded in the last few years in pulling themselves out of a deep hole. They have been greatly assisted in this by the exceptional crops of the past two years. Great steps have been taken in the last 15 years. Prior to that time he said it would have been impossible to launch a movement with the object of destroying tubercular cows but at the present time there are thousands of fully accredited herds. Ten years ago Canada was producing all the butter and cheese that could be consumed. Following the war there came a slump when it was found that other countries were prepared to produce at a more economic rate much better food materials than this country was able to

TWO PEOPLE BITTEN BY DOG

Police of Montreal Fear That They Have Rabies.

ANIMAL SHOT.

Montreal, March 6. — Two more cases of what the doctors fear is rabies, have been brought to the attention of the authorities by the police of Montreal north.

A 15 year old boy and a young woman, bitten on Thursday, are suspected to have contracted the disease.

The police of Montreal North when questioned, refused to reveal the names of the victims but declared that a strict watch was being kept on them by the doctors and that this morning they would be brought to the Royal Victoria Hospital rabies' clinic which opens to-day.

The dog which bit these people although it was at large for some time after inflicting the wounds, was subsequently captured and shot.

The head of the dead animal will be sent to the department of agriculture at Ottawa for examination.

LOCAL MUSICIANS GIVE FINE RECITAL

Miss Florence Saunders and Miss Greta LeBarr Artistes.

A very interesting recital was held in the Conservatory of Music Hall last night by Miss Greta LeBarr, soprano, and Miss Florence Saunders, A.C.A.M., pianiste, pupils of Mrs. W. A. Greenslade. Miss LeBarr's rendering of her selections, which covered a wide range, was excellent, her enunciation being particularly good and her voice sweet and clear Miss Saunders showed excellent technique and expression, her contributions to the programme being much enjoyed.

Miss Saunders also acted as accompanist to Miss LeBarr, showing great sympathy with the singer in both light and heavy numbers. Both artistes had to respond to an encore at the conclusion of the programme.

The large attendance was a tribute not only to the two talented young artists, but to Mrs. Greenslade's ability as a teacher of both vocal and piano music. At the conclusion of the programme two dainty little flower irls, Misses Betty Manning and Nancy Hopwood presented beautiful floral tributes to the musicians, and Professor Rupert Gliddon made a speech in which he congratulated them on their musical attainments. In presenting the A.C.A.M. diploma to Miss Saunders he spoke of the hard work required in attaining such a high standing, and also congratulated Mrs. Greenslade on the achievements of her pupils.

The following is the programme:

1—(a) Upon a Gay morning, Vernon Eville (b) Twilight, Katherine A. Glen; (c) An Open Secret, R. Huntingdon Woodman; Miss Greta LeBarr.

2—(a) Valse A flat Major, Op. 42, Chopin; (b) Rondo Brilliante in E flat Op. 62, Weber; Miss Florence Saunders.

3—With Verdure Clad (The Creation, Handel; Miss Greta LeBarr.

4—Ballade in flat Major, Op. 47, No. 3, Chopin; Miss Florence Saunders.

5—My Heart At Thy Sweet Voice (Samson et Dalila) C. Saint-Saens; Miss Greta LeBarr.

6—(a) Si Oiseau j'etais, Op. 2, No. 6, Henselt; (b) L'Alouette (Transcription) M. Balakirew; Miss Florence Saunders.

7—(a) The Morning Wind, Gena Branscombe; (b) Tree, Oscar Rasbach (c) Autumn Leaves, Chas. Wakefield Cadman; (d) The False Prophet, John Prindle Scott; Miss Greta LeBarr.

Loud laughter is the mirth of the mob, who are only pleased with silly things; for true wit or good sense never excited a laugh since the creation of the world.—Chesterfield.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JESUS WASHES DISCIPLES' FEET

Text: John 13: 1-17.

Now before the feast of the passover, when Jesus knew that his hour was come that he should depart out of this world unto the Father having loved his own which were in the world, he loved them unto the end.

And supper being ended (the devil having now put into the heart of Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, to betray him).

Jesus knowing that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that he was come from God, and went to God;

He riseth from supper, and laid aside his garments; and took a towel, and girded himself.

After that he poureth water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet and to wipe them with the towel wherewith he was girded.

Then cometh he to Simon Peter: and Peter saith unto him, Lord, dost thou wash my feet?

Jesus answered and said unto him, What I do thou knowest not now; but thou shalt know hereafter.

Peter saith unto him, Thou shalt never wash my feet. Jesus answered him, If I wash thee not, thou hast no part with me.

Simon Peter saith unto him, Lord not my feet only, but also my hands and my head.

Jesus saith to him, He that is washed needeth not save to wash his feet, but is clean every whit; and ye are clean, but not all.

For he knew who should betray him ;therefore said he, Ye are not all clean.

So after he had washed their feet, and had taken his garments, and was set down again, he said unto them, Know ye what I have done to you?

Ye call me Master and Lord: and ye say well; for so I am.

If I then ,your Lord and Master, have washed your feet, ye also ought to wash one another's feet.

For I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done to you.

Verily, verily, I say unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord; neither he that is sent greater than he that sent him.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for March 7: Jesus Washes His Disciples' Feet.—John 13: 1-17.

By WM. E. GILROY, D.D.
Editor of The Congregationalist.

The title of this lesson as a topic for young people and adults is, "The Spirit of Christianity Illustrated." There could not not be a better title, for though the lesson takes us far off into the distant eastern scene and into customs widely removed from our daily life, the incident that it records illustrates the teaching and practice of the Master as these must be manifested in the modern environment.

Just because modern customs differ so widely from those of the time of Christ, and because modern life has become much more complex, there is all the more reason that we should perceive with clearness the elemental nature of the Gospel in its ideals of meekness and lowliness, love and service.

Note how this lesson begins in love, and in love as tested by the most crucial of all experiences. Jesus is facing his last hour. He knows that a way of tragedy and trial lies before him, and it is in this crisis that love is his sustaining power. Nor is it only the love that others bear to him; chiefly it is the love that he bears to them. How often we seek the love of others to uphold use without realizing what sources of strength are found in giving our hearts to the power of love. Jesus "having loved his own that were in the world, loved them unto the end."

He is conscious that Judas is about to betray him; but conscious likewise of the divinity of his own mission, he gives to the disciples an unforgetable lesson in the divinity of service. The record is that "rising from supper he laid aside his garments, took a towel and girded himself." Then, pouring water into a basin, he began to wash the disciples' feet and to wipe them with the towel.

Question by Peter

Peter, always ready to question what Jesus did if it did not fall in with his own conceptions of what was right and seemly, raised objection. "Lord" he said, "dost thou wash my feet" The reply of Jesus is very enlightening in view of what happened to Peter in later years. "What I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter.

But Peter is still obdurate. He will not allow his aster to assume the indignity of washing his feet. But the Master points out that this is a symbol of unity with him. Then Peter's reply is as impulsive and surprising as his former protest. "Lord, not my feet only, but also my hand and my head."

How beautiful is the word of Jesus in reply "He that is washed needeth not save to wash his feet, but is clean every whit." How richly these words lift us above all symbolic purification into the reality that the humblest rite signifies. The washing of the feet may symbolize the purging of mind and heart from all evil through the power of God.

Enforces the Lesson

And then when Jesus has gone about the company performing for each this lowly service, he enforces the lesson that has has sought to inculcate. Here were these disciples who but a short time before had been quarreling about questions of precedence and which of them should be the greatest when they came into the Kingdom.

The Kingdom itself was for them not so much a Kingdom of love and service as a Kingdom in which they were going to rule under their chosen Lord. The mother of Zebedee's children had sought for her sons, James and John, the highest places in the Kingdom, and the ten had been "moved with indignation," as they had beheld the ambition of this mother and her forceful sons.

It is a theory of many that Judas himself was moved to the bertayal of Jesus because of disappointment in not realizing the material rewards of the Kingdom. The kindliest judgment of him has suggested that he was by his act forcing the hand of Jesus, hoping that Jesus would be compelled to commit himself and reveal his power.

We do not know about that, but we do know the ambition and the selfishness that consumed these disciples even at the very time when they had left all to follow Jesus. They needed this lesson in humility and service, and few are the modern Christians who do not need it.

APPLY RELIGION TO WORLD ILLS

To Co-ordinate Precepts of Religion With Every-Day Life of Children.

CHOIR TO ENTERTAIN

An effort to bring peace programmes down to earth will be made at a convention of the Religious Education Association of America in Toronto on March 9-12, when the subject of "Religious Education for Participation in World Affairs" will be discussed for three days. It is admitted that something more than geography and history lessons are required to prepare a generation of folk qualified to grapple with the racial, economic and religious problems which produce international difficulties.

No better country than Canada could be visited by religious educators seeking object-lessons in interracial harmony. Prominent Canadians, such as Sir Robert Falconer, Hon. N. W. Rowell, Dr. James Endicott and Professor W. A. Gifford, will address the meetings.

American teachers will demonstrate a number of practical experiments already undertaken in developing a spirit of "world-mindedness" in boys and girls. Ten discussion groups will observe these demonstrations and then endeavor to devise better methods of co-ordinating the lofty precepts of religion with the every-day problems of world intercourse.

Arrangements made for the entertainment of delegates include attendance at a special rehearsal of Toronto's finest boast, the Mendelssohn Choir. All denominations are included in the reception committee, and the delegates will comprise Protestants, Roman Catholics and Jews—in fact, anyone interested in the broad field of the religious education of youth.

Mothers Who Have Used Baby's Own Tablets

Always Strongly Recommend Them to Other Mothers

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she will use nothing else—actual experience teaches her that there is no other medicine to equal them for any of the minor ailments from which her baby or little ones suffer. Having found the value of the Tablets in her own home, she is always anxious that other mothers should share her knowledge. That is why Mrs. Creighton White, North Noel Road, N.S., writes the following:—"I have a baby seventeen months old and have given him nothing but Baby's Own Tablets ever since he was a week old. I know of no other medicine to equal them, and it is certainly a pleasure to recommend them to other mothers."

Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative that regulate the stomach and bowels; banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and make the sickly baby well and happy again. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MINISTER TELLS OF DANGEROUS CIRCUIT

Abdiel, a retired minister of the United Church, writing in the Aurora, Ontario, Banner, describes his journey by dog train and canoe through the Rainy River country in 1878, to minister at the C.P.R. construction camps. The territory, which has been neglected since the Wesleyan missionaries left in 1857, is now a Presbytery of the United Church. Such transformations do not occur without sacrifices.

The journey from Fort Frances to Rat Portage, now Kenora, took four winter days and a half, with husky dogs to drag the cariole and Indians to guide the missionary. The destination was really Hungry Hall, eating quarters of the 700 men who were pioneering Canada's first trancontinental railway. On the way he baptized the children of Hudson's Bay agents and returned after a "circuit" of 450 miles, on which he preached twenty sermons, and visited 800 neglected people.

His reception at camps and posts had been excellent and his only regret was at the neglect of the Indian population. From 1840 to 1857 the Wesleyans had toiled among them, and at a trading post he was shown a register of 181 baptisms, but the mission had been abandoned for lack of steady financial aid from England and Upper Canada.
